The Massachusetts primaries take place on April 19 and those in New Hampshire toward the end of the month. The colonel's third western trip begins next Tuesday or Wednesday, when he turns his guns on Nebraska and possibly other western states that his managers have not definitely fixed upon.

The colonel returned from his western fight expressing confidence that he's going to win.

Before leaving talk of a compromise candidate at Chicago was put up to the colonel. It got a speedy and vigorous snuffing out from him so far as he is concerned. He snapped off the talk with this:

"Nobody must suggest any such word as 'compromise' to me."

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

The City High came back and took one from Somerville.

Clark Griffith is out after Tolly Pendleton the Princeton star. He watched his work against Georgetown the other day and put his stamp of approval upon him.

Meeting of the Manufacturers' League Committee tonight at the Y. M. C. A.

Lobert is the latest member of the Phillies to swell the list of injured. He is suffering from a strained back. The Phillies certainly do come in for their share.

Things started off with a rush yesterday afternoon in the big leagues.

Manager Joe McGinnity of the Newark team intends to flag the fans this season. He will let the New Jerseyites know by means of banners whether the game is on or off.

Now for the opening of the two leagues here in Plainfield.

Tomorrow the local high team goes after the Morris H. S. scalp.

One central board hereafter control the athletics at Yale.

On May the 4th the Areo Club of America will hold a hydroplane meet in New York Bay. Those participating will probably find the water a much softer place to land in than Old Terra Firma.

Lajoie, the one-time manager and second baseman of the Cleveland team, may soon be seen covering first base for the Naps, as Hornhurst does not look good to Harry Davis, the new manager.

Charlie Victory Faust seems to think that his presence is essential to the Giants and McGraw seems to be at his wits' end to devise some means to get rid of him. Middle names seem to be out of date this year.

Devlin, the veteran third sacker of the New York Giants, has been given his release by McGraw and goes to the Boston Braves to help complete that all-star organization.

The days of the rookie are over—till next year.

An office boy in a well known Wall street banking house is said to have invented an entirely new one to pass out. Guaranteed to work for an even dozen consecutive games.

That boy will own a controlling interest in the business iside of ten years.

WHAT LEAGUE PRESIDENTS THINK OF PENNANT RACES

President Thomas J. Lynch, of the National League, makes the following prediction of the 1912 race:

"I rarely make predictions and do not wish to begin now, on the eve of a struggle that promises to be hard fought from beginning to end. Of course the Giants, who won the flag last year, can be expected to make a brave fight to repeat, but some of the other teams have been strengthened, or so it looks, which means plenty of keen competition. Unless sadly mistaken, I am sure that baseball will enjoy its most prosperous year. The sport has a host of loyal followers, and I do not think that the high water mark of its popularity has been reached. Our league is in excellent condition and we are counting on a great race and generous support."

President Byron Bancroft Johnson, of the American League, issues the following statement regarding the pennant chase:

"The American League is sure to justify the confidence reposed in it by its many patrons. A year ago Detroit and Philadelphia were almost in a class by themselves, but this season there will be five or six clubs in the struggle for pennant honors. We consider that the Athletics will be a powerful factor, but the Boston Red Sox, under the direction of the brilliant Stahl; the New York Yankees, with Harry Wolverton at the helm; the Detroit Tigers, which must be reckoned with under the indomitable Jennings, to say nothing of the Chicago White Sox and the Cleveland Naps, will be keen contenders if baseball dope counts for anything. The league can now boast of seven modern and up-to-date parks, with another in the building, and the outlook is bright for baseball's greatest year."

FIND JACK JOHNSON IS NOT A REAL FREE MASON.

London, April 12—Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, is not a Free Mason. This is the conclusion arrived at by the committee appointed by the Free Mason provincial grand lodge to inquire into his hurried initiation last summer by the Dundee lodge. The committee says that the meeting at which the initiation was carried through was illegal and all the proceedings at that meeting are therefore null and void and the initiation of Johnson has no effect.

The findings of the committee have been approved and the fee paid by Johnson will be returned to him. The lodge which admitted him will be directed to show cause why it should not be suspended.

UNITED STATES LEAGUE GETS NEW YORK GROUNDS.

New York, April 12.—It was announced yesterday that the United States Baseball League had finally obtained lease of playing grounds in New York. Bronx Oval was obtained on a five months' lease from William Jordan. Jordan will manage the New York United States League team.

Luke A. Burke, a Bronx contractor, was elected president of the New York club, and J. L. Devlin secretary-treasurer. Bronx Oval has a seating capacity of about 5,000, and it is planned to enlarge this later in the season if conditions warrant.

Pitcher Drucke Wins Case.

New York, April 12.—The suit brought by Louis Drucke, the New York Giants' pitcher, against the Interborough Rapid Transit Company to recover $25,000 for an injury to his back in a subway train in October, 1910, was settled privately out of court yesterday. It is said Drucke received a substantial sum.

HOW PITCHER ADAMS CAME TO BE CALLED "BABE."

Following the receipt of the signed contract of Pitcher Charles Adams at the Pirate headquarters a Pittsburgh expert tells the following story as to how the former Colonel star received the nickname of "Babe."

It was a merry little schoolgirl who gave Charley Adams the cradle name of "Babe." The christening took place in Denver, where Adams was pitching some years ago. They met at a birthday party. The girl asked Adams his full name. "Charles B.," responded the big pitcher.

She demanded to know the middle name. "Is it Baxter, Bond, Bertrand or Bartholomew—or what?" she asked.

Adams, just to tease her, wouldn't tell.

"Then I'll call you 'Babe,'" she replied.

The next day a girl's voice cried, "Go it, 'Babe!'" Two thousand Denver fans took it up. The name "Babe" stuck and followed Adams to Louisville and Pittsburgh.

ENJOYS JOKING RECRUITS.

Jimmy Burke Hands Young Riggs a Cheerful Tale.

"Say, Burke, where do the Browns generally open?" asked Riggs, one of the St. Louis recruits, who spent a fortnight in Hot Springs, Ark., in advance of being summoned to St. Louis.

"Generally in Washington," replied the Indianapolis manager, who never overlooks a chance to kid a broiler.

"Is that so?" buzzed back Riggs.

"Yes, you'll probably bat against Walter Johnson inaugural day. Then you'll slip into Chicago and get Big Ed Walsh. Next Detroit for a look at George Mullin and guess your first Sunday will be in Cleveland, and if it's nice and warm Harry Davis will slip you Vean Gregg."

Suffice it to say that Riggs was glad he asked the question, and the kid is game enough to develop if the stuff is in him. He certainly means well.

Burke's crack at Riggs brings to mind the way Danny Hoffman, the old Brownie, acounted for his failure to get a hit in a western trip he made with the St. Louis team in 1908, when it was fighting so hard for the flag.

"Say, I never had a chance for a bingle," stated Hoffman. "Didn't get any one but Walsh, Mullin and Donovan and seven left handers. What chance did I have?"

Is Collins Greatest Second Sacker?

A veteran like Charley Comiskey of Chicago, who has seen the old school of players as well as modern ball tossers, unhesitatingly says that Eddie Collins of the Athletics is the greatest ball player that ever guarded the second sack. Friends of Johnny Evers and several others differ, however.

Records For Consecutive Games Won.

The record number of consecutive games won by a major league club is twenty, made by the Providence National league team in 1884; minor league, Corsicana, Tex., 1902, twenty-eight games.

P. H. S. TO CROSS BATS WITH MORRIS HIGH TOMORROW

The Plainfield High School nine will meet the Morris High team of New York, at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, on the Crescent Oval, while the Leal's school team will journey to Cranford where they will try conclusions with the High School there. The Borough boys will not play.

The City High in its game Wednesday at Somerville, showed plainly that it had the makings of a winning team and should make the New York boys work for everything that it gets. Cranford High has a very strong team, having taken the measure of both the Borough High and Pingry School teams so far this season. It is hard to get a line on the Leal's team, its only game having been played with a team representing their alumni. However, it is a safe bet that the team from the Front street school will give a good account of itself.

CENTRAL LODGE DEFEATS UPCHURCH IN QUOIT TOURNEY

Central Lodge No. 48, A. O. U. W., of Plainfield, won the entire series of seven games played in the quoit tournament held last night with the Upchurch Lodge No. 50, of Westfield. The match was held in the Central lodge rooms and was attended by a good sized crowd.

The Westfield team was composed of Robert Arndt and Isaac Probasco, while Edward Mosher and Lorenzo Spicer held up the Plainfield side of the argument.

After the match reports were heard from the representatives who attended the meeting of the recent session of the Grand Lodge, held at Atlantic City. Judge Newcorn, who has held the office of chairman of the board of trustees of the State Grand Lodge for ten years, was at that time elevated to the position of Past Grand Master Workman in appreciation of his past services. Harvey Thorn reported the receipt of a check for $2,000 in payment of the death claim of Frank Schoot, whose death occured on March 26.

Boro Team Will Play Alumni.

A game has been arranged for tomorrow between the Borough High School team and a team composed of the alumni. The game will start at 3:30 on Hyde Field.

RUTGERS MAKES GOOD RECORD ON TRIP JUST FINISHED

New Brunswick, April 12.—The Rutgers College baseball team is preparing to meet Trinity at Neilson Field here tomorrow afternoon. The men had a gool snappy practise yesterday, and are in fine shape.

The Southern trip was much more successful than it has been in many years, Rutgers winning three out of five games. The team defeated Virginia Military Institute, 11 to 8; Washington College, 5 to 1; Virginia Polytechnic Institute, 18 to 1, and lost to Virginia Polytechnic, 2 to 4, and to Franklin and Marshall, 3 to 4. Thirty-nine runs were scored on the trip to eighteen by the opponents. Before going South, Rutgers beat Columbia and lost to Princeton, thus making the season stand so far four victories to three defeats. Rutgers has a long and hard schedule. Captain Bowen, the veteran backstop, shows the best batting average of the regulars, .409, and also ranks near the top in fielding. Twing, the new first baseman, has a fielding average of .983. Gladding, second base; Teeds, shortstop; Boller, third base; Steedle, right field; Howlett, centre field; M. G. Milliken, left field; make the line-up about as it is being used, although changes are likely at any time. C. E. Dennis, Hamburg; W. H. Martin, Bloomfield, and E. D. Chase, Rahway, make up the pitching staff.

PRINT MAGEE'S PICTURE FOR CHINA'S PRESIDENT.

Philadelphia, April 12.—Sherwood Magee, left fielder of the Philadelphia Nationals, has just received a copy of an Arkansas newspaper with a story of the inauguration of the new Chinese President, Yuan Shi Kai. The dispatch is illustrated with a picture of Magee, bearing the name of Yuan and a nine-line description of the Oriental ruler's garments and personal appearance. Magee has written a letter of apology to the new Chinese President, expressing regret that his picture should have become mixed with one of a man so high in international affairs.

SCOOP BRIGHTENS UP THE DARK SPOTS IN THE SOCIETY COLUMN

DEVOE TOOK 9½ GALLONS LESS

Judge I. D. Fairchild of Lufkin, Texas, had two houses painted, both same size. One was painted with a leading top-price paint, and took 25 gallons. The other was painted with Devoe, and took only 15½ gallons. The "leading paint" referred to is adulterated 15%, but is sold at the same price as Devoe.

The most economical paint always is the one that takes least gallons and wears longest, and that's Devoe.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

RICE AND CHEESE.

RICE and cheese cooked together make a very substantial dish. It may serve as a substitute for meat in vegetarian households.

Boiled Rice and Cheese.—Boil and drain a half cupful of rice, drop into it a tablespoonful of grated cheese, stirring the two ingredients well together.

Dab bits of butter over the rice and sprinkle with grated cheese. Set the baking dish in the oven until the cheese is slightly browned. Serve while hot.

This may be prepared in a fancy casserole dish and served in the dish.

An Italian Dish.

Rice Neapolitan Style.—Rice cooked in this way is a favorite Italian dish. Take a quart of boiling water, add to it a tablespoonful of grated Parmesan cheese and a slice of bacon. Boil these for five minutes, then stir in a cupful of well washed rice and boil. When done take out the bacon, pour the rice into a dish, dot the top with pieces of butter and set in the oven to dry.

Savory Rice.—Take two ounces of rice, boil in salted water until about half done. Drain off the water and replace it with half a pint of milk. Boil the rice in this until it is soft, then stir in an ounce of grated cheese, an egg beaten light and salt and pepper to taste. Pour into individual baking dishes and brown quickly in the oven. Send to the table garnished with sprigs of parsley.

With Puff Paste.

Latticed Rice.—Take two cupfuls of cooked rice, a half cupful of odds and ends of cheese which have been grated fine, two cupfuls of milk, two eggs well beaten, a spoonful of melted butter and a teaspoonful of salt.

Mix these, place in a baking dish and cross the top of the dish with narrow strips of puff paste to form a fine lattice work. Sprinkle the top with fine cheese before and after putting on the lattice. Place bits of butter over the rice. Bake for half an hour.

Cutaway Coats and Brocaded Vests.

Waistcoats in beautiful brocades and tapestries are to be a feature of spring fashions. On costumes and dresses alike the waistcoat will make its reappearance in the prettiest of colorings and in all sizes.

A dainty gown from Paris seen recently introduces the waistcoat with charming effect. It is fashioned of silver gray charmeuse, with princess lines about the front, and the waistcoat of biscuit moire is covered with delicate embroideries. Round its edges there is a line of emerald green satin, and buttons of the same satin run down the front, similar buttons finishing the sleeves.

Some of the waistcoats on dresses are in lace, filled in at the neck with fine tulle and centered with buttons in old silver. A pretty idea for a dress of flimsy fabric is a waistcoat of ninon finely tucked and piped with black velvet. White ninon is very dainty made up in this style, the buttons being in cut crystal and the black velvet reappearing at the waist, one long end falling down the back with crystal fringe.

The waistcoat and fichu are to be seen together on one frock in some of the new spring fashions. An old rose charmeuse dress illustrating this fancy has a waistcoat of ivory moire patterned in a curious design with reds and blues in a blurred effect, and over the shoulders there is a fichu composed of folded charmeuse, the ends of which are gathered in at the waist with an old silver buckle.

Down the center of the waistcoat there is a row of rose buttons sewed with silver threads in a cobweb design, and the collarless neck is filled in with white chiffon.

Making Over Curtains.

Have you a pair of good lace curtains that are too old to hang up as they are? Try this method of treating them and you will not regret it:

Applique the lace on a foundation of thin silk of a rose shade. Baste each curtain very neatly on its foundation, cut away the lace net wherever you find it worn through the border and outline the pattern in linen or, if you prefer it, in silk floss of the rose colored shade. If the plain net is in good preservation dot it over with a spray design worked in the same floss or silk.

You will find the effect extremely good, combining the airiness of lace with the handsomeness of brocade. Moreover, you will have curtains as good as new, which will last some time if carefully cleaned when soiled.

Curtains such as these were seen recently in a living room in the country, where they had hung in the windows for eighteen months, and they looked perfectly fresh.

Blue, green, brown or any other color may be adopted, of course, as a foundation to suit the room of the worker.

Kitchenettes.

Use a teaspoonful of vinegar in the water in which a tough fowl or stew is cooked.

A good way to wash bottles and vinegar cruets is to put in some uncooked rice and shake well.

Lemon juice will clean aluminium. If your aluminium pans become blackened just put a little of the juice on a cloth and rub the pan well.

To remove paint and varnish from the hands first rub well into them a generous quantity of grease or lard, then wash them with soap and water.

All housekeepers know the inconvenience of hot sputtering fat when frying eggs, potatoes, mush and the like. This may be remedied by sifting a bit of flour into the fat before dropping the things into the pan.

COAL IS SCARCE BUT GAS TAKES ITS PLACE

The user of a gas range always has a plentiful supply of fuel at hand.

Whether the miners work or not the gas is there ready to burn. There's no jumping the price either.

Even when there is coal it's much easier to turn a valve and light a match than it is to split kindling and carry coal before you can have a fire.

And gas leaves no ashes to be carted out.

If YOU haven't a gas range get one NOW. We sell them on an easy payment plan.

AUTO NOTES.

RECIPROCITY RELIEVES FEARS OF AUTO OWNERS.

New Jersey automobile owners, who have been rather timid about venturing over into New York before seeing an official proclamation that New York had accepted the provisions of the new reciprocity law signed last week by Gov. Wilson, need have no further fear on that score. They can go back and forth unmolested now, and, in fact, could have done so ever since Tuesday, April 2, when the Governor affixed his signature to the New Jersey bill. Immediately thereafter reciprocity began automatically with New Jersey and New York, as well as with other States.

There will be no official proclamation by either the secretary of State of New Jersey or the secretary of State of New York anent the matter. None is considered necessary, and neither is it considered necessary for New Jersey authorities to send a certified copy of the law to the secretary of State of New York or any other State, nor will this be done. Motor Vehicle Commissioner J. B. R. Smith, who is holding over as assistant secretary of State until his successor is appointed, declared today that the New Jersey State department had not notified the State departments of other States of the passage of the law, and would not do so.

Such action, Mr. Smith said, was not customary. The only exception was in case of a State law effecting federal acts, and then a certified copy would be sent to the State Department at Washington. Otherwise the New Jersey State department would send only copies of laws to those who requested them, and sent the required fee. Mr. Simth said the reciprocity law was automatic, and the Jerseymen could motor to New York now and New Yorkers could come here under its provisions.

MANY AMERICAN CARS AT THE DELHI PAGEANT.

During the coronation ceremonies of King George the Fifth and Queen Mary, and the attending durbar at Delhi, American-made automobiles were greatly in evidence. It distinctly pointed out the fact that the outlook for future extensive business in American - made motor vehicles throughout India was never more promising than at the present time.

The American automobile received a huge advertisement through the action of various Indian Governments in placing large orders for American-built cars and which were used in the coronation ceremonies. Nearly 500 American-made cars were present, the number being so large as to create wide and most favorable comment. One Madras firm alone, for the local Government officials, ordered ten American-made automobiles. The preference thus shown in favor of American cars is sure to result in a largely increased demand for motor vehicles of American manufacture.

Many makes were present and the very best creations of the art were in evidence. None, however, were more favorably commented upon than the three Mitchel cars of the "big-six" type, which carried Prince Pindi Rawl Jehlm and his retinue of attendants from that picturesque and mountainous section of Kashmir.

Outside of the appropriate elegance of the Mitchell Six, the Prince was largely influenced in the selection of his machine by the powerful and reliable motive power of the machine. The district from which he comes is very mountainous and hill-climbing ability was a factor which he had to provide for, but which he wished to have coupled with the splendor so necessary to a durbar.

WOMAN STARTS ON LONG TRIP AFOOT TO CHICAGO.

New York, April 12.—Mrs. David Beach letf on a 1,000-mile tramp to Chicago, where she expects to arrive on or before June 1. The Globe is backing Mrs. Beach in her effort. The woman pedestrian, who is a firm believer in the raw food system of diet, intends to show the value of such a sustaining quality as compared to the animal food now forming such a prominent feature of every-day menus.

Starting from the heart of the city, Mrs. Beach was content to make Yonkers her first stopping place last night. Tonight she is scheduled to arrive at Peekskill, 45 miles from Broadway, and tomorrow night at Fishkill.

As Mrs. Beach intends to observe Sunday as a day of rest she will endeavor to cover the 30 miles between Fishkill and Rhinecliff on Saturday, resting there until Monday morning, when she will start for Hudson. The fair walker expects to arrive in Buffalo by May 2, Cleveland May 11 and Toledo May 18.

Mrs. Beach proposes to make the entire trip on a diet of raw food—grains, nuts, fruits and vegetables. She will quench her thirst with milk, fruit juices and water and use very little of the latter.

Mrs. Beach at the start of her trip yesterday weighed 150 pounds.

Some Queer Definitions.

In the Bailey dictionary of 1674 the word "colibus" is defined as follows: "Colibus—a humming bird, which makes a noise like a whirlwind, though it is no bigger than a fly. It feeds on dew, has an admirable beauty of feathers and a scent as sweet as musk."

The same authority thus describes the loriot, or oriole: "Loriot—a bird that being looked upon by one that has yellow jaundice cures the person and dies itself."

Delpino's dictionary (1703) says of the leopard: "Lieupard, or leopard—a yellow beast, exceedingly swift, subtle and fierce and of such a sweet savor that it allures other beasts to it, and so they are caught and devoured."

A Superstitious Waiter.

A man dining at a cafe observed that, though he had ordered one dozen oysters, he was served with only eleven. The next evening the same thing occurred again. Then the diner became somewhat irritated.

"Why," he demanded of the waiter, "do you serve me only eleven oysters when I order a dozen?"

The waiter bowed apologetically. "I don't think you'd be wanting to be sitting thirteen at table, sir."—New York Press.

ARRANGE GRADUATION OF HOSPITAL PUPILS

Officials Complete Plans for Presentation of Diplomas to Budding Nurses.

COMMENCEMENT ON MAY 23

Seven Young Women in the Class, Which Is Large as Muhlenberg School Classes Go—One Engaged to Be Married.

The officials of Muhlenberg Hospital have completed arrangements for the annual graduation exercises of the training school for nurses connected with the institution. They will be held at the Hartridge Auditorium on Thursday night, May 23, and will comprise the usual program of addresses, awards and orchestral selections, concluding with a reception and dance.

The graduating class is again a large one, numbering seven young women, two of whom are from Plainfield, Miss Katherine Knox, daughter of Hugh Knox, fomerly of Woodbine avenue, and Miss Lillian Fritts, daughter of the late Dr. John T. Fritts. The others are Miss Mary Cleaves, of Dunellen; Miss Katherine Kaudenbach, of Newark; Miss Elizabeth White, of Utica, N. Y.; Miss Rose Splaine, of Boston, Mass., and Miss Olga Anderson, of Bermuda. All of the young women will engage in private nursing for the present but in the fall Miss Kaudenbach will be married to Joseph A. Blatz, Jr., of the borough.

A new departure will be inaugurated this year in the costume worn by the graduates at the exercises. Instead of the familiar hospital uniform of grey, striped material, set off by kerchief and apron, they will appear in plain, white dresses, minus the other adornments.

DRIVER KILLED ON TRACKS; TOWERMAN UNDER ARREST.

William Wright, aged 35 years, of Roselle, employed as a driver by the Borden Milk Company, was killed at 3 o'clock this morning, while crossing the New Jersey Central tracks at Chestnut street, Roselle. His wagon was run down by a light engine. The horse escaped.

It is reported that the accident was due to a mistake on the part of the towerman on the railroad, and he is now under arrest. Assistant Prosecutor Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., is in charge of the case.

Runaway Goes Back to Home.

James Gibbs, fifteen years old, picked up by the police several days ago and turned over to the Poor Department, was returned today to the Children's Home at Goshen, Cape May county. When the police questioned him the boy said he had given up work in Goshen to go to his sister, who lived in Morristown. The Poor Department investigation disclosed the fact that he had been romancing. He ran away from a farm in Millstone, where the Home had bound him out.

WILL GO AHEAD WITH SEWERS AND WATER

Councilmen Hold That Attorney-General Hasn't Checked Condemnation Proceedings --Dunellen Invited to Confer on Sewage.

Sewers and water were the principal topics for discussion at a conference of the members of the Common Council last night and while in the nature of things, but little substantial progress could be made in either matter, there were several recommendations. It was decided to invite the Dunellen Council to confer on Monday night on the scheme to use the Darling farm in Piscataway Township as a site for sewage disposal works.

As no information has come to the council that the Legislature has passed the Beard bill over the veto the councilmen take the position that they can go ahead with their arrangements for building sewage disposal works in Piscataway township as planned, and they desire Dunellen to join in the improvement.

It was decided to go on with the condemnation proceedings in the matter of securing a municipal water plant. It was stated that it was not absolutely necessary to seek the aid of the Atorney-General in this work, and the recent decision of the latter against the city in its application to him, will not materially affect the municipality in carrying out its plans. When the council meets Monday night, Mr. Mygatt, chairman of the special water committee, will offer a resolution authorizing the committee to continue the condemnation proceedings. There seems to be no disposition on the part of the councilmen to drop the question and make a new contract with the Plainfield Union Water Supply Company.

BRIDE AND BRIDEGROOM FROM LAND OF HEATHER

Miss Agnes Hunter McKenzie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McKenzie, and John Whiteford Beattie, son of James Beattie, both of Fanwood, were married last night at the home of the bridegroom. Rev. Evarts C. Conover, pastor of the Temple Baptist church, officiated.

William McKenzie, a brother of the groom, was the best man. A reception followed the ceremony, after which the couple left on a wedding trip. Upon their return they will reside in this city.

Both the bride and bridegroom are natives of Scotland, the former having been in this country but a short time. Mr. Beattie is employed as a stock clerk in one of the manufacturing plants near Dunellen.

SEVENTEENTH CONGREGATION CALLS REV. H. N. JORDAN

For the seventeenth time since he became pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church at New Market, Rev. H. N. Jordan has received a call from another congregation. It has been extended by the denominational church at Albion, Wis., one of the most flourishing in that section. Mr. Jordan has been offered exceptional inducements to go to the Western town, but although he has not yet given adecided answer it is probable that he will remain East.

Mr. Jordan is a native of New York State and the New Market church is his first regular chrage. His work there has demonstrated his ability in many ways and other congregations have been quick to recognize it. He begun receiving calls before his first year was over, but he has persistently refused to abandon his labors in the Piscataway town. The church is in a flourishing condition and at the prseent time is building a commodious kitchen to its place of worship.

Mothers' Association Meets.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Mothers' Association of Plainfield, yesterday afternoon, it was reported that six new members had been accepted. The local association voted to send $15 to assist in the movement.

Winkler sang a number of solos, and Messrs. Bishop, Pentecost and Smith amused those present with recitations. After the program refreshments were served.

P. S. C. WILL REBUILD ITS FOURTH ST. LINE

First Stretch of Trolley Constructed in Plainfield--Company Likely to Get Permits For More Switches and Y's.

Announcement was made by the Public Service Corporation today that on or about Monday work would commence on the entire re-contruction of the West Fourth street trolley line, from Watchung avenue to the terminus at Seventh street and Monroe avenue. A large gang of laborers will be placed on the job and operations will be rushed in order to impede vehicle traffic as little as possible. After the rebuilding is completed, the street will be placed in first class condition.

The improvement is of more than passing interest, inasmuch as it has not only been eargerly awaited by the residents along the route, but will remove the first stretch of trolley track laid in Plainfield. This is the section running from Grant avenue to Monroe avenue and Seventh street. It was put down just twenty years ago, the first car running being sent over the line in the summer of 1892.

The route extended from Seventh and Monroe to Grant avenue, thence to Front street and along the city's principal thoroughfare to a point opposite the present Scheuer and Co. grocery. The Front street part was rebuilt years ago, when heavy cars were sent through to Dunellen. After the Fourth street part is removed, all that will remain of the original track, is the stretch between Front and Fourth streets, now used only as a cross-over fornocturnal cars that make life miserable for the residents. The rails get covered with dirt during the day and when the heavy cars swing through at night the rumble puts sleep to rout.

The old tracks on Fourth street were laid with a six-inch girder rail, a type seldom used today. The new ones to be put in will to a seven-inch girder considerably heavier.

Following a conference of the councilmanic street committee with L. D. H. Gilmour, of the Public Service Corporation last night, it looked as if the company will be given the right to install a couple of extra turnouts in this city, as petitioned for recently, and three "Y's" which have been sought some time

One of the turnouts will be located on West Front street, near Compton avenue, and the other on East Second stret, near Johnson avenue. The company claims that it will be able to run its cars under shorter headway during the rush hours and on Sundays and holidays.

The "Y's" wil be located as follows: One at West Front street and Grant aveiue, another at West Fourth street and Watchung avenue, and the third at East Fifth and Richmond streets. This will permit the company to operate the single end cars on the local lines and otherwise result in an improvement of the service.

The conditions to be exacted by the city for granting these privileges are that the company shall put down a permanent pavement at each point of improvement or change in the tracks for the full width of the street. It is understood that the company is willing to accede to the conditions and that the street committee will recommend granting the asked for privileges at an early meeting of the Common Council.

Convincing Facts.

It is with considerable pride that we call the automobilists' attention to several readers in today's paper regarding recent purchases of Ford cars. The mere fact that these gentlemen are now owners of Ford cars, should be convincing proof as to the many good qualities of the Ford. When a prospective buyer considers what the Ford Co. offer in the way of a motor car and the guarantee back of it backed by the strongest and wealthiest automobile manufacturing company in the country, there should be little doubt in one's mind as to the car. They will buy, provided they want something that is always ready to take them anywhere, and a car that can be maintained at a very low cost. There will be at least 75,000 Ford cars made and sold this year, and the outlook at the present time indicates that there will be nearer 100,000. SEBRING'S AUDITORIUM CROWDED AT F. O. E. DANCE

Sebring's auditorium held a capacity crowd last night, on the occasion of Plainfield Aerie, No. 866, F. O. E.'s sixth annual ball. It was one of the best attended the organization has yet conducted. Suhr's orchsetra of five pieces furnished the music.

As in previous years, the decorations were again a feature. The dome was a mass of colored electric globes and one side of the hall was graced with the letters "F. O. E. 866" in electric lights. During the dances colored lights were flashed over the asemblage producing a decidedly pretty effect. There were also flags bunting and the Eagles' colors draped in ocnvenient places. Supper was served during intermission.

The committees in charge of the affair were as follows: Arrangements, chairman, E. J. McCann, Frank McCabe, I. N. Wykoff; floor manager, H. A. Wierenga; assistants, John Vardon, James Mahoney and Charles Anderson; reception, chairman, H. J. Frowry; M. J. Higgins, William Smith and James Taylor. Charles P. Washington, April 13.—Miss Clara Barton, founder of the American Red Cross society and famous civil war nurse, died at her home in Glen Echo, Md., of chronic pneumonia, with which she was stricken about a year ago. Her brother, Stephen Barton of Boston, was with her when she died.

Miss Barton had been confined to her home, Red Cross, Glen Echo, since last fall, when she returned from a visit to New England. It was thought her trip was beneficial, but soon afterward she was taken seriously ill.

SUSPENSION COSTING $1,000,000 EVERY DAY

But the Dove of Peace Is Hovering Over Conference.

Philadelphia, April 13.—A million dollars a day is the loss sustained by operators, miners and railroads while the conferences continue between the miners and the representatives of the operators in this city.

The dove of peace, however, is hovering over the men as they deliberate upon the nine demands made by the United Mine Workers. For several hours the committee of eight representatives of both factions discussed the general situation in the coal fields and finally got down to the demands, with an effort to arrive at an amicable agreement without bringing their differences before the anthracite strike commission.

President White refused to make a statement other than that the committee could report progress. No statement was given by the committee except that they will hold another session on Monday. According to John T. Dempsey, president of District No. 1, the meetings will continue during the greater part of next week.

WOMAN CANNOT VOTE SAYS SUPREME COURT

Trenton, April 13. — The provisions of the Constitution of New Jersey does not give the right to vote. This is the gist of an opinion filed in the Supreme Court yesterday by Justice Kalisch.

The court orders the discharge of the rule to show cause why a writ of mandamus should not issue compelling the Passaic Township Election Board to place the name of Harriet F. Carpenter on the registration list that she might be entitled to vote. The court held that the premises on which the case was founded were inaccurate and fallacious. The case was argued upon a stipulation of facts.

The fight for the right of the women to vote was made by Miss Mary A. Philbrook, as counsel for Miss Carpenter. Miss Philbrook carried the case to the Supreme Court upon the refusal of the Board of Elections to register Miss Carpenter. Since then the case has became a famous one, upon it the hopes of the suffagettes of New Jersey rested that they might be able to vote, even though a law to that effect was not passed at the present sesion of the Legislature.

The choir of Mt. Zion A. M. E. church will repeat the program of Easter music at the evening service, tomorrow. Mr. Grant, a lawyer, who recently removed to this city, will make an address.

HUNTERDON'S SURVIVOR OF MEXICAN WAR DEAD.

Whitehouse Station, April 13.—Word has been received here of the death of Gordon Valentine, the only survivor of the Mexican War from Hunterdon county. His death occurred at the home of his niece, in Brooklyn, from infirmities incident to old age. Until a month ago he made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Welch on their farm near here. Mr. Valentine was ninety-four years old, and he was in good health apparently until he went to the city to make his home.

His funeral will be held in the city and the body will be sent to Stony Brook, N. Y.

Mr. Valentine was a native of New York city. His father was for a long time a member of the police force. When twelve years old he came to Hunterdon county to live with his grandfather, who was a farmer of the name of Carney. From that time until he went to Brooklyn to spend his remaining days with a relative, he had lived in this section.

He enlisted in the Mexican War in 1846 from Clinton, joining Company G, Tenth New Jersey, under Captain Joseph A. Yard, of Trenton. His company was sent to the front, and Mr. Valentine was stationed at Matamoras, on the Rio Grande, under the command of Zachary Taylor, who was afterward elected President of the United States. This old soldier always said he remembered his commander well.

Mr. Valentine was in several skirmishes at Matamoras and Fort Brown. At one time Mr. Valentine's tent was shot full of holes, but the men made a desperate stand and drove the enemy to cover.

GIRL KILLED BY AUTO WITH YOUTH AT WHEEL.

Perth Amboy, April 13.—Leakady Polaszak, eight years old, was killed in State street when run down by an automobile owned by W. H. Griswold, president of the New Jersey Terra Cotta Company, and driven by his sixteen-year-old son, Floyd Griswold. The Griswolds live at 399 High street.

Young Griswold was arrested and paroled pending an investigation by Coroner James J. Flynn and the police.

The girl, who lived with her mother at 667 Charles street, was leaving the parochial school of St. Stephen's Polish church and was knocked down within a few feet of the curb as she attempted to cross the street. One wheel of the automobile passed over the girl's head and crushed it so that she lived but a few minutes.

Griswold said he was on the wrong side of the street, having swerved to avoid striking a group of children. He said he did not see the Polaszak child until too late.

BANDITS STEAL OFFICIAL ROLL

Hold Up Chairman of Democratic Committee.

WILSON VOTE IS BLOCKED.

Without List of Committeemen Ballot Could Not Be Taken on Resolution Instructing Delegates For Governor. Meeting Ends In Uproar.

Jersey City, N. J., April 13.—Street and Water Commissioner Frank Hague of Jersey City offered a resolution at a meeting of the Democratic committee of Hudson county calling for the sending of uninstructed delegates to the national convention. There was an uproar because at a meeting of the committee held two weeks ago a resolution to instruct the six delegates from the three congressional districts in the county for Governor Woodrow Wilson was adopted.

"There was only a handful at that meeting," Hague cried above the confusion, "and this meeting will show much more plainly what the sentiment of the committee is. I want a rising vote, like the other one.

Chairman James Hennessy urged a vote by roll call. He finally pursuaded the committeemen to agree, but then discovered he did not have the roll with him. Promising to be back with it in ten minutes, Hennessey went to his office in the city hall, where he is tax commissioner by appointment of Mayor Wittpen, a strong Wilson man.

Hennessey was back within the ten minutes, empty handed.

"I have been held up," he said. "Two men stopped me on my way back and took the roll away from me."

That threw the meeting into new confusion, and before the uproar had been quelled Hennessey declared an adjournment without having called for a vote on Hague's resolution.

Fourteen of the twenty-four members of the executive committee approved the Hague resolution before it was offered. The vote on the resolution of indorsement at the former meeting was 14 to 8, with two absentees, so that there is evidence of activity on the part of the anti-Wilson men. It was said that the congressional district committees would refuse to instruct their delegates.

PRISONER PUZZLES POLICE.

Hackensack Warden Thinks Enoch T Walker Escaped From Sanitarium.

Hackensack, N. J., April 13.—Warden Louis Nestel of the Bergen county jail at Hackensack is puzzled over the case of a man who says his name is Enoch Taylor Walker. The man is five feet eleven inches tall, has dark curly hair and gray eyes and weighs about 150 pounds. He gives as his address the Hotel Taft, Sixth avenue and Thirty-seventh street, New York city. He also says he lived at 533 West One Hundred and Fifty-eighth street, New York, and before that in Philadelphia. He gives the names of the following persons as acquaintances: Frank Naillor, Essex street, Cincinnati; David Higgins of Gloversville, N. Y., and B. F. Kathan, also of Gloversville.

Warden Nestel says he believes the man has escaped from some sanitarium. He was arrested by the Hackensack police on Sunday evening for acting in a suspicious manner on the heights. He had no money on him and absolutely refused to have his fingerprints taken. He says he is looking for his wife, who is traveling.

At 533 West One Hundred and Fifty-eighth street it was said that Mr. Walker lived there up to two months ago, when he left, saying he was going to Philadelphia.

JAMES SMITH, JR., A CANDIDATE

Ex-Senator Will Run as Anti-Wilson Man In Jersey Primary.

Newark, N. J., April 13.—Among the candidates selected by the Essex county Democratic committee to run as anti-Wilson delegates at the presidential primaries May 28 are former United States Senator James Smith, Jr., and former State Chairman James R. Nugent. Judge Charles F. Herr of the Fourteenth ward, Newark, was named to run as one of the four delegates at large, with Martin Conboy of East Orange as alternate.

The appearance of ex-Senator Smith as a candidate was a surprise to many Democrats, though it was known for some time that he would like nothing better than to go to Baltimore as one of the "Big Four" in the New Jersey delegation.

SUED DAY AFTER HIS WEDDING

New York Girl Says Montclair Man Promised to Marry Her.

Montclair, N. J., April 13.—Alger M. Hoagland, a well to do resident here, was married Thursday night and on Friday a $10,000 breach of promise suit was filed against him in the supreme court. He married Sophia E. Mackenzie. Mary I. Peer of New York is the plaintiff in the action.

In her complaint Miss Peer says that Hoagland promised to marry her in April, 1911, and that when she reminded him later he absolutely refused to do so. Hoagland will make a general denial through his attorney, James Gillen.

A PLAINFIELD OPPORTUNITY

Only a few years ago small talking machine plants were started in two other Jersey towns—Orange and Camden. Today these plants cover acres, employ thousands and their stock cannot be purchased at any price. The industry that made millions for the citizens of Camden and Orange will do the same for Plainfield people who have the foresight to investigate early.

The musical quality of the Vitaphone made under the Repp basic patents, is without comparison—hear it and be convinced.

Additional capital is required to erect a concrete building 4 stories, 190x70, and a block of Preferred stock is offered under favorable conditions that will soon be withdrawn.

BALLARD DENIES SUNDAY TRAIN TRAVEL REPORT.

Ocean Grove, April 13.—Rev. Dr. A. E. Ballard denied yesterday that three members of the Ocean Grove Campmeeting Association made use of the passenger trains last Sunday, as rumored.

"The most diligent inquiry," said Dr. Ballard, "fails to locate any member of the association as using the trains on htat day."

Another report denied by Dr. Ballard was that the association had determined, in the nature of a reprisal against boroughite tenants, to advance the rental price of stable ground lots.

"There seems to be no end to the misrepresentations made against Ocean Grove," said Dr. Ballard. "The statement that Ocean Grove was responsible for the delay in cleaning Wesley Lake, so as to permit the inflow of water for the season, is untrue.

—"I've had a terrible day at the office, and I'm mad clear through," announced the husband, coming home. "Now would be a good time to beat the rugs," replied the wife.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

PLAINFIED, NEW JERSEY, APRIL 13, 1912.

The editorial columns of this paper are conducted on Saturdays by representative citizens who are free to express their own views. William L. Saunders, president of the Ingersoll-Rand Company, of New York, former mayor of North Plainfield and member of the New Jersey State Board of Education, is the contributing editor today.

The question is often asked, why do not Plainfield and North Plainfield get together? That a community like the Borough, limited in its direction of growth by Plainfield on one side and the mountains on the other, with little or no local pride except through Plainfield, with no capacity to build up a large store district, should continue its policy of separation is looked upon by impartial, disinterested persons as incomprehensible. The stores on Front street get 95 per cent. of the patronage from the people of the borough because they are more accessible and because the growth of both city and borough follows the line of the railroad and of Front street. This concentrated shopping district is what helps to pay taxes, increases ratables and relieves the burden of every community. The city gets the benefit of the borough patronage without returning to the borough a single dollar. The city has enjoyed a system of sewerage for years and the health and prosperity of the borough have in the meantime been injured. The people of the borough cannot cultivate a local civic pride because they know that they belong to the city. They have no postoffice, no banks, few public institutions of any kind and they are paying dearly for imaginary advantages. Does any one doubt that some of the best property in this part of New Jersey lies in the borough? Yet statistics show that growth in population and property is twice as great in the city. We may count on the fingers of one's hand all the buildings that have been put up in the borough in the last fifteen years that have cost $10,000. Strangers coming here are impressed by the borough, many of them locate there, and after a few years' residence they move to and invest in the city. Van Wyck, Heely, Iredell and others are examples.

Self-interest is the only real obstacle in the way of consolidation. Some people in the borough do not want the borough to grow, except as a little Tuxedo Park. Here we have an incorporated community where the welfare of the plainest citizen and property-holder is, or should be, of as great importance as that of the wealthiest citizen, yet taxes go on increasing without commensurate advantages, ratables do not grow as they do in the city, vacant lots remain vacant all because a few people like to live in exclusive places and do not join in a movement that is sure to result in benefit to the community as a whole. There is no trouble about passing laws through the Legislature that will effect consolidation. The trouble is that certain people of influence and property not only do not aid such a movement, but they oppose it. Strong opposition on the part of large property-holders always appeals to legislators when special bills are introduced.

Something has been said in these columns about being kind and considerate to our public men. This is all very well in a social club or a Sunday-school; but when a man either willingly or unwillingly aspires to a public office through the suffrage he thereby invites criticism. Jefferson said that when a man assumes a public trust he should consider himself as public property. Why should he not be criticised, for really public criticism, through the press and otherwise, is one of the greatest bulwarks of safety in our institutions. An autocratic government, a monarchy or a oligarchy, such as exists in Russia, for instance, is free from criticism because there is really no such thing as public opinion there. The rights of the common people are not safeguarded. The people must take what they can get and be satisfied. This is not democracy in any sense. The ruler of such a country is there by inheritance. With us in local, state and national affairs he holds his office because a majority of the people thought him fit to represent them,—they created him, and he holds his office subject to the people's will, hence his every act should be open to criticism, and a public officer who is fit to govern should invite and not discourage criticism. There is a clear line of distinction between personal mud-slinging and honest difference of opinion. When Mayor Grace was in office in New York he appointed a very excellent gentleman, Mr. Woodman, to the position of excise commissioner. Woodman had never held public office in his life and the first time the newspapers criticised his administration he ran in excitement to the Mayor, shaking a copy of a New York daily in his face and saying, "You know, Mr. Mayor, that I am all right; that I am trying to do my best, but look at this, look at this!" The Mayor calmly removed his glasses, looked him squarely in the eye and said "Woodman, if I had known that you were that kind of a fellow I never would have taken you out of Sunday-school."

Do the people of Plainfield realize that the health, happiness and prosperity of the community is injured by too many trees? It is all well enough to have shade, and trees are very beautiful but when they are located close to the place where one lives they do harm. Moisture is a medium through which disease breeds. Moisture is created by thick foliage, and moisture in hot weather means a greater feeling of heat. Go in a Turkish bath, for instance, and though the temperature in the steam room is lower than that in the dry room the sensible effect of the heat is greater. This is because the specific heat of water is a great deal higher than the specific heat of air, hence moist air seems hotter than dry air, though its temperature may not be as great. Trees, especially the maples and pines, obstruct the passage of the air, preventing cooling breezes in hot weather. It is better to be in the open with a breeze blowing, even with less shade, than to sweat in a jungle during the summer months. Plainfield soil is near to water courses and with sufficient shade over the soil there might be a continuous, moist strata from the surface to the water. This means evaporation in hot weather and a sultry atmosphere.

Microbes and germs thrive better in the shade, and especially in moist shade, than in the sunlight. A simple illustration of this is shown when a pigeon's nest is cleared away. At the bottom of the nest will be found little white worms about the size of a pin. They will wiggle about when exposed to the light, but if brought out and placed in the sun they will squirm and die. Human life thrives best in the open. We are made for sunlight, and the things that destroy us flourish in dark places.

Some philosopher has said that government should not be a fossil, it should be a plant. This axiom applies quite as much to local as to state and national affairs. The only way to make progress in any community is to take an interest in things. Ignorance is really the parent of error. No one can do good in a practical way in a community unless they mix with people and things, taking an interest not only in local affairs but in the government of a community. Some people seem to think that this is a privilege. It is more, it is a duty, and duty is a higher commandment than privilege. Some people think they fulfill their duty by being religious and moral, by staying at home, cultivating the garden and living within the narrow circle of family and friends—yet these are the very people who are prone to take a pessimistic view of government. They talk about the failure of democracy. Democracy will surely fail if its columns are to be supported on such foundations as such people afford, for after all every government depends for its vitality upon the people. If these good people would play less bridge and do more work in the open we should have better government. Let them pull off their coats, get out into the middle of the road and see and do things. Be a live Easter plant, not a dead fossil.

Civic interest and pride in a community should be placed next to morals. For people in a town to be morally good, to behave themselves at the breakfast table, go to church Sundays, abstain from excess in intoxicating drinks, does not qualify when defining good citizenship. A community becomes stagnant, the people inert, featureless, and instead of progress we get recession, unless there exists among the people the stimulus of civic pride. This is not the pride of individuals, but it is a great force which results from combined effort. It is work done by all the people in one direction.

Look at a football team and see the effort made to reach the goal. Each man on the team is nerved to a single purpose; all men work together. Nothing but an equally powerful opposition can prevent success in such team work. So it is with communities. The thing which brought success to the people of Plainfield when they raised more than one hundred thousand dollars for Muhlenberg Hospital was civic pride put to practice through team work.

An old woman applied to the manager of a hospital for a position as orderly for her son. "Is he a good, honest, hard-working, tender-hearted young man?" said the manager. "Tender-hearted, sir, now that's just what he is. Why he's so tender-hearted that if he would see you but harming a fly he would take a club and beat the brains out of you." This kind of tender-heartedness is shown by people who strain at a gnat and swallow a camel. They are tender hearted in small things only. They are shocked if one should whip a dog or shoot a duck, but look out for them in a business deal where self-interest is at stake. Cruelty to humanity is more inhuman than cruelty to individuals or to animals.

The mayor and council of a city or a borought is not the source from which to ask or expect the initiative in great public questions. A councilman is elected to administer the laws as he finds them and to make laws for the general welfare of the town. He is strictly an administrative officer. It is his place to guard the interest of the taxpayers, to guard the streets, to build sewers when needed; but he has no part in measures involving changes in the form of government, county line changes or other questions which are purely legislative. Legislative measures should naturally be initiated by the people, by public movements, and by agitation.

QUACKS AND FAKE CURES.

BY
Mrs. E. F. Feickert.

There is no more credulous victim of the quack doctor and the unscrupulous vender of patent medicines than the consumptive. The very fact that the honest doctor does not prescribe any medicine, but tells him all he needs is rest, plenty of fresh air and an abundance of good, wholesome food, makes the consumptive of the poorer class an easy prey to the unprincipled "doctors" who offer some magic serum or special treatment, which they "guarantee" will cure him in a few weeks or months. The number of so-called "Consumptive Cures," which are constantly advertised is most astonishing. The The patent cough medicine is a favorite remedy. This is always largely composed of alcohol, or else contains opium or morphine. Such a medicine gives temporary relief, but is really very injurious and leaves the patient in a worse state than he was before taking it. Thousands of persons have acquired the drug habit through the use of such a "remedy."

Then there is the special consumption remedy, some wonderful herb or mineral, which the "doctor" has accidently discovered and which he hastens to advertise to a suffering world from motives of purest philanthrophy! Needless to say, this class of "remedies" is without any effect whatever as regards curing the disease.

Trading on the fame of antitoxic serum as a cure for diphtheria, many serums are advertised to cure consumption. Without exception, these are without any curative value. Under this head might be placed a story printed in the New York papers last month, which recited how "Dr. Joseph H. Thompson, of Hyattsville, Maryland, says he has freed himself entirely from the bacilli of consumption by injections of rattlesnake venom, brought in tablet form from South America Dr. Thompson, an Englishman, who has seen service with the British Army in India, says, however, that it is not safe to use poison from serpents as it is obtained in this country, because it is not properly sterilized."

Treatments by electricity and X-rays are also advertised, some "doctors" claiming that by these means the absorption of specific medicines will be made more rapid and thus more efficacious, which, of course, is entirely untrue.

External applications of all kinds are also extensively advertised. This class of fraudulent "remedies" includes plasters and poultices, which it is claimed will draw the consumption germs out of the lungs.

One of the principal objects of the Plainfield Anti-Tuberculosis League is to spread broadcast among the people most needing such information, a knowledge of what consumption really is and the only proper way of treating it. Everyone can help in this work to the extent of joining the League and paying the membership dues of one dollar annually, which includes a subscription to the "White Crusader," the League's official bulletin. Or at least everyone can subscribe to the "White Crusader" alone, at a cost of twenty-five cents a year.

DEVOE TOOK 9½ GALLONS LESS

Judge I. D. Fairchild of Lufkin, Texas, had two houses painted, both same size. One was painted with a leading top-price paint, and took 25 gallons. The other was painted with Devoe, and took only 15½ gallons. The "leading paint" referred to is adulterated 15%, but is sold at the same price as Devoe.

The most economical paint always is the one that takes least gallons and wears longest, and that's Devoe.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For Week Beginning April 14, 1912.

Topic.—How can we enrich our Sabbaths?—Mark xxiii, 28; iii, 1-6. Edited by Sherman H. Doyle, D. D.

How can we enrich our Sabbath? The first three chapters of Mark purpose to set before us the impression which Jesus made upon the people of Galilee. They are amazed, i, 27, staggered by His word and works. His whole manner of life is an enigma to them. They cannot understand His conduct with regard to sinners, ii, 16, with respect to fasting, ii, 18, and the observance of the Sabbath, ii, 24. He refuses to be bound by prevailing judgments and traditions. They had regarded the Sabbath as an end. Jesus claims it as a means. It was made for man. How, then, can man utilize it for his enrichment? That is the question then and now. It is not a day of bondage; it does not impose fetters; it is a ministrant, a servant, if one knew how to use it. Jesus said the Son of Man is Lord of the Sabbath. He knew how to use it and was independent of men's judgments concerning it. The power to utilize it for our enrichment is dependent upon the wealth of our spiritual experience. To the degree in which we are like Him we may command its ministry. First, the Sabbath has a ministry of rest and recreation. That Sabbath is well utilized which has brought such ministry. Life needs it and never more than today. It has long been recognized that the Sabbath is a natural law. Its observance is essential to the attainment of a vigorous and happy old age. Nothing can take the place of one day's rest in seven. It is needful for repairs. It is needful for efficiency. Rest, however, is not an end. It looks beyond itself. It spells re-creation, not necessarily recreation. And recreation means greater efficiency of life and service. Rest and recreation do not imply idleness and the cessation of all work. Jesus reminds them that the priests wrought in the temple. It is not the work that profanes the day, but the motive. Their work was a ministry to God. Use the day, then, in rest and recreation as you will. You are free to use it in ways which will conserve the divine purpose of fitting you for the highest service of God and man.

Second, the Sabbath has a spiritual ministry. This is its highest end. Body and mind are only the organs of the soul. The Sabbath as a Christian institution looks chiefly to the spiritual interests. It is a call to worship, to communion with God, to the cultivation of those elements in our character and life which are unregarded and neglected in the business of life. Jesus advises us how to use the day not only by that walk through the cornfield and the eating of the grain, but also by his custom of constant attendance in the synagogue. He did not go to get such ministries as then prevailed. There is a deeper ministry in the sanctuary than any message from men. Jesus found it. We may. Neglect not the assembling of yourselves together. Remember that He is in the midst.

How shall we enrich our Sabbath? By utilizing it in those ways which will make it enrich us in body, mind and soul. Make it contribute to your whole life in accordance with the Divine intention.

BIBLE READINGS.

Lev. xix, 30; I Kings ix, 3; Ps. lxxxiv, 1-10; Ps. lxxxvii, 1-3; Isa. ii, 3; Matt. xvi, 16; I Cor. xii, 28; Eph. i, 22.

To Read or to Study.

To read or to study, that is the question. All the emphasis today is laid upon study. We must study literature, we must study missions, we must study the Bible. Are we overdoing the study business?

Parents tell me that the study of English literature in our schools has blotted out the beauty and charm of Dickens, Scott and Shakespeare and created in the minds of their children an absolute distaste for the authors studied.

The methods of literary dissection—or, with reference to a live book, what might more accurately be called vivisection—may be necessary for the expert and specialist, but what the average person needs is to love books, to treat them as personal friends, to visit with them and enjoy their company.

What a wreck we should make of our personal friendships if we applied to them the methods of literary criticism!

Our fathers and mothers read the Bible. They approached it in a devotional spirit. It was to them like a personal message from home, a letter from father or mother to the absent child. They loved the Book, and it yielded up to them its deepest spiritual message.

We, their children, study the Bible. We analyze it and catalogue it. We know more about its literary construction. We can classify the books more accurately. But do we really know the book? We know more things about the Bible, but do we know the Bible?

The Christian Endeavor emphasis upon the quiet hour has saved many from losing the spirit in their quest for the letter.

We need a revival of old fashioned devotional Bible reading. Why not let it begin with you?—William Shaw.

Its Mission Everywhere.

Wherever there are people Christian Endeavor has a mission.—Francis E. Clark.

AUTOMOBILE TRIPS TO SOME JERSEY POINTS

Popularity of New Reciprocity Law Shown by Routings Made in This State.

OTHER MOTOR CAR DOINGS

Some Suggestions for Short Trips to Places of Interest About the State —A Wide Range From Which to Select An Ideal Trip.

The popularity of New Jersey as a touring section since the passage of the new reciprocity law is once again demonstrated by the routings which are being made in this State for New Yorkers. The bureau of tours of the Automobile Club of America today issued a circular containing several routes in New Jeresey, and also reports on the conditions of the roads.

These routings serve the double purpose of furnishing information on the road conditions at a time when the touring season is about to open, and of outlining trips here for out-of-State motorists. Atlantic City, Morristown, Newfoundland, Lake Hopatcong and Delaware Water Gap are made objective points from New York for tourists in the routes, which are as follows:

New York to Atlantic City.

New York — Through Staten Island, roads in good shape, except stretch between Grant City and New Dorp, which is rough. Ferry running on regular schedule to

Perth Amboy—Good stone road to

South Amboy—Good stone road, although badly cut up near Morgan, to Matawan — Clay road, bad when wet, to

Freehold—Good to

Adelphia—Direct route to Lakewood, bad at present. Follow good road to Farmingdale—Road all good, except two rough spots, particularly one about five miles north of Lakewood. Proceed with caution

Lakewood—Balance of route all good, except at Mullica River bridge, where three-quarter mile of rough road is encountered to Atlantic City.

The route via New Brunswick and Old Bridge not advisable, as road to Old Bridge is six inches deep in loose gravel and mud. Fair macadam to Jamesburg and poor gravel to Freehold.

New York to Morristown.

New York—Hudson County boulevard, slightly rough and rutty. Newark turnpike, asphalt badly worn in spots, particularly at railroad crossing to Newark — The Belgian blocks on Broad street preferable to the worn asphalt on Washington street. Clinton avenue good to

Irvington — Springfield avenue good, except about one mile through Hilton, on account of sewer work, to Springfield — The rough stretch may be avoided by bearing north from Irvington through Hilton Flats and Milburn. From Hobart Hill all new amiesite through Chatham and Madison, except one mile in Chatham, to Morristown.

New York to Newfoundland Via Montclair.

New York — Road across meadows closed to Belleville. Necessary to follow turnpike to Newark and worn macadam to

Montclair—Balance good macadam to

Moutainview—Fair to

Wayne—Fair, but some short, rutty stretches to

Pompton — Very good macadam via Bloomingdale to Newfoundland.

New York to Newfoundland, Via Ridgewood.

New York—Macadam, rough and cut up bad spots in Fort Lee village and near Bogota to

Hackensack — Rough macadam, then fine amiestie to Arcola, balance fair macadam to Ridgewood—Good macadam and via Oakland to

Pompton — Very good macadam, via Bloomingdale to Newfoundland.

New York to Lake Hopatcong.

New York—Road across meadows closed to Belleville. Follow Newark turnpike to Newark, and rough macadam to

Montclair — Balance fine, except two bad spots in the amiesite between Pine Brook and Parsippany—Macadam in very bad condition, full of ruts to Denville—Macadam, fair to good, to

Dover—Balance rough to Lake Hopatcong.

New York to Delaware Water Gap

None of the trunk routes to the Gap are feasible at the present time. Route 304—via Tuxedo and Port Jervis, being the best. However, from Port Jervis to the Delaware Water Gap, the roads are in atrocious condition at present, and it will be some weeks before they are in touring condition.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

GELATIN DESSERTS.

GELATIN is one of the most useful ingredients for desserts. It may be combined with fruits and nuts, and if it is run into a pretty mold it will come out in an attractive shape, which may be garnished with whipped cream.

Granulated gelatin is more convenient for general use than the sheet because it can be more easily measured. An ounce of gelatin will stiffen three and a half or four cupfuls of water. In cold weather it takes less gelatin than in warm weather and on wet days more is required than on dry ones.

Gelatin should first be softened in cold water. It is afterward dissolved in water that is kept hot but not boiling, by standing the vessel containing it in a pan of hot water.

Gelatin must not be stirred while it is dissolving. This is apt to make it stringy.

Some Fruit Jellies.

Lemon Jelly.—Soak an ounce of sheet or two and a half tablespoonfuls of granulated gelatin in half a cupful of cold water. When it is soft add to it two and a half cupfuls of boiling water and a cupful of sugar. Stir only till the sugar is dissolved. Add a half cupful of lemon juice. Strain through a cloth wrung out of hot water and laid over a strainer. Run into a mold wet with cold water. When cold turn out on a fancy dish and garnish with pieces of orange.

Fruit Gelatin.—Soak and dissolve the gelatin in the usual way. Arrange malaga grapes, halves of English walnuts and stoned dates in the bottom of a mold. Flavor the gelatin with orange or lemon juice. Then pour it into the mold, stirring the fruit around a little to distribute it. Stand in a cold place to cool and serve with sweetened whipped cream.

Like a Pudding.

Gelatin Custard.—Scald a half cupful of milk and stir into it a tablespoonful of sugar and a beaten egg. Put on the fire until it thickens into a custard. Take off and add to it a tablespoonful of gelatin which has been dissolved in water enough to cover. Flavor with a little vanilla.

When this custard is cold fold in half a pint of whipped cream. Set the mixture on ice. Serve in a glass dish to which the custard has been transferred and sprinkle with ground stale macaroon crumbs.

Points for Mothers

Correcting Children in Public.

A fault that parents have acquired is that of reproving their little ones in public, causing them endless mortification. There is something very small in the idea of wishing to cause a child humiliation and pain, and yet there are hundreds of parents who do it ten times a day, meaning only the best for their children. The parent's sole thought is, "I'll shame my little one so that he'll never do such a thing again," forgetting what marks that shame will leave on the child's character.

Every one has met the mother who is continually nagging at her children. For instance, she will choose the opportunity to say to her little girl, when the room is full of guests, "For goodness' sake, Betty, can't you sit up straight? Here's just the way you're bunched over." Then a caricatured imitation of the child's drooping shoulders is given. Or else it is, "Can't you be still one moment?" or "I never saw such an awkward child in my life," each one of these remarks sending a sharp sting to the heart of the little girl, already self conscious under the eyes of so many people. Yet this is a most conscientious, devoted mother.

Once in awhile one meets a mother who realizes the pangs that humiliation brings to children, and she does the wise thing. For instance, such a mother does not send her mischievous son away from the table when there are guests present with a sharp reproof for misbehaviour. She calls him pleasantly to her side, whispers to him to wait a few minutes, then to excuse himself and go to his room. This spares him the needless pain of public exposure. You may be sure that the son of such a mother would grow up quite as obedient as the boy with the nagging parent, and the first boy would have the perfect breeding which comes from constant association with well bred people.

Children's Manners.

Good manners as well as charity should begin at home; therefore parents cannot begin too early to teach their children how to talk and how to behave.

A child should say "Yes, father," "No, Mrs. Blank," or "Thank you, Miss So-and-so," never "No, sir," "Yes, ma'am," or merely "Yes," "No" or "Thank you." The latter forms of speech are used by servants only.

A child should always wait to be spoken to by an older person. He or she should never interrupt in a conversation.

A boy can hardly learn too early that he should stand when a woman or young girl enters the room or comes to the dining table after he is seated. All children, both boys and girls, should be taught to stand whenever they are spoken to by older persons. No child should remain seated when older persons are standing in the group of which they are members.

To lose one's temper with a child is one of the greatest mistakes a parent can make. In a child's mind to be "mad" is naughty; therefore when father or mother is angry or irritable the child notices it and feels that if his or her parents can do this why should they scold the child for the very same fault? Example means everything to a child; therefore if you want your child not only to be good and clever, but to have good manners and to talk well, remember you parents set the example in all.

Nightrobe For Baby.

It is essential that infants and small children should be well protected at night, as they are very apt to kick the bed covering off, sometimes with serious results in the way of croup and colds.

Therefore, it is best to provide your young children with long nightrobes made of flannelette or soft, thin flannel that completely cover their little feet.

Make the robe or gown perfectly plain and have it button in front.

The back width is cut about six inches longer than the front and finished with a deep hem in which buttonholes are worked. Finish the front breadth with a hem and sew on flat buttons, then when baby goes to sleep button the gown over at the bottom so he cannot possibly uncover his little limbs.

The sleeves of the gown are made plain and long enough to cover the hands.

Above the hands a little casing is placed and a drawstring or ribbon serves to close the sleeve like the top of a bag, thus keeping little hands snug and warm.

If you do not wish to cover the hands, the drawstrings can be placed about the wrist and drawn up so it will keep the small arms from sudden chill.

Hint to Mothers.

An excellent treatment for shoes that have been rain soaked is to rub vaseline well into the leather when nearly dry. This will do wonders toward removing the bad effects of the wetting and prevent the shoes from cracking or becoming hard and uncomfortable to the feet.

THINKS W. U. VIOLATES THE ANTI-REBATE LAW.

Philadelphia, April 13.—Government representatives are engaged in investigating the latest move of the Western Union Telegraph Company, whereby, it is said, "pay station" agents of the Bell Telephone Company, which controls the Western Union, are made agents of the telegraph company, and paid on a commission basis.

The government thinks this may be an infraction of the anti-rebate law, and that the Bell Telephone Company and the Western Union Telegraph Company are making themselves liable for punishment under the monopoly clause of the anti-trust law.

At the present time Western Union agents are said to be devoting their energies to signing up contracts with the proprietors of large hotels.

The government, it is said, is ready to declare that if business be done under similar terms with a business firm the Western Union would be rebating.

One horse was found unfit for use. The animal was driven by Lawrence Long and belonged to Joseph Dunigan. A fine of $15 and costs was imposed by Justice H. E. Pickersgile.

Paint that Stays Painted
That has been my slogan for years. I aim to do the best possible painting—using only the best materials that the manufacturers can furnish and employing the most skilled mechanics that can be procured. I stand back of every job I do, and when I am allowed to use my own judgment in regard to the best method of doing it, I will gladly make good any work that by any chance proves defective.

A JAPANESE LEGEND.

It Tells a Pretty Story of the Origin of the Chrysanthemum.

The Japanese have an interesting legend in connection with the origin of the chrysanthemum. In a garden bathed in the soft moonlight a young girl plucked a flower and commenced to strip the petals to see if her fiance loved her truly. Of a sudden a little god appeared before her and assured her that her fiance loved her passionately. "Your husband will live," he added, "as many years as the flower which I will let you choose has petals." With these words he disappeared. The young girl hastened to search the garden for a flower which should have an abundance of petals, but each one appeared to promise but a brief future for her beloved.

At length she picked a Persian carnation, and, with the aid of a gold pin taken from her hair, she separated each one of the petals of the flower so as to increase the number of follioles and of the number of years accorded by the god to her fiance. Soon under her deft fingers 100, 200, 300 petals, thin, pliant and beautifully curved, had been evolved, and the young girl cried for joy to think of the happy future which her ruse had assured her fiance. So, runs the legend, was the crysanthemum created one moonlight night in a Japanese garden, where silvery brooks murmured softly as they ran beneath the little bamboo bridges. —London Globe.

A BIRD OF LIGHT.

The Arctic Tern Shuns the Night by Flights From Pole to Pole.

It used to be thought that the golden plover bore off the palm for length of flight between summer and winter homes, but an article in the National Geographic Magazine awards that distinction to the arctic tern. This bird breeds as far north as it can find anything stable on which to construct its nest. It has been found within seven and a half degrees of the pole itself. And that nest was found surrounded by a wall of newly fallen snow, which the mother bird had carefully scooped out from round her chick.

The tern arrives in the far north about June 15 and leaves again for the south toward the last of August, when the young are able to fly strongly. Two or three months later the birds are to be found skirting the edge of the antarctic continent, 11,000 miles away.

What their track is over that vast space no one yet knows. A few individuals are occasionally seen along the New England or Long Island coast in the fall, but the flocks of thousands and thousands of these gregarious birds which alternate from pole to pole have never been met by any trained observer competent to learn their preferred path and their time schedule. They must travel at least 150 miles each day—apart from their flights in search or in pursuit of food—to carry them within ten or twelve weeks from one end of the world to the other.

The arctic terns enjoy more hours of sunlight than any other creatures on the globe. The sun never sets during their stay at their northern nesting grounds, and during their stay in the south they have two months of continuous sunlight and practical daylight for two months more. The birds have twenty-four hours of daylight for between six and eight months of the year.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

Did you happen to be one of those who took the trip over to Washington Park on Thursday to see the game and then didn't see it?

"There must be a lot of men and boys out of work," remarked an elderly woman who was attending her first league game.

Now for the race for the Daily Press cup.

F. H. Leslie, of Harvard football fame, has broken all strength records at that institution with 1513 points to his credit. His nearest competitor had less than 1,300 on his score card. Leslie has also proven his ability as a guard on the football team and as a shot putter.

The High School is trying to lift the scalp from Morris High this afternoon at Crescent Oval.

Mrs. Chaires S. Havenor is president of the Milwaukee baseball club, and says that when it comes to conducting a baseball team a woman has it all over a man. Kipling has something to say on that same question in his latest contribution entitled "The Female of the Species, etc."

There was no sign of a rainstorm Thursday, but the fans are said to have stormed Washington Park.

A baseball record was made in Columbus the other day. The ball that was first thrown in by the umpire was used throughout the entire game, no other being needed.

Another game where another record was also established was the opening game between the Giants and Dodgers when every ball that was knocked outside of the playing field went to grace some future game in a back lot.

Parker Field is having the finishing touches put on and it is hoped to have it in readiness in another week.

Joe Wood, of the Red Cox, had his jinx working in the same old way against the Yankees in the opening game. That was a habit of his last year.

After a winter of rest and peace, that target for all hot shots, the umpire, has appeared once more to take those that were left over from last year and any new ones that may happen his way.

May 25 is Interscholastic day at Stevens Institute.

In the Giants-Dodger minstrel show on Thursday there were fourteen two-baggers, and only six innings at that.

Many of the recruits looked good to the fans in the opening game, but how will these same men look in a couple of months?

Columbia and Dartmouth met yesterday upon the diamond for the first time in five years.

A crowd will always turn out to see a winner, as was demonstrated by the Giants' first game. At the Highlanders' Park, there was simply the usual Saturday afternoon crowd.

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT TO START OCEAN FLIGHT.

The Sloane areoplane in which John E. Sloane will endeavor to cross the Atlantic Ocean next August will be started in his perilous flight by the Duke of Connaught, Governor-General of Canada, and Premier Borden.

This has been officially annnounced by a telegram received from Dr. C. J. Cadegan, at Glace Bay, N. S.

The royal party, with other Canadian officers of high rank, have already declared that they will be in Glace Bay at the time appointed.

The attempted transatlantic flight is one of deep interest and concern to the Canadian Government, which has already made full preparations for a warship patrol.

Dr. Cadegan will have a conference some time next week with Sloane and the two will later have a consultation with the Minister of War and Militia for the Dominion.

SULLIVAN APPOINTED OLYMPIC COMMISSONER.

Notification was received yesterday by Terence Farley, chairman of the Metropolitan Association, A. A. U. Registration Committee, from Congressman E. F. Kinkead of New Jersey, that President Taft had appointed James E. Sullivan the American Commissioner to the Olympic games in Stockholm next July.

This information came from Mr. Kinkead, who is a former amateur athlete, football player, and a personal friend of Mr. Sullivan, to Mr. Farley in responce to a request that the Congresman use his influence with the President in having the appointment made, the letter reading as follows:

I have much pleasure in advising you that I have received a letter from the Secretary to the President notifying me that Mr. James E. Sullivan has been appointed American Commissoner to the Olympian games, and I know that this news will be as pleasing to you as it is to me. I do not believe that the President could possibly have made a better choice in his selection.

The notification is viewed with the greatest of satisfaction, because of the general movement made by athletic clubs and individuals to that end. It is conceded that possibly no man in the United States is better qualified to fulfill the duties of the position as evidenced by his work at the Olympiads at St. Louis and London.

Mr. Sullivan would make no statement regarding the appointment, referring all inquirers to Washington.

Thue, Gus Johnson, Alexander Herlich, E. Honeyman, J. Dickhut, R. Van Doren, W. D. W.Miller, P. F. AUTO MAKERS PLEASED IN SELECTION OF MILWAUKEE

Automobile manufacturers interested in the racing game are very much encouraged over the selection of Milwaukee as the scene of the two big automobile classics. The scarcity of applications for racing dates made the racing outlook for 1912 very gloomy, and the fact that Savannah declined to stage the Vanderbilt Cup and Grand Prize races left the season's prospects far from encouraging. It is not expected that racing in 1912 will approach that of former years, but with Old Orchard and Galveston added to the schedule, and the two big road contests awarded to Milwaukee, there is every reason to anticipate an interesting season.

Although the Contest Board of the Automobile Club of America has not formally passed upon the Milwaukee award, it is not likely that any trouble will come from that direction. If the protection guarantees are satisfactory there is no reason for anything except favorable action by the A. C. A. and A. A. A. authorities.

That Milwaukee would get the Vanderbilt Cup race was generally expected and the application had the indorsement of the Wisconsin Automobile Associations, the various commercial bodies as well as the Chicago Motor Club, but it was expected that Milwaukee's rival, Dallas, would obtain the Grand Prize event. In addition to the two big events, a third international race, with a $5,000 trophy offered, will be staged. The races will be run about Labor Day.

Another announcement that has afforded satisfaction to the manufacturers is that of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway management, that the race will not be postponed. According to the management there are now seventeen entries for the race and before May 1 this number is expected to be increased to thirty. The latest entry is that of the speedy Marquette-Buick, entered by William Thomson of Battle Creek, Mich.

The Junior Mission Society of the First Baptist church met yesterday afternoon and enjoyed a special program under the direction of Mrs. Reuben Knox.

DAILY PRESS OFFERS CUP TO NEW LEAGUE

Board of Governors Receives the Trophy Announcement With Great Enthusiasm

GAMES TO START ON MAY 11

Constitution and By-Laws That Will Govern the Playing of all Games Gives League Unique Standing—Playing Fields Offer Problem.

The Board of Governors of the Manufacturers' Baseball League at their first meeting last night, were moved to enthusiasm by the announcement that the Daily Press would furnish a cup to be presented to the team winning the championship. Not since the days of the old city league has there been so much lively interest displayed as there is at the prospect of having a league of like character furnish games every Saturday afternoon during the coming summer.

A league like the Manufacturers' is not a moneymaking proposition and is sure not only to create a strong and healthy rivalry between the different teams, but will furnish good baseball. To further the amateur spirit as well as to furnish an alluring trophy for the battling teams, the Daily Press offers the cup.

The board of directors accepted the constitution and bylaws that had been submitted by the Messrs. McVickers, of the Saurer Motor team; McComb, of the Spicer Manufacturers' team; E. C. Ostlin, physical director of the Y. M. C. A., and C. C. Thompson, assistant secretary of the league. The League holds a unique position insofar as it is the only league of its kind to play under a definite set of bylaws and a constitution.

James E. Kimball, president of the league, appointed Messrs. Ostlin and Thompson a committee to see if there are any more factories desirous of entering the league. It is the wish of the directors to give all factories a chance to get in the league before the first game is played, although it is proposed the limit the number of teams to six.

The league will play its games every Saturday afternoon, beginning May 11. Each team will play every other three times.

All games that are postponed on account of rain will be played off at the end of the season.

The matter of playing fields was not definitely settled at last night's meeting, the board finding it a hard matter to find grounds centrally situated. The umpires will be carefully selected. A moderate admission fee will be charged at each game, the proceeds going to defray the expenses of the league.

The officers of the league are: President, J. F. Kimball, president of the Y. M. C. A.; vice president, E. W. Poinier; secretary, E. S. Ostlin; assistant secretary, C. C. Thompson, and treasurer, A. W. Stone.

SUMMER VACATION SCHOOL FOR BOYS

State Y. M. C. A. Boys' Camp at Lake Waywayanda, which was Vividly Described by C. R. Scott, State Secretary for Boys' Work in New Jersey, at the Dinner to Y. M. C. A. Boys Thursday Night.

The Young Men's Christian Association State Committee has just issued its annual announcement of the summer program which is suggestive of many attractive features that will appeal both to parents and boys. For two or three years, the committee has been requested by school principals and teachers to introduce at their summer camp on the shores of Lake Wawayanda, a Vacation School for boys, for they felt the need of a place where they could encourage their students to atend for summer instruction.

The boys will have individual instruction by teachers who are tactful, experienced and successful men from the schools of New Jersey, who understand boy nature and how to deal with it. The school will be opened July 2 and will be located on the top of Wawayanda mountain, overlooking the beautiful lake of that name. Two terms of four weeks each will be conducted and the boys will be required to spend the morning in erguler studies. The afternoons will be devoted to recreation and out-door enjoyment.

Charles T. Kilborne and the members of his committee have arranged for the attendance of Commodore W. E. Longfellow, of the U. S. Volunteer Life Saving Corps to instruct in swimming and life saving. John H. Van Gelder, a practical surveyor, will take bi-weekly trips with parties of older boys to survey the mountain tract. Percy W. Pierce, of Philadelphia, holder of American records for the last three years and awarded sixteen prizes in public competition has been engaged to conduct a class in model aeroplanes. The wireless station is being better equipped than last year and it is expected that unusual interest will be taken in this during the coming summer.

Carl Morris Not to Quit.

McAlester, Okla., April 13.—Carl Morris while on a visit here took occasion to deny that he had any intention of retiring from the ring. The report that was spread to that effect, Morris explained, was caused by a joy ride he took on his old engine just to see if he had forgotten how to handle her. He said he would return to New York in a few weeks with unshaken confidence that he could still make good.

EPISCOPAL PRELATES ADDRESS CHURCH CLUB.

Addresses by divines of the Episcopal Church marked a banquet given by the Church Club of the Episcopal Diocese of Newark, Thursday night, in the parish house of Trinity Episcopal church, in Newark. About 125 members of the church from Newark and the suburbs were present.

Among the speakers were Bishop Edwin S. Lines, Bishop Chauncey B. Brewster, of Connecticut; Bishop Thomas J. Garland, of Pennsylvania; Rev. Charles Hutchenson, of Christ Episcopal church, East Orange; Rev. James McCleary, of Morristown; Rev. Augustine Elmendorf, of Holy Cross church, Jersey City.

Decatur M. Sawyer, of Montclair president of the club, acted as toastmaster.

Arraign Eighty Saloon-keepers.

Atlantic City, April 13.—Reformers showed their hand Thursday night in relation to the Easter liquor selling, when Magistrate Brown, of Pleasantville, came over and held preliminary hearings of eighty cases. The liquor men were bound over for the grand jury. A church federation sesion here last night backed up the move adopting a resolution directed to Justice Kalisch, asking him to punish the open defiance of the law.

MASSACHUSETTS EXTENDS AUTO PRIVILEGE TO N. J.

Boston, April 13. — The State Highway Commission today rescinded its action of two years ago in baring residents of New Jersey from driving their automobiles in Massachusetts under the non-resident free Jersey motorists, as well as those of other States, may tour Massachusetts in a calendar year without taking out a Massachusetts registration certificate.

The ywere deprived of the privilege because New Jersey refused to grant reciprocity touring rights from Massachusetts. On April 2 last, however, the Stickel law was enacted granting these concessions to residents of all States which gave similar privileges to residents of New Jersey.

ARMY WILL BURY GENERAL GRANT

Body Is Removed to Governors Island.

INTERMENT AT WEST POINT

Time of Funeral to Depend Upon Arrival of Princess Cantacuzene, His Daughter, From Russia—Will Not Be For at Least Ten Days.

MESSAGES OF CONDOLENCE RECEIVED BY MRS. GRANT.

Mrs. Taft and I extend to you our heartfelt sympathy in your great sorrow. We mourn with you and cherish the memory of him that is gone and of our long friendship for him. He rendered loyal service to the country.—William H. Taft.

We are inexpressibly shocked and grieved. You know what an affection we have felt for you both.—Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt.

Mildred and I send heartfelt sympathy and share in your great loss.—George Dewey.

Other messages were from Archbishop Ireland, Henry Watterson, Helen M. Gould, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Fairbanks, ex-Secretary of War J. M. Dickinson, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Gary, Robert Lincoln, John P. Farrelly, bishop of Cleveland; John R. McLean and Cornelius Vanderbilt.

New York, April 13.—Without military escort, the body of Major General Frederick D. Grant, who died at the Hotel Buckingham, was taken quietly from the hotel and conveyed to Governors island, his recent military headquarters, where it will lie until the funeral is held, which will not be for ten days at least. Captain U. S. Grant 3d, the only son of the general, who is here with his mother, accompanied the body.

While no definite arrangements have been made for the funeral, General Grant will be buried in the memorial cemetery at West Point for graduates of the academy. The funeral will not be for at least ten days, depending on the arrival of Princess Cantacuzene, daughter of General Grant, who is in Russia. A cablegram was sent to her telling her of her father's death.

As soon as the princess gets here the funeral will be held, as arrangements will have been made for it in the meantime. It will be a military funeral, but whether the body will be taken by train or boat to West Point has not been settled. The wishes of the Grant family will be respected, but the plans for the funeral will depend greatly on what government and civic officials may wish to do. There is some talk of a war vessel of the lighter type taking the body to West Point, but there is no official authority for it.

Until the arrival of the Princess Cantacuzene, the body of General Grant will lie in the chapel of Cornelius the Centurion on Governors island. There will be a military guard, which will be selected by Major General Tasker H. Bliss, who has been acting commander of the eastern division of the army during the absence of General Grant.

The death certificate issued by Dr. Robert Abbe, the surgeon, ascribes the death of General Grant as having been due to a clot of blood on the heart.

Funston to Succeed Grant.

Cheyenne, Wyo., April 13.—A private dispatch said to have been sent by an official of the war department at Washington was received at Fort D. A. Russell declaring that Senior Brigadier General Frederick Funston would succeed the late Major General Frederick D. Grant. The telegram also said that Brigadier General Clarence R. Edwards, chief of the insular bureau, would succeed Funston as brigadier general of the line.

CONSUL'S LETTERS SEIZED BY OROZCO

Mexican Bandit Leader Refuses to Recognize Official.

Chihuahua, Mexico, April 13.—A serious situation for Americans was created here when General Orozco, commander of the Liberal forces announced that he would no longer recognize Marion Letcher as American consul. General Orozco said that the tone of Mr. Letcher's official and private letters did not please him and that he did not see any reason why he should recognize Mr. Letcher as the representative of a country which refuses to recognize the revolutionary cause.

"From now on," said General Orozco, "I shall regard Mr. Letcher as I do any other foreigner in the zone controlled by the Liberal army. He will be protected as long as he behaves himself and conforms to our laws."

General Orozco's knowledge of what Mr. Letcher has been writing came from the seizure of all American mail on the train which left here last Tuesday for Juarez. Among the letters taken were several that Mr. Letcher had written to friends in the United States, two that were addressed to Washington and several that were addressed to Mr. Edward, the United States consul at Juarez.

Takes Up Fountain Murder.

Washington, April 13.—State department officials are anxiously awaiting the reply of the Mexican government to a note addressed through Ambassador Wilson in connection with the killing by the rebel forces of Albert Fountain, an American citizen.

The Crop Failed.

The sharp wittedness of the Russian gypsies is illustrated by a story told in the Journal of the Gypsy Lore Society. A gypsy induced a farmer to join him in sowing money, promising a large crop of rubles. Having first sown a comparatively small amount, they got back each morning their capital with some addition, much to the delight of the farmer. Then they sowed a big sum and got back—nothing. The farmer began to blame the gypsy for advising him to sow money. The gypsy answered, "Well, it's nobody's fault that there was a sharp frost early this morning."

The Ruling Passion.

Mrs. J. L. Story in her reminiscences tells of a lady relative who had all her life been afraid of damp sheets. When she was dying Mrs. Story entered the room, to find the fireplace barricaded with a large assortment of bed linen. She was having her winding sheet warmed.

"I never have lain in damp bedclothes while I was alive," said the old lady in a feeble whisper, "and I'm not going to do it when I'm dead."

A Philanthropist.

"Pa," said little Willie, looking up from his paper, "what is a philanthropist?"

"A philanthropist, my son," replied his wise pa, "is usually a man who spends his time getting other people to spend their money for charity."—Catholic Standard and Times.

LORDS AGAINST HOME RULE.

But Commons Are Expected to Pass Bill Over Their Veto.

London, via Glace Bay, April 13.—It is evident that the government has little hope that the house of lords will pass the home rule bill, but is confident that there will be no dissolution of parliament until the house of commons is able to pass the measure for the government of Ireland over the lords' veto.

John Redmond and other Irish Nationalists express satisfaction over the reception of the bill by the members of the house of commons, which they believe augurs its passage by that body by a big majority.

Weather Forecast.

Home endorsement, the public expression of Plainfield people, should be evidence beyond dispute for every Plainfield reader. Surely the experience of friends and neighbors, cheerfully given by them, will carry more weight than the utterance of strangers residing in faraway places. Read the following:

Mrs. Cecelia Rosseter, 127 Watchung avenue, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I am only too pleased to again recommend Doan's Kidney Pills and I hope that all kidney sufferers who read my statement will profit by my experience. I have received a world of good from this remedy; backache, headache, dizzy spells and trouble with the kidney secretions being corrected by its use. I do not know what I would have done without Doan's Kidney Pills and I am certain that there is no kidney medicine that can be compared with them."

Philadelphia, April 13.—With an undercurrent of opinion that was unmistakably strong for Roosevelt and felt by both sides alike, the polls of the state primary opened here and elsewhere over the state at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Word received from six congressional districts indicate that the party organization will have but little influence in the election, having been shorn of its old time powers. Without the police, which has been the organization's chief asset in times past, no forecasts on the results are being made by the regulars.

The new director of public safety has shifted his men around in such a way that the Penrose-McNichol crowd are practically impotent today and while the administration is out of politics the director himself is an ardent Roosevelt man, and the police know it, and they believe that they must work against Penrose. If the Penrose machine is beaten here then the Roosevelt men have certainly engineered the most clever coup de etat that has been manipulated in Pennsylvania politics for some time. It is not only possible, but probable, that something like this may happen, for there are signs which point that way.

One of the most important assets of the Penrose machine is missing throughout the state, and that is the aid which they have always relied upon from the state Democratic machine. Today every Democrat is needed in the bitter fight for the control of that party which is being waged by the Donnelly-Ryan-Cuffey forces against the Palmer-Guthrie-McCormick faction.

Advices from up the state indicate that Gifford Pinchot, who has been doing valiant work for the former president, has simply hypnotized the farmers of Jefferson, Indiana and Armstrong counties. If this is true, then the Twenty-seventh district, which was counted sure for Taft, will be found in the other column.

Down in Greensburg the Westmoreland miners are bitter against Penrose for not forcing a settlement of the coal strike, and many of them say that the senior senator is misrepresenting the people of this state for the last time. If this sentiment persists, then Roosevelt will carry nine of the farming counties and receive, of course, eighteen delegates. If he can command much strength outside of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, then he will do better than have twenty-four members who will advocate his cause at the national convention. He will come so close to dividing the delegation equally with the president that it will be virtually a moral victory. This condition is not only worrying Penrose, but it has him on the verge of political collapse. Hurry orders were sent out this morning.

The contest is the cleanest and most honest that this state has ever experienced.

MOTHER SILENT TOO LONG.

Half Brother and Sister, Wedded, Not Knowing Relationship, Divorced.

Cincinnati, O., April 13.—Mr. and Mrs. John P. Ruch, Jr., were divorced because they are half brother and half sister. Both will contribute to the support of their two children. They declared their love for each other and said the relationship was the only thing which made them separate.

Two years ago they were married in Cincinnati. At the time the young woman believed she was his adopted sister, they having grown up together. It is understood that their mother never told them about their relationship until a few days ago.

Republicans to Open Headquarters.

Chicago, April 13.—Headquarters for the Republican national committee will be opened in Chicago May 1. Victor Rosewater will be in charge.

Rev. C. S. Kemble, former pastor of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, but now of Rahway, was in the city yesterday calling on friends.

T. R. ANSWERS A DEMOCRAT.

Suggests to Massachusetts Hosts That Other Party Is Not Overharmonious.

Springfield, Mass., April 13.—Colonel Roosevelt, on his arrival in Springfield, was met by a deputation of the Commercial Travelers' club and taken to the Kimball hotel, where with 300 diners he sat down to a banquet.

Hardly had the colonel seated himself with this exclusive board than there arose W. G. McKechnie, one of the travelers and Democrat, prospective candidate for congress, who in a short speech explained that the club was in no sense political.

Mr. McKechnie, continuing, said: "Though we are not in politics here, I may say that we Democrats are looking with considerable complacency this year upon the differences in the Republican party and the progress of the principles being advocated by our distinguished guest."

Colonel A. P. Langtry, secretary of state in Massachusetts, was then introduced and made a short address.

Colonel Roosevelt said in part:

"I was duly impressed with Mr. McKechnie's explanation that there are no politics here and that, therefore, he ought to warn me that both he and his toastmaster utterly disagree with my policies, then stating that he looked with equanimity upon the differences now disturbing the Republican party.

"Mr. McKechnie is apparently under the mistaken impression that his own side is boiling over with harmony. If Mr. McKechnie is really fervently impressed that it is so, I would suggest to him that he arrange a joint debate between Messrs. Bryan and Underwood and Harmon and Wilson."

The crowd burst into laughter, while Mr. McKechnie blazed up into his reddest.

LEVEE BREAK FLOODS A LOUISIANA BASIN

Thousands of Miles Inundated In Jensas River Country.

New Orleans, La., April 13.—A crevasse that will inundate thousands of square miles of territory in northeastern Louisiana and flood the entire Jensas river basin, comprising several parishes, has occurred in East Carrill parish, on the west bank of the Mississippi river. With a roar and crash that could be heard for a great distance the levee at Alsatia broke and opened a way for a stream of water that swept everything before it. The levee at this point is about twenty-two feet in height. About 100 feet of the levee went out and is rapidly widening.

The break will put the Vicksburg, Shreveport and Pacific and the Memphis, Helena and Louisiana railroads out of business, flood the towns of Tallular and Roosevelt and submerge some of the largest and most fertile plantations in the state.

The loss of live stock is expected to be the greatest in the history of Louisiana. Grave fears of life loss are entertained.

AFTER THE "POISON TRUST."

Congress to Begin Inquiry on Pure Food Bills April 22.

Washington, April 13.—War on what Dr. Harvey H. Wiley terms the "poison trust"—venders of quack patent medicines—will be begun April 23 by the house interstate commerce committee. Hearings will then begin on bills to amend the pure food and drug law to do away with misleading labels.

The committee plans to make it a misdemeanor for a patent medicine manufacturer to label his product with false claims as to its curative values. Such construction of the law was intended by congress, but was denied by the supreme court last year.

Herbert Randolph, formerly of this city, but now of Rutherford, where he is connected with the New York Telephone Company, has been visiting friends here.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

Modern China's first pretentious presentation on the stage is to be brought about by The Liebler Co., according to an announcement made by the head of the firm, George C. Tyler, before he left on the Mauretania for England and the continent. With the departure of Mr. Tyler also comes official word of the immediate future of the Century theatre, the lease of which has been extended to him by the New Theatre directorate. "The Garden of Allah" will be continued at the Central Park West playhouse, for the rest of this season, and will make its entry into Chicago in the early part of the new theatrical year, playing the engagement at the Auditorium. "A famous foreign attraction will be staged at the Century for a limited time, starting with the new season," said Mr. Tyler, "and immediately following the Presidential election, we shall make our annuall Century theatre production, with what I consider the most remarkable combination of spectacular splendor and human interest I have ever read, 'The Daughter of Heaven,' by Pierre Loti and Judith Gautier, a grand-daughter of Theophile Gautier.

The New York Winter Garden has scored another success. This time the entertainment on which critical New York has placed its stamp of approval is called "Whirl of Society" and "A Night With The Pierrots." The first part is a satire on society written by Harrison Rhodes and Harold Atteridge, with music by Louis A. Hirsch. The second part is a white-face minstrel show, with specialties and fun introduced. Both numbers have scored immensely and the brilliancy of the star cast has astounded Broadway. Among the members of the company are Stella Mayhew, Al. Jolson, Blossom Seeley, Lawrence D'Orsay, Jose Collins, Melville Ellis, Barney Bernard, Kathleen Clifford, Martin Brown, Clarence Harvey, Melissa Ten Eyck, George White, Billee Taylor, Courtenay Sisters Laura Hamilton, Ernest Hare, Doris Cameron and Cecil Ryan. It is the "biggest" cast ever seen in a metropolitan entertainment. A special addition to the list of entertainers is Mlle. Dolle Dalnert, who has created a genuine sensation with her wonderful voice. She is appearing in America for the first time.

FOUR CHILDREN RUN AWAY; WALK 27 MILES.

Newton, April 13.—Instead of going to school on Wednesday, as their parents had supposed, the four children of Edward Boughton, of Allamuchy, walked to this place, remained over night with a relative, and the next day started off again. They walked at least twenty-seven miles, and Thursday afternoon were picked up on the Lehigh and New England Railroad tracks while going toward Sussex Borough.

They were taken in charge by Under-Sheriff Albert T. Lyons, and Thursday night Boughton went for them. The children, whose ages ranged from ten to fourteen years, said they had been abused by Mrs. Boughton.

Mrs. Boughton is the stepmother of three of the children and is the mother of the other. She denies that they were cruelly treated.

It was while they were on their way to school that they conceived the idea of running away. They walked to Andover Junction, seven miles, that morning, and after a rest proceeded to this place, a distance of eight miles farther. There they remained over night with Mrs. Jacob Maxwell, a relative. The next morning she told them they had better go home, and when they left her house, she says, she supposed that they would return to Allamuchy, where Boughton is a farmer on the Rutherford estate. Instead, they took an opposite direction and finally reached the tracks of the L. and N. E. Railroad. The crew of a train saw them walking along the ties, and the county authorities here were notified. Lyons took a train Thursday afternoon and soon overhauled the runaways. He took them on to Sussex, fed them bountifully and then notified Boughton.

JIM SMITH TO ENTER THE PRIMARY FIGHT.

Newark, April 13.—Former United States Senator Smith and City Counsel James R. Nugent are among the candidates selected Thursday night by the executive committee of the county Democratic committee to run as anti-Wilson delegates at the Presidential primaries May 28.

Judge Charles F. Herr, of the Fourteenth ward, was named to run in the State as one of the four delegates-at-large, with Martin Conboy, of East Orange, as alternate.

The meeting was held in the organization headquarters in Broad street, and was attended by representatives from the various wards of the city and the suburbs. Sheriff John F. Monahan was re-elected chairman and Washington M. Cross secretary for the ensuing year.

Bar's Tribute to the Bench.

Paterson, April 13. — Passaic County lawyers paid a tribute to former Judge Scott and his successor, Judge William Hughes, at a banquet at the Elks' quarters in Ellison street, Thursday night. Wayne Dumont acted as toastmaster.

COUNTERFEIT DOLLARS PASSED IN PERTH AMBOY.

Perth Amboy, April 13.—On a charge of circulating counterfeit silver dollars, the police are holding a man, who says he is William Irving, of 1 Hamburg avenue, Paterson.

Half a dozen complaints were received Thursday night from saloonkeepers and cigar dealers, who reported to the police that they had taken in bogus dollars. One of the victims followed the man and pointed him out to Patrolman Charles Quinn, who made the arrest.

Irving had one of the imitation dollars when searched, but a large, red purse that he displayed several times cannot be found. The coins look right and have the true ring, but they are light.

Chief Burke is trying to learn the man's record, and will hold him for investigation.

Basking Ridge Church Meeting.

Basking Ridge, April 13.—The annual parish meeting was held Thursday afternoon in the Presbyterian church. The treasurer reported receipts for the year of $4,037.30 and disbursements of $4,017.84, leaving a balance of $19.41. Three trustees were re-elected for a term of three years. They are Charles Roberts, Garrett S. Voorhees and L. H. Bowers. An auditing committee was appointed. It consists of Chester Brown, Calvin D. Smith and Herman Childs. Previous to the parish meeting the eleventh annual luncheon was served in the chapel by the women of the church. Rev. Dr. John F. Reeve acted as toastmaster.

"I fear you are losing interest in the cause." "Why?" "I see you constantly with a young man." "No danger," declared the militant suffragette. "Then he's not your beau?" "No; he's a professional bondsman."—Washington Herald.

Some of the original and exclusive features which have made FORD Model T the most popular and serviceable car in the world.

Marvellous Simplicity in Design—Few parts, but every part in harmony with scientific principle. There is nothing superfluous in Ford design, every part has its specific place, making a chassis compact, clean cut, neat, with great strength.

A Car of Vanadium Steel (scientifically heat-treated), the strongest of all steels under tensile stress and against vibration and shock.

Ford Magneto built into the motor. No wearing surfaces, no moving wires, no ignition troubles.

Ford Planetary Transmission. Motor always connected with car. Transmission always in gear; when the car is running on high speed, the gears are quiet, no crunching or stripping of gears.

No Weight on Moving Parts. This assures durability, economy and long service.

Ford Spring Suspension. The axles are attached to the car at the extreme point of the springs, thus giving the utmost flexibility, smoothness in riding, and least wear on tires.

Ford Rear Axle. No truss rods. Look at it, no weight, but its own to carry; think of the saving in wear this means to the rear tires.

Simplicity in Operation. The movement of the car may be controlled by the feet, the hands need never be taken from the steering wheel.

Light Weight. Ford Model T is the lightest in weight of any four cylinder car in the world, size, power and capacity considered. It has 60 pounds to the horse power. It costs money to move weight. If weight is an advantage in a motor car, why don't the makers of heavy weight cars advertise the fact?

Accessibility. Every part of the mechanism of Ford Model T is easily accessible. There is nothing intricate—nothing confusing. It is as simple as ABC.

Cheapest to Maintain. Ford Model T is an exceedingly economical car to keep. It goes from 20 to 28 miles on one gallon of gasoline. It is equally economical with oil, and gives from 5,000 to 8,000 miles on one set of tires.

Ford Service for Ford Owners is a feature which must not be forgotten. No matter where you are, with your Ford car, if accident and trouble occurs, you are sure to find immediate service right at hand. Over four thousand individual dealers, each one carrying a supply of Ford parts in stock all the time, each one anxious and prompt to assist Ford owners. Ford service for Ford owners is an exclusive advantage. It is a world-wide advantage. No matter where you go, the Ford dealer is there waiting for you.

SOLONS' STEAM ROLLER TO BE STARTED AGAIN

Thirteen More Veto Measures to Be Taken up by Legislature Tomorrow.

LIST TO BE CONSIDERED

One Gives Assessors in Places of More Than 10,000 Population a $2,000 Salary—Another Has to do With the Election Laws.

Trenton, April 15.—The Republicans in the Assembly will take up thirteen more vetoes of the Governor when they return tomorrow. The Assembly last week passed eighteen measures over the Executive disapproval, five of which were vetoed some time ago by the Governor and the remaining thirteen were of the record-breaking lot of 42 sent to the Legislature last Wednesday. This leaves the bunch of thirteen still to be considered.

The list includes the bill by Mr. Martin, of Hudson, giving assessors an annual salary of $2,000 in townships having more than 10,000 inhabitants; the Martin bill releasing the State's title in certain private lands; the Lowy bill increasing the salary of police justices and their clerks in Newark and Jersey City; the Prout bill extending the use to which cemetery companies can put their landed property; the Hildreth bill exempting turnpike companies from the reduction in automobile tolls under the automobile act of 1905; Assembly 272, the Camden charter bill by Mr. DeUnger; the bill by Mr. White, of Burlington, authorizing Boards of Assessors in boroughs of property value exceeding $3,000,000; the Newman bill amending the Geran act by providing that the signature of the voter in the poll book shall not be required in municipalities where personal registration is not required; the Lowy bill regulating the filling of vacancies in Boards of Street and Water Commissioners; the Lowy bill permitting Newark to acquire meadow lands for public docks; the bill by Mr. Adams, of Mercer, giving tenure of office to war veterans who have served twenty years continuously in State or municipal offices; the Pikaart relating to the construction of water works, and the Lowy bill authorizing court clerks to enter judgments by default.

The Senate last week disposed of the veto message sent to it by Governor Wilson.

FIRE DESTROYS $1,000 WORTH OF NEW GOWNS

The home of George Grover, at 226 East Ninth street, was badly damaged by fire early Saturday night. It originated in some unaccountable manner on the second floor and had gained considerable headway before discovery. The damage totals $2,000, of which more than half is on contents.

A member of the family chanced to smell smoke and a search located the blaze in a bedroom. No one had been near it for some time and the flames had spread all about one side. A telephone alarm was first sent in, but when Chief Doane arrived with No. 2 truck and the chemical engine he saw a larger fighting force was necessary. Accordingly box 25 was pulled for reinforcements.

The firemen had a hard time getting at the blaze, but managed to keep it pretty well confined. The one room was wrecked. From all appearances the fire started either in a clothes closet or about a couch which formed part of the furnishings. The contents destroyed included a number of handsome gowns, which Mrs. Grover had prepared in readiness for an European trip, and a quantity of laundry. The gowns were valued at $1,000.

George P. Bull, of New York, is the owner of the house. His loss is covered by insurance.

TRUCK FARMER SAVED FROM BLAZING HOUSE

Rescuers Find Louis Barbier, Alone in His Valley Home, Unconscious From Smoke—Dwelling and Contents Totally Destroyed.

Fire, which was discovered early yesterday, destroyed the home of Louis Barbier in Washington Valley, above Watchung. Mr. Barbier had a narrow escape from being burned to death. He was rescued under the greatest difficulty by Milton Arnsberg and Fritz Myers, neighbors. Not a thing among the contents of the house was saved, and Mr. Barbier's sole possession after the fire was the night clothes in which he was rescued. The loss is total, as there was no insurance.

Mr. Arnsberg discovered the fire at 10 o'clock in the morning and arousing Mr. Myers hastened to the burning house. The two men knew that Barbier lived alone in the house and their one aim was to rescue him. Fighting their way through the flames and dense smoke, the rescuers found him unconscious from the effects of smoke in his bedroom. They picked him up and carried him from the dwelling.

In the meantime word was sent to the Watchung fire department, but when Chief Titus and the volunteers arrived the house was beyond saving. The greater part of it was in ashes before the fire-fighters got to the scene.

Mr. Barbier was revived within a short time and was taken to the home of a neighbor, where he is stopping for the present. He has no idea as to what caused the fire, and the origin will probably always remain a mystery.

Mr. Barbier is a gardener, and also works a large truck farm, where he raises vegetables for the market. He has been a resident of Washington valley for a number of years.

FRIENDS UNEXPECTEDLY CALL ON MISS BOEHM

A surprise party was tendered to Miss Margaret Boehm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Boehm, at the home of her parents, Grandview avenue and Somerset street, last evening. The house was prettily decorated with roses and carnations and many handsome bouquets were received from friends.

About twenty-eight friends were present, several coming from Perth Amboy Somerville and Elizabeth. The treat of the evening was piano selections by Miss Ray Prager and vocal solos by Mr. Brown and Mr. Rothberg.

ECONOMICS AS RELATED TO CHRISTIANITY HIS THEME

At the vesper services of the Congregational church yesterday afternoon a good sized audience listened to a very interesting address by E. L. Suffern, president of the American Society of Certified Accountants, who took for his subject, "The Laws of Economics as Related to Christian Service."

Mr. Suffern gave a short historical sketch of the growth in the practise of working in a fair way, and in giving everybody a fair chance. The individual has the liberty to work and keep within the law, but he is also under moral and social obligations to live, give his neighbor a chance and to help him when possible. At the present time there are indications of a remarkable growth in the feelings of one man for his neighbor as is demonstrated by the activity in child welfare work as well as in the pains we take in seeing that our brother gets his chance. People are endeavoring today to make other lives easier and the man following an industrial line finds many opportunities for doing good and making the world a better place to live in.

ZIONISTS HEAR OF REPEOPLED PALESTINE

Leon Zolotkoff Addresses JehudaHalevi Camp, Sons of Zion, at Installation.

COLONIES NOW NUMBER 38

Movement Gaining Friends Among Jews Every Day, Asserts Dr. Leon Kapelowitz, Seminary Professor—Banquet Follows Installation.

Excellent addresses in connection with the installation of officers were heard at a meeting of JuhudahHalevi Camp, No. 57, Order Sons of Zion, in Knights of Pythias Hall, on West Front street, yesterday afternoon. There were about seventy-five members and friends of the order present. The chief address was made by Leon Zolotkoff, editor of the Jewish Daily News, of New York, who also installed the officers.

Mr. Zolotkoff reviewed the Zionist movement, which began in the middle of the Eighteenth Century, explaining that at present there are thirty-eight colonies established and the work of founding a Jewish University in Palestine is now well underway. The Hebrew language is again a living tongue in that country.

The speaker urged those present to help the movement in every way possible, adding that it is not necessary that one should live in Palestine to render assistance.

Dr. Leon Kapelowitz, a teacher in the Jewish Theological Seminary, New York, also addressed the gathering, giving some excellent advice to the members of the order. He emphasized the fact that the movement is gaining friends every day among the Jewish people and this was encouraging to the members of the local camp.

Leon Zolotkoff then installed these officers for the coming six months: President, Bernard Mann; vice-president, Edward Nadler; treasurer, Julius Shrager, financial secretary, Henry Rosenbaum; recording secretary, B. N. Bernstein; trustees, Louis Steigman, Louis Zeisel, Samuel Rosenbaum; sergeant-at-arms, Morris Rosenbaum.

After the business and installation a banquet was served by the local camp. Bernard Mann was the toastmaster. A social time followed.

PLUMBERS HOLD STATE MEETING IN THE BORO

The New Jersey Association of Journeymen Plumbers held its quarterly meeting at Debele Hall, yesterday afternoon, there being about sixty delegates from Newark, Trenton, Jersey City, Long Branch, Asbury Park, Elizabeth, New Brunswick, Orange and many other cities throughout the State. The meeting was held chiefly to discuss trade conditions and these were found to be very satisfactory.

The only report of trouble came from Red Bank, where it was expected that the men would go out on strike this morning.

The local men expect to receive an increase on May 1, making it $4.23 an eight hour day, the same as in Elizabeth. After the meeting yesterday the visitors were entertained at lunch by the local members of the union. The next meeting will be held at Long Branch.

Y. M. C. A. Social Work.

The newly organized social committee of the Y. M. C. A. will hold a members' meeting at the association rooms on Thursday evening, April 18, at 8 o'clock. There will be music, vocal and instrumental, recitations and story telling. There will be much in this meeting to interest men and to bring them in touch with the association activities, with an added opportunity for making suggestions towards the betterment of the work.

WOUNDED LINER STILL AFLOAT

New York, April 15.—Reports received this afternoon by wireless as to the Titanic, the giant steamship of the White Star line, which ran into an iceberg last night, state that all of the passengers have been taken off the vessel by the American Liner Carpathia and the Allan Liner Parisian. The crew was still on board the boat, according to advices received at 2:30.

There are conflicting reports as to the exact condition of the Titanic. One story has it that her watertight compartments are holding well and the pumps are working continuously. It is also said that she is proceeding under her own steam to Halifax.

Another report has it that she is too crippled to move under her own power, and the Virginian, which first reported the plight of the new greyhound, is towing her home.

The White Star steamship Titanic, the biggest ship in the world, on her maiden voyage from Southampton to this port, with over 2,200 souls on board, including many passengers of national and international prominence, struck an iceberg off the Grand Banks of Newfoundland early this morning.

The Titanic sent her wireless signals of distress flashing all over the ocean, and steamships from all directions headed to her rescue.

There was a long interval of silence between the early morning messages and the next news, causing great anxiety. The White Star offices at Montreal were without any news for hours.

At 8:30 o'clock this morning Montreal heard by wireless from the Allan liner Virginian, the nearest ship to the Titanic. This message said that the Titanic was still afloat then, and that her engines were working. At that hour she was crawling slowly in the general direction of Halifax and toward the Virginian, which was en route to her.

YOUNG KEIDERLING SAYS HE IS DETERMINED TO DIE

Asserting with many profane adjectives and vehement language that he would yet "finish the job" he had attempted, James Keiderling, the youth who hacked his throat in a cell at borough police headquarters, Wednesday evening, was taken from Muhlenberg Hospital to the county jail at Somerville, yesterday afternoon. He was escorted to the county seat by Marshal Keller and placed in a separate room in the keeping of two "trusties." Any attempt on his part to carry out his threat of again trying to end his life will meet with prompt frustration. He will be held to wait the action of the grand jury.

As Keiderling was leaving the hospital, he encountered his sister coming to see him. On asking if she had secured bail for him and receiving a reply in the negative, he began cursing the young woman in a vile manner. The torrent was shut off by the officer, who in turn had a few select epithets hurled his way because of the interference.

The borough police say Keiderling is the worst proposition in the bad boy line they have had to deal with in a long time.

WILLIAM H. TAFT CLUB TO BE FORMED TONIGHT.

All voters who favor the renomination and re-election of President Wm. H. Taft are invited to attend a meeting tonight at the Republican City Committee headquarters in the Frost building when a Taft club will be organized. Men prominent in the community will speak. Former Senator E. R. Ackerman will act as temporary chairman.

While it is contended that the Taft sentiment in Plainfield is an overwhelming one; there is much work to be done here according to Senator Ackerman, who extends an invitation to all interested, no matter to what party they belong, to attend and participate in the proceedings.

Four Feminine Pedestrians.

The Misses Ida and Helen Hummell, Clara Barton Smith and Bessie Carson walked to New Brunswick Saturday. They started at 10 a. m. in spite of the threatened rain and arrived at 2 p. m. It was a most enjoyable trip. After going to the theatre, the young women "trolleyed" home.

A Chimney Blaze.

Apparatus from fire headquarters was called out on a still alarm, yesterday, for a chimney blaze at the home of William Ross, 116 West Fourth street. There was no damage.

PLATFORM'S FALL FATAL; TO 2; FR. BOGAN ESCAPES

As Plainfield Priest Speaks at Harrington Park Corner-Stone Laying; Flooring Crashes Bringing Death to Spectators.

While Rev. B. M. Bogan, rector of St. Mary's church, was speaking at the laying of the cornerstone of the unfinished Church of Our Lady of Victory at Harrington Park, yesterday, the temporary floor gave way and 200 people were carried to the cellar ten feet below. Two were killed and more than fifty injured. The rector of St. Mary's had a narrow escape from severe injury. He escaped with slight hurts.

The rector of the Harrington Park church, Rev. J. T. Delehanty, was formerly curate at St. Mary's church.

Father Bogan called up St. Mary's rectory on the telephone from Huntington Park last evening and assured Father Hogan, his assistant, that he was not badly injured, although he had been caught in the jam of the terrified crowd.

Father Bogan said on his return to Plainfield today that the extent of his injuries consist of a sprained back and a bruised and sprained right foot.

"I am grateful to God that I was spared from serious injury," said the priest. "When the crash came I stood within two feet of a poor woman who lost her life and was near another woman that died probably from the shock. About me were many who were badly injured and it was almost a miracle that I escaped.

"Michael O'Keefe, who stood near me, did splendid work in removing the fallen timber and releasing some of the unfortunate people. He was hurt in the leg somewhat, and like me he is limping about. The sympathy of us all go out to Father Delehanty and his parishoners. No one seemed to be to blame for the accident."

With the snapping of the wooden supports that held it up the flooring sank in the center and formed a hopper-like hole. It was in this that the victims were crushed.

Into this space the men, women and children were thrown, and upon them came heavy piles of lumber which had been left in the room. It was this lumber that did most of the damage, although suffocation beneath the struggling mass accounts for the two deaths.

The ceremony of laying and blessing the cornerstone of the little Church of Our Lady of the Victory drew a crowd of about 300 devout church men and church women from the surrounding suburbs. The church is really well advanced toward completion, but the cornerstone had not been blessed. Naugle & Wisener, the contractors, have the stone walls of the basement, the shingled sides and the high Gothic shingle roof in place, the belfry installed and the high front steps up. The church sits on a side hill about 100 yards from the station, so it has not been necessary to do any excavating. Inside the church the first layer of flooring was put down a week ago, but this was not supported by the steel beams, which were to go in later.

It will have to be determined by the investigations of the Bergen county coroners and the county prosecutor who is to blame for permitting 300 people to rush in on such a flimsy super structure.

DOGS AT LARGE ARE UNDER CITY'S BAN

Mayor Explains the Rigid Provisions of His Notice Under the Ordinance.

MUZZLES WON'T STAY NET

Bow-wow Must Be on Leash When Off Owner's Premises, or Catcher Will Act —Notice in Force Until November 1.

Despite the fact that the ordinance pertaining to the licensing of dogs was drawn with special effort to make it clear, Mayor G. W. V. Moy continues to receive letters from owners of dogs making inquiries as to the provisions of the regulations. For the benefit of inquirers, Mr. Moy gave a concise explanation of the law today.

"In the first place," said the Mayor, "no one is allowed to keep a dog without a license, and if they have no license they are liable to a fine whether the dog runs at large or not. After securing the license the dog must always wear a tag.

"There is nothing in the ordinance about compelling dogs to wear muzzles. Dogs may run at large except during the time set forth in the Mayor's notice. While the Mayor's notice is in force, no dog can run at large with or without a muzzle. It cannot leave the owner's premises unless fastened to a leash held by a person above the age of 12 years. I gave public notice of the above a month ago, therefore, dogs are positively forbidden to run at large until November 1 next."

MARCONNIER WOULD BE FREE OF TRINITY

Members of Chapel Convinced That an Independent Church Can Be Maintained.

CLASSIS MEETS WEDNESDAY

Application for Separate Establishment to Be Considered at Session —Aid From Classis Will Be Needed to Conduct Church.

The members of Marconnier chapel, at Oak Tree, being convinced that they are able to maintain a church independently of Trinity Reformed church, through their pastor, Rev. J. Tucker Lansdale, have taken steps to establish it, and to end the present guardianship of Trinity. The application will come before the Classis of Newark which meets at Linden on Wednesday, at which time Mr. Landsdale will explain the desire and intent of the members of the chapel.

It is understood that the present membership is about eighteen, but assurances have been received from a number of people that they will unite with that body provided an independent church is established. If the request is granted the new church will receive aid from the Classis in carrying on the work at Oak Tree.

RE-DISTRICTING MEASURE MIX-UP IN LEGISLATURE

Trenton, April 15.—The situation over the Congressional redistricting bill is now more mixed up than at any time since the measure was introduced. Last week, instead of the Senate Republicans passing the old measure over the veto, Senator Edge introduced a new bill, fixing the lines of the Eleventh and Twelfth Districts in Hudson county as they were in the original bill before it was amended in the Senate, as Leader Edge said, to please the Democrats.

When the new bill reached the Assembly last week it was changed and an amendment adopted, with the result that it will have to go back to the Senate for concurrance, raising the redistricting question again. The new bill as offered by Mr. Edge had changed the Hudson districts to suit Colonel Samuel D. Dickinson, former Secretary of State, and other Republican leaders of Hudson. This change did not suit Assemblyman Martin, the Democratic leader in the House, who expects to run for Congress next fall in the north Hudson district and he got the Republican Assemblyman to take up his cause, with the result that the Republicans held a conference and decided to amend the bill. As amended the measure was passed. The bill is now in practically the same shape as when it was vetoed, thus insuring that the Governor will again disapprove it. It is expected that the veto will be overridden.

THREE INVESTIGATIONS TO BE MADE BY STATE

Trenton, April 15.—By the passage through both houses last week of the special appropriation bill, Senate 353, three legislative investigations are assured. They are the inquiries into grand jury reform, Morris Canal abandonment and the present methods of making tax assessments.

The resolution for the tax investigation was introduced and advocated by Senator Pierce, of Union, and the appropriation made for the work is $3,000. This commission is to be composed of one Senator, one Assemblyman, President Frank B. Jess, of the State Tax Board, and two citizens to be named by Governor Wilson. Senator Pierce has been named to the post by President Prince. The Assemblyman nor the two citizens have not yet been appointed. The commission will be Republican, as the only Democrats on it will be those named by the Governor. At least one public meeting it to be held in each county seat. The commission is given power to compel testimony.

The sum appropriated for the further inquiry into the Morris Canal abandonment question is $5,000. This commission is to be composed of twelve members, one from each Congressional district, four to be named by the President of the Senate, four by the Speaker of the Assembly and four by the Governor.

The jury commission is to be composed of four members, two named by the President of the Senate and two by the Speaker of the Assembly. The appropriation made for this work was $3,000.

It is practically certain that there will be no late night sessions of the Legislature this week, owing to the fact that the legislators cannot get hotel accommodations. The Grand Lodge of Masons of New Jersey will hold its annual session here and as it was thought the Legislature would finish its session last week, the hotel men went ahead and booked up practically all their rooms to the members of the Masonic fraternity.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS MAY BE CHOSEN IN SEPT.

Trenton, April 15.—The Leavitt bill, Senate 244, providing that the Presidential electors shall be chosen at the Geran law State convention in September, was passed by the Assembly last week after a very objectionable feature had been amended out of it. The part stricken out was the provision that the electors should not be compelled to file a statement of campaign expenses as provided by the corrupt practices act. It was claimed that under the provision eliminated the entire fund for the State campaign might have passed through the hands of the electors and with no statement filed by them, the entire corrupt practice act would have been overdrawn as far as the Presidential campaign was concerned. The amended measure will now go back to the Senate for concurrence in the amendment.

Taft Leader Who Also Met Defeat in the Pennsylvania Primaries.

"HIT THEM MIDDLING HARD," SAYS COLONEL

Roosevelt Rejoices at Results of Pennsylvania Primaries.

Oyster Bay, April 15.—Colonel Roosevelt was in the merriest sort of mood over his Pennsylvania victory and is filled with confidence that it will result in turning the tide toward him.

He was coming out of the woods of Sagamore Hill accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt after a walk when the reporters surrounded him. As he approached the top, armed with a big stick, togged in knickerbockers and rough hiking outfit, he displayed a most delicious Roosevelt smile.

"Bully, bully!" was all the colonel said for a time, all the time smiling, while everybody congratulated him. Then in a stage whisper the colonel confided to the crowd:

"We hit them middling hard."

"Pennsylvania is particularly gratifying because of the emphatic way the people went on record against the bosses," was his comment.

The colonel replied to a quotation in a newspaper from Henry W. Taft, brother of the president, who was quoted as saying that the colonel's campaign had cost so far $1,000,000, of which $250,000 had been contributed for use in Pennsylvania by William Flinn, Roosevelt's manager and former boss of Pittsburgh.

"I do not know about the Pennsylvania part of this, but as for the rest I would say this," he said, "I do not believe that Mr. Taft could have been correctly quoted, but if he was, it represents a deliberate falsehood on his part.

"Michigan, Kentucky and Indiana," the colonel continued, "would all have done the same thing as Illinois and Pennsylvania have done and would do so now if they had a chance.

"The present real situation of Mr. Taft and myself in convention delegate strength is that we are just about even," continued the colonel, each having about 150 instructed delegates."

"In New York we now have ten delegates who would vote for me if no one else did. Ten more are ready to vote that way, and twenty more will be for me if they get into the national convention with half of the delegates back of us."

"Conspiracy," Says McKinley.

Washington, April 15.—Director William B. McKinley of the Taft campaign issued a vitriolic statement, in which he says:

"The outcome of the Pennsylvania primary is plainly indicative of the fact that national issues are playing only a small part in some states in the campaign for the Republican nomination for president. Instead of constructive statesmanship being put forth in an effort to solve the problems before the country and as a bid for votes on the ground of merit, a nation wide campaign of wilful and malicious misrepresentation, villification and assault on the president of the United States has been substituted. Such a campaign, amounting in fact to a conspiracy, made not only to humiliate the president personally, but to commit the Republican party to rank socialism, has not only been countenanced, but conducted by former President Theodore Roosevelt."

He dwells upon the dignified silence maintained by President Taft, notwithstanding the fact that his opponent has thrown all restraint to the winds and that both Senator Joseph H. Dixon and Colonel Roosevelt charged the president with being "a receiver of stolen goods," and says referring to Colonel Roosevelt:

"The fact that this candidate is now claiming to wear the mantle of Abraham Lincoln is evidence that the acme of demagogism in this country has been reached."

He concludes by saying:

"The president is in this fight to stay. He will be the nominee of the Republican convention at Chicago."

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

George W. Lederer, who added the word vaudeville to the lexicon of the native theatre when he and Alexander Herrmann brought to America about a score of years ago the first all-European company of variety artists, which he labelled the "Trans-Atlantic Vaudevilles," a classification he chose with a view to distinguishing the foreign specialty artists from the rank and file of native specialty turns then somewhat in dispute under the term "varieties," has successfully used the term "vaudeville" again in this country. The program of "Madame Sherry," the newest Lederer musical attractions, produced by Lederer in partnership with A. H. Woods and H. H. Frazee, describes the piece as a "French Vaudeville," which means, as Lederer explains it, a form of musical play where all songs and all the comic business are direct issues from the story and not, as in the common or garden variety of native musical comedy, mostly introduced matter, regardless of any assimilative qualities the introduction may possess. "Madame Sherry" will be played here by the New York New Amsterdam Theatre Company at the Plainfield theatre next Friday night.

ORGANIZE TO WORK FOR SAFE AND SANE FOURTH

New Providence, April 15.—In an effort to inaugurate a movement for holding a sane Fourth of July celebration, this year, to be participated in by all the surrounding towns of the upper Passaic valley, and ultimately to establish a permanent organization, the New Providence Athletic Association held a meeting recently at the home of President Arthur G. Balcom.

Ways and means were considered for getting the whole valley in line, including the following towns: New Providence, Berkeley Heights, Gillette, Union Village, Meyersville, Mt. Bethel, Stirling and Millington.

Dr. Willis Fletcher Johnson, of Berkeley Heights, attended. He was elected an honorary member.

It was planned to write every organization of importance in the valley concerning the idea or forming a Passaic Valley Board of Trade, or similar organization, and to invite them to take active part in the coming celebration.

The plan of action decided upon was to request each organization interested to appoint a committee to look into the matter, the chairman of that committee to be a member of the general committee, which will represent the entire valley. The general committee is to be called "The Committee on Community of Interest."

The association's committee consists of Spencer L. Kroneberger, Rev. Reid S. Dickson, Rev. Jesse Lee Peck, William Woodruff and Nicholas H. A. Krayer.

Warns Against Blister Rust.

New Brunswick, April 15.—State Plant Pathologist Mel T. Cook has issued a warning against the blister rust of the white pine. He says the disease is of European origin and may be expected here at any time. Mr. Cook advises that purchases of seedlings be confined as much as possible to home stock, but if foreign stock must be had, that it be subjected to closest scrutiny. The disease, he says, is slow to mature, hard to detect at once and extremely destructive.

New Road to Sanitarium.

It will go up Hillside avenue to the macadam road on the State grounds, which was built about a year ago. The distance is a little less than a mile. In some places retaining walls will have to be erected in order to give width to the road.

CARDINAL FARLEY.

Who Will Celebrate His Seventieth Birthday Saturday of This Week.

CARDINAL FARLEY IS SEVENTY

Will Celebrate Birthday on Saturday of This Week.

New York, April 15.—Cardinal Farley on Saturday of this week will have attained three score and ten years. Already he is receiving messages of congratulation and gifts. Although the cardinal has snow white hair, he does not look his seventy years. And he says he has seldom enjoyed more excellent health in his life. His recent trip to Florida had done him much good, he said.

Although an automobile was presented to him a fortnight ago, it might be considered as a birthday present. With the car came the provision for a chauffeur, garage room and repairs as long as the cardinal lives.

Cardinal Farley is eight years younger than Cardinal Gibbons, seventeen years older than Cardinal O'Connell and the same age as Cardinal Falconio.

SCORE OF LOUISIANA TOWNS ARE INUNDATED

Flood Situation Worst There in Quarter of Century.

New Orleans, La., April 15.—The flood situation in Louisiana was the gloomiest in a quarter of a century and there was every indication that the worst is far from having come. In addition to more than a score of smaller places in the northeastern corner of the state, Tallulah, a town of 1,500 people, went under water.

That there has been loss of life seems certain, but no bodies have been recovered.

Roosevelt, the town nearest the Louisiana crevasses, which is now 1,800 feet wide, is nothing but a bunch of roofs and telegraph poles, the town being under water that averages fifteen feet in depth. In several places in New Orleans river water is seeping upon the streets.

BRISSON, STATESMAN, DIES.

Was Nineteen Times President of the French Chamber of Deputies.

Paris, April 15.—Henri Brisson, the French statesman and for many years president of the chamber of deputies, is dead at seventy-seven years of age.

M. Brisson was nineteen times president of the chamber of deputies from 1876 to 1912. He was three times a candidate for president against Jules Grevy, Cassimir-Perrier and Felix Faure.

Fire Under Water.

Fire under water may be produced by placing some small pieces of phosphorus in a conical shaped tumbler and then covering them with the crystals of chlorate of potash. Next fill the glass with water and then add a few drops of sulphuric acid, the acid to be applied directly to the phosphorus and potash crystals by means of a long tube. If the experiment is properly carried out tongues of bright red flame can be seen flashing up through the water, the intense chemical heat produced by the action of the sulphuric acid on the potash and phosphorus being sufficient to inflame the latter, although entirely covered with water.

Heading Them Off.

Mrs. Villadom—Why do you want to call on the Borems tonight? Mr. Villadom—Because if we don't they're certain to come over here. It will be easier to go home when we're tired of them than to ask them to go home.

Jack Johnson Speeding Again.

Chicago, April 15.—Jack Johnson, champion heavyweight pugilist, was arrested in Evanston for speeding in his automobile. Johnson was chased four blocks by a motorcycle policeman.

POINTERS FOR THE VOTER.

As nine voters out of every ten are totally unfamiliar with the workings of the Presidential primaries, it will not be amiss to explain in as few words as possible and with some degree of clearness the new method of selection of candidates for the high office. In the first place, it should be stated that these primaries will be held on Tuesday, May 28, and on that day the polls will be open from 1 to 9 p. m. These primaries take the place of party conventions and serve the same ends. The difference is that they are conducted by the government, thereby preventing corruption and insuring an honest vote and an honest count.

There will be separate ballot boxes, one where the Republican may cast his ballot and one where the Democrat may do likewise. In each primary, the voter will register his choice for Presidential nomination; for four candidate for delegates-at-large from the State to his party's National convention; for four alternates to the delegates-at-large; for two delegates to the National convention from his Congressional district and for two alternates to the district delegates.

He who voted at the general election last November need not register for the primaries for his name will be carried over to the new list by the election officers. In this connection it should be made plain that the primaries will be conducted by the same officers and in the same manner as the last general election. Accordingly, also, he who did not vote at the last general election will have to register anew. This he may do my filing with the clerk of the city or borough, as the case may be, an affidavit of his right to vote and the affidavit in question must be on file at least ten days before the primaries.

Six days before the primaries, the district election board will mail to the voters sample ballots and they will be similar to those to be used at the primaries except that they will be printed on another color of paper and will be marked "sample."

Candidates' petitions, excepting those for the Presidential preference, must be filed on or before May 1. On each there must be at least one hundred signatures of legal voters. Those for delegates-at-large may be obtained from any part of the State but those for district delegates must be obtained within the given district. Petitions of delegates-at-large candidates must be filed with the Secretary of State, and so must those of district delegates when the district includes more than one county.

Here is a calendar of dates which the voter will do well to clip and put away for future use:

April 1—Petition to be filed with the Secretary of State to print on the Presidential primary ballot the name of a candidate for President.

April 15—Chairman of each State committee to notify the Secretary of State of the number of delegates and alternates to be elected for his party, both at large and from each district.

April 20—Secretary of State must notify each county clerk of the number of delegates to be elected on each ticket.

April 25—Candidates named for President in petitions must file by this date declination to have their names placed on the ballots. On this same date, the Secretary of State must certify the county clerks the names of Presidential candidates presented in petitions.

April 29—County clerks must certify to municipal clerks the names of candidates that have been certified by the Secretary of State.

May 1—Petitions for candidates for delegates and alternates must be filed with the Secretary of State or county clerk.

May 6—Secretary of State to notify all county clerks of the candidates for delegates and alternates-at-large, and also the names of delegates and alternates for a district extending into more than one county.

May 8—County clerks to notify municipal clerks of the names to be printed on the primary ballots of each party.

May 18—Voters whose names are not on the Presidential primary registry list must file affidavits with municipal clerks.

May 21—Municipal clerks deliver to district election boards, books and statiionery.

May 22—District boards mail sample ballots to voters.

May 28—Presidential primary election day. Polls will be open from 1 o'clock in the afternoon until 9 o'clock at night. Ballot boxes are to be delivered to the district boards on or before the primary day.

The President of Bronx Borough, New York city, has framed a business decalogue for his subordinates, which with a few minor changes might be made to fit any business, though more particularly for the public officials:

1. Don't show anger.
2. Don't raise you voice.
3. Don't suspect people of intent to do wrong.
4. Don't tell people you suspect them of intent to do wrong.
5. Don't forget to try to deny a request, when you must deny it, in such a way that the petitioner is grateful.
6. Don't forget, when you find a citizen evading the law or playing a trick which must make you angry, if you have red blood, that self-restraint is a double victory—it saves your strength and disappoints him.
7. Don't forget that public officials are to help citizens, not to trouble them.
8. Don't forget that courtesy to fellow-employes makes for efficiency.
9. Don't forget that your chief will find it just as hard as any of you to live up to these hints.
10. Don't forget to read this every day.

There are far too many public officials in these days who adopt the false view that they are running their own business, whereas they are the servants of the people. And, moreover, it appears to be the general acceptation among the subordinates to get this wrong idea into their heads.

A celebrated man once said, "Save me from my friends, I can take care of my enemies," or words to that effect. How appropriate for Mr. Taft, whose crushing defeats in Illinois and Pennsylvania were delivered when Lorimer and Penrose, respectively, were leading the administration forces.

It seems that the quickest way to affluence is to get a job as a Cabinet member. Examples of this have been numerous in recent years and now comes Postmaster General Hitchock with a statement that he has refused a $50,000 a year sinecure because he wants to stick to the postage stamp.

There is one singular thing about that "I told you so" fellow. If he were as good a guesser as he attempts to make you believe, he'd be too busy piling up wealth to waste time saying, "I told you so."

Scoop, the cub reporter, visited a beauty doctor's parlors yesterday. The treatment gave him a new face. See him as he now appears. The cartoon is on page seven.

James Smith, Jr., is a candidate for delegate to the Democratic convention. He has thrown the white vest into the ring.

BIBLE CLASS MEMBERS APPEAR IN LIVELY COMEDY

"Higbee of Harvard," a lively comedy, was successfully presented at the Plainfield High School, Saturday night, by the Men's Berean Bible Class of the Park Avenue Baptist church. The play was staged under the direction of William N. Runyon and Miss Florence G. Hawkins, and each member of the cast took his or her part in a creditable manner. The play is full of amusing situations and the small, but appreciative audience, was kept in continual laughter.

The play is in three acts, the scene of the first being the lawn at the Withrow home, Brookline, Mass., the second, the drawing room at Withrow's, same evening, and the third a mining camp in Montana, five months later. The cast for the play follows:

"Watson W. Higbee," from Montana, a good fellow with millions, who knows neither fear nor grammar, William F. Doane; "Hon. V. D. Withrow," a blue-blooded ex-Senator with a tall family tree and a short bank account, Francis R. Mortimer; "Lorin Higbee," son of Watson, champion athletic of Harvard, in love with Madge, Fred V. Mills; "Theodore Dalrymple," called "Ted," worked his way through Harvard, in love with Nancy, Irving J. Pratt; "Higgins," the butler, Herbert W. Johnson; "Nancy Withrow," the Senator's daughter, level-headed girl, Miss Carrie Kling; "Madge Cummings," from Montana, a quiet sort, with temper when needed, Miss Neva E. Waldorf; "Mrs. Ballou," the Senator's sister from New York, who meets her second affinity at the eleventh hour, Miss Elizabeth Mills; "Mrs. Malvina Meddigrew," originally from Missouri; must always be shown, Miss Dorothy I. Smith.

The committee in charge of the affair comprised Herman Kling, chairman; Irving J. Pratt and Charles Hellyer.

ACKERMAN IMPRESSED BY PANAMA CANAL

Former President of the Senate Ernest R. Ackerman has returned from a trip South during which he spent some time at Panama. Referring to the Canal work, he said today that to his mind the most striking achievement has been the sanitary improvement brought about in the canal zone. For a width of ten miles on either side of the great waterway, the Government has gotten rid of the mosquito and has made the territory perfectly healthful, something that was considered an impossibility only a few years ago.

Senator Ackerman expressed the view that because of the healthy conditions in the Panama canal zone, much of the desirable class of immigrants being attracted by Argentine and Chili will eventually swarm into the U. S. territory along the canal. He doubts that the canal will be ready to have the water run through it by a year from August as is expected.

Register of Deeds Frank H. Smith, who recently visited the canal zone, shared Senator Ackerman's views. He said that the great problems of South America are labor and transportation. The poorer classes he said are indolent and it is extremely difficult to get any work done. Transportation facilities, he adds, are next to none. Both of these conditions, however, he believes will be vastly improved when the canal is in use.

CHECK TO PLAN FOR SUNDAY BALL AT THE DRIVING PARK.

A party of widely known New York baseball men were in Plainfield yesterday trying to make arrangements to turn the Plainfield Driving Park into a baseball park and have Sunday games. They did not intend to spoil the driving track but to move the judges' stand and lay out the diamond on the course.

Arrangements had almost been completed when the residents near the park learned of the facts. They at once informed the promoters that if they attempted to play there on Sundays they would get out an injunction.

It could not be learned today whether or not the baseball men will go through with the proposition.

HERE AND THERE.

At one of the numerous social functions at Washington last week in honor of Justice Pitney, Senator Martine was approached by a tall man of dignified aspect who seemed to be well acquainted with the junior Senator from New Jersey, but of whom the Senator had no recollection. "It seems to me you should remember me," said the young man, "you had sufficient trouble keeping me out of your orchard a number of years ago." The stranger then explained that he was Leander Lovell, formerly a neighbor of the Senator's, but who later went to China as a missionary. The Senator forgave the theft of the apples, assuming that the young man had ever been guilty of such a transgression, and the former acquaintance was resumed on a more fraternal basis.

THE PSYCHE KNOT TO SET OFF PRETTY FACES.

THE Psyche knot, although for a few months out of fashion, is again asserting its claim for popularity. It is a style of coiffuring so simple and so generally becoming that its return should be welcome. Unlike many styles of dressing the hair, it is simple enough for business, yet, with the addition of a pretty ornament, is quite charming enough for any evening entertainment. A simple knot with a flower tucked in the coils of the hair is one of the most pleasing decorations for the evening coiffure. The Psyche is particularly becoming for the girl with the oval face. It also shows to perfection the graceful lines of the shapely head.

SAGE ADVICE.

The Secrets of Success For Ambitious Business Women.

A woman who has made a notable success of business thus advises other business women:

Don't complain.

Don't demand sympathy.

Don't say you are unlucky. You are as lucky as you think you are, and opportunity is always at your door.

Be alert mentally and clean physically.

Work as if you had no idea of ever marrying and as if business were your sole interest in life.

Don't think you would succeed better somewhere else than where you live.

Don't waste time on self pity.

Don't be persuaded that you must be absolutely healthy before you start to work. You may find health in your work.

Don't stay in an employment which really is a detriment to your health. If you are brave enough to try you will find something better suited to your needs.

Study conditions around you and find out what requirements are most urgent. Learn to meet these requirements or the demands of the market near you.

Work with a goal before you. Don't be satisfied with your own degree of efficiency or knowledge. You can always acquire more.

Care of Cutlery.

Knives not in daily use should be well polished and buried in a box of sawdust until required for use.

THE OUTDOOR LIFE.

Popular Possibly Because It Is an English Fad.

The fashionable Englishwoman is devoted to country life. She tramps miles over the moors and meadows clad in a short tweed walking suit and wearing stout, sensible shoes. No storm keeps her indoors. She rides to hounds with all the enthusiasm of her father or brothers or husband. She can cast a line with the skill of the most finished angler. As a whip she is unexcelled. She plays tennis and golf and sometimes even takes a hand at hockey and cricket. On the river she can punt and row to perfection, and as a yachtswoman Britannia certainly rules the wave.

All these sports have received an impetus in America, and their popularity is partly due to the fact that they are fashionable.

For Burning Feet.

To cure burning feet first discard tight shoes, then take one pint of bran and one ounce of carbonate of soda; put in a footbath. Add one gallon of hot water. When cool enough soak the feet in this mixture for fifteen minutes. Relief is instantaneous. This should be repeated every night for a week.

Marks of Matches.

Marks made by scratching matches on the wall can be readily removed by rubbing lightly with a piece of cut lemon, then with a cloth dipped in whiting and finally washed with warm water and soap.

A PRETTY FICHU WHICH MAY BE MADE AT HOME.

PICTURESQUE neckwear is the rule this season. Most of the charming collars, fichus and berthas shown in the shops may be fashioned by the home needlewoman. The pretty fichu shown here is brought from the center of the back to the waist line in graceful lines, the effect being achieved by draping these narrow strips of all over duchesse lace a little at the ends. The fichu is edged on the inside with folds of very fine white net and is trimmed outside with a plaited frill of the net. The lace is the machine made duchesse which is so reasonable in price, yet so pretty. The net frill may be bought in the shops already plaited.

USES FOR SPRING LETTUCE.

WE should be truly thankful that lettuce is again abundant and reasonable in price, for lettuce is the basis of most salads and eaten alone with a simple dressing is one of the most delicious foods one could wish. For persons troubled with nerves the soothing properties of lettuce are to be as much recommended as those of fresh green onions.

Lettuce For Insomnia.

Persons who are troubled with sleeplessness, particularly elderly ones, will find an abundant supper dish of lettuce a most effective soporific.

To be good, lettuce must be young and crisp. As soon as it is brought into the house sprinkle it with water and put into an air tight vessel, such as a covered pail, and place in the refrigerator.

When ready to use cut off the stalk, separate the leaves and wash them well, for there are many tiny insects that can hide in the crinkly leaves. Soak in very cold water for a quarter of an hour and then shake dry and wipe with a soft cloth. If the leaves are wet the dressing will not adhere.

A Plain Salad.

If a salad is to be made in which lettuce alone is used arrange the larger leaves around the outside of the dish and make a nest in the center of the whiter leaves of the heart. The salad may be flavored by rubbing the salad bowl with a clove or garlic, or you may place a piece of bread rubbed with the garlic underneath the leaves at the bottom of the bowl. When a French dressing is used toss and turn the leaves so that all may be coated.

Lettuce leaves should never be cut when a salad is being prepared. Cutting causes the lettuce to wilt. Instead tear the leaves. Boiled beets, hard boiled eggs or cold boiled potatoes sliced may be served on a bed of lettuce leaves with mayonnaise dressing.

Ham and Lettuce.

A novel dish is thus prepared with lettuce. Take two heads of lettuce, wash, soak and tear each leaf into several pieces. Have ready about a quarter of a pound of ham, fried and cut into small squares. While the ham is hot add to it a tablespoonful of vinegar. Take one egg, beat until light and stir a tablespoonful of sour cream into it. Then pour on the ham and stir these over the fire until the sauce thickens. Have the dried pieces of leaves on a dish, pour the ham and sauce over them and stir together with a fork. Serve hot.

and worsteds. The jackets of these costumes are rather short with cutaway basques at the front.

Little boys wear a great many suits of this sort made from such washable materials as poplin, galatea and heavy linen. They are serviceable and attractive. This one gives a masculine effect that is most alluring.

CLOTHES OF OUR GRANDMOTHERS

Heirlooms In the Shape of Rich and Stately Brocades May Be Made Over Into Modish and Elegant Garments.

DOLLY glanced over the invitation from her college chum. It was for a week end in the city, which to a country school teacher meant much. All would have been well had it been from any friend but Daisy. Daisy, alas, was fashionable, and the invitation referred to a dinner at one of the smart restaurants of the big city, with afterward an evening at the opera to hear a famous prima donna.

This would have been delightful had Dolly's wardrobe been as amply supplied with garments as Daisy's. Daisy had a wealthy father who catered to her needs.

After considering every phase of the case, Dolly sat down to write a note of regrets. She had absolutely nothing to wear to the dinner and the opera in such company. Fashionable folks in the city do not consider neat tailor mades quite the thing for evening wear.

Fortunately, before that note was written in blew Dolly's good angel in the shape of her pretty fellow teacher in the primary department of the village school.

"Why," cried little Miss Gray, "you mustn't let a good chance like that escape you! Let's look at the fashion books."

A short study of the plates showed that Dolly had a gown which with a little attention from the village dressmaker might be made to do. It would be easy enough to manage a hat. She had a beautiful plume, and the local milliner was a person of taste and discrimination.

"But a wrap?" wailed Dolly. "One can't go to the opera at night without an evening wrap!"

"Oh, that's easy!" little Miss Gray exclaimed airily. "Where are all those lovely old clothes that belonged to your great-grandmother and your grandmother? You loaned them to the church ladies, you know, for the tableaux."

"They're up in the attic," replied Dolly, "but I don't see what use they can be."

So they went up to the attic, and the minute Miss Gray laid her eyes on Grandmother Brown's old gold brocade she exclaimed:

"There's the thing!"

They carried it downstairs, and Miss Gray pointed to one of the plates in the fashion book.

"We'll make it just like that," said she.

The village dressmaker entered into their plans with enthusiasm. Fortunately, she was one of those elect dressmakers who know how to fit.

When finished the coat looked much like the one shown here. The brocade was combined with plain satin and all over lace. The deep collar, the cuffs and the wide band about the outside of the coat were of the plain satin. Lace was laid over the satin of the revers and was set into the very full sleeves. A big wooden button was covered with satin, and bands of the plain satin were gathered over cords to make a trefoil for the front of the coat. The button fastened the coat by slipping through one of the loops of this ornament.

And Dolly only smiled when Daisy exclaimed at sight of the wrap:

"Oh, my dear, where did you get that perfectly stunning thing? I saw one just like it the other day at madame's, when she opened that last box of style models from Paris."

Dolly could afford to smile, for madame was the most fashionable dressmaker in the city.

Birthday Dinner Party.

Mrs. Arthur C. Laurence, of 983 Madison avenue, gave a birthday dinner party at her home, Saturday night, in honor of her husband. The guests were four schoolmates of Mr. Laurance at the New Brunswick High School, and they have recently moved to this city or vicinity. They are all of about the same age. The guests were Arthur VanCleef, Arthur Stout, William Alston and Gail MacLaury. After the dinner the guests spent the evening talking over their school days.

Public School Debate.

A public debate will be held in the auditorium of the North Plainfield High School on Thursday night when a debating team from Raritan High School will debate the Woman Suffrage question with the sophomore debating team of the borough school. The N. P. H. S. team is composed of Charles Beckman, Margaret Eaton and Donald Ketcham. They will take the negative.

Score, 40 to 18.

The Boys' Athletic Association defeated the Boys' Secret Society team, Saturday morning, by a score of 40 to 18. The game was played on the B. A. A. field on Stelle avenue. P. Fraker starred for the Athletics and Milne for the Society team. R. Fraker made eight runs. A return game will be played soon on the Cricket field. The batteries were: R. Fraker, M. Snyder, J. Blake and E. Case for the B. A. A. and D. Stewart, Milne and B. Ball for the B. S. S.

Dr. Campbell at Y. W. C. A.

Vesper services were conducted at the Y. W. C. A. yesterday afternoon. The large audience heard a very interesting discourse on "The Resurrection" by Rev. R. T. Campbell, of the borough. The meeting was in charge of Miss Grace Parmerlee secretary of the Y. W. C. A. The orchestra furnished Easter music, assisted by the Glee Club.

The Story of a Profile.

On the facade of the Palazzo Vecchio, at Florence, to the right of the central entrance, the profile of a man's head is traced on the marble, the authorship of which is ascribed to Michelangelo. The story runs that he and a friend made a bet as to which of them would draw a head best with their backs to the wall, a bet easily won by Michelangelo, for he traced a perfect profile, whereas the other produced only a wavering, imperfect outline. The story further relates that the tool used was a nail. Both drawings are carefully preserved.

A Sculptor's Slip.

How many know that the only fault ever found with the splendid equestrian statue of Washington in the Boston Public garden, made by Thomas Ball, was the fact that the horse has no tongue. It is one of those minor details that were discovered long after the statue had been put up. Ball's Governor Andrew at the statehouse has all its proper members.—Boston Journal.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Keen, of Liberty street, are parents of a nine-pound boy who arrived a few days ago. He has been named Everett Milton.

His Only Fear.

As is well known, the late Justice Peckham was a Democrat, while Justice Harlan was a Republican. They were the best of friends. One day they were discussing the fear of death. Justice Peckham said to Justice Harlan:

"You are not afraid to die, are you?"

To this, after a moment's reflection Justice Harlan replied: "No, not exactly. My only fear is that I might bring up at Democratic headquarters."—New York Sun.

A Noble Footman.

Billy Hitt, a well known society man in Washington, was late one evening for dinner at the home of Larz Anderson. Springing from his automobile he rushed into the house, struggling out of his big fur overcoat as he went. Just inside the door he saw a footman at whom he hurled the coat, exclaiming: "That's all right. Never mind the check."

"NEVER MIND THE CHECK."

But as he was disappearing into the dining room he was stopped by a storm of outlandish language coming from the prostrate form that had been knocked down by the impact of the overcoat. He looked round and saw emerging from the covering of fur the face of Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador.—Washington Star.

Automobile Skidded.

While H. R. Linbarger and H. P. Grant, representatives of E. M. French, the real estate broker, were motoring through Somerville Saturday, the automobile, driven by Mr. Linbarger, skidded while going around a corner, striking a pole which demolished the lamps and bent the mudguard.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Cottrell, of this city, left Saturday on the Olympic for England. A party of Plainfielders, including Mrs. Anna Southard, a niece; Mrs. William B. Mosher, Mrs. Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cooley and son, Mr. and Mrs. Leeke, went to New York, to see Mr. and Mrs. Cottrell sail.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

There seem to be a number of the leaders getting off to a bad start this year.

McGraw says that he considers the Yale team the best that that institution has had in years and that with a little more practise it will prove a very strong contender for the college championship.

Report has it that Frank Chance's old head trouble has returned and that he has played his last game. It's about as hard a thing for a player to come back in baseball as it is for a bankrupt peanut vender to get a job as a college president.

Connie Mack, in the last issue of the Saturday Evening Post, lays particular stress upon the value of the college man in the big leagues. He says, "In my judgment the college player has done a great deal to raise the moral standard of the national pastime and to make the game what it is today."

Hank O'Day seems to be proving as much of a success as a manager as he ever did as an umpire. The Reds cleaned up the first two games as a starter.

Old Sol was the joker on Saturday, every time you made up your mind to go out and see a game he would allow you to get a block or two on your way and then aim a generous sized raindrop at your nose. And then if you returned to the house he allowed you to get comfortably seated and opened a rift in the clouds and gave you the wink.

The following note was received by the head of a large firm, "Our hous tuk on fire las nite an i aint got no close to come to wurk in today i will git some more rite off." This was from the head office boy and mailed the morning of the league opening.

Princeton seems to have its usual good team.

Soccer is getting to be more and more popular each year with the colleges, and the games are beginning to draw good crowds too.

Jay Gould won the court tennis championship on Saturday for the seventh consecutive time.

Mike Murphy has entirely recovered his health and will start soon to train the Olympic athletes. It has been reported that Murphy's health would keep him from taking active part but this has been proven untrue.

All of the college crews are in the boat now having the finishing touches put on prior to the first races.

It tried very hard to keep the baseball season from cracking wide open Saturday.

Four weeks from last Saturday will see the six teams started off on the race for the Daily Press Cup.

When you take a look at that rejuvinated Boston team you cannot help but wonder whether they will not prove to be a dark horse in the National league pennant race.

M'GRAW RATES THE YALE TEAM ONE OF THE BEST

John J. McGraw, speaking of the Yale team in "The Yale Daily News," says:

"I consider this year's Yale team one of the best, if not the best, that the Giants have ever played. It shows far more promise than any nine of recent years, being in general well balanced and not weak in any department. It does, of course, need a lot more practice, but, in my opinion, will have very likely a successful season.

"I should say that Scott is one of the best pitchers Yale has had. His curves broke well, but the great thing which he now needs is slightly better control. The fact that he pitched nine full innings against our team shows clearly that he is a pitcher of more than ordinary ability, as never before in the games in which the two teams have played together has a Yale pitcher gone the whole distance. The catcher, too, I consider an exceptionally good man.

"The infield as a whole plays a more finished game than usual at this season. The men think quickly and in general handle the ball well. I should say that the second and third basemen will be the particular stars of the infield, Bennett showing up extremely well at second base."

HERBERT RANDOLPH HIGH GUN AT WATCHUNG SHOOT

The Watchung Gun Club held a successful shoot Saturday afternoon on the grounds of the Independent Gun Club on Maple avenue. Herbert Randolph made the high score for the day, 48 out of a possible 50. Other high scores were Clifford Manning 38 out of 50; P. Terry, 40 out of 50; J. Potts, 65 out of 75, and J. Terry, 35 out of 50. Another shoot will be held at the same place next Saturday afternoon. The following scores were made:

Herbert Randolph, 48 out of 50; Clifford Manning, 38 out of 50; P. Terry, 40 out of 50; J. Terry, 35 out of 50; J. Potts, 65 out of 75; Otto Rupert, 19 out of 25; Frank Sheppard, 15 out of 20; C. Clawson, 14 out of 15.

PLAINFIELD TO HAVE FAST SEMI-PRO NINE

Dorflinger to Organize Club With Old Favorites in the Batting Order

WILL PLAY SPEEDY TEAMS

Dave Driscoll in the Captain's Berth —Nelson Back on the Job Behind the Bat—First Game to Be Played on April 27.

After having been given the impression that there would be no representative team here this year, the fans received a surprise yesterday when they heard that Ernest Dorflinger, who managed the Plainfield team last year, would put a team upon the field again this year. Manager Dolflinger has been looking things over this spring and has come to the conclusion that the people of Plainfield are willing and anxious to support a good independent team. As Mr. Dorflinger is well-known to the fans in this city they feel sure that he means what he says when he tells them that he is going to give them the real article.

Dorflinger has succeeded in gathering in some of the old standbys who are not strangers to local field. He will have Dave Driscoll to captain his team and to play first base, with Walt Nelson to take care of the receiving end of the game. These two alone are sure to meet with the approval of the fans. Besides these men Stallings, Harter, Hartman and Cosgrove will wear the local uniform and show the way in their old places.

Dorflinger has promised to bring the fastest semi-professional teams in this part of the country to Plainfield, including the Lincoln Giants with Mendez as pitcher to start things off on the April 27. Following that game the Chatham team will visit the Oval on May 4 with the Philadelphia and Royal Giants and the McNulty Bros. to put up the argument at different dates later on. The Crescent Oval has been leased to Manager Dorflinger for three years assuring the team of suitable ground upon which to entertain the fans.

RUTGERS NINE DEFEATS TRINITY COLLEGE TEAM

New Brunswick, April 15.—By a score of 7 to 1 Rutgers defeated Trinity College here Saturday in an interesting baseball game. Dennis pitched a good game for the winners allowing only four hits. Warner, the Trinity twirler, was touched up for eleven bingles. Rutgers made three errors, none of which were very costly. The score:

Rutgers	0 2 0 1 0 1 1 2 x	7	11	3

Batteries—Rutgers, Dennis and Bowen; Trinity, Warner and L. Heaureau. Umpire Cox.

RAIN STOPPED GAMES IN PLAINFIELD SATURDAY.

The rain kept the people of Plainfield from seeing a game in the city on Saturday. The City High School game with Morris High, of New York, was called off in the morning owing to the threatening weather while the Borough High decided that the atmosphere was too cold and damp to mix it up with their alumni. The Leal's School team journeyed to Cranford where they played a game with the High School team there under adverse conditions, losing to a somewhat better team.

PLAN OLYMPIC TRIALS FOR THE ALL AROUNDS

Three Tests for Decathlon and Pentathlon Men to Be Held in May.

COMMITTEE'S WIDE POWERS

Need Not Select Team or any Athlete Who Wins in Tryouts—Contest for Athletes in Three Sections of the Country.

By TOMMY CLARK.

Tryouts for the Olympic Pentathlon and Decathlon competitions will be held in three sections of the country, in order to give the athletes of the Pacific coast, central west and east an opportunity of competing.

The team selection committee will be greatly influenced in the selection of the men for these events by the performances of those competing in the tryouts. These tryouts, however, will be merely guides, and the committee may select an athlete who was unable to compete in these tryouts if in the opinion of the committee this ability warrants it. The committee is not bound to select for the team every or any athlete who wins or competes in these tryouts.

The Pentathlon, the tryouts for which will be held May 18, comprises the running broad jump, throwing the javelin (with the javelin held in the middle), best hand; 200 meters flat, throwing the discus, best hand; 1,500 meters flat.

The Decathlon tryouts will take place May 24 and 25. This event is made up of 100 meters flat, running broad jump, putting the weight, best hand; running high jump, 400 meters flat, hurdle race, 110 meters, throwing the discus, best hand; pole jump, throwing the javelin (with the javelin held in the middle), best hand; 1,500 meters flat.

Like many other pugilists, Jim Flynn had his troubles. When the Pueblo champion started out, filled with big ideas of his ability, he was tempted to hike to Denver and fight Jack Lavelle.

"A sucker," Flynn was told, "so go easy with him."

"Well, to make him feel good," said Flynn, "I'll fight under the name of Young Gallagher."

On the fateful evening Flynn entered the ring and walked over to Lavelle's corner.

"Be game, kid," he advised. "I'll not hurt you."

Two rounds later Lavelle had crushed Flynn's jaw, blackened his eyes and forced the referee to order curtains.

Connie Mack says that McInnis, Collins, Baker and Barry comprise the best infield that ever played in the major leagues. Mack doesn't except the old Cub combination, Chance, Evers, Tinker and Steinfeldt, or Boston's once famous quartet, Tenney, Lowe, Long and Collins. He doesn't bar the old Baltimore infield, Doyle, Reitz, Jennings and McGraw, and says the great Chicago four, Anson, Pfeffer, Williamson and Burns, would not have classed with his bunch. Mack's contention, however, will cause a wide difference of opinion.

Eddie Collins of the Athletics declares that Walsh of the White Sox is one of the hardest pitchers to steal on. "Walsh has the most baffling motion and it's a difficult proposition to steal a good lead on him. When he is in the box only a few runners take a chance with him."

Ty Cobb, it is reported, tried for a job on a semiprofessional ball team when he was only thirteen years old. Ty didn't make such a hit when he began playing. It was his plugging that brought him to the front.

Bobby Wallace says it will be a relief to escape Lefty George's constant wink. The manager of the Browns says that Lefty would wink saucily every time they met. Aside from that Wallace had no grievances against George.

Harry Davis, manager of the Cleveland Blues, tacks a $15,000 price on Lefty George, the former Brown boxman. Davis is a pretty fair judge of ball material, but some fans think he is overestimating George.

LEAL'S SCHOOL FALLS BEFORE CRANFORD HIGH

The Leal's school baseball team took a trip to Cranford on Saturday afternoon in the face of rather discouraging weather conditions to try their luck with the strong high school team there. Cranford started in the second inning to make their visitors walk the line by putting four healthy runs across the pan.

The local team is composed of rather inexperienced players, six of those in Saturday's game playing in their second game, and it is not so surprising that the fast-going Cranford nine should rush them off their feet at first. As the game progressed Leals began to improve and demonstrated that with a little experience the chances are good for a fast little team at the Front street institution.

Toole, the Cranford pitcher, proved to be the same enigma to the Leals team that he has been to both the borough high and the Pingry school teams.

The teams lined up as follows:

Leals—Faber, c. f.; Foote, 3b; Dickerson, c.; Jewett, r. f.; Finch c. f.-p.; Dale, 1b.; Day, s. s.; Lee, p. or f.; Stewart, 2b.; Chester, c. f.

Cranford—Loderstedt, s. s.; Gilmore, 2b.; Toole, p.-s .s.; Bell, c. Hopkins, c .f.; Chamberlin, l. f.; Dresher, r. f.; Collis, 1b.; Jeanby, 3b

Score by innings:

Cranford	0	4	6	4	4	2	0	2	x	22
Leal's	0	0	1	1	4	0	0	0	0	6

STANFORD OARSMEN WIN PACIFIC COAST REGATTA

Oakland, Cal., April 15.—Stanford won the intercollegiate rowing championship of the Pacific Coast on the Estuary here today, crossing the line a half length ahead of the eight from the University of Washington. The University of California crew finished three lengths behind Washington.

The race was over a three-mile course. The time was 16 minutes 10 seconds.

CHICAGO COPPER A "HOPE."

Ephraim McGee Picked as Man to Defeat Jack Johnson.

The Chicago police department has thrown a "white hope" into the field and many of his fellow bluecoats believe he is the logical man to meet Jack Johnson.

His name is Ephraim McGee. He weighs 218 pounds and stands six feet six inches in height. He was amateur heavyweight champion of Canada for four years, but has not engaged in any professional contests. He is now training.

Hambletonian Blood Tells In Trotters.

How completely the Hambletonian family of trotters now overshadows all others is strikingly illustrated by the statistics of harness racing for 1911. Of the 1,938 horses that entered the 2:30 list last year, 1,712, or 88 per cent, are descendants of Hambletonian in the direct male line.

HAYES IN BERLIN MARATHON.

American to Compete Against Stars In German Capital May 26.

An international Marathon which Arthur Parent, the California promoter, planned to make an annual feature of the spring season at Monaco is to be held this year in Berlin.

Johnny Hayes, Pietro Dorando, Gusta Ljungstrom, Thure, the French champion, and Wada, a Japanese runner, are among the competitors. The date settled upon is May 26.

Red Sox Paid Fortune For Baseballs.

The Boston Americans spent $4,000 for baseballs last year, twice as much as any other club paid for cork centers. President McAleer has hired a corps of sleuths to trail foul balls over the grand stand and fences this season.

This Advertisement Is Aimed at the Chap Who Says: "Oh All Clothes Are Alike."

I want to ask him if all pianists are like Josef Hoffman; or if all cornetists are like Herbert Clarke; or if all "pickle-lo" players are like Mr. Heinz; or if all ball players are like Typhonius Cobb?

And I also want to know if all pianos are as good as a Steinway; or if all hats are as good as the Roelofs; or if all shirts are as good as the Arrow; or if all beer is as good as Schlitz?

If you think they are, then you'll probably continue to believe that all clothing is as good as ours.

But those men who use their domes know better. They know that wherever human work is in competition, there'll be a leader.

And if you don't realize this truth, then buy the best $20 suit you can find in town and then come here and see what you could have bought for $15.

There's no experience without pain.

A Bad Guess.

Representative Ralph W. Moss of Indiana hurried to Washington when congress started up and engaged comfortable living quarters before his wife arrived. She reached the capital some weeks later on a Saturday night. The next morning she said:

"Now, Ralph, we'll go to church, of course. Which church have you been attending?"

"Wh-er-uh, which one have I been attending, you say?" repeated the congressman. "Why, there's a mighty nice little church down here just a couple of blocks. It's such an easy walk that I've been going there rather than to some of the more fashionable churches."

"All right, if you feel at home there, that's where we'll go," said the congressman's wife. "We haven't much time, anyhow."

So they put on their things and went to the little church down the street.

When they got inside they made a startling discovery.

They were the only white people in the church.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The March of Men.

If you could cast away the pain,
The sorrows and the tears
And let the joys alone remain
From all departed years,
If you could quite forget the sighs
And recollect the song—
What think you? Would you be as wise,
As helpful or as strong?

If you could lay the burden down
That bows your head at whiles,
Shun everything that wears a frown
And live a life of smiles—
Be happy as a child again,
As free from thoughts of care—
Would you appear to other men
More noble or more fair?

Ah, no! A man should do his part
And carry all his load,
Rejoiced to share with every heart
The roughness of the road,
Not given to thinking overmuch
Of pains and griefs behind,
But glad to be in fullest touch
With all his humankind.

—Charles Buxton Going.

"Not In It" With Nat.

Mr. Goodwin was playing poker at the Lambs club. After various raises he was eventually called in one pot.

"Name your hand, Nat," said Willie Collier.

"I have four queens," said Mr. Goodwin.

"Wrong, Nat," said Mr. Collier. "You had four queens."

Which pointed reference to his matrimonial misadventures may have inspired this latest yarn, says the New York correspondent of the Cincinnati Times-Star. Mr. Goodwin was detected gazing passionately into the window of a florist's establishment when a friend came along the street. The friend paused at Mr. Goodwin's elbow. "Wonderful American Beauties in there, Nat," said the friend.

"Uh, huh," said Mr. Goodwin.

"I'm very fond of that flower," said the friend, "because I married an American beauty."

"You haven't anything on me," said Nat, turning sourly away. "I married a cluster."

Labouchere and the Bible.

One day a friend went into the office of London Truth and offered to bet Labouchere that he could name a book he had not got in the place. On inquiry this book was specified as the Bible. Labouchere offered to bet the man $50 that he had this book, and then deftly turned the conversation, writing meantime a note furtively to the clerk outside to go downstairs to the booksellers underneath and borrow a Bible. Later he returned to the subject of the bet and, calling the clerk in, bade him produce the book. He said afterward that he was afraid the boy hadn't cut the pages so as to prove it had been in use some time. This enhanced the joke, as no one in those days ever saw a Bible with the pages uncut.

Wasted Time.

John Sharp Williams, senator from Mississippi, was walking along the street with a constituent in a dry town.

"By the way," inquired Williams, all of a sudden, "would you care for a small drink?"

The man stopped right in the middle of the sidewalk and stared at him.

"Mr. Williams," he began, when he had recovered his speech, "they say you are a smart man. After you were graduated here you went and got yourself graduated at Heidelberg, over in Germany. But with all your education, you can ask more blamed fool questions than any man I know. Of course I'd like a little drink, but where can a man buy it down here?"

"I know where there's a limited amount of the stuff," replied Williams.

"Then, why didn't you tell me that in the first place," said the constituent, breathing normally again, "and not waste so much time with foolish questions?"—Fred C. Kelly, in Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Need For a Bishop.

There used to be a New Zealand newspaper, in which statements frequently appeared that were very, very far from the truth. Sir Joseph Ward met the editor one day.

"Have you a bishop on your staff?" he asked.

"A bishop!" the editor exclaimed. "No, I haven't."

"You ought to have one, you know," Sir Joseph said earnestly.

"But why on earth should I have a bishop?" asked the agitated editor.

"Because, my dear sir," Sir Joseph explained smoothly, "many of your newspaper's statements need confirmation so badly!"

RIGHT AND WRONG.

A Conflict of Authority Easily Settled by Speaker Reed.

By many observers Reed is now considered to have been the greatest man in congress at his time. Such is the opinion of James L. Slayden of Texas, who relates the following:

"It was when Reed was speaker and Bailey was minority leader," said the Texas congressman. "After one of the parliamentary battles and on one of the few occasions that it happened, Reed had been unquestionably wrong in his ruling, and Bailey had him in a tight place. Reed, in one of those clever little speeches from the chair for which he was famous, told the house that the speaker was but the servant of the house and not its master (which was not true in any particular when Reed was speaker, for he ruled the house as no other man has before or since), and wound up by saying that everything was within the power of the house; that if his ruling was wrong it was in the power of the house to reverse him by an appeal. One of his lieutenants, taking the cue, made the appeal. The Republican majority promptly sustained the speaker, as Reed knew it would.

"A few minutes afterward Fleming of Georgia, a very conscientious man, a strict and able parliamentarian, and myself happened to be at the speaker's desk together.

"'Mr. Speaker,' said Fleming, 'I think you were wrong in that ruling, and I have something here that I should like to read to you to prove my assertion.'

"'Read it,' said the speaker in a tone of condescension.

"Fleming read the paragraph, which showed conclusively that he was right and Reed was wrong.

"'What book is that?' abruptly asked Reed.

"'A book on parliamentary law by Thomas B. Reed,' replied Fleming.

"'The book's wrong,' sententiously remarked Reed."—Arthur W. Dunn in Washington Star.

Couldn't Help It.

Governor Yates attended an inauguration in Washington with his staff. They packed their uniforms, but concluded to ship no horses, relying on the stables of the capital.

While waiting to get in line an orderly would dash up to the governor at intervals with a message and was invariably accompanied by Louis Halle. After a while Yates said to Halle:

"Colonel, it isn't necessary for you to accompany the orderly on his errands."

"I know it, governor," returned Halle, "but this horse is the other half of the team."—Chicago Evening Post.

individual's name on it, on the bow of the boat, indicating temporary possession. A boarder who had made himself more than solid by his liberality made a complaint that all the boats were out but one, and he wanted to go fishing. At the time the landlord was trying to straighten out into packs a couple of hundred playing cards that had been huddled carelessly.

"Whose boat is it?" asked Cy.

"I don't know," said the boarder. "It has a nine of diamonds tacked on it."

"Take it," returned Cy. "Here's the ten."—Chicago Post.

Hill Wanted Terms.

One day, the story runs, when Jim Hill was going in the railroad business and the Great Northern was not the fine system it is today he was met in St. Paul by the head of a big steamboat company doing business on the great lakes.

"Jim," said the steamboat man, "I'll match one of my boats against one of your trains in a fair race for $1,000 a side."

Mr. Hill hesitated. "I don't know," said he, "some of your boats are pretty fast."

"I'll race you up stream," added the steamboat man as a further inducement.

"Oh," exclaimed the other in a disgusted tone, "if you're going to stick to the river then you might as well give up the notion of any race. I thought you meant you'd bring your boat out on the prairie alongside the track and give me some show."

—"Do you love me, darling?" she coaxed. "Sweetheart, I love every hair on your bureau!" he fervently answered.—Gargoyle.

NEW LEAGUE PILOTS EXPECT TO SUCCEED

EYES ARE CENTERED ON O'DAY

Baseball Fans Will Watch Work of Seven New Managers in Big Leagues.

Famous as an Umpire, His Success or Failure Will Decide the Prospects of Indicator Holders to Land Jobs as Leaders—Davis and Stahl.

Baseball fans will get a fine opportunity this year to decide the question of what preliminary training is best calculated to develop a successful manager.

Old ball players will tell you that it is the man rather than the training upon which the development of a manager depends. They will say that Connie Mack would have made a great manager if he had played the infield instead of catching in his younger days and that McGraw would be just as great if he had been a backstop instead of an infielder, and so on through the whole list of successful leaders.

Photos by American Press Association.

TWO NEW LEADERS WHO ARE EXPECTED TO MAKE GOOD.

The 1912 fans will watch the vicissitudes of seven teams under new leaders. The capacities in which these men worked in 1911 and their new charges are:

Manager, Clark Griffith, Washington Americans; field captain, Harry Davis, Cleveland Americans; umpire, Hank O'Day, Cincinnati Nationals; first baseman; Jake Stahl, Boston Americans; third baseman, Harry Wolverton, New York Americans; outfielder, Jimmy Callahan, Chicago Americans; catcher, Johnny Kling, Boston Nationals.

Of these Clark Griffith has had the most extensive experience as a manager, although Stahl and Callahan also have had big league managerial experience.

Griffith's material at Washington is not of the best except in a few spots, but it is believed he may make his team a genuine contender for the lower end of the first division.

Harry Davis will take charge of the Cleveland Americans, fresh from his lessons under Connie Mack. Davis during his service as field captain of the Athletics proved himself a capable lieutenant. He undoubtedly will inaugurate Connie Mack's methods at Cleveland in place of the Stovall methods used with such success last year.

Harry Wolverton has his work cut out for him with the New York Yanks. He has an aggregation of stellar ball tossers, but so had Griffith, Elberfeld, Stallings and Chase in previous years, and never has New York had an American league pennant. Wolverton knows the game from the inside out and last year received valuable experience as a minor league manager in the far west.

Johnny Kling carries with him the reputation of being the greatest "inside" player of any catcher in the game in recent years. Kling has a few stars and many poor players in the roster of his club. In event that he can mold a winning combination and give Boston a respectable position in the National league race this year all the credit must be given to Kling.

Hank O'Day, one of the quaintest characters that ever paraded a diamond, is one of the few umpires in the history of the game to become managers, and his work with the Cincinnati Nationals will accordingly be watched by fans throughout the country with keenest interest. O'Day's strength of will as an umpire may manifest itself in any one of half a dozen different plays in his new capacity. His success or failure in his new job will likely decide the prospects of other holders of the indicator to acquire managerial jobs.

Comes Back With Divorce.

Perth Amboy, April 15.—L. C. N. Brogger, Jr., a former resident of this city, who had been away nearly two years, came here with a Colorado divorce from his wife, Mrs. Catherine W. Brogger. Brogger served as county engineer of Middlesex for two years. Shortly after retiring from office, he left his wife and two little girls, and has since, a period of about five years, been in New York and other parts of the country. Mrs. Brogger secured indictments against her husband, charging him with abandonment and cruelty to her. She says she was served with papers in the divorce case four days before they were returnable in the courts of Denver in March. She made no defense, by advice of counsel, refusing to recognize the proceedings as affecting her in any way.

JERSEY PRISON JUST LIKE CLUB

That Is, to the Favored, It Is Said.

BOARD STARTS AN INQUIRY

Parole Bill, Which Has Just Passed Legislature Over the Governor's Veto, Said to Have Been Drawn by Forger Convict and Approved by Keeper.

Trenton, N. J., April 15.—Club privileges in the state prison have just come to the attention of the new board of inspectors, and the inquiry now started promises in the present week to disclose that the life of favored convicts has been made quite as pleasant for them as if they had been outside.

Reports say that they had been permitted to receive money in letters, in violation of the rules, and that messengers have been provided for them to buy dainties and table luxuries in the city markets.

The inspectors say they expect to fix responsibility within the prison for the recent enactment by the legislature, over the governor's veto, of a law to permit the parole of convicts who have served two-thirds of their terms. As first drawn this bill authorized parole after half a term had been served.

In that form Death, McAllister and Campbell, sentenced to thirty years for the murder of Jennie Bosschieter in Paterson, would have been on the parole list, their companion, Kerr, having recently been released after a term of fifteen years.

It is said that a forger whose term is half finished framed the bill, and that it had the approval of former Head Keeper George O. Osborne. If the law is not immediately repealed its constitutionality will be tested. Another charge that will be probed is that favored contractors have been permitted to make excessive use of prison labor.

DR. HIBBEN'S INAUGURATON.

Programme Announced For Ceremonies to Be Held on May 11.

Princeton, N. J., April 15.—Preliminary announcement of the program for the inauguration of Dr. John Grier Hibben as president of Princeton university, which is to take place on May 11, has been made by the committee in charge.

The ceremony will be held on the steps of Nassau hall and those connected with the university and guests will have seats on the campus. In case of bad weather the ceremony will be held in the hall.

The inauguration will begin at 11 o'clock and will consist of the singing of a chorale, the reading of the Scripture and the offering of prayer, the administration of the oath of office to the president of the university and the keys of Nassau hall, followed by his inaugural address, a hymn and the benediction.

At 1 o'clock the university will give a luncheon in the gymnasium for the guests and the alumni, for which all the congratulatory speeches will be reserved.

From 4 to 7 o'clock Dr. and Mrs. Hibben will receive at Prospect.

MOVING PICTURES IN CHURCH.

Montclair Pastor Puts Them on As Object Lesson to Town Council.

Montclair, N. J., April 15.—Moving pictures dealing with history, sociology, education, the drama and travel were shown in Unity church here, the exhibition being the first step in a movement which is intended to impress upon the public the value of the films as a form of amusement for those who are unable to afford expensive entertainment. Mrs. N. G. Dolese, in connection with exhibition, delivered a lecture on "The Education Value of Moving Pictures."

The effort to excite local interest in the movement to influence the town authorities to grant a permit for the conduct of a motion picture theater in Montclair was successful, for Unity church was crowded. The pastor, the Rev. Edgar S. Wiers, has repeatedly urged that the Montclair town council be petitioned to reconsider its refusal to grant permission to conduct a motion picture establishment here under proper management.

$10,000 Suit Against Policeman.

Hackensack, N. J., April 15.—John Sistara of Kingsland, through his counsel, Ward & Meginnis of Paterson, has instituted a suit against Policeman Michael J. McIntyre of that place to recover $10,000 damages for alleged clubbing at the hands of the policeman, the loss of some hair in the scrimmage, for false imprisonment lasting ten hours, and "humiliation in the presence of his friends."

Tries to Cheat Death Chair.

Trenton, N. J., April 15.—Henry Pulley, a Monmouth county negro, sentenced to die in the electric chair at the state prison early next month, slashed himself with a penknife in the stomach in the death house. Although his condition is serious, the prison authorities think he will recover. Pulley shot his wife at Long Branch last summer, after attempting to kill her alleged affinity.

The case was given to the jury on Saturday. Judge Amidon of the United States district court is presiding.

SUFFRAGE SPEAKERS ARE JEERED BY CROWD

Mob Tries to Attack Wife and Daughter of Condemned Man.

London, via Glace Bay, April 15.—The suffragette demonstration in Hyde park drew a crowd of the curious, most of whom appeared to be amusedly hostile. There were three platforms, from which speakers delivered addresses. The chief speakers were Sylvia Pankhurst, daughter of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, who is out on bail on a conspiracy charge and therefore could not attend, and a sister of Christabel Pankhurst, for whom the police are looking on a similar charge, and Colonel Arthur Lynch, M. P., who commanded the Second Irish brigade on the Boer side during the war in South Africa. The speech of Sylvia Pankhurst was interrupted continually by chaff, and she was greeted with persistent cries of "Where is Christabel?"

Colonel Lynch followed her, and he did not fare so well at the hands of the audience which had listened to Sylvia with some toleration. He was hooted and threatened with "rough house," and, after repeated attempts, gave up the task of speaking.

While the suffragette meeting was in progress, Mrs. Frederick H. Sedden, wife of the former insurance superintendent who is in Pentonville prison and who is to be hanged next Thursday for murder, tried to address a crowd in favor of a reprieve for her husband. The audience was distinctly hostile to the woman and also to her daughter, Maggie, and there was a great uproar which ended when the people tried to mob the woman. The police then interfered and escorted her out of the park, followed by hooting thousands.

FIND PARTS OF BIBLE.

Papyrus Volume Excavated In Egypt Most Important of Discoveries.

London, April 15.—The Times announces the discovery in Egypt of a papyrus volume containing the text of the greater part of Deuteronomy, the whole of Jonah and nearly all the Acts of the Apostles, which it describes as perhaps the most important find of all the excavations in Egypt.

The volume is written in the dialect of upper Egypt and comparison with other manuscripts indicates that it is far older than any complete manuscript heretofore found. It contains 103 leaves, 11 by 6 inches, but it probably contained originally 200 or more.

NEARLY A CLEAN SWEEP FOR T. R.

Majority 160,000 Over Taft In Pennsylvania.

GETS 70 OF 76 DELEGATES

Only One District West of Philadelphia Lines Up For President—Downfall of Senator Penrose, Taft Leader In State, Accomplished In Primaries.

PENNSYLVANIA PRIMARIES.

Fifty-eight Roosevelt delegates to Chicago were elected.

Probably six Taft delegates to Chicago were elected.

All Roosevelt delegates are instructed.

All Taft delegates are uninstructed.

The state convention will be absolutely controlled by Roosevelt men and will elect twelve delegates at large to Chicago.

Roosevelt's majority over Taft will probably reach 160,000.

Senator Boise Penrose, Taft leader, will be taken from the national committee and probably fail of reelection at the expiration of his term in the senate.

Philadelphia, April 15.—Latest returns from the Pennsylvania primaries of Saturday only serve to increase the size of the victory of Colonel Roosevelt over President Taft in the fight for delegates to the Chicago convention. Fairly complete returns show that, after the state convention, Roosevelt will have at least seventy delegates and Taft not more than six from this state.

The supporters of President Taft carried but one district west of Philadelphia, that comprising Lancaster county, where Mayor McLain has almost an unassailable organization. In Philadelphia the Taft supporters apparently carried the First, Second, Third and elected one delegate in the Fifth district. But in the First district State Senator Edwin S. Vare, the Republican organization leader, and his running mate as delegate, Receiver of Taxes Hugh Black, have announced that to their minds Colonel Roosevelt is the only Republican capable of saving the country to Republican rule. President of Select Council Ransley, who was elected as an uninstructed delegate in the Third district, has announced "as Senator Vare votes so do I."

Personal Popularity Won Here.

In the Fifth district in Philadelphia one Roosevelt delegate was elected and one apparent Taft man got through. C. A. Disston, the saw manufacturer, was swept into office on the Taft ticket through his popularity with his own employees.

The recapitulation shows that President Taft may count the vote of E. T. Stotesbury and John Wanamaker, who was elected in Third. C. A. Disston of the Fifth and William W. Geist and William H. Keller, the two delegates elected in the Lancaster district. This in the sum total of the Taft delegates unless complete returns make minor changes.

Not only have the Roosevelt followers swept the state for their delegates, but they have elected the majority of the 372 representatives to the state convention, which will elect twelve delegates at large to the national. Those twelve delegates are already counted for Roosevelt, but the state convention will have another and more potent effect upon Pennsylvania. It marks the passing of United States Senator Boise Penrose as a member of the national committee and many persons are predicting that it also marks the beginning of his exit from politics.

The End For Penrose.

In this same connection the twenty-five men nominated as candidates for the state senate, when elected, will hold over until the time comes for the selection of a successor of Senator Penrose. From late returns eighteen of these men are opposed to Senator Penrose and the ideas for which he stands.

Every man elected as a Roosevelt delegate went into the fight not only pledged, but instructed for Roosevelt. The alleged Taft delegates and those credited to Taft entered the battle without pledge and were elected uninstructed.

The complete vote of the state probably will show that the Roosevelt delegates polled 160,000 votes more than the Taft delegates.

There is but one section of the entire state where it is thought that the vote was personal for Roosevelt. The coal miners voted for him to a man, and with a suspension of operations at present they turned out heavily. In the other country districts the farmers were well organized as against machine rule. In Philadelphia the people simply did the same thing they did a year ago—overthrew the machine when they elected a reform mayor.

Senator Penrose is saying nothing. Early Saturday morning he went to Atlantic City and, within two hours after reaching there, had boarded his yacht and Sunday she pointed her nose seaward. He did not depart, however, until he got the late editions of the newspapers and read of the defeat of his machine.

Governor Woodrow Wilson will have the entire Democratic delegation, his nomination being practically uncontested.

Brass Beds Bright as Gold

Lacquer Absolutely Guaranteed for Five Years' Service
Every Bed in Our Stock Guaranteed Against Tarnishing

Until now the weak point about all brass beds has been the finish or lacquer. Many of the brass beds you have bought in the past have looked very nice, were bright and beautiful when first purchased; but it was only a matter of time until the accidental dropping of toilet water, perfume or moisture of any kind, or even rubbing, would damage the lacquer almost beyond repair, making the bed anything but an ornament to a beautiful boudoir.

Now comes a man with a lacquer that stands every test. It is the discovery or invention of Prof. Raikes, of London, and is baked on the bed at a temperature of 300 degrees, reducing the liquid to a crystalized covering.

Acids, ammonia, wood alcohol and salt solution, all very powerful, have no effect at all on this new finish. Drop any of these chemicals on a bed covered with any other lacquer and they will cut thru the finish and permanently destroy it.

Every bed in our stock is now covered with this perfect imported lacquer, which we GUARANTEE FOR FIVE YEARS, and if at the end of that period the finish has not proven all that we promise, you may have a new bed. Every bed has this guarantee stamped upon it.

Brass beds lacquered with any other material than this of Prof. Raikes may as well be thrown on the junk heap, for who will want them when they can get beds with this new guaranteed finish at prices no higher than beds covered in the ordinary way are selling for elsewhere?

WARNING NOTE SENT TO MADERO AND OROZCO

Mexico to be Held Responsible For Treatment of Americans.

Washington, April 15.—Demands for the protection and fair and civilized treatment of American citizens in Mexico were expressed in forceful and unmistakable terms in a note of warning sent by the state department to President Madero at Mexico City, and to Orozco, the rebel chieftain in the mountains of Chihuahua.

In the note the acting secretary of state calls Mexico's attention to the enormous property losses sustained by Americans in Mexico, as a result of the present disturbances, and emphasizes the brutal treatment and murder of American citizens—such treatment as does not characterize a civilized nation. President Madero is informed in plain terms that his government will be held responsible for the protection of Americans, and both federals and rebels are warned that they must recognize the military laws of civilized nations in their treatment of American prisoners of war and must give them fair trial instead of shooting them down.

The developments for the last few days, including the murder of Albert Fountain, an American who was captured while serving in a regular capacity in the federal army, the shooting up of trains and killing and injuring of American citizens, the rifling of United States mails and generally defiant and insulting attitude assumed by Orozco towards Americans and the American government because the belligerency of his movement has not been recognized, have brought the Mexican situation to a crisis so far as the Washington administration is concerned.

ALGER HOAGLAND BALKED AT BLOOD TIE, SAYS MISS PEER.

Dover, April 15.—A blood relationship between the two is the reason Miss Mary I. Peer says Alger Muir Hoagland gave for breaking his engagement to her as a sequel of which she has brought a suit for breach of promise against him, asking $10,000 damages.

Hoagland, who lives in Rockaway, and is in business in Newark, married Miss Sophie Mackenzie at the Hotel St. Regis, New York, Thursday night, and Friday was served with papers in the suit by Miss Peer's lawyers, Merrell, Van Dorn & Rubinger, of Manhattan. The plaintiff and Mr. Hoagland are said to be third cousins.

Miss Peer lives at 128 Pequannoc street, Dover.

"Mr. Hoagland was given ample time to spare himself the humiliation that he was forced to forego at the St. Regis Thursday night," said Miss Peer, Saturday. "Last April he promised to marry me the following month. We had known each other about a year prior to that date. I loved him and still love him. As a reason for not wanting to keep his promise he said we were blood relations, third cousins, and it would not do for us to marry."

SMALLER PAPER MONEY ADVOCATED BY MAC VEAGH.

Washington, April 15.—Secretary MacVeagh, of the Treasury, will recommend to Congress soon that the paper money of the United States be substantially reduced in size and every denomination made uniform in design.

It is contemplated to make all notes 6 by 2½ inches, a reduction of one-third in size, the present dimension being 7.28 and 3.04 inches. The proposed plan would reduce the number of designs for United States gold and silver certificates from nineteen to nine.

Mr. Mac Veagh estimates that the changes would result in a saving of $600,000 annually. He could make the innovations with respect to the United States notes and certificates without Congressional assent, but it requires legislative authority to change the design of the National banknotes. A uniform National banknote instead of the multiplicity of designs now in use by the 7,000 banks, will be proposed. The name or a number designating each individual bank, it is said, could be printed on the notes by a process separate from the engraving of the plate.

FUTURE PENNSY TRANSFER TO BE AT RAHWAY—MAY BE

Confirming persistent reports in circulation for more than a year, Robert J. DeLong, district passenger agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad, told the Newark Real Estate Board last week that the Manhattan transfer will be moved "westward"—probably to Rahway—sooner or later. He also referred to the extension of the company's electrical zone.

Four additional tracks as far as Trenton, or at least as far as New Brunswick, were mentioned by Mr. DeLong as being included in the contemplated extensions. He said further that if the city of Newark and the other municipalities through which the line passes would not block these improvements that the company would carry them out within five years.

Assignee Reports

Harry R. Cook, assignee of Henry C. Kirchhoff, of Dunellen, reported to Judge Daly in New Brunswick that he has in hand $1,256.44, the proceeds of the insolvent's estate; that the expenses of running the business had been $254.33, and the claims filed amounted to $977.39. He was allowed $100 fee and $50 was allowed to James Boyd Potter, counsel for the assignee.

Tracing Bogus Dollars.

Perth Amboy, April 15.—From a statement made by William Irving, the Paterson man arrested Friday on a charge of circulating bad silver dollars, the police and secret service men believe arrests will soon be made in New York. Irving was subjected to close questioning and finally was induced to talk. The authorities refused to give the substance of his admissions.

Levi Eichlin.

Glen Gardner, April 15.—Levi Eichlin, seventy-six years old, died at the home of his son-in-law, William Banghart. Death was caused by paralysis. Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning in Bloomsbury.

MISS BARTON NOT ENLISTED.

Therefore Famous Army Nurse Cannot Be Buried In National Cemetery.

Glen Echo, Md., April 15.—After short funeral services had been held here today the remains of Miss Clara Barton were started for Oxford, Mass., where they will be interred.

The body of Miss Barton could not be buried in Arlington National cemetery near Washington, D. C., much as her admirers wished, without a special act of congress. Friends who had started a movement for such a burial searched the war department records and could not find that Miss Barton ever had been enlisted as an army nurse. The law permits only such nurses to be buried at Arlington.

A Comical Comparison.

You know how it is when a man grows fat and rolls of fat at the back of his neck are sort of piled one above the other until stopped by the base of his skull. Well, a man with the rear of his neck disposed that way was sitting at the theater one evening in a seat just in front of one who isn't reverent.

The latter contemplated the exuberant layers of flesh surmounting the man's collar. Then, pointing to them, he remarked, sotto voce, to the companion beside him:

"Look at the plate of buckwheat cakes!"—New York Times.

A Spoiled Banquet.

An ambassador in Washington had arranged—the date happened to be Halloween—to give a dinner party to a body of traveling Siamese noblemen. Halloween duly arrived, the dinner was duly prepared, but none of the guests turned up. The ambassador was beside himself.

"A RATHER SUPERIOR LOT, SIR."

Finally, at 8:30, when all the food was about spoiled, he sent for his butler, a new and rather green hand.

"Wilkinson," he said, "is it possible that none of my guests have arrived?"

"Not one of 'em, sir," the butler answered. "This here ringin' of the bell ye may have heard, sir, has been the work of a cursed lot of Halloween masqueraders, all blackened up and dressed in yallers and reds and silks and satins, fit to kill—a rather superior lot, sir. They come in motors mostly. But of course, in view of the dinner party, sir, I turned 'em away, for all their protests, in short order."—Washington Star.

JURY'S VERDICT DIDN'T SUIT COURT; INCREASED.

New Brunswick, April 15.—After three attempts the jury in the suit of Contractor Thomas Redhing, of Perth Amboy, against Peter C. Juhl, of Staten Island, reached a verdict, and was discharged by Judge Frank Lloyd. The decision was for the plaintiff.

The suit was brought to recover $825 for the building of a race track sixteen years ago. The jury first gave a verdict for $825, of which $420 was for the claim and the balance interest. The court sent them back, stating that under the action brought the verdict would have to be for the full amount of the claim or for nothing. Then they returned with a verdict for $825 with interest. They were sent back once more to compute the interest. The third time the verdict for $1,556 was accepted.

The boy's mental condition was investigated into, and Captain Johnson took him to Morris Plains, where he was committed to the State Hospital for the Insane.

FORMER R. C. PRIEST BEFORE PRESBYTERY

Thomas Barbieri Examined for License as Preacher of the Calvinistic Doctrine.

WORKING IN BERNARDSVILLE

Rahway Pastor to Give Up the Pulpit For the Lecture Platform and Employment With a Camera-Making Firm On June 1.

The ninety-seventh stated meeting of the Presbytery of Elizabeth is being held today at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church. Practically every church in the Presbytery is represented. The morning session began at 10 o'clock, with Rev. Louis P. Crane, of Elizabeth, moderator, presiding. Rev. Samuel Parry, of Somerville, is the stated clerk and Rev. J. T. Kerr, of Elizabeth, the permanent clerk.

The principal business of the morning was the application of Rev. W. T. Stuchell, of the Second Presbyterian church, Rahway, for a dissolution of his relations as pastor of that church, and the examination of Thomas Barbieri, of Bernardsville, for licensure and ordination.

It is Mr. Stuchell's intention to join the Jersey City Presbytery. He has planned to go on the lecture platform for the next year or two, and he will be in the employ of a camera firm. He will make a study of political and social questions. He will continue to serve the church until June 1.

Later the examination of Mr. Barbieri was taken up. This was not finished when an adjournment was taken for lunch, which was served in the chapel by the women of the church. Mr. Barbieri was formerly a Catholic priest, and for some time he has been working among the Italians at Bernardsville and vicinity. His examination was continued this afternoon. He will be licensed to preach.

After the opening exercises, Rev. Herbert K. English, of Roselle, was elected moderator for the coming year, and Rev. W. B. Hamilton, of Elizabeth, was chosen clerk. The following were introduced to the Presbytery: Rev. Dr. Richard S. Campbell, of North Plainfield, a member of the New York Presbytery; Rev. Dr. E. G. Read, of this city; Rev. Peter K. REPUBLICANS ORGANIZE WILLIAM H. TAFT CLUB

Stirring Speeches Are Made by Representative Men--Eighty-Five Sign Roll--William N. Runyon Acts as Temporary Chairman.

Preliminary steps for the organization of a William H. Taft Club were taken last night when a large body of representative Republicans gathered at the Republican city committee headquarters for that purpose. The enthusiasm was marked and the prediction was made that within a fortnight the club would be thoroughly organized for aggressive work through the primary campaign.

Former State Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, who issued the call, occupied the chair and made a neat speech in which he dwelt upon Taft as a man and as the chief magistrate of the Nation. He was interrupted by applause frequently.

Former City Judge William N. Runyon was selected as temporary chairman. His nomination was made by Assemblyman George L. L. Babcock and was seconded by former Councilman Leslie M. Daniel. It had been expected that former President of the Common Council George P. Mellick would consent to fill this position and subsequently become president of the club, but it was learned late yesterday that Mr. Mellick was too engrossed with his business to give the time required although he made it known that he was "heart and soul" with the Taft movement. Martin B. Stutsman, a local lawyer, was named by former Assemblyman Roger F. Murray for the secretaryship and like Judge Runyon his selection was unanimous.

It was moved that a committee of eight, two for each ward, be named to plan ways and means to establish a permanent organization for the renomination and reelection of William Howard Taft to the Presidency. Chairman Runyon, accordingly, selected A. V. Heely, Henry Brower, Assistant Prosecutor Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., Charles S. Sminck, Thomas M. Day, Donald McGinnis and Dr. Charles B. Lufborrow.

A committee of three, Leslie M. Daniel, Corporation Counsel William M. Stillman and former Councilman William A. Garrigues, was named to draft the call, which provided for the committee of eight already named.

During the meeting brief but forceful speeches on the situation and the necessity of some good hard organized work for President Taft were made by Arthur L. Titsworth, George P. Mellick, Richard Boardman, Major Miller, Charles S. Sminck, former Councilman George H. Frost, Roger F. Murray, W. A. Garrigues and Rev. W. C. O'Donnell.

A meeting to effect organization will be held next Monday night, at which time officers will be chosen and constitution and by-laws adopted.

There were eighty-five present when the roll of charter membership was signed and each one subscribed his name. All told, there were 150 present but many left before the roll was signed.

The call and the signers follow:

We, the undersigned members of the Republican party in Plainfield, N. J., believing that the best interests of the party and the surest progress towards realizing the highest interests of the entire country will be conserved by the re-election of President Taft for another term of four years, do hereby determine to organize a Republican club in said city with the view of furthering his renomination and election and do hereby signify our desire and willingness by signing this paper to be and become members of such club; which club shall be more effectively organized upon the incoming of the report of the special committee duly appointed this night for such purpose:

Ernest R. Ackerman, George S. Clay, George P. Mellick, A. F. C. Brussel, William N. Runyon, William L. Stillman, Richard W. Osland, Martin B. Stutsman, Frederic H. Andrews, D. E. COUNCIL MOVES TO TAKE WATER PLANT Corporation Counsel Stillman and Water Counsel Wall to Begin Action.

CONDEMNATION PROCEEDINGS

Courts to Be Petitioned for Appointment of Commissioners to Appraise the Value of the Plant and Company's Appurtenances.

The Common Council at an adjourned meeting, last night, decided to continue with the condemnation proceedings in the matter of securing a municipal water plant, notwithstanding the recent adverse decision of the Attorney-General. Councilman F. E. Mygatt, chairman of the special water committee, introduced a resolution, which was adopted, authorizing Corporation Counsel William M. Stillman and the city's special water counsel, Albert C. Wall, to take steps in the condemnation proceedings.

This action means that the attorneys will present a petition to the courts asking that commissioners be appointed to appraise the value of the plant and appurtenances of the Plainfield-Union Water Supply Company.

According to Mr. Mygatt this is the proper course to follow. The city first having made the company an offer for its plant, which was refused, it will now seek acquisition of the plant through condemnation proceedings.

MAYOR OBJECTS TO A CITY AUDIT BILL OF $100 A DAY

Mayor G. W. V. Moy, at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, last night, returned without his approval the resolution authorizing the employment of Patterson, Dennis & Teale to audit the city's accounts for $1,500. He objected to the price, estimating that the firm would receive about $100 a day for its work, and this he considers exorbitant.

In refusing to approve the resolution, the Mayor says that he believes that the work can be done for less money and suggests that steps be taken to that end. The Mayor's veto was referred to the finance committee. Last year the accounting firm charged $1,800, but the work covered a period of eighteen months.

SNEAKTHIEF GETS INTO FIVE SOUTHSIDE HOUSES

The warm weather tempted residents in the neighborhood of Union street, Arlington avenue and Arlington place to leave windows open when they went to bed last night, and someone either found himself tempted by the open windows or went about with a professional eye acock for them.

Five houses in the neighborhood were entered by a sneak-thief, and in each case entrance was gained through a window left open. Not much loot was gathered. In E. F. Champlin's house, 948 Union street, an overcoat was taken; W. L. Case, 1142 Evergreen avenue, lost a coat and some food to which the thief helped himself; a gold watch and chain were taken from the residence of Thomas Maher, 122 Arlington avenue. The homes of James Cowin, 944 Arlington avenue, and George Mantz, 951 Union street, were entered, but yielded nothing to the marauder.

Freeholders Should Have Paid $700 City Expended, Says Corporation Counsel.

7TH ST. WANTS DUST LAID

Street Committee Holds Out No Hope of An Extension of De Kalb Avenue Over or Under Tracks at Present.

Corporation Counsel William M. Stillman, in a communication to the Common Council, last night, gave as his opinion that Union county should bear the election expense of about $700 which was paid by the city. This question was brought up at a recent meeting by Councliman F. L. Holt and upon his suggestion Mr. Stillman was requested to give an opinion. The bill will be sent to the Board of Freeholders.

Cornelius B. Tyler and other residents of West Seventh street, in a communication to the Common Council, last night, complained of the dusty condition of that thoroughfare and requested the city to relieve the condition by an application of oil. It was further complained that the city sprinkling wagon only made an occasional trip through the street and especially at this time of the year it is impossible to have the windows open because of the clouds of dust raised by automobiles, etc. Elizabeth Phillips and others petition to have oil spread on West Front street, between Clinton and DeKalb avenues. Both petitions were referred to the street committee.

Mr. Gloak presented maps, etc., for the proposed extension of the sanitary sewer in Netherwood avenue, and the usual two weeks notice was authorized published that the council would receive bids on Monday night, May 6, at 8 o'clock, for doing the work.

Notice was also given by Mr. Gloak hat on Monday night, May 6, a public hearing will be given on the proposed macadamizing of West Sixth street and the opening up of Essex street to Grant avenue; also the opening up of Bradford avenue from its present terminus to Clinton avenue.

The question of extending DeKalb avenue so as to cross the New Jersey Central tracks was referred to by Mr. Gloak, but he explained that the improvement would cost the city approximately $50,000 and it was not thought advisable. In this connection a letter was received from W. G. Besler, vice president and general manager of the railroad, in which he said that the company would be willing to co-operate with the city in such improvement under the usual conditions, that is to protect the company against all damages.

The petition of Patrick J. Boylan and others for sidewalks on West Sixth street, was filed, and Mr. Gloak explained that a car-load of oil for the streets had been ordered and as soon as it arrives the work of spreading it on the streets will be started.

866 RESCUED; 1,500 LOST WHEN TITANIC GOES DOWN; COL. ASTOR, ISIDOR STRAUS, MAJ. BUTT, W. T. STEAD GONE

CAPTAIN AND SHIP.

Captain Smith and the Titanic, Ill Fated Giant Liner.

LENGTH OF LINER FOUR CITY BLOCKS.

An idea of the immensity of the Titanic may be gained when it is known that in length she would stretch over four city blocks and would be considerably over 100 feet, standing on her end, higher than the tallest building in New York.

The vessel had accommodations for 3,500 passengers and carried a crew of 860. She was built in the river Laffan, at Belfast, and was launched May 31 of last year.

New York, April 16, 2:30 p. m.—That less than 900 of the passengers of the White Star Line steamer Titanic have been saved, following the sinking of the ship after collision with a great iceberg on Sunday night, is now known, as a result of wireless dispatches which have been received from various ships which went to the rescue. A message was received this afternoon from the Carpathia, which is the only vessel carrying survivors, and it was stated that after taking a careful census of the survivors on board, there were found to be 866 people, most of them women and children.

The Virginian and Parisian which hastened to the scene of the catastrope neither of them picked up any passengers, and both are proceeding on their interrupted journeys. The total loss will reach about 1,500.

Of the prominent people on board it is known that these are lost:

John Jacob Astor.
William T. Stead, the author.
Isadore Strauss, merchant.
Francis D. Millet, the artist.
James Clinton Smith.
Henry D. Harris, the theatrical man.
Colonel Archibald Butt, President Taft's aide.
John B. Cummings.
Jacques Futrelle, the French writer.
George D. Widener, magnate.

Colonel Archibald Gracie, Henry S. Harper and wife and Mrs. John B. Cummings are among those thought to be saved.

The accident was the greatest marine disaster known to the world. It is still thought that the boat hit an iceberg, as no report to the contrary has been received from the survivors.

It is highly probable that the list of the Titanic's victims include J. H. Loring, of London, who was on his way to this city to visit his uncle, C. Wesley Holland, of West Seventh street. Mr. Loring was a former resident of New York, but for several years has been living in England.

Mr. Loring's parents are New York people and because they are now in California, he had planned to come straight to Plainfield to remain at Mr. Holland's home until their return from the Pacific Coast. He was making the trip alone, leaving his wife and two chilrden in London.

A telephone message received by Mrs. Holland from her husband at noon, stated that a few survivors' names had been announced on the New York bulletins, but his nephew's was not among them.

Samuel Herman, Jane Herman, his wife, and their two daughters, who were among the Titanic's passengers, were on their way to Bernardsville, where Mr. Herman was to take a position with W. C. Ludlow, a butcher in that town. Mrs. Herman is a sister of Mrs. Albert Laver, wife of the steward of the Somerset County Country Club.

Other New Jersey people on the boat were Mr. and Mrs. C. E. H. Stengle, of Newark; W. A. Roebling, 2nd, of Trenton; Mrs. A. T. Compton, Miss Compton and A. T. Compton, Jr., of Lakewood, and W. A. Walker, master of the Hope Lodge, F. and A. M., of East Orange.

On her maiden trip, the Titanic, built and equipped at a cost of $10,000,000, a floating palace, found her graveyard. Swinging from the westerly steamship lane to south of the Grand Banks of Newfoundland to take the direct run to this port, she hurled her giant bulk against an iceberg that rose from an immense field, drifting unseasonably from the Arctic. Running at high speed into the huge obstacle, the shock crushed her bow. Through rent plates and timbers water rushed swiftly.

Bridge Over Hudson.

Trenton, April 16 (Special).—Governor Wilson yesterday afternoon named the commission under the Martin resolution to investigate the project of building a bridge over the Hudson River at Jersey City. Those appointed were: Victor L. Mason, of Passaic county; W. H. Noyes, of Bergen county, and George Lihouze, DeWitt VanBuskirk and J. Hollis Wells, of Hudson county. Mr. Mason and Mr. Noyes served on the former commission for the same purpose. The commission is to work in conjunction with a New York commission.

STATE BOARD HOLDING UP SEWER APPROVAL

Significantly Suggests to Counsel That Piscataway's Consent Would Be Good Thing

COUNCILMEN ARE HOPEFUL

Think Township May Be Induced to Give Consent, Although Counsel Has Already Said It Will Fight Every Effort to Enter.

The Common Council received a communication from the State Board of Health at an adjourned meeting last night, in which attention was called to the fact that the city, in its move to locate a sewage disposal works on the Darling farm in Piscataway township, had not secured the consent of the township to enter that municipality.

It was suggested by the State Board of Health that such consent, if possible, be obtained; also that the second plans of the city which provide for enlarging the city's present sewage beds be withdrawn, if it is the intention to build a sewage plant in Piscataway township. Both of these communications were referred to the special sewage committee.

Following the meeting the councilmen held a conference in the committee room with representatives from Dunellen, those present from that borough being Mayor Charles E. Richards, Dr. J. F. Hogan, L. T. Churchill, Wilson Frederick and Charles F. Starker. All the members of the Plainfield Council were present except P. J. Reville and John E. Dunn.

There was a discussion of the question of securing the consent of Piscataway township to establish a sewage disposal plant on the Darling farm. It was stated that no assurances had been given that it would be possible to obtain such consent, but all the conferees felt hopeful and it was agreed that steps should be taken in that direction.

William A. Coddington, counsel for Piscataway township, recently entered a protest for Piscataway against the proposed plant on the Darling farm and stated that every effort would be made to defeat efforts to locate sewage disposal works in the township. Notwithstanding that an effort will be made to secure the township's consent, and the conference will be continued tonight in the committee room, when there will be further consideration of the subject.

PARK GOLF CLUB RAISES DUES TWENTY PER CENT

Officers were elected and reports presented at the annual meeting of the Park Golf Club last night. The principal business was the adoption of a new constitution embodying a budget system and an increase of 20 per cent. in the dues of all classes of members. Heretofore, non-resident guests could be introduced not oftener than one day a month, but under the new rules this is restricted to not more than four times a year. It was also decided to increase the number of trustees from seven to nine.

The present membership of the club is 148, a gain of 18 over last year. The prospects for a good season are bright, and the active competitions will begin in about two weeks. The committees will be named soon. These officers were elected for the year:

President, Charles W. McCutchen; vice-president, James C. Peck; secretary-treasurer, Charles B. Morse; trustees, Alexander Gilbert, Miss Lydia Loizeaux, Dr. H. K. Carroll, S. St. John McCutchen, H. L. Moodey and John V. Beekman.

Watchung Firemen to Dance.

The Watchung fire department will hold its first annual ball tonight in Sebring's Auditorium. The department has invited the fire companies from the surrounding towns, and preparations have been made to entertain a large number of people. Charles P. Sebring at a considerable expense has decorated his auditorium appropriately. Assemblyman W. deLaR. Anderson will accompany the Watchung firemen and will make an address.

Auto Hits Buggy.

An automobile owned and driven by E. W. Poinier, of East Second street, ran into a buggy driven by Mrs. H. C. Drake, of North avenue, at Second street and Watchung avenue Saturday, and badly damaged the carriage. Mrs. Drake was thrown from the buggy and bruised. Mr. Poinier took her to the office of Dr. N. W. Probasco in his car.

DUNELLEN CATHOLICS TRYING TO RAISE $30,000 FOR CHURCH

The Rev. E. J. Dunphy, pastor of St. John's church, Dunellen, has opened a subscription list for his parishioners so that money may be raised for the building of a new church. According to the plans the new church will cost in the neighborhood of $30,000.

The present church now seats about 200 while the new church will seat nearly three times that many. It is hoped that within a short time one-third of the amount will have been raised so that work may be started.

The Holy Name Society at a meeting yesterday voted to donate $50 to the subscription list.

Hospital Consents to Have Camp Continued On Its Grounds—Delegates Named for State Society's Convention.

When the executive committee of the Anti-Tuberculosis League met last night in the Babcock building, Secretary Du Bois read a letter from the governors of Muhlenberg hospital granting the league permission to continue the Tuberculosis camp on the institution's grounds. A report was also read from the Nursing Bureau which gave the number of tuberculosis patients treated during the month as twenty-seven.

Mrs. S. B. Joost, chairman of the visiting committee, sent in a report stating that there were seventeen families being visited by her committee and that the tuberculosis class had had an aggregate attendance of sixty-eight. The supply of cod liver oil has given out and the committee has no funds to purchase this necessity. Another need of the committee is for about $25 to beautify the lawn and make flower gardens at the camp. Contributions of pansies and hardy plants would be very welcome. One of the patients is painting and renewing the furniture and floors and it is hoped that the general appearance of the camp will be greatly improved.

The sixth annual meeting of the New Jersey Society for the Prevention and Relief of Tuberculosis will take place in Newark on Thursday afternoon, May 23, at 3:30, in the rooms of the Public Library. Mrs. Florence Kelly, of New York, will speak on "Tuberculosis in Its Relation to Industry." At the request of the State Secretary, President Tyler appointed three delegates for this meeting, all of whom promised to attend. These delegates are: Dr. Corbusier, Mrs. Cowperthwait and Miss Phillips.

J. P. Murray reported that the treasury is at a low ebb, there being only $203 on hand and outstanding bills for about $50. There are a number of unpaid $1 subscriptions and subscribers are urged to pay these promptly.

Judge William Newcorn read a preliminary report from the survey committee. This committee has had a meeting in conjunction with the president of the local Board of Health and recommendations formed at that time were not discussed, as further details are to be given at the May meeting.

Dr. Hughes gave an account of affairs at the camp where everything is prospering. One little boy has been ill with pleurisy and is greatly in need of toys and games. Jig saw puzzles would be very welcome. Dr. Hughes is placing an extra cot for a patient as it seems necessary to accept a little boy and there is no empty bed for him.

Miss Phillips reported for the publicity committee that a mass meeting with motion pictures is being planned to be held at the Y. M. C. A. hall late in May. There will be a speaker from New York who will talk on "Open Air Schools," and plans will be made for a large attendance.

UNION CO. SENATOR RAPS WILSON VETO

Author of Grade Crossing Bill Frames "Deadly Parallel" at Governor's Expense.

QUOTES STATE EXECUTIVE

Carlton B. Pierce Believes that Woodrow Wilson Was Inconsistent In His Objections to the Measure —His Statement.

Senator Carlton B. Pierce, of Union, the author of the grade crossing elimination bill vetoed by Governor Wilson on the ground that the expense it imposed on the railroads was too great, issued a statement yesterday.

Here is what Governor Wilson said concerning grade crossings October 19 last, at Elizabeth, where the grade crossings are a burning issue:

"Now, I know some of you are concerned as to who is going to pay for this. The Public Utilities Commission has no power and so far as the men in my councils are concerned, there is no purpose to give it the power to impose expenses upon any municipality.

"Those who try to deceive you in this matter are proposing something that the Democratic platform does not propose. It does not propose to give the Public Utilities Commission the right to saddle these expenses upon the municipality."

Here is what Governor Wilson said in his veto message of the grade crossing bill received by the Legislature last week:

"What is needed is an enlargement of the powers of the Board of Public Utilities Commissioners. The law could easily establish a principle by which it might be determined when it was equitable that the several communities affected should participate in the expense, and to what extent, if any, they should participate. In this way all the results that could possibly be attained by the present bill would be attained without the risk and perhaps the discouragement and discredit of attempting a thing in itself inequitable and impracticable."

The veto message directly advocates the placing of the right in the Public Utilities Commission to saddle part of the expense on the municipalities.

"By vetoing the grade crossing bill," says Senator Pierce, "Governor Wilson has done all that lies in his power to destroy the effort of the Legislature to compel the railroads to fulfill their charter obligations.

"The bill is drawn upon the lines of the Connecticut law, which has been in successful operation since 1888, and was reenacted last year by the Connecticut Legislature, amended in its mandatory clause to secure a more rapid rate of yearly progress.

"The bill meets the Democratic pledge by placing the subject completely in the hands of the Utilities Board. It meets the Republican pledge by providing that the elimination shall be gradual, at railroad expense, in the order of necessity and at a reasonable yearly rate of progress."

STATE CHAIRMEN'S LISTS OF DELEGATES TENTATIVE

Trenton, April 16.—United States Senator Frank O. Briggs, chairman of the Republican State Committee, and Edward E. Grosscup, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, filed with the Secretary of State yesterday afternoon their respective certificates of the number of delegates and alternates to be chosen by the two parties to the National Conventions to nominate candidates for President and Vice President. The Geran election law requires that such certificates be filed on or before April 15 in a Presidential year.

The situation this year is a curious one because the Congressional redistricting bill has not been enacted and hence neither State chairman could certificate to the exact number of delegates to be chosen. The certificate of Senator Briggs named four delegates-at-large, four alternate delegates-at-large and two delegates and two alternates "from each Congressional district," without specifying the number of Congressional districts.

Chairman Grosscup certified to four delegates-at-large, four alternate delegates-at-large and two delegates and two alternates from each Congressional district. The certificate contained a reservation that in the even that no redistricting law were enacted then additional delegates-at-large and alternates-at-large would be chosen for the two additional Congressmen to which New Jersey is entitled.

On or before April 20 Secretary of State Crater must certify to each county clerk the number of delegates and alternates to be chosen by each party in each Congressional district and the number of delegates-at-large and alternates-at-large to be selected. Each county clerk must forward to each municipal clerk in his county on or before May 8 a statement of the persons whose names are to be printed on the primary ticket of each party as candidates for the position of delegates and alternates. Then the municipal clerks must have the proper ballots printed for the election May 28.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

Miss Ada Meade, who comes to The Plainfield theatre Friday night, April 19, as prima donna in "Madame Sherry," has appeared in very few plays on tour previous to her present engagement. Miss Meade in recent years appeared with Miss Fritzi Scheff and alternated with the latter. For two seasons she played prima donna roles for the Aborn Opera Co. She is under a three-year contract with her present managers and later is to appear in a new play. Miss Meade devotes her spare time to study and has an offer to go in grand opera, which she will most likely accept at the termination of her present contract. The title "Madame Sherry" has become so famous that the firm of Frazee & Lederer has been besieged by manufacturers for permission to use it. One New York firm proposes to name a new gown "Madame Sherry."

HEAVY LOSS IN BLAZE AT MEADOW BROOK FARM.

Bernardsville, April 16.—Fire destroyed the barns and dairy of the Meadow Brook Farm, owned by Richard V. Lindabury, head of a Newark law firm. It was the third fire to afflict the place in the last few years. The loss is estimated to exceed $30,000.

The blaze started in the main farm barn. The Far Hills and Peapack Valley fire companies were called to aid the local organization. The three were able to save adjoining buildings, including garages. With the buildings much hay, grain and machinery were destroyed.

Fined For Insolence.

Perth Amboy, April 16.—It cost Samuel Goodman, driver of an automobile moving van, from Bayonne, $5 to abuse a Perth Amboy policeman. Patrolman Nels Tonneson warned Goodman against violating the local traffic ordinance. An hour later Goodman lost control of the machine as he approached the Staten Island ferry slip at the foot of Smith street and it ran up on the sidewalk and against the house of Joseph McLaughlin. Tonneson saw the accident and told Goodman to see McLaughlin and settle for the damage. Goodman refused to do that, and Tonneson insisted. McLaughlin appeared and refused to make any charge for the damage done. Goodman thought he was free and he expressed his opinion of the policeman. Tonneson then arrested him for the traffic ordinance violation earlier in the day, and Recorder H. W. Kehoe fined him.

THE "EROICA" SYMPHONY.

Beethoven's Passion When Napoleon Became Emperor.

Even when political capital was not to be made of it, the favor of kings and courtiers was, prior to the middle of the nineteenth century, sought by the artists in various fields of activity, who were generally dependent for their position upon those high in political life, and even the most uncompromising among them found it expedient to play polite politics in the interest of their art by dedicating the choicest of their works to noble patrons.

The most notable example of a masterwork with a political origin is Beethoven's "Eroica" symphony. General Bernadotte during his residence in Vienna in 1798 as ambassador from the French nation suggested to Beethoven the composition of a symphony in honor of Napoleon. At that time Napoleon was looked upon as the champion of freedom, the savior of his country, the embodiment of republican ideals, with which Beethoven was in thorough sympathy, and he willingly accepted the proposal. Before the symphony was published Napoleon became emperor, and when the news reached Vienna Beethoven was violently angered. 'After all, then, he is nothing but an ordinary mortal! He will trample all the rights of men under foot to indulge his ambition and become a greater tyrant than any one!"

With these words he seized the music, tore the title page in half and threw it on the ground. He never again referred to the connection between his work and Napoleon until news of the latter's death reached him. Then he said, "I have already composed the proper music for that catastrophe," meaning, of course, the funeral march. But the whole symphony, with its essentially revolutionary character, is a musical portrait of Napoleon as Beethoven idealized him. —Bookman.

IRON TONIC FOR TREES.

Plant Nails Among the Roots and a Vigorous Growth Results.

A dozen large nails planted among the roots of a tree assure the tree of health, because the vegetable saps cause the oxidation of the iron and the sap carries ferruginous salts through all the living cells and circulation vessels.

Not many years ago one of the sights of a certain French cemetery was a tree, half green, half rust colored, luxuriantly leaved upon both sides and in flourishing condition. When the tree died and preparations were made for an examination of its roots it was almost impossible to exhume it. When all the ground around it was loosened and the roots were exposed it was found that the tree when a sappling had clasped its young roots around the baste of an iron balustrade encircling a tomb. The roots of the tree had run in and out between the iron bars of the fence. Exactly half of the tree had come in contact with the iron, and that half put forth a growth luxuriantly leaved in rusty brown. The half that had not touched the iron developed a growth of normal coloring. The tree as a whole was a fine specimen of healthy vegetable growth, but the side impregnated by iron far exceeded the green side in its output of vigorous leafage.

Sulphate of iron is of little value when sprinkled on the leaves of a sick tree, but powdered iron has a marvelous effect when introduced into the tissues by means of holes bored in the trunk. The holes must be filled with the powder and then corked with wooden plugs and well puttied over and around the plugs, so that none of the tonic can escape. To do its work the iron must be carried through the tree in the circulation of the sap.—Harper's.

The Crew of Columbus.

The list of the officers and sailors in the first voyage of Columbus was almost cosmopolitan in its character. Among them there was a Jew, Luis de Torres; an Irishman from Galway, Ireland, William Harris; an Englishman, Arthur Laws; Italians, Portuguese, Spaniards and several other nationalities, though, of course, the Spaniards were largely in the majority. It is maintained by some authorities, with considerable plausibility, too, that there was a Scotchman in the list and that after Columbus himself he was the first man to tread the soil of the new world.—Exchange.

Old Laws of Scotland.

On the statute book of Scotland is still an act passed in 1825 ordering that "na man play futeball," because it is "esteemed to be unprofitable sport for the common gude of the realme and defense thereof." There is also a statute against alien immigration, passed in 1426, and authorizing "all his majesty's subjects" to "take, apprehend, imprison and execute to death the said Egiptians (gypsies), either men or women."

His Experience.

"They say Cashit, who has become the social magnate of the town, was once an elevator boy."

"Ah, that accounts for it."

"Accounts for what?"

"His faculty for taking some people up and for taking others down."—Chicago News.

Countess of Warwick

LADY FRANCES EVELYN, countess of Warwick, who is at present making a lecture tour of various cities in the United States and Canada, is a most interesting person. Fifty years old, she looks at least ten years younger. Her hair is white, her nose beautifully chiseled, and her eyes show no wrinkles.

The countess' answer to a question as to how she keeps so young was a declaration that she believed in throwing away the calendar. "I wish we had no calendars," she said. "This thing of counting the years causes old age."

Lady Warwick is sometimes called the "radical countess." It was in 1890 that she startled all England by announcing that she had been converted not only from Toryism to Liberalism, but to socialism. She was Lady Brooke until her husband succeeded to the earldom in 1893. She is the daughter of the late Colonel Henry Maynard, a son of Viscount Maynard. She was presented at court in 1880 and on account of her great beauty at once attracted attention. She married Lord Brooke in 1881. She took a leading place in London society and was singled out by the then Prince of Wales, later King Edward, and she became prominent through his friendship.

The countess has always objected to the recurrence of the story that she was called "Babbling Brooke" in London society because of the revelation of the baccarat scandal at Tranby Croft. A nobleman was accused of cheating at baccarat, and it was rumored that he promised never to touch a card again if the company would keep the affair a secret. It has always been held that the countess, then Lady Brooke, made a taunting remark to the nobleman which showed the Prince of Wales had broken his word.

Although the countess talks freely of socialism in private interviews, she is not touching the subject in her public addresses, which are chiefly confined to her personal recollections of famous men. She says she is a Socialist because the present conditions of life are absolutely hopeless for the many.

Another subject in which the countess believes, but which is also omitted from her lectures, is suffrage for women. She declared that there was something more than the mere privilege of voting back of the fight that Englishwomen are making for the ballot. "The ballot itself means nothing," she said. "What prompts the fight for the ballot in England and America is a fight for real independence, a fight women are making and which eventually they will win, because woman, given economic independence plus the ballot, will then be started on the road toward her right to exact a recognition of the fact that she is entitled to the same freedom that men have long enjoyed and which they claim exclusively.

"Women forever have been held down by the man imposed rules of so called morality (and morals have nothing to do with the subject), and now they are revolting. The fight for the ballot is one manifestation of the revolution. I believe England, your own country, every country, is on the eve of revolution. I don't mean by that revolution with violence. Perhaps evolution is a better word than revolution."

Two of the good things that she hoped women could accomplish were the abolition of child labor and war. With more power and more interest they would do these things, she said, "for women usually get what they want."

The countess told of the friendships between political opponents in England, of Mr. Balfour teaching Mr. Asquith how to ride a bicycle in the courtyard of Warwick castle, and how one afternoon long ago she went to tea in Arlington street and found Lord Salisbury nursing a toothache. Mr. Gladstone was there, too, and would not rest until he had gone out to a chemist's for a bottle of toothache medicine which he insisted on applying to Lord Salisbury's face himself.

PRIMARY SCHOOL TEACHERS.

In these columns some days ago, a contributing editor referred to the apparent ungratefulness of a goodly proportion of the people to retiring officials who have rendered excellent service. Whether this view be warranted, certain it is that the public does show a lack of appreciation of the school teacher's labors. It may be admitted that the average high school teacher comes in for some share of credit because for some reason he or she figures more conspicuously, but that can not be said of the pedagogues in the primary and grammar grades, the ones who in the days when fads and fancies in free education did not befuddle the mind of the youth to the sacrifice of the "Three R's." In those days the "Three R's" were not neglected for the teachers cherished the belief that the fundamental purpose of a free education was to inculcate in the child's mind rudimentary education. The public schools were not then looked upon as a sort of preparatory school for a college course where children were rushed through to the high school grade before they had mastered "readin', 'ritin an' 'rithmetic." Then, as now, the majority of pupils left school to go to work as soon as they had passed through the grammar grade and then the teachers saw that their charges had a thorough knowledge of the rudiments.

We are getting away from our subject; what we wanted to bring to mind was the lack of appreciation of the primary school teacher. Over the New York Sun, a day or two ago, painted a splendid picture. The Philadelphia Record was prompted to reprint the editorial in its own columns with its "most hearty endorsement." And here is what the Sun said:

"There is, we believe, no other civil profession so vital to the State, so far reaching in its influence, so wearing to the nerves, the temper and the health of its practitioners and so persistently underpaid and undervalued as that of the primary teacher. These elementary schools are the university of the majority; and the rougher schooling of the world is all that most of us can add to their teachings. There the indispensable and invaluable foundations are laid; small enough they may look, well laid are great enough; to our mind greater and more imposing in their simplicity and necessity than all the superstructure that may rise upon them.

When Julia Clark began teaching, she says, she taught mostly "the three Rs," and she taught them well. They are enough. We might say they are all. Sometimes it seems as if "the wiser youngsters of today," more favored or more unfortunate in the number of things learned or supposed to be learned at school, are all too weak in that triple alliance. All branches and no tree.

"Be that as it may, we wish to salute this veteran soldier of education who has just laid down her arms, and through her all that mighty, that obscure, that laborious and glorious army of school teachers. "Great captains with their trumpets and drums" deafen the air. A thousand kinds of gross material success, a thousand noisy fames are but bubbles and bunco to the philosophic mind. The makers of the nation, the creators of the people, the rulers of the future are these unknown and unregarded school teachers.

THE TITANIC DISASTER.

Never in the history of the merchant marine has there been a disaster aproaching in magnitude that which occurred when the new queen of the ocean transportation service, the Titanic, ran afoul of an iceberg and went to the bottom with nearly 1,500 precious lives. It is no time to talk of the millions of dollars loss, represented by the giantess of the seas and her great cargo of freight. It is a great calamity; a calamity because hundreds of human beings, "in the twinkling of an eye," as it were, found that this superb ocean-liner making its maiden trip was their coffin. The humble and the mighty alike were ushered into eternity without a moment's preparation to meet their God. That there were hundreds of heroes on that ill-fated ship, who resigned themselves like true men, as they saw the women and children put aboard the life boats and as they felt the big boat sinking into the deep, there can be no doubt. Even the comfort to be obtained by the grieving relatives as to how nobly these unfortunate hundreds faced death is denied to them. But thus are the words of Good Book fulfilled, "In the midst of life we are in death."

"See," said a man as he glanced at a monring paper, "you can't believe what you read in the newspapers; the afternoon papers said no lives were lost." That man was but one of millions probably who held to the same belief and expressed the same opinion. Not for one moment did he consider that the news as published yesterday was obtained from the wireless stations, the Titanic's owners and other supposedly reliable sources of information. The papers simply reported what had been learned. The same thing happens every day. Take for instance the weather forecasts. If it rains when clear weather is predicted, ill-informed ones are convinced that newspapers are not to be believed. They do not reflect that the weather news is furnished to the newspapers by the government and that the newspapers simply report what is supplied them. Newspapers have their faults just as other human institutions do, but the public is too often eager to discredit them undeservedly.

Chances are that the Titanic did not run into an iceberg as described in the wireless reports which give the impression that the giant boat struck that part of such a floating mass of ice above the water line. In the first place an iceberg stretches out under the water level for a far greater length than its own height above water. If the ship did actually come in contact with a mass of ice it was undoubtedly hit below the water line. Another strange thing about the early reports is that there is no accounting why the officers on the bridge did not note the steady and remarkable drop in temperature when an iceberg came within a few miles of the vessel or even why the officers on watch did not actually see the ice.

GIVES A RECEIPT FOR A LONG LIFE

Editor Howard A. Colby Tells How to Dodge the Undertaker.

HE PREACHES "NEW THOUGHT"

"We Perceive That There Are Mental Laws That Give Man Dominion Over Mind and Body," He Declares.

Howard A. Colby, of Evergreen avenue, a brother of former State Senator Everett Colby, in the current issue of the Self-Master, a magazine of which he is associate editor, gives his receipt for a long life. "How to Dodge the Undertaker," and this is what he has to say:

Those who have eyes to see "the real things of life" and those who have ears to hear "the real things," are not waiting to see a Methuselah hop-skip a rope in order to believe we can dodge the undertaker.

They know that the great Master mind of two thousand years ago showed the way to life more abundant, right here and now, and that the body is transformed by the renewing of the mind.

They see the principle of perpetual life as clearly as the Wright Brothers saw the principle of flight long before their demonstration. That Abraham is dead and all the prophets and others are still going to die does not shake their faith, for they do not judge by appearances but keep the eye persistently single on the principle and that principle is this: That "As a man thinketh in his heart so is he;" or, as the science of today expresses it, "As a man thinketh in his sub-conscious mind so will it be unto him." That the sub-conscious mind is the builder or destroyer of the body, and that this mind is dominated by persistent suggestion is today an established fact, and the most useful discovery of the new psychology. In fact, this is the key to rejuvenation. This is the law—that whatever a man believes deep down in his sub-conscious mind will manifest itself in the body when the law has had time to work itself out. What is the belief of the mass of humanity today? They believe with such persistency that the individual is inevitably subject to sickness, disease and death, that they laugh the new thoughters to scorn. And why this deep-rooted belief? It is this. We have been decoyed by appearances, we have believed because Abraham is dead and everyone has died and that all forms are subject to disintegration, so it must be unto us. But now there is a great quickening of the mind of the race. We perceive that there are certain mental laws that, when comprehended, give man dominion over mind and body (heaven and earth), and that we have the mental and physical equipment to perpetuate our lives indefinitely. This is being proven by hundreds throughout the land. I know personally those who have passed the "three score and ten" (one of the most negative and destructive statements in the Bible) mark who are younger today than they were at fifty. Yes, they can do more mental and physical work, and I have two photographs before me of Sandford Bennett, the well-known life teacher on the Pacific coast,—one taken at the age of fifty, when he was a dyspeptic, broken down, old man, and the other at the age of seventy (four years ago), which, save for his gray hairs, looks as young as a college athlete; and again Weston, the so-called aged walker, "footed it" last year from San Francisco to Chicago, and, when on his arrival, was asked by a reporter if he wasn't getting a little old for such capers, told the reporter to go to a place we consider hot, and handed him his note-book which showed that he had beaten all previous records of the past fifteen years. The reporter asked him what he was going to do after dinner, and he replied that he thought he would take a little walk. Of course, the skeptics say this is an exception, but so is any man that is not a sheep and tied to the race thought, an exception.

I am not holding up Bennett and Weston as examples of those who understand the law of perpetual rejuvenation, but to show that any man and every man can do what he believes he can do and has the desire to do. Bennett was given up by the doctors as a "dead rabbit" at the age of fifty, and was about "all in," when the thought came to him that he could and would get well, and that the only way it could be accomplished was to do it himself. This is the great secret. All permanent healing, all real success, all power lies within the individual. Only those use doctors who do not know that the great healing power of God lies right within the individual, which will respond every time to the word of understanding (the word of faith), which comes from experience and knowledge of the laws of mind (spiritual laws). This knowledge, this understanding cannot be had by attending Sunday school or church or by reading any books. It can only be had in one way. It can only be had by being very still and listening and it will make no difference, if you have become so still that you have forgotten the past and your present conditions. Whether you be in jail, under an old apple tree or hay-stack, whether you are at the present moment a tramp, a leper, a thief or a murderer, a rich man or a poor man, this is what you will hear. You will hear this: You are the greatest living thing upon the earth—I, the great infinite power of health and strength, am with you always and I cannot express myself except through you. Arise and show to every living thing my love, my strength and eternal life.

If you have ears to hear this and the desire to express it, nothing in all this world can stop your power for good. No matter what your environment may be, you will be free.

HERBART HALL PUPILS IN PLAY BY DR. GROSZMANN

The dramatic presentations offered by the pupils of "Herbart Hall," the school maintained by the National Association for the Study and Education of Exceptional Children on Watchung Crest, have been in the past always singularly attractive. There was first the element of interest attached to productions by children who are difficult of education. In fact the application of the dramatic instinct in children to educational purposes forms part of the system followed by Dr. Groszmann. Then, the dramolets presented were always cleverly conceived, being in every instance original, and they were skillfully and surprisingly well staged, especially when one considers the limitations of conditions and space in an ordinary school hall, and that everything is usually home-made.

The announcement of a new dramatic performance by the pupils of the Watchung Crest Institute will therefore be welcome. They will present, in the afternoons of Thursday and Friday, April 25 and 26, and in the evening of Saturday, April 27, a geographical fancy, from the pen of Dr. Groszmann himself, entitled: "A Dream Trip to Northern Lands." The play will introduce the scenery, natural phenomena and people of these countries of high latitude, with folk songs and dances.

The story is as follows: A little boy, Robert, has received for a birthday gift, Jane Andrews' famous little book, "Seven Little Sisters." He is so interested in reading it that he wishes he could visit those strange lands. Falling asleep he is visited by the Spirit of Geography, who takes him in his dreams to the lands of his longing. First they visit the land of Agoonak, Greenland, where Robert takes a sleighing trip with dogs while the icebears dance a grotesque dance. Then they fly in an airship to the north pole where they plant the American flag and take possession of it in the name of the United States. A dance of the Compasses completes this scene. The next visit is to Alaska, where they meet Indians and Eskimos and also raise the American flag, using a totem pole for a flagstaff. From there they take steamer to the most cursed land on earth, Siberia, where Russian peasants dance a national dance, and where they admire the wonderful phenomenon of the northern lights. The last stop is the North Cape, with an introduction of Norwegians, Laplanders, Finlanders and Swedish in their nation songs and dances. The midnight sun dazzles them with its weird beauty. Finally Robert is seen again awakening from his slumber and, while he was glad to visit the foreign lands with all their interesting features, he is happy to be home again.

Tickets for the three performances may be had by application to the principal, W. H. Groszmann. This is an innovation as heretofore admission was free. But the proceeds are intended for the benefit of the scholarship fund.

ECLIPSE OF SUN, VISIBLE IN THE EAST, TOMORROW

Washington, April 16.—There will be an eclipse of the sun tomorrow, visible only in the Eastern States. New England, except a section of Connecticut and of New York, will be the only part of the United States in which the eclipse will be visible completely; that is to say, in which the beginning, middle, and and end will all take place after sunrise.

Venus and the moon were very close last night, almost to what the astronomers call an occulation, but their position was visible only in parts of Florida and Georgia.

A son was born at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earle J. Smith, of 665 East Sixth street, yesterday morning. Both mother and son are well.

TWO PRETTY NEW APRONS FOR THE TRIM HOUSEWIFE.

A HOUSEWIFE may be neatly and attractively dressed even when at work if she regards the matter of aprons. When doing work that will soil the dress a stout apron that covers the figure well and of a material that is not too light is to be preferred. When minor tasks are in order a smaller and dressier apron may be worn. Linen, gingham and percale are all good materials for work aprons, and plain patterns are better than figured ones. A sensible and attractive way of making up a work apron is shown here. The other illustration is that of a charming little creation to be slipped on when pouring afternoon tea or when doing fancy work. It is of fine lawn inset and edged with valenciennes lace. The lawn and lace apron, with cap to match, is also a suitable maid's outfit.

THE MAN WOMEN LIKE.

The one who has coolness in a crowd.

The one who can face a storm with a laugh.

The one who can fight a fire or hunt a burglar without losing his head.

The one who is brave without foolhardiness.

The one who is not fussy about trifles.

The one who quietly stands between her and the hard and dangerous things of life.

The one whose chivalry is so perfect that he never snubs a woman no matter how well she may have deserved it.

CLEANING HOUSE.

Forethought and Method Save Work and Worry.

The spring campaign of house cleaning may be simplified by using method and forethought.

It is always wise to provide in advance the necessary tools and utensils, such as nails and hammer, picture cords, brushes, brooms, mops, cloths, paper, paint, varnish, shelf papers, soaps, soda, ammonia, floor and furniture polish, etc.

The next thing to do is to begin at the top of the house and turn out all the cupboards and drawers, relining these with clean paper and eliminating superfluous or otherwise useless articles.

Then wash all curtains, bed valances, covers, blinds, etc., the advantage of this being that when the rooms are scrubbed out everything is ready to be put back again, clean and bright, and so complete the whole effect.

It is advisable to do one room at a time where practical. If painters and paper hangers are necessary then one must try and fit in the work as methodically as possible to avoid a muddle.

It is policy to have little cooking to do, so that the maids may get on quickly. Therefore provide a good joint, pies, etc., to last a few days.

When turning out a room the best way to go about it is as follows:

Lift the carpet, having arranged for it to be beaten and returned in readiness for relaying.

Remove all pictures and ornaments. Wash these thoroughly and pack the ornaments in a clothes basket, which should be well covered and kept free from dust.

The ceilings and walls should be well cleaned.

If a bedroom is being done the mattresses should be taken into the open air and beaten thoroughly. The bedsteads should be rubbed thoroughly with a cloth wet with kerosene. This brightens and cleans the bedstead. The picture frames and glass must next be well washed. No soda must be used for this work. White paint is much improved if rubbed with a little dry whiting and then well cleaned with a leather. The outside frames of the windows should also be done.

The windows are next polished. A little ammonia in the water gives a brilliant luster to glass of any kind.

The furniture then requires to be washed with a little warm water and vinegar to remove all greasy marks and finally polished.

Everything is now ready to be replaced. The carpet is relaid. If it is surrounded by linoleum or stained boards these are cleaned and polished with floor polish.

—Mrs. Spruce—"That man you just nodded to looks familiar; do you see him often?" Mrs. Walnut—"Not very; he's my husband."

CURLY HAIR.

Art May Step In Where Nature Has Been Unkind.

If you wish to make naturally straight hair curly there are several methods, but the results are only temporary.

Shampoo the hair with soapy water in which a few grains of carbonate of potash have been dissolved. While the hair is still damp plait the parts that need to be waved in tight braids, or else put them up in thick locks over hairpins. If mere fluffiness is desired dress the hair loosely while damp, fluffing out the front with the fingers.

Another method is to moisten the hair with strong tea or aromatic vinegar, in which about ten grains of carbonate of potash to a half pint of the tonic have been dissolved.

There are some bandolines and mucilaginous fluids which will aid in keeping the hair in curl. It is bad to use these constantly, as their tendency is harmful to the hair structure. When used only occasionally—say two or three times a month—a curling fluid is not greatly injurious.

The hair may be moistened with the following before rolling it over kid or rag curlers:

Tragacanth	¾ ounce
Rose water	1 pint
Oil of almonds	½ dram

Crush the tragacanth and put it in the rosewater, let the vessel stand in a warm place, stirring occasionally till the gum is swollen and soft. Strain through a single cheesecloth and then through three thicknesses. Then add almond oil and a few grains of carmine or saffron to tint it.

YOU SHOULD REMEMBER—

That to believe in goodness makes goodness.

That every promise is an obligation.

That there is no worse joke than a true one.

That it is much easier to be critical than correct.

That the woman who knows when to hold her tongue also holds her friends.

It's always the lost opportunities that seem to bear the highest rate of interest.

That being well dressed doesn't atone for being ill mannered.

That the woman who talks too much always gives herself away.

That the woman who knows a little of everything seldom knows much of anything.

An Effective Filter.

A cheap filter may be made by taking a piece of chamois leather, about two inches square, put it over the opening of the faucet and bind round tightly with string. It keeps back all impurities, and saves the water from splashing when turned on. The leather should be taken off three times a week and washed. You will be surprised at the quantity of dirt that accumulates in it.

Homemade Alcohol Lamp.

A simple spirit lamp can be easily made out of a tin blacking box. Drill holes all round the lid, fill the box with absorbent cotton and soak it with alcohol. Put the lid on, and place a lighted match against the holes. As the alcohol evaporates it will burn like a small gas ring. This makes a splendid little stove for invalid's food.

FAVORITE FRUIT MERINGUES.

MERINGUES are mixtures of white of egg and sugar slightly browned in the oven.

The eggs must be beaten to a foam, but should not be stiff. Powdered sugar should be used. It must be added little by little, one tablespoonful to each egg in the meringue.

Pudding, pies or tarts covered with meringue are often called meringues.

Meringue may be served with almost any fruit which you choose to bake.

An Apple Pudding.

Apple Meringue Pudding.—Take a half dozen nice apples. Pare, core and bake.

Make a custard, using a pint of scalded milk, the yolks of three eggs, three tablespoonfuls of sugar and a little salt.

Pour the custard over the baked apples and put into the oven and bake until firm.

Make a meringue of the whites of three eggs, three tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar and a dash of lemon for flavoring. The eggs must be beaten to a froth, the sugar added little by little and then the lemon, the whole being whipped until stiff.

The meringue should then be dropped on the pudding, the pudding dish set in a moderate oven and the meringue browned.

With Fresh Oranges.

Orange Pudding. — Take a cupful of breadcrumbs, a pint of sweet milk, yolks of two eggs well beaten, the juice of an orange, an ounce of butter and some sugar beaten to a cream. Mix these together, adding the grated rind of an orange. Pour into a buttered pudding dish. Bake until firm.

Now take the whites of the eggs, beaten as required for a meringue, add a little orange juice and sugar. Whisk until stiff and cover the pudding with meringue. Place in the oven until the meringue is set. Garnish with quartered sections of orange.

Canned Fruit Available.

Peach Meringue. — Canned peaches may be used for this. Take about a dozen peaches and press through a colander. Sweeten to taste. Line a pudding dish with puff paste and fill with the peaches. Bake for from twenty to thirty minutes in a quick oven.

Make a meringue with the whites of six eggs and six tablespoonfuls of sugar. Flavor with peach.

Cover the pudding thickly with this meringue and brown in the oven.

COMMON SENSE IN CHILD TRAINING

Waken a Wholesome Pride In the Mind of the Youthful Sinner and He Will Be Easier to Manage.

"BABY doesn't know any better," is a time honored excuse for the infantile sinner, and the chances are that in households where this excuse prevails baby never will know any better.

The fact is that nowadays sensible mothers recognize that the training of their children must begin with the first day that they spend in the family. Cradle manners are the only manners that really stick.

This does not mean that baby is expected to have all the graces and restraint of his elders, but it means that a beginning may be made in their acquirement. If half the pains were taken showing the little ones the right way that are wasted in making apologies and excuses for errors many nurseries would cease to be the pandemoniums they now are.

Baby can easily be taught not to scream for the things he wants if his little rages are calmly and determinedly ignored. Baby cries for what he wants because he has found that this is the easiest and surest way to get it.

As soon as a child can be brought to the table he is a fit subject for instruction in table etiquette. How often fond parents wreathe their faces with indulgent smiles when baby begins to hammer his dish with his spoon instead of suppressing the nuisance at the very first offense and before it has become a habit.

One way of managing a child is to teach him to take pride in his little belongings. He should have his own personal dish or dishes. His own spoon and knife and fork should be given him when he is old enough to handle them.

If baby's attention is called to the beauty of his small possessions, and it is impressed on him that they must be handled carefully and "kept nice," there is small danger that the average intelligent child will develop into a table nuisance.

Teach him how they are to be handled. Habit will do the rest. Children are as much creatures of custom as cats, and they are as imitative as monkeys.

Perhaps, if we only knew it, many of the small folks' gaucheries are only unconscious imitations of our own. Fond parents would do well to consider their own ways before correcting the youngster from many small slips. On the other hand it is a matter of discretion to attempt only what may be accomplished. At least a rough foundation may be laid for later training in the graces of the table when the child's mind has developed enough to warrant the effort to impart them.

Away back in my own childhood is the memory of a prized collection of dishes presented by various friends and relatives. There were a silver knife, fork and spoon set from grandfather and a delightful china plate—the border of it engrossed with the letters of the alphabet and the center of it very pleasingly embellished with a highly colored pictorial version of the story of Jack and Jill. Besides this was a pewter plate handsomely adorned with the numerals. A blue and white bowl for breakfast cereal was prized because, in various scenes, it presented the history of Little Boy Blue. On a little shelf on the wall all these treasures were kept together, with a row of cups that testified the kindness of friends and admirers. With what pride I watched the collection grow! How grievously I bewailed a chip in a beloved dish, and what a tragedy was the smashing of any particular treasure!

Nowadays there are such wonderfully tasteful table services for the little ones that the treasures of our youth would look plain and tawdry beside them. There are spoons shaped to fit baby's hand and adorned with rich filigree work and elaborate monograms. The porridge set is often worth its weight in gold. The one illustrated here can be bought in gold, silver or fine china, enriched with silver deposit. It includes not only the plate and bowl, but the individual sugar bowl and, if desired, a cream jug to match may be had.

Little trays on which baby's food may be served are made and are useful in protecting the cloth from accidents.

Paint that Stays Painted
That has been my slogan for years. I aim to do the best possible painting—using only the best materials that the manufacturers can furnish and employing the most skilled mechanics that can be procured. I stand back of every job I do, and when I am allowed to use my own judgment in regard to the best method of doing it, I will gladly make good any work that by any chance proves defective.

The purpose of the meeting was for reorganization, with an election of officers. The following were elected: President, Miss Charlotte Griffin; vice president, Miss Grace Palmer; second vice president, Miss Ethel S. Humphrey; secretary, Miss Josephine Culbertson; treasurer, Miss Katherine Knox. Another important meeting will be held on the first Monday in May, at which time a number of important questions will come up for discussion.

CHURCH CLUB DISCUSS HIGH COST OF LIVING

The monthly meeting of the Men's Club of the Grace M. E. church was held last night in the church parlors. D. W. Winckler, the president of the club, was in the chair. A business session took up the first of the evening, after which the question of the high cost of living was discussed.

J. L. Bennett opened the discussion and cited many ways in which the producer was responsible for the high prices the consumer was forced to pay, after the commodity had gone through the hands of the middlemen.

The discussion of the question was lively and a very interesting session was held, after which a vote of thanks was tendered Messrs. Winckler and Heath for their leading part in the discussion.

N. J. EVENTUALLY TO OWN 1,500 MILES OF HIGHWAYS

Trenton, April 16.—The series of road bills approved by Governor Wilson yesterday afternoon and which take effect immediately will give New Jersey eventually 1,500 miles of State highways and make radical changes in the method of dealing with these roads. The bills were passed last week following the recess of the Legislature, after it had begun to look as though the Republicans were not going to fulfill the party pledges for State highways.

The establishment of the system of State highways is placed in the hands of the State Highway Commission, and by one of the bills the State Treasurer is added to this commission, thus making it Republican. It is now composed of Governor Wilson and State Road Commissioner Stevens, Democrats, and President Prince, of the eSnate; Speaker McCran, of the Assembly, and State Treasurer Daniel S. Voorhees, Republican.

Assembly bill 293, the most important of the measures by Assemblyman Whyte, provides that the State highway system shall include roads, or parts of them, as now are or will form, main-traveled highways of reasonably direct route between the county seats; existing improved highways being chief lines of travel between seaside resorts and the large centres of population, other roads which naturally would be a part of a State system, and the Ocean Boulevard and the Delaware River Drive.

There is a special provision that whenever the State shall take over a road occupied by any street railway or other corporation, which corporation is under agreement to repair or maintain any portion of the roadway, this agreement shall hold for the benefit of the State.

Lectured On Telephones.

Local Agent P. H. Burns, of the New York Telephone Company, gave an illustrated lecture on "The Wonderland of the Telephone," before the pupils of St. Mary's Parochial School, this afternoon. Mr. Burns will repeat the lecture before the Bound Brook Board of Trade tomorrow night.

One Day in Jail.

Jacob Berger, colored, was sentenced to one day in a cell by Recorder Gano, of North Plainfield, this morning, for disorderly conduct on Somerset street last night. John Scott, colored, his companion, was released under suspended sentence.

Weavers Didn't Organize.

The silk weavers' meeting at Abrams' Auditorium last night, at which organization of the operatives was to have been started, was so slimly attended that no effort was made to press the organization plan forward.

Sunday-school Secretaries.

There will be a meeting tonight in the First Baptist church of the secretaries of all the city Sunday-schools. The purpose of the meeting is to talk over the problems to be met in this city and to devise means whereby all of the schools may become mutually helpful.

Funeral of Jesse Fowler.

The funeral of Jesse Fowler was held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George Moore. Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, officiated. The burial was in Hillside cemetery, and the pall-bearers were four grandsons, George, Benjamin and Frank Hermann and John Kepsie.

David Ross, vice president of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, New York, has been visiting Elston M. French, of Somerset street.

Rev. George E. Dunchee, a resident of this city twenty years ago, but now pastor of one of the Presbyterian chapels at Elizabeth, is among those attending the stated meeting of the Presbytery of Elizabeth here today.

The annual meeting of Warren chapel will be held in the chapel tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. A report will be given of the year's work and the congregation is urged to attend.

LENIENCY FOR MULE THIEF; TO BE SHOT AT DAYBREAK

Under the auspices of The Dutch Arms of Trinity Reformed church a successful mock trial was given in the lecture room of the church last night. Borough Clerk Charles M. DoDiver, acting as judge, brought the court to order, and instructed the clerk, Edgar F. Sheppard, to call the jurors. The jury comprised Mr. Bennett, Albert Swalm, A. B. Cole, W. F. Oliver, A. L. Titsworth, F. E. Smith, W. H. Kirch, Rev. J. Y. Broek, H. W. Weeks, T. R. VanZandt, John Osborn.

Prosecutor George S. Dufford read the charge, in which one J. Calvin Hall was accused of stealing a valuable mahogany-colored, wind-broken, spavined and hollow-backed mule from Horace J. Martin.

Hall claimed that, owing to a love affair with a young woman, he was not responsible for what he had done. Edmund D. Young, the prisoner's lawyer, also tried to prove through his witness, Henry P. Seader, that this was the case. Mr. Martin, through his witness, C. F. Colthar, proved that the mule was a valuable one, and that he had owned it for eighteen years.

After the testimony was all in the case was given to the jury, and after being out a few minutes they brought in the verdict that the prisoner was guilty of trying to sell lots to blind men, and refusing to wash dishes for his wife. The foreman recommended that the court show leniency, but that the prisoner be hanged at sunrise.

The good and welfare committee of the club took charge of the meeting after the trial and served cream and cake to the large audience present.

PICTURE OF MILLENIUM BY REV. G. R. MACUIRE

Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church preached on "The Principal Features of the Millennium Age," to a large congregation, Sunday night.

"During this age," the speaker said, "all forms of false worship will have cleared; war will be at an end; the earth will be blessed with fertility; the instincts of wild beasts will be changed; the resurrection and translated saints will participate in the rulership of the earth with Christ."

A very interesting feature of the service was the question box conducted by Dr. Maguire. Many questions bearing upon the Bible have been sent him since he began the series of special sermons on "The Lord's Second Coming," and a number of these Dr. Maguire answered from the pulpit Sunday.

Next Sunday evening the pastor will preach on the subject, "Will the Church, or Any Part Of It, Go Through the Great Tribulation?" And on the Sunday evening following, "Where Are the Dead?"

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

Clear, once more—Now for it.

Ernest Dorflinger has got on the job and promises the fans a little more excitement.

Thorp, the Carlisle Indian sprinter, bids fair to make the other hurdlers hustle at the Penn. relay games.

N. P. H. S. plays Bound Brook H. S. tomorrow afternoon at Bound Brook.

At the Southern inter-scholastic track and field meet, Low, a Friends school boy, cleared the bar at six feet in the high jump.

Parties from New York were in Plainfield Sunday looking over the ground relative to starting Sunday ball here. We venture the opinion that said visitors had never visited Plainfield before.

Sunday ball in Plainfield would be appreciated about as much as a polecat at a funeral.

The Giants open at the Polo grounds on Thursday. At that time they will have to do it all over again.

Big Ed. Walsh, of the White Sox, is reported as going better this year than ever; which is going some.

The time is fast arriving when you will try that old stunt of getting on the tee in one.

The Reading team of the Tri-State League has given up its franchise. Allentown has taken it up.

Magee, Lobert, Killifer and Walsh make up the injured list of the Phillies.—And the pitchers lack form.

April 27—Dorflinger's pets will start off with the Lincoln Giants at the Oval.

Princeton seems to have had her rabbit's foot with her, drawing the pole in the first three important events entered.

There are four more baseball leagues to start this week.

When Joe McGinnity is right he has all that can be desired on the ball. He was right in the game with Brooklyn on Sunday.

The Yankees seem to look pretty weak at this early date. It's a safe bet that whoever stays in the first division this year plays ball every minute.

BANNER YEAR AHEAD FOR U. S. OARSMEN

1912 Season Promises to Be the Greatest in American History.

BIG REGATTAS ARE PLANNED

Opening Event Will Be at Annapolis When Columbia Meets Naval Academy—National Contests at Peoria, Ill., in August.

The American rowing schedule for the season of 1912 is one of the best arranged. Not only will it bring together more varsity crews than have hitherto met in a single season, but the boat club associations will make a record for the number of their regattas and the entries thereto.

These regattas have all been decided upon, and every enthusiastic follower this season will get the finest array of sport. Furthermore, the meets are to be held at such time and at points that all rowing fours no matter where their residences may be, can be on hand at one or another date and place with little loss of time.

The chief event, of course, will be the intercollegiate regatta at Poughkeepsie, where Columbia, Cornell, Pennsylvania, Syracuse and Wisconsin will come together on the picturesque Hudson four mile stretch.

Next in importance perhaps will be the Yale-Harvard races at New London. And it looks as though this annual fixture will not be quite as one-sided as it has been in the past.

But this season we are to have more preliminary varsity crew races than ever before. And these will conclusively show, for the year at least, the superiority of Poughkeepsie or New London. The full American rowing schedule for the year is:

May 4—United States Naval academy plebes versus the University of Pennsylvania freshmen at Annapolis.
May 11—United States Naval academy first crew versus Columbia university varsity crew at Annapolis.
May 18—United States Naval academy first crew versus Syracuse university varsity crew at Annapolis.
May 18—United States Naval academy second crew versus Syracuse university second crew at Annapolis.
May 18—Columbia, Princeton and Pennsylvania varsity crews at Princeton.
May 23—Cornell, Harvard and Princeton varsity crews at Boston.
May 25—American Henley at Philadelphia.
May 30—Harlem Regatta association regatta at New York.
June 15—Schuylkill navy regatta at Philadelphia.
June 20—Harvard-Yale regatta at New London.
June 29—Intercollegiate regatta at Poughkeepsie.
July 4—New England Amateur Rowing association regatta at Boston.
July 4—People's regatta at Philadelphia.
July 4—Springfield Rowing association regatta at Springfield.
July 13—Hudson River Rowing association regatta at New York.
Aug. 2 and 3—Canadian Henley at St. Catherines, Ont.
Aug. 5 and 6—Central States Amateur Rowing association regatta at Peoria, Ill.
Aug. 7 and 8—Southwestern Amateur Rowing association regatta at Peoria, Ill.
Aug. 9 and 10—National Association of Amateur Oarsmen's regatta, American championships, at Peoria, Ill.
Sept. 2—Middle States Regatta association regatta; place not yet decided.
Sept. 2—New England Amateur Rowing association at Boston.
Oct. 12—New England Amateur Rowing association at Boston.

The amateur American championships at Peoria, Ill., will end the greatest week of rowing this country has ever seen. During the meet three bodies will hold regattas—the Central States Amateur Rowing association, the Southwestern Amateur Rowing association and the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen. And at this meet the American sweep men and sculllers can be compared with the best men at the English Henley as well as at the Olympic games.

The Argonaut Rowing Club of Toronto is to send abroad its eight and four, which won both the American and Canadian championships in their respective classes last year; also that phenomenal sculler E. B. Butler, who swept everything before him both here and in Canada, is going along. This crowd, under the coaching of Joe Wright, is sure to render a good account.

They are to have a busy season, indeed. After Henley and Stockholm they will return at once for their own Canadian Henley on Aug. 2 and 3 and then go to Peoria, Ill., where they will row throughout the week.

The Arundel Boat club four of Baltimore, which won at Saratoga last summer, has been entered for the Olympic games, but it is doubtful whether this crew will go abroad, as there are no funds available for sending it.

NORWEGIAN SAYS U. S. WILL WIN BIG MEET.

New York, April 16.—A letter received by Secretary James E. Sullivan, of the American Olympic committee, from Charles F. Ericksen, formerly trainer of an athletic club of this city, but now in charge of the Norwegian athletes who will complete in the Olympic games at Stockholm, contains an invitation for the American athletes to visit Norway after the meet and participate in games in that country. The invitation is extended in behalf of Kaptain Sverre, president of the Norwegian Olympic committee, who sends assurances that the American athletes will be very welcome.

The letter concludes with a prophecy of American victory in the Olympics. Trainer Ericksen thinks that the nations will finish in the following order: United States first, England second and Sweden or Finland third.

JOHNSON, PINCHED, DIDN'T HAVE A CENT FOR BAIL

Evanston, Ill., April 16.—When Jack Johnson, champion heavyweight pugilist, was arrested here Sunday for violation of the automobile speed laws, he didn't have a dollar with him to deposit for bond fees with Justice Boyer.

"I haven't that much money on me," said Johnson, "but I can write you a personal check."

"That's all right, Jack," replied the justice. "I'll trust you until Thursday, the date for your hearing on this charge."

Johnson was driving with his wife when arrested. Both he and Mrs. Johnson protested at being taken to the police station. The champion fighter attempted to arrange the matter with the motorcycle patrolman who arrested him, but without success.

PRINCETON'S SOUTHERN TRIP IS BIG SUCCESS

Princeton, April 16.—Princeton's athletic teams did not suffer on their out-of-town trips during the Easter vacation just ended. The results of the baseball games which the nine played on its Southern trip certainly show that the Tigers are going to have just as good a team as last year, if it doesn't turn out even better. In spite of a little weakness in the pitching staff, the team came out of its schedule of five games with but one defeat, and that was at the hands of a professional team. The Tigers made a total of thirty-three hits, three of them home runs. Four three-baggers and five doubles were also included in the total. Twenty errors were chalked up against the team, but hard hitting and good pitching at the right time, saved the Northerners from defeat.

The most pleasing thing to Princeton about the trip was the two defeats which the nine handed out to Georgetown, the best baseball college in the South. Both games were won by narrow margins, but they were won. The Baltimore team of the International League, walloped the Tigers, after the Orioles had been held for the first five innings by Pitchers Lear and Bergen. The team went to pieces in the sixth, with Wood in the box. Rixey the much touted flinger of the University of Virginia, was no puzzle for Princeton. Later on Rixey held Yale to a tie.

S. S. B. B. LEAGUE DEFERS ELECTION OF PRESIDENT

A meeting of the representatives of the Sunday-school League was held last night in the Y. M. C. A. to receive reports from the different managers and to further arrangements towards the league opening. Mr. McCormack, of the Monroe Avenue church, was in the chair.

The election of the league head was deferred until another meeting. Other officers were elected as follows: Vice president, Mr. McCormack; secretary and treasurer, George Gage, of the Park Avenue Baptist church.

The question of umpires and scorekeepers was discussed, but nothing definite was decided upon. The matter of a schedule was also brought up and considered, ending in an appointment of a committee, consisting of W. A. Conger, of the Temple Baptist Sunday-school, and Frank Rimmer, of Hope chapel, to prepare dates.

It is the purpose of those in charge to play the first game about the first of June, or else about the fifteenth. If the opening is deferred until the latter date the high school teams will have finished their schedules, enabling many of the school players to join with teams representing the Sunday-schools to which they belong.

The next meeting will be held in the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday evening, April 30, at which time it is hoped to adopt the schedule and make arrangements for the opening.

TITUS TO ROW AGAIN.

Twice Champion Single Sculler Now In Training.

Constance C. Titus, twice champion single sculler of the United States and Canada, and William Mehrhoff, the champion in 1910, will re-enter the rowing game this season and have begun training. Both may try to qualify to represent the United States in the sculling events in connection with the Olympic games.

Titus has been in retirement since 1905, when, in the annual regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen, he won three championships. Mehrhoff has not competed since he won the single sculling championship at Washington in 1910.

CHANGE IN SCORING RULES ARE NECESSARY.

William G. Weart, the Philadelphia baseball expert, calls attention to a play in a recent game of the spring series between the Phillies and the Athletics which emphasizes the necessity for some changes in the scoring rules to make them more equitable. He says:

"With Schultz on third, Downey on second and Titus on first, Lobert dropped a Texas leaguer in right field. The ball dropped a few yards in front of Murphy, who picked it up and headed Titus off at second base. Schultz scored, and Downey reached third. Under the rule which says, 'In no case shall a base hit be scored when a base runner is forced out by the play,' Lobert could not be credited with a base hit.

"Here is where the flaw in the scoring rules comes in: Lobert scored a runner from third base and advanced a runner from second to third, and yet he is charged with a time at bat, thus suffering a penalty instead of a reward for his effort. On the other hand, had Lobert gone out on a fly to Murphy and the runner on third scored and the other runners not advanced Lobert would have been given credit for a sacrifice fly and exempted from a time at bat. In the case in question Lobert advanced two runners and failed to advance one. He really made a base hit, and yet his effort caused him to be charged with a penalty."

EXPECT STUNTS OF TONEY.

Cubs' Pitcher Has Underhand "Smoke Ball" That Is a Wonder.

Fred Toney, strong man and pitcher of the Cub machine, is taking lessons in the higher ethics of slab work. Starting the spring campaign of 1911, the mountain boy promised to surpass the records of Amos Rusie and Walter Johnson as regards speed; then of a sudden he got into an awful slump. Result—he enjoyed few opportunities to grace the mound in pennant competition. There's a reason for Toney's failure to deliver, said reason being that he tried to pitch overhand instead of underhand, the latter being his own copyrighted system.

In practice during the 1912 spring trip Toney has daily rehearsed his pet delivery and, having profited by the experiences of last season, looms up like a real candidate for regular pitching service. Manager Chance has told the Blue Grasser to pitch any way that suits him, just so long as he brings home the bacon, and Fred has promised to deliver with considerable vengeance if "Husk" permits constant usage of the underhand slant.

Handsome Harry McIntire, one of the real masters of the side arm spitter, has taken a keen interest in Toney's career and daily works alongside the big chap, giving him timely tips that if followed by the youngster should make him a star of the first magnitude.

JEFFRIES SAYS HE WILL NOT TRY TO COME BACK

Los Angeles, Cal., April 16.—"My hat is not in the ring. If it is, I've got it nailed to the floor with a brick under it."

This was Jim Jeffries' joking remark yesterday when told of a dispatch from San Francisco to the effect that he had promised James W. Coffroth, the boxing promoter, to reenter the ring. "I have enough money in the bank, the hens are all laying and my digestion is great. Why should I mix up in the boxing game again? I'm through with it all, I tell you.

"Coffroth must be dreaming to float a story like this. I said nothing to him that he could construe as willingness on my part to fight again. I have no intention of ever putting on another set of gloves."

PIRATES' NEW FIRST BASEMAN

"Dots" Miller, Former Second Sacker, Holding Down Bag In Fine Style.

Pittsburgh players say the Buccaneers have found their long looked for first baseman in Dots Miller, the Kearny (N. J.) boy, who has been shifted from second base to first. The Pirates have searched diligently for a first baseman ever since they traded Kitty Bransfield to the Phillies in the spring of 1905. In the last seven years the Smoky City aggregation has tried out first sackers by the wholesale, but never succeeded in landing a high class man. Among the men tried out were Del Howard, Nealon, Flynn, Swacina, Gill, Abstein, Sharpe, Hunter and McKechnie, but none of them suited Fred Clarke or the Pittsburgh fans.

Followers of the Pirates now are asking themselves whether Miller also will prove to be a fizzle at first base. Dots has a hard job ahead of him, as there seems to be a hoodoo to the position on the Pittsburgh team. It is even intimated in Pittsburgh that Hans Wagner would rather not tackle the place, as he believes he might succumb to the hoodoo and lose his batting eye or his fielding ability.

Johnny Kling Says They Will Be the Only Great Ones In the Future.

"The greatest hitting and fielding first baseman of the future," says Johnny Kling, "will be a left hander. Of this I am certain, and I get my cue from the work of Daubert of Brooklyn, who beat the Cubs in two games by perfect fielding stunts when the squeeze play would have won games from them last summer prior to my trade to Boston."

STRYKER CAPTURES TWO TITLES AT TRAP SHOOT

There was a large gathering of sportsmen on the grounds of the Crescent Gun Club at Whitehouse Station at the matinee shoot Saturday. The individual and double championships of Hunterdon and Somerset counties were decided and they were won by Ray C. Stryker, the manager of the club, who now holds the two silver cups offered in the events.

The individual championship was at 100 targets. Stryker broke 90, and E. Wyckoff, of Millstone, was second with a score of 87. The double championship was at ten pairs of doubles and at the finish Elmer Gardner, of Bernardsville, and Stryker were tied up at 14 each. In the shoot-off Stryker was the winner. The holder of the cups is compelled to defend his title every sixty days, on his home grounds, if challenged. The man holding the cups January 1, 1913, becomes the sole owner of them.

During the afternoon 3,500 targets were thrown from the traps. In the sweepstakes events Stryker was also high gun, with a total of 112 out of a possible 125. Wyckoff was second, Enoch Gary, of Sunnyside, third, and Thomas Howard, of Peapack, fourth. There were twenty-five contestants in these. The best scores were: Stryker, 112; Wyckoff, 100; Gary, 95; Howard, 95; Tingley, 91; Stockton, 90; H. Gano, 90; Lindsley, 90; Weinrebe, 88; Wilson, 88; Gardner, 88; London, 85; G. Cramer, 74; Miller, 73; E. Gano, 67; Holjes, 60; Jackson, 59; J. Cramer, 30; Hill, 28; Apgar, 18.

Temple Baptist B. B. Meeting.

There will be a meeting tonight in the Temple Baptist church for all those interested in baseball, at which time the matter of deciding upon suits and equipping the church team will be considered. The Temple Baptist team has taken advantage of the other teams in the Sunday-school league so far in playing a few practise games before the opening of the start of the league schedule. The manager, George L. Simon, 165 North avenue, is anxious to hear from teams in this vicinity who desire games on Saturday afternoons before the league starts.

ADVERTISE IN THE DAILY PRESS

WHERE DISASTER OCCURRED—MAP SHOWING LOCATION OF TITANIC AND OTHER SHIPS AFTER THE DISASTER.

1 500 LIVES LOST

The Carpathia, which left New York on April 13 for the Mediterranean, is retracing her course to this port, bringing the women and children who were widowed and orphaned by the disaster. She will reach New York Wednesday afternoon.

Notable People Passengers.

Hundreds of well known Americans—very many of them New Yorkers—of wide prominence took passage on the Titanic—some for the novelty of participating in the maiden voyage of the finest of all steamships, others because of the unsurpassed comforts and luxuries provided by the $10,000,000 ship.

MRS. JOHN J. ASTOR.

Bride of Colonel Astor, who, with her husband, was on the Titanic.

Among these was Colonel John Jacob Astor and his bride of a few months; Major A. W. Butt, military aid to President Taft, who was on his way home after carrying a message to Pope Pius; Isidor Straus, the merchant, a brother of Nathan and Oscar Straus and a partner in the great department store concern of Macy & Co.; Mr. and Mrs. George B. Widener of Philadelphia; Mrs. E. L. Appleton, Frank D. Millet, the artist; Benjamin Guggenheim, of the well known family of that name; Henry B. Harris, the theatrical manager, and Mrs. Harris; William T. Stead, the London editor; J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the White Star line; C. M. Hays, president of the Grand Trunk railroad; Henry Harper of Harper & Co., the publishers, and Mrs. Harper; the Countess Rothes, Colonel Washington Roebling, whose father built the Brooklyn bridge; Norman C. Craig, a member of parliament; J. Clinch Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Taussig, Colonel Archibald Gracie, F. D. Millet, the famous artist, and hundreds whose names have been more than local significance.

Friends of Alfred G. Vanderbilt received cable messages saying that he was not on board the Titanic. He is now in London. His name was on the passenger list and the steamship people gave out his name as one of those on the boat.

Liners Heard Distress Call.

At 10:30 p. m. on Sunday night the Virginian, speeding on her way to Glasgow, picked up the White Star steamship's "C. Q. D.," the Marconi signal of distress and peril:

"Have struck an iceberg; badly damaged. Rush aid."

Other rushing liners besides the Virginian heard the call. The big Baltic, 200 miles to the eastward and west bound, turned again to save life as she did when her sister of the White Star fleet, the Republic, was cut down in a fog in January, 1909. The Titanic's mate, Olympic, the mightiest of sea goers save the Titanic herself, turned in her tracks. The Hamburg-American Cincinnati, the Parisian from Glasgow, the North German Lloyd Prinz Frederich Wilhelm, the Hamburg American liners Prinz Adelbert and Amerika all heard the "C. Q. D." and the rapid, condensed explanation of what had happened.

The Virginian was barely 170 miles away and the first to know of the Titanic's danger. She headed under forced draft for the spot indicated in one of the last messages, latitude 40.32 north and longitude 61.18 west. She is a fast ship and she put in her best licks stretching through the night to get to the Titanic in time. Farther out at sea was the Carpathia, which left New York for the Mediterranean on April 13. Around she turned and plunged back westward to take a hand in saving life. The third steamship within short sailing was the Allan Parisian, away to the eastward on her way from Glasgow to Halifax.

Cape Race Notifies the World.

While they sped toward her the Titanic's call reached to Cape Race, in Newfoundland.

"Have struck an iceberg; we are badly damaged. Titanic, latitude 41.46 north, longitude 50.14 west," was the message.

Cape Race threw the appeal broadcast, so that for hours while the world waited for a crumb of news as to the safety of the great ship's people, not one thing was known except that she was drifting, broken and helpless and alone in the midst of a waste of ice. And it was not until seventeen hours after the Titanic had sunk, carrying with her part of her crew and some of her passengers, that the words came out of the air as to her fate. There was a confusion and tangle of messages—a jumble of rumors.

Then the Messages Ceased.

At 12:17 a. m., while the Virginian was still plunging eastward, all communication from the Titanic ceased.

The last word was that she was sinking. The Virginian's operator labored hopelessly. The Allan ship strove on, fearing that the worst had happened.

The wireless has given it just a hint, a suggestion of the joy that flashed over the passengers of the doomed vessel when the lights of the Carpathia were made out, showing beyond the field of ice peaks. The Carpathia was the first of the relief ships to arrive. Her pathway was strewn with perils, icebergs on every side.

The seaways between the icebergs were crowded with the wallowing boats of the Titanic, and the great ship herself, bow crushed, half full of water forward, was heeling forward on her forefoot, her stern high out of water, so that the tremendous screws were visible dimly and on the verge of dropping beneath the surface. It was a spectacle of marine disaster that can never fade from the memory of the seamen who came up on the Carpathia—the most wonderful of ships on the verge of her end and her people scattered over the face of the waters in rocking boats.

Women and Children in Boats.

What took place in the next hour is not known definitely, but two wireless messages appear to cover the time. One is that the Carpathia and the Virginian picked up most of the passengers and perhaps half of the crew. The other was that the Titanic finally sank at 2:20 a. m. with many lives in a $10,000,000 ship gone to the sea floor.

It appears from news from Captain E. J. Smith of the Titanic, the admiral of the White Star fleet realized that there was a small chance of his vessel staying above water and that reliance must be had on the small boats. With such the ship was splendidly equipped. She had fifty lifeboats, wide, unsinkable and capable of resisting the battering of heavy seas. They were capable of holding fifty persons each. The women and children were placed in some of these boats, each boat in charge of an officer of the ship. Then the old men and such of the men passengers as were ill or afflicted were ordered into boats, and after this had been accomplished room was found for hundreds more.

So far as could be told from the scant wireless messages from the ships that found the Titanic it was a long and perilous task, but the Carpathia so maneuvered that more than 600 of the Titanic's passengers found their way to her decks.

The Allan liner Virginian, nearing the scene of the disaster, wirelessed Cape Race that the women and children were being taken off in a calm sea. The Virginian's wireless operator said he had got this news from the Titanic herself. The accuracy of this message was generally doubted.

Later a message was received at Halifax announcing that most of the passengers were then in lifeboats and that the Titanic was sinking slowly by her head. Other messages of a confusing and contradictory nature reached here from Halifax, Cape Race and other wireless stations. From Canso, N. S., word came that the Titanic, having transferred her passengers to the Parisian and Carpathia, was at 2 p. m. being towed to Halifax by the Virginian.

Reassuring Messages Untruthful.

The Canadian government marine agency at Halifax received a wireless at 4:15 P. M. that the Titanic was sinking. It was said that the steamship towing the Titanic was trying to get her in shoal water.

In the morning and afternoon reassuring messages were received here at the offices of the men aboard the Titanic.

So it went all day, confused and uncertain, but the officials of the White Star line clung to the hope that the passengers and ship had been saved. And it was not until late that the officials were forced to accept the worst news that had come to them, that the Titanic was gone and that the greater part of her passengers were unaccounted for—saved or drowned, nobody knew. All that they knew was that the Carpathia had rescued 675, mostly women and children.

Voyage Pleasant at Outset.

At the outset and until she happened on the death trap of ice on the Grand Banks the Titanic voyaged pleasantly and evenly. Ships that spoke to her reported that she was living up to the anticipations of her builders and of her line. Following the usual course of the great Atlantic carriers, she swung along the usual westbound lane until, south of the Grand Banks, she came to turn for her direct westward course to this port. And there she entered the mass of ice that had worried navigators before the Titanic found her graveyard there. Captain Dow of the Carmania found himself in a perilous position on account of probably the same great drift of bergs. On Thursday the Carmania came in touch with an expanse of massive bergs that seemed to be fully a mile long and perhaps two-thirds of a mile wide. Some of the icebergs were veritable peaks, projecting hundreds of feet from the sea. They ground together constantly as they were caught by currents and the noise of their contact could be heard for many miles.

COLONEL JOHN J. ASTOR.

Who Probably Perished When the Titanic Sank.

LIFE OF JOHN J. ASTOR.

Born at Fernecliffe, Rhinebeck-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., July 13, 1866.

Fourth in succession of the family of John Jacob Astor and fourth son of William Astor.

Was graduated from Harvard in 1888 with degree of B. S.

Married to Ava Willing of Philadelphia Feb. 17, 1891, to whom a son, Vincent, and daughter, Muriel, were born.

Divorced Nov. 9, 1909.

Married to Madeline Force, aged twenty, at Newport in September, 1911.

Succeeded his father in business in 1892.

Built the Astoria and St. Regis hotels in New York.

Has invented numerous devices, written a book of his travels and traveled abroad extensively.

The tenor of all the wireless messages that reached here late was that the Titanic sank before the steamships that had heard her call for help could get to her. It seemed clear that Captain Smith and his officers had lowered the women and children and some of the men in the small boats, but that most of the men passengers as well as crew perished with the going down of the ship.

The place where the Titanic sank is about 500 miles from Halifax, N. S., and the water at that point, about seventy miles south of the Grand Banks is at least two miles deep. It is midway between Sable Island and Cape Race and in a line with those dangerous sands which, however, might have been a place of safety had there been time to run the Titanic there and beach her on the northern side.

Vincent Astor Weeps at News.

The officers of the White Star line in this city were overrun with anxious inquiries for tidings of relatives and friends known to be on board the ill fated Titanic.

Colonel Astor's son, Vincent, with Colonel Astor's secretary, W. A. Dobbyn, and A. J. Drexel Biddle inquired anxiously at the White Star offices and when the officials of the line told the meagre news they had Vincent became much affected and wept.

A score of inquirers surrounded the information clerk at all times, but they could get no news except that the Carpathia is bringing 675 of the Titanic's passengers.

Sylvester Byrnes, secretary for Isidor Straus, said that Mr. Straus' son, Herbert, had left for Halifax with the expectation of meeting his father there. Jesse Straus, another son, is on board the Hamburg-American liner Amerika, going the other way.

Many women in the office of the line were hysterical, and friends who were with them tried in vain to comfort them. Among them were Mrs. W. Addison Wheelock of this city. Mrs. Wheelock was inquiring for her sister, Mrs. D. W. Marvin, and the latter's husband, who are returning from their honeymoon abroad.

Among the inquirers at the White Star offices was a Mr. Madorf, who came seeking news of his friend Arthur Ryerson, who was in the first cabin of Titanic with his wife, two daughters and a son. They were bound for Philadelphia to attend the funeral of a son.

Mrs. Daniel Guggenheim, whose husband is a nephew of Benjamin Guggenheim, who was on the Titanic, swooned when her husband brought word to her of the loss of life.

Official Statement Given Out.

P. A. S. Franklin, the president of the International Merchant Marine company, gave out the following:

"We have found that the Carpathia has on board between 600 and 700 of the Titanic's passengers. We don't know where the Virginian and Parisian are nor how many souls they have aboard."

The lost ship, which stood for the finest and most scientific in ocean liners, and whose first trip to this country was awaited proudly by her line, had a touch of evil fortune before she cleared the harbor of Southampton last Wednesday. As she passed downstream, her immense bulk—she displaced 66,000 tons—drew the waters after her with an irresistible suction that tore the American liner New York from her moorings. Seven steel hawsers were snapped like twine and the New York floated toward the White Star ship. A collision was narrowly averted. It was a misadventure similar to that which overtook the Titanic's sister ship, Olympic. Captain Smith commanded the Olympic on that voyage. Suction brought about a collision of the Olympic with the cruiser Hawke and the Olympic went to drydock for expensive repairs. A special court of inquiry placed the blame on the mighty suction that was to be expected, said the experts, from a vessel of such tonnage in narrow waters.

F. D. MILLET.

The eminent artist who was among the Titanic's passengers.

J. A. Phillips, the wireless operator on the Titanic, was an Englishman living in London. He was twenty-five years of age and had been in the service of the company about five years. He had been transferred to his present position from the Oceanic, upon which vessel he served as operator for about a year.

President Deeply Affected.

Washington, April 16.—President Taft learned the news of the sinking of the Titanic when he was at Chase's theater with Mrs. Taft. The president was deeply affected and left for the White House soon after receiving it. As soon as he had arrived at the White House the president called for all available details. The president, while shocked at the extent of the loss of life, was particularly anxious over the safety of his military aid, Major Butt.

Major Butt has been closer to Mr. Taft than any other man. He has accompanied him on all his trips and has been his constant companion on his walks and motor rides and has joined him in most of his golf games. The president has come to regard him more as a brother than a military aid.

PERTH AMBOY HALL RAIDED, RECORDER FINES A CLUB.

Perth Amboy, April 16.—Attracted by noise as of a fight, the police raided Washington Hall. They found found a crowd of men who claimed to be members of the Oakwood Field Club, which held a ball in the hall. Beer was being sold over the hall bar, the police say, and Joseph Augustine, William and John McKeegan and Arthur Ernst were arrested. They were arraigned before Recorder Henry W. Kenoe on a charge of disorderly conduct. Chief Burke charged them with violating the excise laws when they sold beer without a license.

The prisoners said the club had been told by the local agent of an Elizabeth brewery to go ahead and sell and let him know if there was any trouble. Recorder Kehoe refused to entertain a charge of excise violation against the prisoners, but fined the club $25. Chief Burke objected to that course, claiming that there was no way of collecting the fine imposed on the club, but the recorder refused to change his ruling.

The Scrap Book

Feared For His Complexion.

A Scotchman landed in Canada not long ago. The very first morning he walked abroad he met a coal black negro. It happened that the negro had been born in the highland district of Scotland and had spent the greater part of his life there. Naturally he had a burr on his tongue. "Hey, mannie," said the pink Scotchman, "can ye no tell me wheer I'll find the kirk?"

"ARRE YE FROM SCOTLAND?"

The darky took him by the arm and led him to the corner. "Go richt up to yon wee hoose and turn to ye're richt and gang up the hill," said he.

The fresh importation from Scotland looked at the black man in horror. "And arre ye from Scotland, mon?" he asked.

"R-richt ye arre," said the darky. "Aberdeen's ma hame."

"And hoo lang have ye been here?"

"Aboot twa year," said the darky.

"Lord save us and keep us!" said the new arrival. "Whaur can I get the boat for Edinbro?"—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Let Go!

"Hold fast!" That splendid motto has many battles won
When linked with noble purpose to earn the world's "well done,"
But one of equal import for all shrewd men to know
Is when to quit and have the grit to then and there "let go."

Have you lost your coign of vantage, have you slipped into a rut,
It's no disgrace to change your base before the wires are cut.
It bespeaks the willy general to outwit a stubborn foe.
Don't stand your ground when you have found 'twill pay you to let go.
—Dr. W. A. Blackwell.

He Put It Down.

Justice Harlan's fund of reminiscences was vast and varied. One of the many stories which he delighted to tell in time of relaxation related to a visit paid by Senator Thurman of Ohio and his wife to the Harlan home in Kentucky. The two jurists were in the library. Justice Harlan, with Kentucky hospitality, said to his guest:

"PUT IT DOWN, ALLEN!"

"I have a little Scotch over there on the shelf if you would care to partake."

Senator Thurman replied: "I think I would like about a thimbleful."

"He poured out more than a thimbleful," said Justice Harlan, "and was in the act of raising the glass to his lips when Mrs. Thurman from the hall called out with great earnestness:

"'Put it down, Allen, put it down!'

"Whereupon Judge Thurman replied with great gentleness and seriousness, 'I was about to do that when you spoke, mamma,' and deliberately swallowed the potion."—New York Sun.

A Pleasant Evening.

They were seeking to impress the visitor. "If you really wish to get an idea of the toughness of New York toughs," announced one, "you should by all means attend the annual ball given by the Gorilla club. It is absolutely the toughest stunt that is pulled off anywhere. If you don't get action there for your money you won't get it anywhere."

"Do you mean that fights are common at that ball?" inquired the man to be impressed. "Am I to understand that shootings"—

He got no further. One of the others leaned forward, solemnly took hold of his sleeve and remarked: "Fights? Shootings? Why, every single person that starts to go into the Gorilla club hall is stopped outside and searched for concealed weapons, and if he hasn't any—they give him some!"

His Plunge on a Steer.

Samuel G. Blythe of Washington, in company with several other gentlemen, recently acquired a considerable acreage of wild western land, the idea being to hold it for investment. The other parties were all men of such wide interests that a few thousand acres, one way or the other, to any of them seemed a mere bagatelle. Mr. Blythe, not having their wide experience of slathering money around the country, regarded it more portentously.

Six months or so after the purchase was made, one of the largest operators wrote him that it was the consensus of opinion that it was a pity to allow the land to eat its head off in taxes while they were waiting for results, and had decided to stock it with cattle and have it turning in an income. They were arranging, he said, for about 10,000 steers, and would apportion 1,000 of them to Mr. Blythe. Mr. Blythe rushed to the telegraph office and wired him: "How much does a steer cost?" The answer came back in a few hours: "Average price of steer about $22:" whereupon Mr. Blythe telegraphed back: "Buy me one steer and call him Clarence."—Everybody's.

A SAD MISTAKE.

Rectifying It Didn't Sooth the Victim's Lacerated Feelings.

A young man who had long been prominent in athletics at the University of Chicago decided that the girl upon whom he had been calling for the last three years might possibly care to see some show, extended the invitation, and the young woman condescended to accept.

After the theater he asked the girl whether she cared to accompany him to a little supper, and to his surprise she accepted the invitation. They adjourned to a nearby restaurant, where the "little supper" began to creep up until the young man wondered nervously whether his limited capital would stand the strain. He noted, with a sigh of relief, that the bill amounted to only $5.80.

He reached nonchalantly into his pocket for his "roll," but was horrified to find he had neglected to change his money from his school garb to his evening clothes. Frantically he searched every pocket, and at last he was relieved to feel the crinkle of a bill. Intensely relieved, he drew it forth only to find it was only a five dollar note, placed in there at some period of affluence and later forgotten. He was still 80 cents "shy." He resolved to brave it out, however, and told the waiter to bring the head waiter. To this lordly individual he explained the circumstances and suggested that he leave his name and address and be sent a bill for the entire amount.

As he was putting the pad containing the name and address into his pocket the head waiter noticed a diamond ring on the young man's finger and suggested it be left as security. The young man was about to do this when the young woman, who had been quietly enjoying his dilemma, came to the rescue and asked that she be permitted to loan the young man enough money to pay the bill.

Next day every one at the school seemed to have heard the story, and every place he went the young man was asked about $5.80. In desperation he fled to his room and on his table lay a letter from the restaurant at which he had met his Waterloo. It took him some time to muster up courage to open it, and one may imagine his feelings on reading the following:

"My Dear Sir: We regret to state that in making out your check last night an error was made in charging you $5.80 instead of $4.80. We are inclosing the dollar overcharge and trust you will pardon the error and continue to favor us with your patronage."—Chicago News.

Saved.

The other night at a revival a long winded brother got up and talked for an intolerable time in a most repetitious and tiresome manner. He was followed by the pastor, whose earnest words stirred the congregation.

A little later the minister asked a stranger in the church, "Are you a Christian?"

"Yes," replied the stranger, "but I wouldn't have been much longer if you hadn't talked just when you did."

Thought Damrosch Looked the Part.

While Walter Damrosch was conducting opera he was late one night and was hurrying to the opera house. As he passed into the lobby a vociferous boy shouted: "Books for the opera. Books for the opera." As Damrosch gave him no encouragement, the boy in his zeal of salesmanship became importunate. "No, no," said Mr. Damrosch impatiently. "I can't read." "You look it," promptly retorted the son of Manhattan.

Got Him on the Kick.

Pat was standing near the car track when he noticed an automobile coming up the street, and to be safe he stepped back a little from the car track.

The auto went past, and just as it was passing the driver had an occasion to turn off the track. When he did the auto skidded on the car track, causing the back end to swing around, striking Pat and knocking him down.

"PHAT DO YE THINK O' THAT?"

Pat was seen to get up and look after the car and say: "Now, phat do ye think o' that? Whin ye stand in front o' thim they run over ye, and whin ye git out o' the way to let thim pass they turn around and kick ye!"

RUTGERS MAKES NEW DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

New Brunswick, April 16.—Changes have been made by the board of trustees of Rutgers College in the requirements for the master's degree and for doctor of philosophy.

At the present time the master's degree is granted usually either after one year's graduate study, which makes it a preliminary step toward the doctor's degree, or it is granted after the completion of courses in medicine, law or divinity.

The new requirements for master's degree include a distinct course of study in three subjects and two years' residence at the college. The degree is to be regarded as one given for liberal study, and not for intense application to one subject or for original research. Candidates for the doctor's degree must submit a diploma from Rutgers or college of equal standing; must have a reading knowledge of French and German ,and must spend three years in an accepted course of study. The student must pursue a principal subject and either one or two secondary subjects.

Rev. Dr. W. B. Hill, of Poughkeepsie, and John Howard Ford, of New York, have qualified as life trustees. William S. Myers, of New York, was elected a life member of the board.

BODY OF MURDERED MAN FOUND IN LINDEN SWAMP

Elizabeth, April 16.—A man, presumably a foreigner, was found murdered in a swamp just over the city line in Linden township Sunday afternoon. There were half a dozen stab wounds in the face and head and it was thought that he had been dead from twelve to twenty-four hours. The body was taken to Martin's morgue. Beside the body were found a half-pint whisky flash, half filled, a hat pin and a broken pipe. In the pockets were a pocketbook and a card case. Nothing in either of these gave a clue to the man's identity. The pocketbook was a trick purse and this was slit open, causing the detectives to believe that the motive was robbery.

Chief Detective John A. Galatian of the prosecutor's staff, is working on the case, with the assistance of the Linden township authorities.

The body was found on Brunswick avenue, near the Stephenson car works.

The murdered man weighed probably 175 pounds. He wore a pair of corduroy trousers, black overcoat, corduroy cap, and a blue shirt. There was the mark of a felon which had been on the index finger of the left hand.

Whether the man was murdered at the spot where he was found or was slain and then carried there is a question which the officers are trying to solve. Some believe that he was the victim of a saloon brawl.

The face had been mutilated by some sharp instrument and the brain had been pierced.

Gets Ring With Apology.

Belvidere, April 16.—A diamond ring, seized by the customs authorities, has just been returned by them, with an apology, to William Stephens of this place. Mr. Stephens, when he went abroad a short time ago, forgot to declare the ring. When he returned it was seized and held for $76 duty. He protested, and offered evidence to show that he had the ring when he took passage from New York, but the officials then were unrelenting, and he had to come home without his property. Since then the authorities were convinced of the truth of Mr. Stephens' story.

Italian Band at Proctor's.

Rubino's Royal Italian Band, presenting "A Night in Venice," is the stellar attraction at Proctor's theatre, this week, the scenic effects being unusually good. The musical program includes classical and popular airs. Archie Onri, a clever juggler; "A Bachelor's Proposal in 1950," a travesty on the suffragette; Willy Smith, a versatile entertainer with songs and Earle Lloyd and the Claire Sisters, singing comedians, complete a fine bill.

TOWNSHIP HOLDS OUT FAINT HOPE

Tells City to Submit Formal Application for Darling Site Sewer Permit.

WILL GRANT HEARING

No Great Encouragement, However, Results From Conference Between Councils of City and Dunellen and Committee of Piscataway Officials.

Three members of the Piscataway township committee, Harris, Nelson and Geary, attended a conference with the Plainfield Common Council by invitation last night to discuss the sewer proposition. Representatives from the Dunellen Council were also present and joined in the discussion.

The Piscataway township committee was asked to attend the conference so that both Plainfield and Dunellen could ascertain whether they they would be able to secure the consent of the township to locate sewage disposal beds on the Darling farm, as suggested by the State Board of Health.

Although the township committee is already on record as opposed to the sewage plans, the committee of three last night suggested that Plainfield make a formal application for permission to enter the township territory. The committee agreed to a public hearing before final action is taken on the application.

While Plainfield and Dunellen were not given much encouragement to push their plans, the fact that a formal application has been requested and a public hearing will be granted is taken as a hopeful sign. The Plainfield Council will hold a special meting Monday night at which time a formal application will be prepared for presentation to the Piscataway township committee. It is expected that the Dunellen Council will take similar action.

FREEHOLDERS PLEASED WITH COUNTY ROADS

Repairs Needed, But Thoroughfares Haven't Suffered Badly This Winter.

The county road committees of the Board of Freeholders took a trip yesterday that covered all of the county roads to note their condition after the past severe winter. They found all the county roads to be in a very good condition as compared with those of other counties, although there is a decided need of repairs in certain localities.

Work will be begun upon the new county road, South avenue from Richmond street to Terrill road, as soon as the weather will permit. A special meeting of the Freeholders is called for tomorrow afternoon to consider the condition of a drawbridge at Elizabeth that has failed to work properly of late.

WILSON RECALLS SAUNDERS' NAME

Governor Made Little Mistake In Naming Him on State Education Board.

GETS COUNTY WRONG

Thought Former Borough Mayor Lived In Union; Frelinghuysen' Membership Prevents Second Appointee From Somerset.

Trenton, April 17.—There was a sharp squabble in the Senate yesterday when a message from the Governor asking permission to withdraw the appointment of William L. Saunders to the State Board of Education, was received. Senator Prince, who is acting as Governor while Dr. Wilson is in the South, thought it improper to accept a message while the Governor was away. Senator Edge, majority leader, held the same view but they gave way to Senator Fielder, floor leader, who suggested that the message be received and an opinion obtained later from the Attorney General.

When the Governor named Mr Saunders, he was under the impression that he lived in Union county It was discovered, however, that he lived in North Plainfield, Somerset county, the home of Mr. Frelinghuysen, who is also a member of the board. As two members cannot be from the same county, it became necessary to withdraw Mr. Saunders' name, and this the Senate agreed to permit.

In secret session the Senate confirmed the appointment of Frank Bergen, John R. Hardin and Mark A Sullivan as a commission for promotion of uniform legislation. The nomination of John J. Cottrell, to be harbor master of Elizabeth, was also confirmed.

Formal greeting was extended to Mr. and Mrs. Hubach, who were assisted in receiving by Mesdames J. J Praed, Fred Wendell, Isaac La Rue S. J. Higham, E. H. Beekman and Messrs. Walter McGee, B. J. Randolph and J. J. Praed stood up.

After this reception addresses of welcome were made by Walter McGee, Dr. C. M. Anderson, of the First M. E. church; Rev. C. C. Cain, of Grace M. E. church, and Rev. W. E. O'Donnell, who was the first pastor of Monroe Avenue church. Mr. Hubach responded feelingly.

Music for the occasion was furnished by the Y. M. C. A. orchestra The pretty decorations and the refreshments were provided by the Ladies' Aid Society of the church.

The annual minstrel show of Plainfield lodge of Elks will be held in the Plainfield theatre tonight. The troup has been coached into faultless condition by William E. MANY REJOICE WHEN RECTORY IS DEDICATED Rector of Heavenly Rest and His Wife Showered With Congratulations.

Fully 200 people from all parts of the city attended the formal opening and dedication, last night, of the new rectory recently erected by the Church of the Heavenly Rest for its pastor, Rev. Cortland H. Mallery The affair proved to be one of the most auspicious social functions the parish has conducted in several years, bringing together a host of well wishers for the religious work that is being so ably conducted in the extreme West End. The rector and his wife were showered with congratulations on the acquisition of their new home, which is undoubtedly one of the handsomest and most commodious in the city.

The callers began arriving shortly after 7:30 and were received by Rev and Mrs. Mallery, after which members of the parish escorted them about the rooms. The visitors included Rev. and Mrs. E. Vicar Stevenson, of Grace church; Rev and Mrs. W. S. McCoy, of the Church of the Holy Cross; Rev. Warner E. Ward, of St. Stephen's church, and Rev. John Currier, curate of Grace church, and officials of the various parishes. At the conclusion of the inspection, Rev. Mr. Stevenson said the service of benediction after which adjourment was taken to the parish house in the rear of the church. Its spaciousness afforded ample room for the proper seating of the attendants.

Rev. Mr. Mallery presided over the gathering and before introducing the speakers, made a few opening remarks. He referred to the beginning of the Church of the Heavenly Rest by a layman, Charles S. Lewis thirty years ago. The first service was one of consecration, a matter of more than passing interest to the church at large. The firm foundation for industry and perseverance established by the devoted little parish had always been followed as closely as possible, he said, and resulted in the erection of the rectory He warmly thanked all those who had aided in the work and in conclusion introduced Rev. Mr. Stevenson, whom he designated as a sympathizing friend and helper.

Mr. Stevenson congratulated the parish on the addition of the rectory to its group of buildings, declaring that it was the only proper thing to do. He was always ready to help in work of this kind and expressed pleasure at noting that parochialism has been broken down. In concluding he said he did not mean to break a commandment but he could not help wishing he had a rectory as nice as Mr. Mallery's. Rev. Mr. McCoy also extended congratulations and Juan A. Babcock, speaking for the Board of Trustees, thanked all for financial and other assistance. Bishop Scarborough was unable to be present and letters of regret were received from United States Senator James E. Martine, Charles W. McCutchen and other prominent citizens of the city and borough.

Refreshments were served under the auspices of the Women's Guild and a dance was held in conclusion A large number of young people remained until a late hour.

The new rectory adjoins the church grounds on Clinton avenue and cost about $5,000 to build.

CALIFORNIAN RECOVERS BODIES; CARPATHIA WITH TITANIC'S SURVIVORS DUE TOMORROW; 868 SAVED--1,310 LOST.

New York, April 17.—The Leyland steamship California has recovered the bodies of some of the victims of the Titanic disaster and will bring them to Boston under full speed as soon as she resumes her trip.

According to a wireless received at Boston from the Marconi station at Cape Race the California has been cruising about the scene of the disaster and has recovered a number of bodies. The ship will arrive tomorrow.

At 1 o'clock this morning the Carpathia, heading for New York, under full speed, passed through a severe electrical storm. The Carpathia has 868 survivors aboard.

Cape Race Marconi Station, April 17.—Capt. Haddock, of the Olympic, has sent this message:

"Please allay the rumor that Virginian has any Titanic passengers neither has the Tunisian. Believe only survivors on Carpathia. Second, third, fourth and fifth officers and second Marconi operator only officers reported saved."

Halifax, April 17.—The captain of the liner Parisian has reported by wireless that for several hours he steamed through great masses of wreckage, but he sighted neither life rafts nor bodies. He says that the weather is very cold and that if any of the survivors of the Titanic got away on pieces of wreckage they must have perished. This despatch confirms the belief here that the passengers picked up by the Carpathia suffered greatly. The Parisian is due at Halifax this morning.

The Olympic is proceeding. She could do nothing. The realization of the tragedy, followed by the knowledge that the younger sister of the Olympic went to the bottom while this great vessel was rushing to her aid at top speed and hoping against hope that she would get there on time, has stunned all on board.

To shipping men it seems strange that the Titanic could not have avoided disaster among the bergs, as undoubtedly she was warned of them and her own wireless had relayed to land the news of the presence of the iceberg in front of her. This was on Sunday, the Titanic having received the warning from the Hamburg-American liner Amerika.

"We are making every effort," Vice President Franklin, of the International Merchantile Marine said, "to get from the Carpathia a complete list of the persons taken from the Titanic. We have no means of knowing how many passengers and how many members of the crew of the Titanic are on the Carpathia. The report came to us that she carried 675 survivors. A message from Captain Rostron, of the Carpathia, received by the Cunard Line, said he was coming here with about 800 from the Titanic. Perhaps the difference between the 675 and the 800 inclues members of the crew who manned the twenty boats which were put off from the Titanic.

The Marconi office have received this message:

"Camperdown, N. S., April 17.—We are now in communication with the Carpathia via steamship Franconia and able to announce officially that Titanic struck enormous iceberg and sank. Over 2,000 lost. Seven hundred survivors, mostly women, on Carpathia.

MARCONI STATION."

Camperdown is the big Marconi wireless station near Halifax. The Franconia is a Cunard liner bound from Liverpool to Boston.

The Cunard line offices have received the following wireless message via Halifax:

"Carpathia 596 miles east of Ambrose light 11 p. m. Tuesday."

This message was unsigned, but the officers of the line felt hure that it was from Capt. Rustrom, commander of the Carpathia.

Allowing forty-six hours for the Carpathia to reach Ambrose light, she should get to this port at 9 o'clock tomorrow evening.

The official list of the passengers of the Titanic contained 2,178 names, of whom only 868 are believed to be saved. Thus the total death list will reach at least 1,310, with the probability of more being added as the list of rescued is completed.

The cabin list of survivors shows that 166 are missing, 195 survivors being reported. In the second cabin 205 are missing, with 116 safe on board the Carpathia. This makes a total in the two cabins of 371 missing and 311 saved. The indications are that several hundred steerage passengers will be saved as well as about 100 of the crew that manned the boats.

MARTINE WANTS MARINE REFORM

Condemns White Star Management for Sending Titanic Over Northern Route.

PREPARES RESOLUTION

To Be Introduced In Senate Tomorrow, and Will Urge International Bar to Dangerous Steamer Lanes In Ice Season.

Washington, D. C., April 17.—Senator James E. Martine, of New Jersey, strongly condemned the White Star line management for having sent the Titanic on the northern route, and will introduce in the Senate tomorrow a resolution requesting the President to confer with the Secretary of Commerce and Labor and open negotiations for an international conference with other maritime nations to agree upon new ocean lanes for travel at the season when danger from ice floes and bergs is greatest, and look to an agreement as to life boats and other safety appliances.

"Had the race for speed not impelled the Titanic to take the northern route the dreadful disaster would not have occurred," he said, "and hundreds of homes would have been saved from desolation. But the speed God demanded his sacrifice. Mammon must be satisfied."

On the subject of insuring the safety of passengers at sea, he will urge upon the Senate that there is as great necessity for boiler inspection on board ships as on locomotives, and to see that an adequate number of life boats are carried.

HEALTH OFFICIAL ACTS ON SMOKE

Soft Coal Nuisance Will Be Dealt With in Earnest By Board.

TO DRAW UP ORDINANCE

Regulations Modelled On Those Enforced In Elizabeth to Be Considered By the Board of Health at Its Next Meeting.

Acting on the suggestion made by this paper, Health Officer John O'Brien has taken steps to alleviate the soft coal smoke nuisance in this city. Both the local factories and the railroad are the offenders here, as in other cities, and the campaign will be directed against them. At the next meeting of the Board of Health the matter will be taken up in earnest.

Referring to his plans, Health Officer O'Brien said today:

"I have heard much about this soft coal smoke nuisance and believe the complaints are well founded. But no formal complaint has been made to the Board of Health. Now that the subject is being agitated, however, I am going to see what can be done to put a stop to the nuisance. The other day I wrote to the Elizabeth Board of Health, which has started a similar crusade, asking for a copy of their ordinance. When I get this, I will see that one is framed to suit local conditions and the matter will be discussed by the Board of Health at its next meeting in May."

Stephen H. Voorhees, a member of the Board of Health, said this morning:

"My attention has been called to the editorials in the Daily Press regarding the black smoke annoyance and I believe that something should be done. If some one will file a complaint with our board I feel sure that proper action will be taken. I am not certain what we can do but I feel sure we can find some way to rid the city of the nuisance."

Complaints have been received by Mayor Moy and he stated today that he would communicate with the Health Board regarding them.

HONOR NELSON RUNYON

Floersch. During the evening B. A. Paroubek, violin, and Joseph Denny, piano, rendered a popular program of music.

Justice Bergen, the first speaker, commenting upon the fact that it was a great thing to commemorate a fiftieth anniversary, added that the guest of honor was known for his integrity and independence.

"It never pays to be crooked or doubtful," said Justice Bergen, "and it is a pleasure to be able to look back over a life of honest living and not be afraid to look any man in the eye. It pays to live a life of uprightness, morality and purity as exemplified in Nelson Runyon."

Former State Senator Charles A. Reed, who said that he had known Mr. Runyon for many years, expressed his great pleasure in being present and having the opportunity to add his testimony to the worth of Nelson Runyon. He said that Mr. Runyon may not have made as much money as some people nor been given as much space in the newspapers, but it could never be said of him that he was not absolutely honest and that he did not first of all look after the interest of his clients. He had served them faithfully, which was something to be proud of and better than the acquisition of great wealth. He thought that Mr. Runyon was an honor to Plainfield and the bar association and both should be proud of him.

Following the reading of a letter of regret from John H. VanWinkle, Sr., who could not be present, Judge Coddington presented Mr. Runyon with a gas lamp, adding that it was one that he could not "hide under a bushel," and he hoped that it would be an aid to him in his reading.

Mr. Runyon was visibly affected when he rose to respond. He had the feeling that he was being given more than he was entitled to. Mr. Runyon's emotion made it difficult for him to speak at length, and he concluded with an expression of gratitude for the gift and the spirit it embodied.

Judge Walter L. Hetfield, who was introduced as "a man who after a long time had landed a plum," voiced the sentiments of the other speakers in sounding the praises of Counsellor Runyon. He recalled incidents of the early days first as a boy and later when he began the practice of law. The speaker said that Mr. Runyon had an opinion and will of his own and was not afraid to express them. He said that he had not only served Plainfield faithfully and well as city clerk and city judge, but he also served his country in the Civil War and he had likewise served his Master.

S. S. Swachhamer was presented as a citizen from "across the waters." He joined in the general expression of praise for Mr. Runyon, saying that it gave him much pleasure to honor such a man. He emphasized the trait of honesty which has predominated in the life of Mr. Runyon, saying that too much honor could not be given a man who was truthful and honest for the sake of truth and honesty.

Judge Coddington said that the affair would be incomplete without a word from Judge William N. Runyon, the son of the guest of the evening, and the latter not only thanked the members of the bar association for the fine tribute to his father, but took occasion to refer impressively to the fact that he possessed such a father, who had been more in the nature of an elder brother to him, possessing gentleness, patience and forgiveness, and he was glad to make public acknowledgement of this fact. He also referred to the fact that his father had a humble beginning and he rejoiced that he was able to live and see him honored by fellow-members of the bar.

Those present were: Nelson Runyon, W. A. Coddington, Judge W. L. Hetfield, Justice James J. Bergen, Charles A. Reed, S. S. Swackhamer, William N. Runyon, W. S. Angleman, Judge William Newcorn, Reuben Knox, Robert N. Crane, Walter L. Hetfield, Jr.; J. H. Crane, Martin B. Stutsman, Charles J. McNabb, Charles Moffett, George Anderson, William M. Stillman, William R. Coddington, Charles M. Dolliver, Asa F. Randolph, John H. VanWinkle, Jr.; City Judge W. G. DeMeza, Francis J. Blatz, V. W. Nash, Jr., and Harry C. Runyon. Judge Benjamin Vail was to have been one of the speakers, but was detained by illness. The committee in charge of the banquet comprised W. A. Coddington, chairman; John H. VanWinkle, Sr., F. J. Blatz, V. W. Nash, Jr., and H. C. Runyon.

The anniversary bill at Hammerstein's Victoria this week is headed by Belle Baker, the singing comedienne, followed by James J. Morton, Tempest and Sunshine, Bud Fisher, the cartoonist; the violinist, Yvette; Hoey and Lee; "A Woman of the Streets," a one-act play from the French; Ed Wynn and Russon, John and May Burke, Joe Keno and Rosie Green. Blanche Ring opened her Spring engagement at the George M. Cohan theatre Monday night in her new musical comedy, "The Wall Street Girl." Miss Ring has been touring the large cities in this country since early last Fall.

"The Wall Street Girl" is a musical comedy in three acts by Margaret Mayo and Edgar Selwyn, lyrics by Hapgood Burt and music by the late Karl Hoschna. The story centers around Jemima Greene, daughter of a Wall street broker. She has been brought up in mannish fashion and is interested in a business career. When her father turns down a Nevada gold mining proposition Jemima has an idea that the mine is the real thing and takes a half interest. She takes a still greater interest in her mining partner and from then on becomes distinctly feminine.

Among Miss Ring's songs are "Deedle-Dum-Dee," "I Should Have Been Born a Boy," "I Want a Regular Man" and "Every Day." Harry Gilfoil, who has been with Miss Ring for three seasons, is featured with her and plays the comedy role of James Greene, a Wall street broker. Among the principals are William P. Carleton, Clarence Oliver, Charles Winninger, Will Rogers, Maude Knowlton, Florence Shirley and Cross and Josephine.

C. L. Treat, painter and paperhanger, 411 East Third street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I suffered for a long time from kidney trouble and for years could not find anything that would give me relief. My back ached constantly and there was a pain across my kidneys. My kidneys were in bad shape and I became all run down, in fact, was almost a physical wreck. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a supply and they made a different man out of me. I got this remedy at Randolph's drug store and my experience was so satisfactory that I cannot make my endorsement of it too strong. I simply would not be wthout a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills on hand."

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

The largest panorama ever used on a stage will be seen in "Madame Sherry" when that sensational musical hit comes to the Plainfield theatre Friday night. This canvass is used in the second act and serves as a background, showing the famous sky-line of New York as seen from the harbor. The scene is the deck of a yacht anchored in the Hudson and just before the curtain descends, the craft is seen to steam away. The effect of motion is obtained by the moving panorama which, as it unfolds, brings all the famous landmarks of lower Manhattan to view. The audience can easily discern the Singer tower, the Hudson Terminal building, the Suspension bridge, the Battery, and finally, the Statue of Liberty.

Ship Almost Torn Asunder.

A report from St. John's, N. F., which is said to have emanated from the trading vessel Bruce, which is on the way to Sydney, C. B., gives a version of the Titanic disaster, which the trader obtained from various ships. This is to the effect that when the Titanic struck the berg she was going at the rate of eighteen knots an hour and the impact almost tore the ship asunder. The ship's sides and bulkheads were smashed from bow to midships. The bows and upper works were smashed to pieces. The ship struck the berg partially bow on, careening to the port side and almost turning turtle.

The bottom is supposed to have been torn out of the Titanic by submerged icebergs which she was passing over, as every compartment from midships forward was quickly flooded and the ship rapidly settled by the head with a list to port, rolling heavily in the rough of the sea. The force of the impact was so terrific that it practically rent the ship from stem to stern.

Panic Among Passengers.

For a short while sufficient order was maintained to allow of the launching in safety of most of the lifeboats and embark about 1,000 persons. Then a cry went up that the Titanic was sinking and the frenzied crowd rushed madly for the boats. As the ship settled in the sea many of the boats were smashed to pieces in the davits and some were swamped while they were being launched. The others went down with the ship.

Part of the crowd which surrounded the White Star offices continually, eagerly awaiting news of the disaster.

By this time the ship was seen to be settling fast and the water had reached the engine room. The wireless failed through the loss of motor and all lights went out all over the ship. This added to the gloom and the difficulty of handling the boats.

The source of this version, which has the appearance of reliability, gives the number of passengers rescued as over 1,000.

Mrs. Astor Lost $3,000,000 Jewels.

A wireless received at Norfolk, Va., reports the total survivors of the Titanic as 870 and that Mrs. John Jacob Astor reported she lost all jewels and saved only a raincoat and her night clothes.

It was reported in Paris that Mrs. Astor had with her diamonds of the value of 15,000,000 francs, or $3,000,000, which she bought from Cartier, the Paris jeweler. The latter refused to confirm or deny the report that he sold that amount of diamonds to her.

None Rescued by Virginian.

Nothing that came through the air from the sea mitigated in any degree the pity and the horror of the Titanic tragedy except as individual distress was abated by the gradual addition of names to the list of known survivors. There are no known survivors that are not on the Carpathia. The Virginian was too late and found none, and no other ship has reported finding any.

The receding Olympic continued the work of relaying the Carpathia's dispatches, and the successive bulletins posted at the White Star office kept many a despairing man or woman waiting all day and sent others away thanking God.

Famous Men Among Missing.

It is practically a certainty now that nearly all of the men of the Titanic's company went down with the ship when she plunged two miles toward the ocean floor or that they perished miserably while clinging to wreckage or life preservers in the icy waste. They gave up life within sight of the little, rocking boats that held their women and children. It cannot be doubted now that among these were Colonel John J. Astor, Isidor Straus, Major Archibald W. Butt, aid to President Taft; George D. Widener of Philadelphia, Karl H. Behr, the tennis champion; Jacques Futrelle, the writer; William T. Stead, the London editor; Francis D. Millet, the American artist, and many more who were known on both sides of the Atlantic. The toll of the Titanic's dead will be felt the world over.

Few Men Among Survivors.

The names of the survivors sent by wireless include a small number of men who were able to find a place with the women and children in the all too few boats. Such news as there is places among the living Henry S. Harper of the publishing firm, Dr. and Mrs. Henry Frauenthal and Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Frauenthal and Mrs. John Jacob Astor, with her maid, on the Carpathia, which is hurrying the survivors to this port and which should arrive here Thursday night. Among the others rescued are J. Bruce Ismay, the managing director of the White Star line; Mrs. George D. Widener of Philadelphia, Sir Cosmo Duff Gordon and Lady Duff Gordon.

LOS ANGELES' EXPERIMENT.

Los Angeles claims the credit of founding the first municipal journal. It is a rather novel undertaking and its career will be watched with interest by countless other progressive cities. Despite its salutatory, it is not going to be a real newspaper for it proudly announces that it hopes to succeed without publishing accidents, sports, personal notes, scandals or wire news. Its mission is told in this fashion:

"We are going to give every home in Los Angeles a real newspaper. Barring telegraph service, scandals, accidents, society and sports, it will cover everything municipal in Los Angeles.

"If the street is torn up in front of your house you can find out why. The doings of everything pertaining to hte city government will be fully chronicled without bias—harbor developments, the aqueduct, city affairs in the courts, and first, last and all the time the doings in the city hall will be covered.

"We have undertaken the serious business of telling the stockholders of the corporation known as the city of Los Angeles how their affairs are being managed, how their money is spent, why and how much. We start with a circulation of 60,000.

"The feature of the paper is the political page, which will be opposite the editorial page. Each party allowed on a ballot will have one column to say what it pleases."

The Los Angeles Municipal News will be published as a weekly, but the editor fondly hopes that ere long it will become a daily. Before that day arrives, the owners will gain some bitter experience for no matter how beautiful such ideals seem they are more expensive than the uninitiated in newspaperdom knows.

A P. S. R. SCHEME.

It is quite evident that the real purpose of the Public Service Railway Corporation in seeking to obtain a permit to place "Ys" at various points along its local lines is to rearrange the service. For a long time the company has been trying to improve its facilities in order that its Netherwood line may be connected with either the Arlington avenue or the West Fourth street line, preferably the former. If that scheme were allowed to come to pass, the patrons of the Arlington avenue and Netherwood lines would be compelled to change cars at Fourth street and Watchung avenue to reach the shopping district. Of course, in their usually suave way, the P. S. R. officials would attempt to convince the city fathers that such an innovation would not inconvenience the public, claiming that all that would be necessary for a patron to do would be to step off one car and step on another. That would sound plausible but be far from the facts. It would necessitate a wait at the so-called trolley junction and the patron would have to stand on a sidewalk for he would rather do that even in the most unpleasant weather rather than find shelter in that stuffy, dingy one-story shack dignified with the name "trolley station." It is very exceptional that either the Arlington avenue passenger wants to use the Netherwood line or vice versa. Where he or she does want to get to is the shopping district and with as little inconvenience as possible. The P. S. C. plan, if allowed to go through, would be injurious to the interests of the local merchants and they should be the ones to circumvent the scheme.

FOR A "SPOTLESS TOWN."

For some holidays there is little excuse. Sentiment or a desire to "play to the galleries" too often sways those who cause the making of them. The city of Trenton has set apart Friday, April 26, for a little celebration all its own. They call it "clean up" day for its purpose is to allow the community's sanitary and general appearance to be improved by the removal of all offensive and unsightly matter. The rich and the poor alike will work together. Some of the well-to-do citizens have volunteered to act as street cleaners and all appear to be enthusiastic for the success of the rather novel undertaking. All business, so far as possible, will be suspended, the manufacturing plants will be shut down and the schools closed for the day to the end that every man, woman and child may take an active part in the cleaning up.

The idea is a good one and why should not Plainfield copy after Trenton? "The City Beautiful" is a misnomer when applied to our community. It is not half as attractive as it might be were all the citizens to do their share in a general "clean-up." Ash and dump heaps in back yards, unpainted and unsightly chicken houses and fences, utter neglect of gutters, papers scattered about lawns, refuse from stores swept into the public streets, woodpiles in yards and other eyesores contribute to make many parts of the city unsightly to a degree. By all means let us have a "clean up" day too.

One measure that met its deserved fate during the present session of the Legislature was the bill which provided that wholesale liquor dealers would not be compelled to confine their business to the jurisdiction in which they were licensed. This bill aimed to give them the right to deliver "wet goods" anywhere in the State. The injustice of it is seen in the fact that here in Plainfield wholesalers pay an unusually high license fee and also heavy taxes on their property, whereas in North Plainfield the conditions are reversed. As they are licensed by the local government, the Plainfield dealers, both wholesale and retail, should be protected. The enactment into law of the bill as framed would have been manifestly unjust.

One man in this community has a State-wide reputation as a Sunday school worker. In fact his name is known pretty much wherever a Sunday school is to be found in this land. And he is the true type of a Christian; one which any young man might pattern after. They say that "a prophet is not without honor save in his own country," but here we have a laymen consecrated to good deeds, the uplifting of his fellows and his fellow-townsmen all honor him. It is with much pelasure that we announce that this man will be the contributing editor for Saturday's isspe. "Read, mark, learn and inwardly digest" what he will have to say.

The Congressional redistricting bill has become a law and Warren is eliminated from the Fifth Congressional district. Now the Fifth will consist of Union and Morris, making it solidly Republican. William E. Tuttle is serving his first and last term as the representative, and no one appreciates that fact better than he does, despite his many good qualities as a legislator and as a man.

Without having any facts upon which to base their assertion, some papers are bitterly denouncing the captain of the Titanic while others are equally severe in their attacks on Ismay, the president of the White Star line. What these papers should do is to suspend judgment.

We wish to state right at the start that we will carry a full line of these candies in stock. That they will always be fresh and that the prices will be exactly the same as those prevailing in the New York "Mirror Stores," and from time to time we shall run special sales the same as they do. While price has always been made subordinate to the more important essentials, "Purity and Quality," yet the "Mirror Prices" are modest enough to make pure candy posible to all classes.

The Square Pot Boiler and Its Square Fire Pot

This boiler—by reason of its square fire pot—shown below—furnishes heat at absolutely the very lowest cost. Satisfactory heat, too—easily controllable—moderate or intense, as you like, from cellar to farthest radiator.

The square fire pot, originated and patented by us, gives perfect, hence economical, combustion. Being square cornered it clears of ashes instantly—no clogging.

The effective radiating surface is from 15% to 25% greater than in other pots of same diameter. No clinkers—a cutting bar smashes them.

Your dealer will tell you of many other vital features. Ask him about Square Pot Boilers and Furnaces and Newport Ranges.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

ORANGE MARMALADE.

NOW that oranges are inexpensive no cupboard should be without a supply of orange marmalade.

English Orange Marmalade.—Allow for each orange used a half pound of sugar, a pint of water and the peel of one lemon to six oranges.

Peel and slice the oranges thinly, taking out the seeds. Chop the lemon peel and place it in a saucepan with the sliced oranges and a little water. Let these stand all night. Next day boil the oranges for five hours. Then put in the sugar and boil for an hour longer. When cold put away in air tight jars.

A Delicious Preserve.

Dark Marmalade.—If you like a dark colored marmalade try the following: Weigh the oranges to be used. For every pound of the fruit allow three fourths of a pound of sugar. The grated rind and juice of a lemon should be used for every five oranges. Take the skin off the oranges in quarters. Boil it until tender. Then drain and leave it to cool. Take the seeds out of the oranges and scrape as much of the pith from the skin as possible. Boil the peel with sugar, and when cool take the pith away and chop coarsely. Add this to the orange pulp and boil until it is as thick and dark as you like.

Clear Marmalade.—Slice twelve oranges and two lemons, taking out all the seeds. For each pound of fruit pour over the oranges and lemons three pints of cold water. Let it stand on the oranges twelve hours, then boil till tender. Allow this to stand till next day, then weigh it and to each pound allow one and a quarter pounds of sugar. Boil the whole till it jellies and is transparent. Meanwhile the marmalade must be stirred. Pour into pots and cover at once.

A Cheap Marmalade.

Mock Grange Marmalade.—A cheap marmalade may be made with orange peel. Save it whenever oranges are served. When peel from two or three dozen oranges accumulates boil until tender. Scrape off the white pith. Then chop the peel fine and put it in an enameled saucepan, covering with water. Add a cupful of sugar to a cupful of peel, boil and put aside.

Peel some rhubarb and cut into small pieces. Allow a half pound of sugar to a pound of the rhubarb. Put into a saucepan or preserving kettle and let the rhubarb stand overnight with the sugar. This is to extract the juice. Strain off the juice and add the cooked orange peel to it, using two to four pounds of the rhubarb to a quart of the orange.

WOMEN IN MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.
BY
Mrs. Louise B. Dorr.

Miss Ethel Arnold, of England, who has been a great traveler, recently said, "In all of the cities of the world where it has been my privilege to stop I have never seen a city so clean and healthy looking as those cities that have woman suffrage, and the men that live in them would not repeal woman suffrage if they could." There is scarcely a town or village of any size in America that has not its Woman's Club or Municipal League or civic department of the Woman's Club devoting its study and effort wholly to public housecleaning and beautifying. Several able women have become experts in the matter of city problems and are paid large sums to investigate civic affairs, especially those pertaining to health and sanitation. One of the most notable of these is Mrs. Caroline Bartlett Crane, of Kalamazoo, Mich., who, under the combined patronage and pay of the Minnesota Board of Health, the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs and the Commercial Clubs of St Paul, Minn., and Duluth, spent an entire month recently visiting and studying the water supply, sewerage, housing problems, school sanitation, poor relief and institutional methods of eleven different cities in Minnesota. She was paid $1,000 for her work and for her subsequent report and the good results have already been worth many times the cost. Similar results followed her investigation in Kentucky and Delaware. Residents of Chicago do not hesitate to accord to the Woman's Club and to the Woman's City Club, of Chicago, a great deal of credit for the marked improvement in civic conditions there. On Saturday, April 6, when Miss Addams spoke before the Woman's City Club on "Chicago's Progress in the Last Decade," more than 250 men crowded into the room to hear her talk. She said "There may be a few gray wolves still holding office, but they are in the minority and cannot hurt the city or stop the progress. Men who have records that are not clean do not seek office in Chicago because they have found it useless."

Senator La Follette in the April American magazine says, "It has always seemed to me that women should play a larger part than they do in the greater housekeeping of the State. In my first message to the Legislature after I became Governor, I recommended the appointment of a woman as factory inspector, and also that women should serve on the boards of universities and normal school regents, and on the very important board of control which has charge of all the charitable penal and reformatory institutions. At first, there was some opposition to the appointment of women, but that feeling has disappeared before the high character of the services which these women have rendered."

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, of Pure Food fame, recently said, "Things are happening so rapidly in the world that it is impossible for a man to keep up with his own specialty, much less to slop over into the specialties of other members of the family. I believe if the women had the ballot they would help to secure better sanitation in this country. Nearly every organized woman's club is in favor of these measures. They believe in cleanliness, clean air, better food and they can get them either by influencing the people who have the vote, or better still, by doing their own voting. If I were a woman I should say 'Give me a chance, while taking care of my own home, to be protected from the personons emanations from my neighbor's home,' and to her Representative she might say, 'If you do not vote for these measures I will vote to elect someone who will.' That would be a much more effective way of accomplishing results than women have to employ today in most States. This question is one of the greatest which men and women have to face today."

Are the women of Plainfield alive to the importance to them and their families of the questions of an abundance of pure water supply and a right system of sewerage with which the men of our city have been grappling for some time? Is it fair to leave to the overworked man, wrestling with the complexities of his own business and the problem of bread winning for his family, the study and investigation of all these public housekeeping questions which are as vital to every woman and child as to man?

The Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield at considerable expense has employed Miss Mary Philbrook, an able attorney, to investigate and report upon these important matters, and the public generally as well as the club members are urged to come and hear her lecture on Local Government at the Babcock building tomorrow, Thursday afternoon, at half past three o'clock. She has interviewed several public officials and will be prepared to answer questions especially concerning our water supply and the sewerage proposition.

At the recent Chamber of Commerce banquet in this city one of the greatly applauded speakers said that the most important branch of all government is local or municipal government since like the home, it lies at the very foundation of things. Thoughtful students of American political life have declared our boss-ridden town and city government "a veritable stench in the nostrils"—a disgrace to civilization. During the last decade a marked improvement has been shown and we claim that the betterment of conditions is largely due to the constantly increasing influence of women's organizations and to woman's ballot.

The countries having the lowest infant mortality are the eleven where women have the vote.—Woman's Journal.

Paint that Stays Painted

That has been my slogan for years. I aim to do the best possible painting—using only the best materials that the manufacturers can furnish and employing the most skilled mechanics that can be procured. I stand back of every job I do, and when I am allowed to use my own judgment in regard to the best method of doing it, I will gladly make good any work that by any chance proves defective.

ELIZABETH PRESBYTERY CLOSES ITS SESSION

Rev. Thos. Barbieri, Former Catholic Priest, Ordained as Calvinist Preacher.

The election of commissioners, elders and alternates to the General Assembly was one of the important features of the afternoon session of the ninety-seventh stated meeting of the Presbytery, held at the Crescent Avenue church, yesterday. Rev. Henry McGilvrey, of New Clinton, and Rev. J. P. Ferguson, of Elizabeth, were chosen as commissioners, and the alternates are Rev. Dr. J. R. Scott, of Lamington, and Rev. J. E. Northrup, of Perth Amboy. The two elders chosen to attend the General Assembly are A. D. Clark, of Elizabeth, and Robert Fowler, of Westfield, and the alternates are J. W. Philp, of Cranbery, and E. M. Gibbey, of Roselle. The General Assembly will meet in Louisville, Ky.

The call to Rev. Dr. Clarence L. Reynolds, the new pastor of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian church, Elizabeth, was formally presented and accepted and the installation will take place in the church later in the month.

Thomas Barbieri, a candidate for licensure, successfully passed his examination and was licensed to preach. He was ordained at the close of the meeting, Rev. J. I. Kerr delivering the charge to him. Mr. Barbieri was formerly a Catholic priest and has been working among the Italians of Bernardsville. He made a favorable impression before the Presbytery.

At the suggestion of several members, Rev. Dr. Stearns, a representative of the New Jersey Anti-Saloon League, addressed the meeting for five minutes, telling very briefly of the progress of the work. The Presbytery voted to hold its next meeting at the Presbyterian church, Springfield.

The rest of the afternoon was devoted to the reception of reports from the various committees, showing the progress of the work among the churches in the Presbytery. Before adjournment Elder S. S. Thompson was elected a trustee to fill the unexpired term of L. N. Lovell, deceased.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS MAY TURN OUT ON PARADE

Supt's. Association Considering Public Reveiw of the Sabbath Pupils.

The advisability of holding a Sunday-school parade during the spring was brought up at a meeting of the Sunday-school Superintendents' Association, last night, and a committee consisting of Robert Love, superintendent of the Hunter Avenue Tabernacle school; G. E. Hall, superintendent of the Park Avenue Baptist school, and J. R. Joy, superintendent of the First Methodist church, was appointed to report on the question at a future meeting.

The secretaries of the city's Sabbath's schools met with the association. The meeting was held in the Sunday-school room of the First Baptist church. President William C. Hubbard was in the chair.

James D. Macnab, formerly secretary of the First Baptist school, read a very complete and comprehensive paper upon the keeping of school reports in a systematic and uniform manner. After Mr. Macnab had finished there was a discussion of the different features of the paper.

The question of the relation and value of the Superintendents' Association to the local Sunday-school work was discussed, as were also the many problems that present themselves to the superintendents.

Y. M. C. A. CONCERT.

The next concert by the Y. M. C. A. orchestra will be given on Tuesday evening, April 23, at 8:15 o'clock in Y. M. C. A. hall. The orchestra will be assisted by E. D. Young and G. H. Bennett, cornetists; B. F. Tallamy, baritone soloist, and Miss Ida Randolph Smalley, accompanist.

The Loyal Temperance Legion will hold a sale tomorrow afternoon at the W. C. T. U. rooms on Madison avenue.

SEA POSTOFFICES.

Handling and Sorting the Mail Matter on Ocean Liners.

Every one is aware that a large quantity of mail comes from Europe. Probably most persons assume that it is dumped off the steamers in bulk and sorted and routed in the postoffice of the receiving port. Such a system would result in hopeless congestion, and practically all of the 15,000,000 pounds of foreign mail matter received at New York on an average of recent years is ready, sorted and sacked when the steamers make port. This work is done in the sea postoffices aboard the ships and means days saved in the time of delivery of mail matter intended for inland points.

In the huge mass of mail brought into New York each year there are on an average 80,000,000 separate pieces, many thousands with inadequate addresses, yet to such a degree of efficiency has the operation of the sea postoffices been brought and so carefully is the work done that less than 500 errors are made annually. As the entire quantity of the ocean mail received in a year would fill 2,200 standard mail cars an almost incredible accuracy is indicated—less than one error of any kind whatever for every four carloads of mail.

Congress authorized the sorting of mail on board conveying steamships in 1890, but it was not until the year following that any systematic effort was made to do so. The work of the sea postoffice is very similar to that of the railway mail service. On board a large liner there will be usually two United States clerks, two in the employ of the country from which the steamer sails and several subalterns or porters. This force will on an average trip open and sort from 800 to 900 sacks of mail, probably consisting of 500,000 ordinary letters and 4,000 registered letters, besides 250,000 parcels and periodicals. Mail for New York city is distributed and separately sacked for each of the stations and that for the United States generally according to a schedule which has 128 divisions. In addition to the mail for the United States, the sea postoffice clerks must sort that destined for Cuba, Mexico, Canada and the orient, a great deal of the last class being forwarded by rail to San Francisco and thence by steamer.

To facilitate matters two mail boats are maintained at New York, and these meet incoming steamers at the quarantine station, one taking on the mail bags intended for direct delivery to trains and steaming directly to the railway stations along the river front, the other that for New York city and such others as require rehandling. The sea postoffices cost the government something less than $3,000,000 per annum.—Harper's.

Dismal Outlook.

"Why do you look so unhappy?"

"Well, you know I'm pretty well busted."

"Yes, but you always were, and yet you've borne up pretty well. What is the particular trouble today?"

"I just proposed to the girl I love."

"Ah! And the answer was unfavorable?"

"I don't know."

"You don't know? Why, what do you mean? Surely you must know whether she accepted you or rejected you."

"That's just it. I asked her to marry me, and she said she would. Then I asked her if she was sure she could be happy with a man who had no money, and she said she could. She said she had always preferred buying things on credit anyhow."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Lemons Six.

Mrs. Benham—Father gave me away when we were married. Benham—Your father has been quite a fruit dealer. Mrs. Benham—What do you mean? Benham—He has married off six daughters, and any man who can unload half a dozen lemons in that way is a good one.—New York Press.

No Malice.

Farmer (to horse dealer)—No, I don't bear you no malice. I only hope when you're chased by a pack of ravishing 'ungry wolves you'll be a-driving that 'orse you sold me.—London Tit-Bits.

Apparently.

"Well, Quigley, what do you know?"

"Too much, I guess. I've been rejected as a juror six times in succession."—Chicago Tribune.

The great man is he who does not lose his child's heart.—Mencius.

REDISTRICTING BILL PASSED.

Trenton, April 17 (Special).—The Edge Congressional redistricting bill giving the State two additional Congressional districts under the apportionment of Congress, is now a law, having been passed by both Houses over the Governor's veto yesterday afternoon.

Miss Anna Smith, of Brooklyn, who has been spending the past two weeks with friends in this city, has returned home.

Mrs. C. C. Burnet and the Misses Burnet, of Madison avenue, have returned from Hamilton, Bermuda, where they have been stopping for two weeks at the Princess hotel.

The annual meeting of Warren chapel will be held at the chapel tonight.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the German Reformed church will hold its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Charles Kuenlen, 912 West Front street, at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Royal Council, Sr. O. U. A. M., will meet tonight and entertain some of the State officers. It is expected that there will be initiation of one candidate and refreshments will be served during a social hour.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

Perdue, of the Boston Beans, forced Mathewson to take water in his first league game of the season. Now we'll hear the old cry, "He can't come back."

But—watch him!

Merkle has at last signed his contract and has rejoined his team.

This will be a busy week in college baseball. Some of the games in the vicinity of Plainfield will be Stevens Institute at Columbia, and Dartmouth at Princeton on Wednesday, and Dickinson at N. Y. U., Rensselaer P. I. vs. Rutgers on Saturday.

It's time to give the porch chairs a new coat of paint. But don't sit on them until they are dry.

The Yankees are due to start to climb pretty soon. There's plenty of chance.

William Hollenbach, one of University of Pennsylvania's greatest football players, is dangerously ill following an operation for an injury received over five years ago.

Jim Jefferies has said it, "He will not try to come back." No one has thought that he would try again.

As the Fourth of July draws near some corn-fed dreamer starts the dope that Jim thinks he will or else wishes that he might, which amounts to the same thing in the end.

Dennis, the twirler for the Rutgers College team, is making them all eat out of his hand this year.

Harold Schenck helped things along for the New Brunswick college team last Saturday.

Pendleton has been shifted from short to centerfield on the Princeton team. His throwing was his one weak spot, but he is too good a man on the bases to lose.

Robert Bogardus will manage the Dunellen team again this year.

This afternoon all three of Plainfield's scholastic teams are playing away from home—P. H. S. at New Brunswick with the High School there, Leal's at Finderne with the Wilson Academy team, and the Borough High are arguing with Somerville High School at Somerville.

The Leal's team will grow better with a little experience.

Alfred Shrubb, the English marathoner, will probably train the Canadian Olympic team.

Ty Cobb has quit the Detroit team with a cold or a grouch. No one is telling how soon he will return.

Johnny Kling, of the Braves, hit one of Matty's choicest to the uttermost parts in Monday's game. It looks as tho Boston had the buildings this season all right.

A base on balls has been the unmaking of many a pitcher. Adams gave one to the Reds on Monday which was followed by a bunt and a wild throw that gave an eleven inning game to the Cincinnati crowd by a score of 3-2.

Which goes to prove that—It's the little things, etc.

MERKLE'S CONTRACT LOST; INFIELDER NOT HOLDOUT

Boston, Mass., April 17.—Fred Merkle showed up at the Copley Square Hotel Monday, anxious to get back in action with the Giants and the line-up will be complete when the Giants take to the field hereafter.

Merkle signed his original contract, but instead of giving it to McGraw he mailed it to the New York office of the National League in the St. James building. Somehow the papers went astray and yesterday while laying over in New York he made a new contract with Mr. Brush and signed it. So it is that everything is serene and the Giants defence is complete once more.

Merkle's absence caused much trouble for John J. McGraw yesterday prior to baseballic argument with Johnny Kling's braves. It compelled McGraw to change his defence at the last moment and was a big factor in the defeat of the New York team. He called Snodgrass into the diamond from centrefield and made him play first and placed Becker in the middle garden.

This combination, even with Mathewson doing the heavy work, proved unreliable. The presence of Becker in the outfield confused both Devore and Murray and made them cover more ground and as a result Devore was thrown out of his stride once and marked with a glaring error. Doyle at second was confused and censured with a fielding error and big Chief Meyers in the confusion that followed a play in the sixth made a bad throw to second on a double steal and allowed Sweeney, who had walked, to score. Had Merkle been in the game he would have prevented the Chief's mistake and saved that initial tally by rushing in and covering the play. The result was that Boston won the season's opener here by a score of 3 to 0.

ALLENTOWN CLUB WILL PLAY IN TRI-STATE LEAGUE

Allentown, Pa., April 17.—Papers are signed by which the Reading Tri-State champions are transferred to Allentown, under the ownership of the Allentown baseball committee, which during the past few months has been endeavoring to establish a professional team here. The team was forced to leave Reading for want of grounds.

The Allentown committee objected to the Reading owners pre-empting this city, threatening an injunction. To the credit of the Tri-State officials, they recognized the Allentown committee's equality to this territory, and an amicable conference resulted in the sale of the Reading franchise and team. President Carpenter acted for the league, and William F. Coughlin and Second Baseman Howard Weaver acted for the Reading team, of which they own two-thirds.

The Allentown committee representatives were Dr. A. H. Balliet, chairman; County Solicitor Max S. Erdman and Harry B. Schall, secretary of the Allentown fair, on whose grounds the diamond will be located. Coughlin was selected as manager of the new Allentown team. He will establish headquarters here immediately and have the players report as soon as possible.

The book is edited by Tim Murnane and contains the official rules, league members, National agreement, etc. Among the interesting chapters of the book will be found: The standing of the clubs at the close of the season. Facts for managers and a number of other little articles which ought to prove of value to both players and officials of professional baseball clubs. The pictorial feature of the book is as interesting as ever, containing as it does illustrations of many of the Champion Minor League teams. It will be sent to any address in the United States or Canada postpaid by the American Sports Publishing Company, 21 Warren street, New York City, upon receipt of ten cents.

STAR PITCHERS AT SMALL COST

O'Toole, O'Brien and Alexander, $100,000 Trio, Once Sold for $750.

CAN'T BE BOUGHT NOW

Prominent Baseball Man Says Big League Moguls Would Give One Hundred Thousand Cash for Sensational Young Trio.

By TOMMY CLARK.

Grover Alexander of the Philadelphia Nationals, Marty O'Toole of the Pittsburgh Pirates, and Buck O'Brien of the Boston Americans were the three pitching sensations of last season.

Now, what would a big league magnate give for these three? A prominent baseball man was asked. His reply was, "One hundred thousand cash."

Not long ago these three pitchers belonged to one club. This club sold them all, and the total received for the trio was $750. The difference that just a few seasons make is $99,250, which is a pretty fair rate of interest in valuation.

The case of these three pitchers shows how scouts can go wrong in their judgment and how the best of judges often go astray.

Indianapolis is the club that owned Alexander and O'Toole and O'Brien. W. H. Watkins, who gave Detroit her world championship team, is the owner of the Indianapolis team. Charley Carr, who played in the big leagues at one time for Detroit and who is to manage Kansas City in the association this year, was manager of the Indianapolis club. Both Carr and Watkins looked these three pitchers over thoroughly and passed them up. They brought a draft price which totals $750.

Other clubs as well as Indianapolis went wrong on these three men. They were wandering around in the bushes for several years before they drew attention from major league clubs. And then, with the exception of O'Toole, they did not develop until they were launched in the major leagues.

Detroit had a chance at all three of them. It had a draft in for Alexander. He cost the Phillies $500. One other major league club besides Detroit and Fogel's club put in a draft for him. He had been tipped off to Detroit, but careful investigation did not make his out and out purchase appear like a good venture. Just to cover the minor league field thoroughly Detroit put in a draft. He went to the Phillies by draft and not another magnate envied Fogel for getting him. Nine months later any of those clubs would have been willing to pay something like $25,000 for Alexander.

O'Brien, pronounced the best pitcher in the league by Tyrus Cobb, knocked around the minors for several years. Carr had him with his Indianapolis team in Cuba. Frank Navin and Carr talked about O'Brien, but Carr did not see enough in him to advise Detroit to pick him up. The Detroit club also had a scout look O'Brien over when he was pitching down east, but the scout's report did not favor O'Brien.

O'Toole's story is known. Nobody wanted him. They all agreed that he was not fit for major league society. Then suddenly somebody awakened to the fact that he was a great pitcher. Result: Record sale price.

Alexander, O'Toole and O'Brien, these three were a long time coming and were overlooked many times, but when they did arrive a certain major league magnate would willing give $100,000 for the three.

BORO HIGH SCHOOL'S GIRL ATHLETES DINE

Winning Basketball Team Entertained by Capt. Smith at Waldorf Hotel.

As a reward for its achievement in winning eighteen out of twenty-one games during the season, Captain William C. Smith, of the borough, gave the girls' basketball team of the North Plainfield High School a dinner at the Waldorf Hotel, last night. At the commencement of the season, Captain Smith promised the girls a dinner if they won every game and at the season's end the Captain generously argeed that the one defeat at the hands of the Plainfield High School, and two defeats by the New York Normal School didn't count. The girls' team is considered one of the best in the history of the school.

After the excellent dinner served by Henry Windham, Miss Helen Hummell, who was the toastmistress, called upon Henry C. Krebs, superintendent of borough schools. Complimenting the team upon its season's work, Mr. Krebs drew many lessons from athletics for benefit to those pursuing a course of study. If properly followed, athletics will result in making a well-rounded man or woman, physically and mentally, Mr. Krebs said. He complimented the girls upon the fact that their games did not interfere with their studies as was shown in their scholarship standing.

B. J. Phelps, principal of the school, was also called upon for a toast, and he made a happy response, recalling the well-earned victories of the team during the year. He said that the defeat by the New York Normal School five was no discouragement for the latter team was really out of the high school class, while the two defeats administered to the Plainfield High School more than made up for the one defeat of the borough five.

Captain Smith made a short speech, in which he praised the girls for their achievements and at the same time gave them some excellent advice in their work of preparation to meet life's duties. While he was not personally interested in athletics, he said, he rejoiced with the girls in their fine record and he hoped they would go on winning victories through life.

Those present at the dinner were Captain and Mrs. William C. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Phelps, H. C. Krebs, the Misses Clara Barton Smith, Elsie S. Debele, Bessie M. Carson, Mildred McAuliffe, Margaret Evelyn Eaton, Helen Hummel.

TY COBB TAKES FRENCH LEAVE OF DETROIT TIGERS

Chicago, April 17.—Ty Cobb, outfielder for the Detroit Americans, left his team here and departed for Detroit Monday night.

One report said he was angry because his slumbers were disturbed by trains passing near his window early Monday, and another was that he is suffering from a severe cold.

Manager Jennings affirmed the cold story, and added that he thought Cobb might as well be home until he is in better condition. Cobb did not play yesterday.

Mrs. Jacques Futrelle, Mrs. Charles M. Hays, whose husband was president of the Grand Trunk railroad; Mrs. Henry B. Harris and Mrs. Washington Dodge of San Francisco. The list of survivors includes women, children from the first cabin, second cabin and steerage. No distinctions were made when the rule of the sea sent women and children to the boats and left the men to their fate.

The first message from the Olympic, which said that there were 868 survivors on the Carpathia, was modified later to "about 800," but whether one message allowed for the boat crews and the other did not was not made clear.

There is no absolute certainty here as to how many souls were on the Titanic. The first estimate of the line here was 2,180, the London office's estimate 2,385, and an estimate here now is 2,210, made up of 325 first cabin, 285 second cabin, 710 steerage and 890 crew. With the lowest total and the highest list of saved there would be 1,300 lost and with the highest of both 1,500.

Captain Warned of Peril.

The Titanic's veteran captain, E. J. Smith, knew the peril that lay ahead of him along the westerly track of steamships. Only a few hours before the Titanic shattered her tremendous bulk the Hamburg-American liner Amerika wirelessed to the Titanic that there were two large icebergs a little east and south of the place where the White Star colossus was finally in collision. Shortly after the Titanic herself relayed it to a land station.

Tragic Tales Awaited.

Until the Carpathia arrives nobody may know the dreadfulness of the hours that followed the disaster. With no other ship for 200 miles around there was nothing to do for the men of the company except to bid farewell to their wives and families and hope that help would come before the Titanic foundered.

One wireless message has something of an order to the men on the small boats to pull far away from the ship so as to be removed from the danger of suction when she took her downward plunge. How long the occupants of the boats waited before the Titanic went under is not known exactly. It was at 2:20 a. m. when she finally foundered.

It was long after daylight when the Carpathia got to the scene and found the twenty boat loads of exhausted, grief stricken people. The sea was covered with wreckage. It is supposed that many clung to pieces of debris until cold and weakness released their hold.

Virginian Too Late.

Later on the Allan liner Virginian, the first ship to pick up the Titanic's cries for help, made her appearance. What living there were had been taken on board the Carpathia. The Virginian reported to her line office at Montreal and continued eastward to Glasgow with her mails. The Allan line office at Montreal gave out this report:

"We are in receipt of a Marconi via Cape Race from Captain Gambell of the Virginian stating that he arrived at the scene of the disaster too late to be of service and is proceeding on his voyage to Liverpool.

"The Parisian reported via Sable Island that she had no passengers from the Titanic on board."

Titanic Drifted Thirty Miles.

From the wireless messages sent by the Parisian, which was westbound for Montreal when she picked up the Titanic's call on Sunday night, much has been learned as to sea and weather conditions on Monday. Like the Virginian, the Parisian searched first for the Titanic too far to the northward, acting on the location given by that ship when she sent out her calls. But the Titanic had drifted thirty miles to the south before she foundered, and it was not until after a careful search that both ships made their way to the scene of the disaster.

The Parisian steamed through fields of heavy ice looking for passengers from the Titanic. Everywhere a green sea churned between masses from the arctic. Progress was necessarily slow. The liner found much wreckage from the Titanic, but observed no bodies. She found no lifeboats or rafts and none of the Titanic's company remained afloat on the wreckage.

The Parisian reported that the weather was cold, and that even if there had been persons adrift on wreckage they would in all probability have perished before they could have been picked up. The Parisian is due in Halifax this afternoon.

The Sable Island cable ship Minia, by the direction of the Canadian government, put out to the scene of the wreck on the chance that she might be in time to save life. She has reported to Halifax that nothing was to be seen where the Titanic foundered but a great mass of wreckage churning in the ice.

Storms Sweep Fatal Spot.

Late messages from the sea picked up by the Marconi people said that thunderstorms had swept the area where the Titanic went down. Storms were interfering with the transmission of messages.

P. A. S. Franklin, vice president of the International Merchant Marine, confirmed the estimate that the loss to the White Star company through the sinking of the Titanic would be about $3,000,000. Mr. Franklin said that the total insurance on the Titanic was $5,000,000, part of the insurance being taken by the company. He figured that the cost of the Titanic in building and for equipment was between $7,500,000 and $8,000,000. Mr. Franklin said that the insurance had been taken by companies in this country and abroad.

The company had nothing to do with the cargo, which was insured by the shippers, as is customary.

He said he had no way to estimate the personal loss to the passengers.

King and Queen Send Sympathies.

London, April 17.—King George sent the following message to the White Star company:

"The queen and I are horrified at the appalling disaster which has happened to the Titanic and at the terrible loss of life. We deeply sympathize with the bereaved relatives and feel for them in their great sorrow with all our hearts."

The Queen Mother Alexandra has sent a message of sympathy to the company, in which she says:

"It is with feelings of the deepest sorrow that I hear of the terrible disaster to the Titanic and of the awful loss of life. My heart is full of grief and sympathy for the bereaved families of those who have perished."

La Touraine Warned Titanic.

Havre, April 17.—The steamship La Touraine, from New York April 6, which has arrived here, reports that she entered the ice field in latitude 44 degrees 58 minutes north and longitude 50 degrees 40 minutes west. The ice was very low, and the ship slowed down to twelve knots an hour. La Touraine passed through another field later on.

The captain of La Touraine reports that he radiographed the Titanic on April 14 almost all the afternoon, giving the position of the bergs and warning the new boat. The Titanic acknowledged the warnings and thanked La Touraine for the information.

Paris Office Besieged.

Paris, April 17.—Every place where there was a possibility of getting news about the Titanic was thronged all day by American and French friends of those on board the lost vessel.

There were the most distressing scenes at the Paris office of the White Star line.

All the vessels in the harbor at Cherbourg displayed their flags at half mast because of the disaster.

CRUISERS TO MEET RESCUED.

President Taft Orders Vessels Dispatched to Bring News of Disaster.

Washington, April 17.—Deciding that for the public interest steps should be taken by the government to obtain authentic information concerning the fate of the passengers on the steamship Titanic, President Taft directed the navy department to dispatch two of the swiftest vessels with high power wireless toward the scene of the disaster to establish communication with the Carpathia. The scout cruisers Chester and Salem, capable of making twenty-two to twenty-four knots an hour under forced draft and already at sea off the Atlantic coast, were given wireless instructions by Secretary of the Navy Meyer to proceed post haste to the scene. The Chester was off Boston. The Salem left the southern drill grounds off the Virginia capes.

President Taft is deeply concerned over the fate of Major Butt, his personal aid, and arrangements were made with the navy department by which any information obtainable concerning Major Butt should be sent to the White House at any hour of the night. The naval authorities were instructed to turn over all information obtainable concerning the wreck or fate of the passengers to the newspapers for publication.

CONGRESS TO ACT QUICKLY.

Bill Would Compel Ships to Carry Sufficient Life Saving Apparatus.

Washington, April 17.—Speedy action by congress looking to the proper and adequate equipment with lifeboats and life preservers of ocean liners and coastwise vessels seems assured as a result of the Titanic disaster. Representative Hardwick of Georgia introduced a bill making it unlawful for any ship or other vessel engaged in ocean commerce to enter or clear at any port of the United States unless it is fully equipped with sufficient lifeboats, life preservers and other apparatus for the preservation of life to accommodate adequately persons to the extent of its passenger capacity and the number of its crew. The bill was referred to the committee on merchant marine and fisheries.

Majority Leader Underwood declared that he did not care to comment on the Titanic disaster until all the details are known, but he favors speedy legislation by congress for the preservation of life.

Steamer to Search For Bodies.

Boston, April 17.—The White Star line has ordered the cable steamer Mackay-Bennett to proceed from Halifax to the scene of the disaster for the purpose of recovering as many bodies as possible. The steamer will remain there until it receives further orders.

"I hain't got $20," Rastus replied, "but I thank ye for the compliment jes the same." The suit for libel is the result of bitter political fights, during which the editor is alleged to have handled the Sheriff without editorial gloves.

RECKLESS SPORT.

Rock Rolling Feats of Mark Twain In His Boyhood Days.

A BAD SCARE ENDED THE FUN

The Final Prank on Holliday's Hill Was In a Fair Way of Ending In a Tragedy When the Danger Was, by a Bit of Good Luck, Narrowly Averted.

Writing on "Mark Twain" in Harper's Magazine, Albert Bigelow Paine recounts some of the scrapes of the youthful Sam Clemens. Sam was a recognized ringleader among his playmates, and one of the pranks they played nearly had a fatal termination.

"One of their Sunday pastimes was to climb Holliday's hill and roll down big stones to frighten the people who were driving to church. Holliday's hill above the road was steep. A stone, once started, would go plunging and leaping down and bound across the road with the deadly swiftness of a twelve inch shell. The boys would get a stone poised, then wait until they saw a team approaching and, calculating the distance, would give it a start. Dropping down behind the bushes, they would watch the dramatic effect upon the churchgoers as the great missile shot across the road a few yards before them.

"This was Homeric sport, but they carried it too far. Stones that had a habit of getting loose so numerously on Sundays and so rarely on other days invited suspicion, and the 'patterollers'—river patrol, a kind of police of those days—were put on the watch. So the boys found other diversions until the patterollers did not watch any more. Then they planned a grand coup that should eclipse anything before attempted in the stone rolling line.

"A rock about the size of an omnibus was lying up there in a good position to go downhill, once started. They decided it would be a glorious thing to see that great bowlder go smashing down a hundred yards or so in front of some unsuspecting and peaceful minded churchgoer. Quarrymen were getting out rock not far away and left their picks and shovels over Sundays. The boys borrowed these and went to work to undermine the big stone. It was a heavier job than they had counted on, but they worked faithfully Sunday after Sunday. If their parents had wanted them to work like that they would have thought they were being killed.

"Finally one Sunday while they were digging it suddenly got loose and started down. They were not quite ready for it. Nobody was coming but an old colored man in a cart, so it was going to be wasted. It was not quite wasted, however. They had planned for a thrilling result, and there was thrill enough while it lasted. In the first place, the stone nearly caught Will Bowen when it started. John Briggs had just that moment quit digging and handed Will the pick. Will was about to step into the excavation when Sam Clemens, who was already there, leaped out with a yell:

"'Look out, boys; she's coming!'

"She came. The huge stone kept to the ground at first, then, gathering a wild momentum, it went bounding into the air. About halfway down the hill it struck a tree several inches thick and cut it clean off. This turned its course a little, and the negro in the cart, who heard the noise, saw it come crashing in his direction and made a wild effort to whip up his horse. It was also headed toward a cooper shop across the road.

"The boys watched it with growing interest. It made longer leaps with every bound, and whenever it struck the fragments and dust would fly. They were certain it would demolish the negro and destroy the cooper shop. The shop was empty, it being Sunday, but the rest of the catastrophe would invite close investigation and results. It was making mighty leaps now, and the negro had managed to get directly in its path. They stood holding their breath, their mouths open.

"Then suddenly—they could hardly believe their eyes—the bowlder struck a projection a distance above the road and, with a mighty bound, sailed clear over the negro and his mule and landed in the soft dirt beyond, only a fragment striking the shop, damaging but not wrecking it. Half buried in the ground, that bowlder lay there for nearly forty years. Then it was blasted for milling purposes. It was the last rock the boys ever rolled down. They began to suspect that the sport was not altogether safe.

"Limelight and the center of the stage was a passion of Sam Clemens' boyhood, a love of the spectacular that never wholly died. It seems almost a pity that in those old faroff, barefoot days he could not have looked down the years to a time when, with the world at his feet, venerable Oxford should clothe him in a scarlet gown."

Her Resentment.

Alice—It's mean of you to tell people that when Jack kissed me I didn't resent it. Maud—I didn't, dear. On the contrary, I said that when he kissed you on the cheek you held it up against him for quite awhile.—Boston Transcript.

ANDERSON WILL HELP PROBE JURY SYSTEM

Somerset Assemblyman is Named on Commission.

Trenton, April 17. Senators Lewis, of Burlington, and Reid, of Camden; Assemblymen Anderson, of Somerset, and Gill, of Mercer, under the provisions of Assembly joint resolution No. 12, were appointed a commission at the closing session of the Legislature, last night, to investigate the manner om selecting juries and to report the findings and recommendations at the next session of the Legislature.

The bill cites that the jury system of this State has been subject to criticism and complaint and particularly as to the manner of selecting juries. In view of this it was resolved that a commission of four be appointed to investigate the entire jury system. The sum of $5,000 was appropriated to defray the necessary expenses and employ clerical help.

Assemblyman Anderson, in speaking of the matter today, said that it is the intention of the commission to visit every county in the State and to secure all possible information on the subject from the more progressive States throughout the country.

NEGRO TRIES BY KNIFE TO CHEAT ELECTRIC CHAIR

Trenton, April 17.—Henry Pulley, a Monmouth county negro, sentenced to die in the electric chair at the State prison next month, slashed himself with a penknife in the stomach in the death-house. Although his condition is serious the prison authorities think he will recover. Pulley shot his wife at Long Branch last summer, after attempting to kill her alleged affinity.

GOV. WILSON GOES SOUTH.

Trenton, April 17 (Special).—Governor Wilson, with Mrs. Wilson, is "away down south in Dixie." Notwithstanding the Legislature, the Republican members of which last week severely criticised him for being absent from the State so much, was to be in session today, the Governor, after working hard all yesterday at his desk, joined Mrs. Wilson and they boarded a southern train for Atlanta, Ga. The Governor will make a campaign trip through the extreme South. Starting from Atlanta he will visit Savannah, Jacksonville, Fla., and other points.

SEPARATED FROM TRINITY CHURCH

Marconnier Chapel Granted Permission by Classis to Organize Independently

CONSTITUTION APRIL 26

About Thirty-eight Members of the Mother Church to Transfer Their Allegiance—Rev. J. Tucker Lansdale Will Continue As Pastor.

Acting upon the joint petition of Marconnier chapel and the Consistory of Trinity Reformed church, the Classis of Newark, at its half-yearly session at Linden, yesterday, gave the members of the chapel permission to organize as a separate church. The church will be constituted at the chapel on Friday night, April 26, under the direction of a committee from Classis comprising Rev. Henry Merele Mellen, of Newark; Rev. Uriah McClinchie, of Irvington, and Rev. John Y. Broek, of Trinity Reformed church, this city.

At the time the church is organized a pastor will be formally called and elders and deacons will be elected. Rev. J. Tucker Lansdale is the present pastor of the chapel, and he will continue in that capacity. As the result of this action, there will be about thirty-eight members of Trinity Reformed church dismissed to unite with Marconnier chapel, which will materially strengthen the new church.

Rev. John Y. Broek, who was president of the Classis during the past six months, presented his report on the state of religion among the churches. This was encouraging. Rev. Charles E. Waldron, of Bloomfield, was elected president, succeeding Mr. Broek.

Rev. Royal A. Stout and Elder James C. Hansen, of the Netherwood Reformed church, were chosen delegates to attend the meeting of General Synod to be held in June at Grand Rapids, Michigan. Rev. C. H. Schneegas, who has been the stated supply at the German Reformed church, informed the Classis that in June he will leave for Canada for the benefit of his health, and other arrangements for supplying the pulpit will be made.

Among those from this city and vicinity attending the session yesterday were Rev. J. Y. Broek and Elder Robert Clark, Jr., of Trinity Reformed church; Rev. J. Tucker Lansdale, of Marconnier chapel, and Rev. C. H. Schneegas, of the German Reformed church.

MANY ATTEND WEDDING IN MT. OLIVE CHURCH

Miss Mary E. Hampton and Andrew G. Brinkley, of this city, were married at the Mt. Olive Baptist church, colored, at 8 o'clock, last night, in the presence of a large gathering of friends, including a number of white people. Rev. Dr. M. W. Vaughan, pastor of the church, officiated. The church was elaborately decorated with flowers.

Miss Cora Vaughan was the maid of honor and the Misses Effie Ivey and Mabel Burgess were the bridesmaids. Hammond Jackson was the best man and the groomsmen were Alfred P. White and Harry Gordon. The bride was given in marriage by William Burton. The ushers were Nathan W. Pollard, Howard Burgess, Benjamin Burgess and Thomas Carter.

Prof. W. A. Green, of Newark, presided at the organ. He played the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin, and Mendelssohn's Wedding march. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of William Burton, 320 Berckman street, there being 150 guests. Later in the evening the couple left for Philadelphia and the south. They will reside here upon their return.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE DEBATE.

The North Plainfield High School sophomores will debate the Woman Suffrage question with Raritan High School tonight at 8 o'clock in the auditorium of the borough school. No admission will be charged, and the public is cordially invited to attend. The borough team, who will defend the negative side of the question, are Charles Beckman, Margaret Eaton and Donald Ketcham. The debate is an outgrowth of the work in the English department in charge of Mr. Mertz.

ANNUAL MEETING POSTPONED.

The annual congregational meeting of Trinity Reformed church which was announced for last night, was postponed to Wednesday night, April 24, on account of the small attendance due to the inclement weather.

Rev. Dr. T. L. Gardner, editor of the Sabbath Recorder, will speak at the Plainfield Rescue Mission meeting, tonight at 8 o'clock.

GILBERT DECLINES TO BE A ROOSEVELT DELEGATE

Regulars Complete Their Ticket For Fifth District Primaries--Progressives Select a Rough Rider as One of Their Nominees.

Although the law provides that the candidates have until Wednesday, May 1, to file their petitions as delegates-at-large to the National conventions, the organization Republicans in the Fifth Congressional district have already announced their preferences for both delegates and alternates. The progressives, however, have not elected their ticket.

It was learned today that former Mayor Alexander Gilbert, who was expected to become a candidate for delegate-at-large, on the progressive ticket does not propose to take any active part, at least in the campaign. To a reporter, he explained that he had not been in communication with the Roosevelt workers in the county or district and had no intention of entering the contest.

The friends of Roosevelt in Union county have agreed upon Edward Knapp, of Elizabeth, as their candidate. Knapp was a Rough Rider in the Spanish-American war and became a great admirer of Colonel Roosevelt. No one, so far as can be learned, has been picked in Morris county by the progressives as Knapp's running mate, neither has an alternate been selected in either Morris or Union.

As stated some time ago, Hamilton F. Kean, of Elizabeth, a New York banker and former county chairman, is the choice of the organization in Union county for delegate-at-large. George Franklin Vreeland, of Summit, is his alternate. The Morris county regulars had chosen William Francis Redmond, of Madison. He is connected with the New York banking house of Adolph Mueller. As alternate, Edward Kelly, of Morristown, has been selected.

Samuel Schleimer, an Elizabeth lawyer, has announced himself an anti-Wilson candidate for delegate-at-large as has Frank Shattle, of Plainfield, for the Democratic primaries.

All of the members of the bridal party, including the best man, Francis Johnson, and Gordon Abbott Reginald Rome, Earle T. Williams, Seth Barton French, Harry T. Curtiss, Lyall Hall, Ruthven Wodell and Elton Hoyt, 2d., will be given a dinner party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fisk.

DOUBLE FUNERAL FOR CHURCH CRASH VICTIMS

Westwood, April 18.—This borough was the scene of a double funeral yesterday following the tragedy incident to the laying of the cornerstone of the Church of Our Lady of Victory at Harrington Park, Sunday, which resulted in the lives of Mrs. Nicholas Ottignon, of Westwood, aged 65 years, and Mrs. Fritz Elkhart, of Hillsdale, aged 30 years, being snuffed out life a candle.

Requiem high mass for the repose of the soul of Mrs. Elkhart was celebrated by the Rev. Father J. T. Delehanty, pastor of St. Andrew's church, Eastwood.

At 2:30 o'clock this afternoon the funeral services of Mrs. Ottignon were conducted at the Westwood Methodist Episcopal church, the pastor, Rev. George H. Ketterer, officiating.

Rev. Father Began, of St. Mary's church, this city, was making the address at the cornerstone laying in Harrington Park when the crash occurred. He had a narrow escape and was slightly injured. Rev. J. T. Delehanty is a former curate at St. Mary's.

MASONIC GRAND LODGE ELECTS IN TRENTON

Close Fight Said to Be on Over Junior Grand Wardenship.

Trenton, April 18.—About eight hundred representatives are in attendance at the one hundred and twenty-fifth annual convocation of the Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of the State of New Jersey, which convened at Masonic Temple Hall yesterday.

The session is being presided over by Grand Master Burritt. One of the most important matters which came before the session yesterday was the vote which decided to retain the annual convocation in Trenton in 1913.

It was reported that there are about 35,000 Masons in New Jersey.

The most important feature of today's session of the Grand Lodge will be the election. It is said that there are several men who are desirous of securing the office of junior grand warden, the stepping-stone to the others in the lodge. Among those whose names have been mentioned in connection with this office are William R. Moakle, of Paterson; John Quincy Adams, of South Orange, and Edward M. Searing, of Dover.

It is understood that the representatives from Union, Hudson and Morris, and other northern counties, are in favor of Edward M. Searing, of Dover, for junior grand warden.

If the present grand master, Elihu A. Burritt, of Bayonne, should refuse a reelection, as it is said he will, it will mean the regular advancement of Charles P. Russ, of Elizabeth, to be senior grand warden. Benjamin F. Wakefield, the grand secretary, and William F. Burk, the grand treasurer, will be reelected.

REV. FATHER EGAN SAILS ON A TRIP TO EUROPE

Bayonne, April 18.—Rev. Andrew M. Egan, pastor of St. Mary's R. C. church here and former pastor of St. Mary's church, Plainfield, has sailed for Europe on the steamship Kron Prinz Wilhelm from Hoboken. He goes direct to Bremen and from there to Carlsbad, where he will remain for two or three weeks. Father Egan will remain abroad about ten weeks, and will visit points in France, Switzerland, Italy, Great Britain and Ireland. He may probably spend a few days in Rome.

Among those who bade him bon voyage at the steamboat dock were Dr. Lucias F. Donohue, ex-Mayor John J. Cain, Recorder Hugh H. Mara and Rev. Fathers Holton, Beale and McDonald, all of this city.

PHILIP GLENNON DIES.

The death of Philip Glennon occurred yesterday afternoon at his home on Elizabeth street. He leaves a wife, one daughter, Mrs. Michael Mack, of this city, and a son, Rev. Michael Glennon, curate of Holy Cross Roman Catholic church at Harrison, N. J. The funeral will be held Saturday morning at the house at 9:15 o'clock and 10 o'clock at St. Mary's church, where a high mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

IN THE CITY COURT.

Daniel Blue, a chauffeur, was arrested by Patrolman McCarthy for disorderly conduct at Third street and Plainfield avenue. He resisted arrest upon being taken into custody and he was fined eight dollars by City Judge William G. DeMeza. He paid in preference to spending twenty days in jail.

GARBAGE DISPOSAL QUESTION.

Councilman George S. Clay, chairman of the committee on public affairs is planning to hold another open meeting within a short time to continue the discussion of the question of a municipal system of garbage disposal. It is likely that an expert from New York will be invited to speak on the subject.

DOES GRADE CROSSING LAW REALLY EXIST?

House Republicans Claim That Measure Wilson Vetoed Is a Statute.

Trenton, April 18.—With both parties pledged to grade crossing reform, with the Pierce bill, Senate 14, introduced the first day of the session and with a prolonged partisan fight over the question, the 136th Legislature adjourned with no grade crossing law enacted. Or at least the Senators and the Assembly Democrats claim no law was put on the statute books. The House Republicans claim the bill vetoed by Governor Wilson is a law and almost the last thing done in the Assembly was to pass a resolution directing that the bill be filed with the Secretary of State.

The measure was received by Assistant Secretary of State J. B. R. Smith, a Republican, Secretary of State Crater not being here. The question of whether the bill be filed merely as a miscellaneous document or entered as a law passed over the veto and promulgated with the other laws was left for Mr. Crater to decide today.

There is talk that if Mr. Crater should refuse to promulgate it as a law, mandamus proceedings might be started to compel him to do so. On the other hand, if it be classed as a law the railroads will fight it on the ground that it was not enacted regularly, so the outlook is for litigation either way.

WATCHUNG COUNCIL GIVES TIMEPIECE TO P. G. KNIGHT

Past Grand Knight H. P. Greenwood was signally honored by the members of Watchung Council, No. 552, Knights of Columbus, at its regular meeting, last night. In the "good of the order" session, Past Grand Knight Arthur A. Cannon called Mr Greenwood forward in behalf of the council, presented him with a handsome solid gold watch of the most modern make. The presentation was made in appreciation of the recipient's interest and work during his two terms as the leading officer of the organization. Mr. Greenwood made a fitting response.

The watch bore a ribbon monogram and on the back and inside the case had the following inscription: President H. P. Greenwood, past grand knight, by members Watchung Council, 552, K. of C., 1910-1911." Mr. Greenwood was in the executive chair of the council during the two years mentioned and in that period instituted and accomplished several important undertakings, one of which was the building of the Columbus clubhouse, the home of an allied organization.

ADAM WAGLOW SUCCUMBS AFTER 3 MONTHS' ILLNESS

Following an illness of three months with a pulmonary trouble and complications, Adam Waglow, one of New Market's best known residents, died at his home on Maple avenue, that village, this morning. He was sixty-nine years old and had lived in this vicinity more than half his life. He was employed for a long time by the late Milton Haight, who lived at West Seventh street and Spooner avenue, but recently had been janitor of the New Market High School.

Mr. Waglow is survived by his wife, three sons and two daughters, as follows: Caspar, William and Joseph Waglow, and Mrs. Charles Overbaugh, of this city, and Mrs. Herbert Taylor, of Perth Amboy. William Waglow is an erector for the Hall Press Company, of Dunellen, and is at present in Baltimore. The funeral will be held at the late home Sunday afternoon.

Royal Council, Sr. O. U. A. M., following its business meeting last night had a social hour during which refreshments wer served.

CARPATHIA NEARS PORT; SOME SURVIVORS DERANGED; BOAT MAY DOCK TONIGHT.

LOWERING LIFEBOATS.

Showing How Passengers Are Saved In Disaster at Sea.

This picture was taken on the scene of the collision some time ago between the Republic and the Baltic.

New York, April 18.—The exact hour which the Carpathia, with the Titanic's survivors aboard, will reach port depends, of course, considerably upon weather conditions. A stiff northeast gale prevailed this morning along the coast, and there was rain and haze off Sandy Hook. A report came later in the morning that the liner had slackened her speed to ten knots.

If a heavy fog should set in tonight it is probable that the Carpathia would not attempt to come up the bay until tomorrow morning. But the officers of the line are extremely anxious to dock at the very earliest possible moment.

The Carpathia reported this morning that at 6 o'clock she was abreast of Nantucket. Nantucket is 193 miles from Sandy Hook at 9 o'clock tonight. It is twenty miles from Sandy Hook to the Cunard pier. The ship will slow down at Quarantine to take aboard the Health Officer. She might reach her pier about 11 o'clock.

The Brooklyn Navy Yard at 7:05 o'clock this morning received the following message from the United States scout cruiser Salem to be relayed to the Secretary of the Navy:

"Can get no information from the Carpathia of any kind, although she is within easy radio communication. She sometimes acknowledges a call but will not admit the receipt of messages or make any reply. Cannot believe that she has failed to understand the messages we have sent her. She is within easy range of the torpedo station. The Salem will go to Bradford this afternoon.

"CHANLER."

There was a hush on sea and land this morning, says the Evening Sun, as the mists opened and the United States scout cruiser Chester spoke of the sorrowful Carpathia coming to port from the scene of the wreck of the Titanic. There were a few necessary words. Were John Jacob Astor, Benjamin Guggenheim, Major Archibald Butt or Isidor Strauss on board? No, the Carpathia had answered. Then silence as if the mournful Carpathia carried secrets too deep for words.

To other inquiries of the Chester for details the Carpathia was mute. An intimation slipped past the wireless censor that some of the survivors were deranged mentally as a result of ineffable ordeals. This, it is understood, came in a message to the Stengel family at Newark, N. J. Together with names of survivors there came late last night brief personal messages from some of them that spoke of injured aboard the rescue ship.

Only by reverent use of the imagination, perhaps, can the real situation on board the Carpathia, now very likely a combined funeral and hospital ship, be grasped. Before turning sadly on the eastward journey Capt. Rostrom, of the Olympic, put the number of survivors at "about 800." Twenty-four hours later the Cunarder Franconia reported 705 alive from the Titanic on board the Carpathia. Whether some of the original company of the saved have succumbed to the shock and exposure suffered during the icebound hours spent in small boats at sea is naturally the first reflection.

Shortly after 1 o'clock this morning the wireless man on the cruiser Chester reported that the Carpathia's operator had left his key for the night utterly exhausted by work through a stretch of more than fifty-six hours. F. L. Maim is the Marconi wireless man on board the Carpathia who detected the Titanic's S. O. S. signal, plied the air with blue flame until he found the sinking vessel's location, and then gave the world lightning flash glimpses of the appalling scene.

Before taking any rest Maim sent through the air to be relayed by the Olympic 491 names. Of these 203 were of first cabin passengers, 129 second cabin, 146 steerage and crew, while 13 are still unclassified. There are still 214 rescued aboard the Carpathia whose names have not been sent. When these have been made known the death list of 1,477 can be made up.

LUCKY SHIP.

Flensburg, Prussia, April 18.—The S. S. Occident collided with an iceberg in the Baltic sea off Riga. Her entire bow was shattered, but her captain managed to run her into shoal water before she began to sink and her passengers and crew were safely taken off.

ANOTHER MEMBER OF "BEER PARTY" CAPTURED

The recent beer-stealing case in the borough, which led to James Keiderling's attempt to commit suicide in a borough stationhouse cell, last week, was revived today when Michael Kleminsky, of Stonybrook place, was arraigned before Justice Snape and was held for the Grand Jury. Kleminsky was arrested this morning by Marshal Keller.

The prisoner is alleged to be a member of the party of young men who broke into Mr. Latzko's wholesale liquor establishment and stole a number of cases of bottled courage, which they transported to a field on West End avenue, where they held a little session. Keiderling, one of the members of the party, attempted suicide unsucessfully when unable to get bail, but is now lodged in the county jail. Kleminsky was taken to Somerville this morning by Chief Weiss.

FREEHOLDERS RECEIVE BIDS FOR STONY BROOK BRIDGE

The Somerset county Board of Freeholders met this morning in the North Plainfield Council Chambers to receive bids for the building of the new bridge on West End avenue over Stony Brook.

There were eight bids that ranged from about $6,000 to $10,000. One was thrown out because of incompleteness. Those submitting bids were: The Owego Bridge Co., A. E. Smith, Dover Bodin Works, Nelson Meredith Co., Gano Sutton and Snook, J. W. Schwiers, Jr., Co., and F. R. Long Co. These bids were all considered at the morning session, after which adjournment took place. The successful bidder will be announced at the close of the afternoon session.

MINSTREL SHOW WAS SURPRISING

Elks Said it Would Be and They Carried Out The Promise.

NEW FACES AND ACTS

Harry Weber Makes a Hit With His Musical Act and the Topical Song Scores—Jack Todd's Tarry Trousers.

In presenting their annual minstrel show at the Plainfield theatre, last night, the members of Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E., made good their promises that this year's production would reveal some pleasant surprises. It was as full of them as an egg is of meat and talented members of the antlered band hung up a new record for ability in the entertainment field. Incidentally, almost a capacity audience was present, despite the scandalous weather that persisted in hanging around all evening.

George O. Stevens.
Interlocutor.

The initial surprise came with the first rise of the curtain. Instead of the customary, commonplace half-circle, the deck of a full-rigged ship was revealed. The chorus, dressed in natty duck suits, represented the crew. George O. Stevens was the commanding interlocutor and the end-men jig-reeled in later, supposedly the cooks. These were "Eddie" Bennett, "Jack" Todd, John Cose, "Johnny" Campbell, "Charley" Ward and Harry Blimm. They all had a good song and a batch of fresh-plucked gags and got away with them in their customary able manner. The second surprise in the first part was a sailor's hornpipe danced by "Sammy" Taverner. It was a refreshing number and deserved the hearty encore that followed the introduction. Surprise No. 3 was a hummer and came from Harry W. Weber, a newcomer in local Elk shows but from now on a star of the first magnitude. He "put across the foots," as the regular actors say it, as clever a representation of a sea-sick landlubber as anyone ever saw. The accompanying monologue and song, "I'm So Sea-sick," provoked billows of laughter. When he appeared in the second part, giving a musical comedy act in a Joe Weber make-up, it seemed as if the audience had conspired to keep him on the go all night. He is the biggest "find" the Elks have picked up in many moons.

An impromptu frescoing on the west side of "Jack" Todd's once immaculate duck trousers afforded him a chance to spring a surprise not on the bill. A white apron owned by John Cose helped out the act but hid the mirth-provoking expanse from view. The last surprise of all came at the finish of the show and served to introduce "Vet" Joseph C. Martin as a dramatist. His conception of a plantation jubilee, under the title of "Aunt Dinah's Birthday Party," wound up a faultless program in a way that sent the people home with naught but words of praise.

The ballads in the first part were all of a high standard, ably rendered. They divided honors with "Johnny" Campbell's topical song, "If It Wasn't For the Irish and the Jews," which passed out smart raps to various local people in the public eye. The numbers in the first part were as follows:

Opening Chorus, Medley of Popular songs; "Every day is Ladies' Day," George O. Stevens; "Here Come the Cooks," end men; Ballad, "Mine," William J. Tallamy; End song, "I Want to be in Dixie," John H. Cose; Sailor's Horn Pipe, S. R. Taverner; Ballad, "Roll on Thou Dark and Deep Blue Ocean," William G. Smith; End song, "My Bill from Louisville," Edwin H. Bennett; Topical Song, "If It Wasn't for the Irish and the Jews," John J. Campbell; Ballad, "I Hear You Calling Me," Elmer D. Cutting; Original number, "I'm So Sick," Harry W. Weber; End Song, "Brass Band Ephreham Jones," John V. Todd; Ballad, "Here's to

In the Talking machine trade there are THREE manufacturers, doing an annual business of over $85,000,000. The automobile industry has over a hundred and fifty manufacturers; the piano over a hundred, and the typewriters sixty.

Yet each one of these is a limited field, whereas almost any one can afford a Vitaphone at $15.00 up. The Vitaphone tone is 100 per cent. better than any other; the mechanism is original and protected by basic patents.

It requires no prophet to see the future of the Vitaphone.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

"Madame Sherry" was the musical comedy rage of New York. Stealing into the metropolis quietly late in August, the piece scored sensationally, and attracted overflowing audiences to every performance for nearly a year. The newspaper praise elicited by the piece was quite as phenomenal as the production's box office success. Woods, Frazee and Lederer are responsible for the production, the book being by Otto Hauerbach and the music by Karl Hoschna. "Madame Sherry" will appear at the Plainfield theatre tomorrow night.

BLUECOAT BALKS AT BAN ON KID ROLLER-SKATING

Perth Amboy, April 18.—Charged with declaring that roller-skating children have as much right to the streets as have automobilists, L. C. Jensen, of the local police force, has been called to account. Acting Mayor Garretson and Chief of Police Burke are both after Jensen, demanding an explanation. Charges may result, it being alleged that he refused to enforce an order barring roller skaters from certain streets.

Jensen received the orders with the rest of the force, and he told Chief Burke that there was no foundation in law for such a rule. Jensen had children who like to skate and he declared, it is alleged, that he would advise them to continue their pastime when and where they pleased. If his children are molested or hindered in any way, Jensen is said to have declared, he will see to it that automobiles are likewise kept off the streets where skating is prohibited. Acting under instructions from the Mayor, Chief Burke yesterday morning made a written demand upon Jensen for an explanation of a newspaper article which reported his statements and comments upon the orders.

LEWIS IS SWORN IN AS VICE-CHANCELLOR

Trenton, April 18.—In the presence of numerous friends and attaches of the State house, Vivian M. Lewis was sworn in yesterday as one of the vice chancellors. The oath of office was administered by Chancellor Edwin Robert Walker. Vice Chancellor Lewis then held an informal reception and received the congratulations of those present.

The first case to come before the new vice chancellor was the application of Mrs. Hulda Frazier against her husband, Frank Frazier, of Florence, for alimony, pending the settlement of the divorce proceedings instituted by the husband. Counsel in the case said that a settlement had been reached and the vice chancellor ordered that a specific statement of this fact be presented to him, upon the receipt of which the alimony application will be discharged.

Vice Chancellor Lewis announced the appointment of Charles E. Roberts as his stenographer. Mr. Roberts acted in this capacity for Chancellor Walker before he was elevated.

ELIZABETH RESIDENTS WERE ON THE TITANIC

Elizabeth, April 18.—Two residents of this city and several former residents are known to have been on the Titanic when she sailed for this country. Mr. and Mrs. Peter E. Renouf, of 30 Erie street, who were second cabin passengers, and who were accompanied by Mrs. Renouf's brothers, Clifford and Ernest, of England, are thought to have been lost. The Renoufs went to England last December, where they visited their native heath.

Former Elizabeth residents on the boat were Mr. and Mrs. William E. Carter and their children, Lucille, aged thirteen, and William, aged ten, of Philadelphia. They were accompanied by a maid. Mr. Carter, who is thirty-seven years old, is a nephew of Joseph Carter, of 43 South Broad street, this city. Mrs. Carter's maiden name was Polk, and she is said to be a descendant of President James K. Polk. Press dispatches show that the Carters were saved.

SUGGESTS SCOUT BOATS TO GUARD OCEAN LINERS

Hoboken, April 18.—That the big ocean steamship should be equipped with two or three fast motorboats to be used as scouts in fog or when running through field ice is the suggestion advanced by Frank Bailey, head of a boat building company here, in commenting on the Titanic disaster.

"These scout boats," said Bailey, "could be put out a mile or two ahead of the liner, connected with the main vessel by wireless, just as railroad trains on which members of the royal family in England travel are preceded on their way by pilot locomotives. The simple device of a motorboat out ahead of the Titanic in the fog would have given warning of the presence of the icebergs."

MEXICO RESENTS WARNING.

In Reply Says Americans Enlisting With Rebels May Be Executed.

City of Mexico, April 18.—The Mexican government refuses to recognize the right of the American government to instruct it on its duties in its observance of international law.

After setting forth at length the clauses of the Washington note the minister says that Americans in danger will be protected. He says that the government feels itself obligated no more than the United States would under the circumstances and that Americans enlisting with Mexican rebels are, he declares, subject to execution.

NO CLUE IN MURDER CASE.

Elizabeth, April 18.—County Detective John A. Galatian stated yesterday that there were no developments in the Peter Munic Linden murder mystery. Galatian worked on the case all yesterday but was unable to get any clue.

In addition to the ten persons baptized by Rev. Dr. M. W. Vaughan at the Mt. Olive Baptist church, on Sunday, there are twenty-five candidates remaining to be baptized within a short time. During the past few weeks there has been a spirit of revival in the church.

The will is dated May 14, 1897, and has five codicils, the last one being made in November, 1910, when the maker could not write her name and was only able to make her mark. The $10,000 bequest was first made to Rev. Hamilton Schuyler, of Davenport, Ia., but it was revoked by the first codicil.

CARPATHIA NEAR PORT

All restrictions on making a quick entry into port have been removed by the federal officials. The boat will not be boarded by customs men and there will be no immigration inspectors.

Everything possible was done to remove any obstacle that might delay the landing of the rescued from the Titanic. The cruisers Salem and Chester, the latter of which has been in wireless communication since yesterday with the Carpathia, are acting as a convoy for the Carpathia, and Secretary of the Treasury McVeagh sent word to the office of Collector Loeb that this would do away with the necessity for the presence of revenue cutters.

No Inspection of Passengers.

Commissioner of Immigration Williams announced that the rules covering the inspection of steerage passengers, should there be any of the Titanic's among the survivors, would be waived, and immigration inspectors will be on hand to help in every way steerage passengers. Officers of the White Star line will be at the Cunard pier to assist the Titanic's passengers to see that they are taken to hotels if they have no homes in this city to go to and to render any assistance possible.

General Nelson H. Henry, surveyor of the port, will have forty inspectors at the pier.

Mayor Gaynor sent a letter to Police Commissioner Waldo requesting him to make adequate arrangements for handling the crowds.

It is expected that there will be a great crowd at the Cunard pier when the Carpathia lands. Under the rule made by Surveyor Henry passes have been issued only to relatives of the survivors.

All of today and yesterday there was a line of persons at the door of Henry's office and a pass was issued about every minute. These persons applying insisted that they were relatives of survivors, naming people whose names were on the published lists. As there was practically no way in which General Henry could disprove the statements, it is believed that many persons who should have been barred have been able to get passes.

Newspaper Men Not Barred.

At first there was talk that news paper reporters would not be permitted on the pier, but after talks between officials of the Cunard line, representatives of the White Star line and government officials, the understanding was that a fixed number of reporters from each paper would be allowed on the pier. Letters have been received at the Cunard line offices protesting against the presence of reporters on the pier. One of the letters was sent by J. P. Morgan & Co. It was said that members of the Morgan family, the Guggenheims and the Astors had requested the Cunard people to keep reporters off the pier.

With the Carpathia in easy reaching distance of this port there is still no definite report obtainable as to the exact number of survivors or as to the circumstances of the most terrible of marine disasters. Such wireless messages as filtered through stormy airs were confusing and contradictory and left the world as much in suspense almost as it was last Monday night.

The most gratifying intelligence that came from the sea was received by the Cunard line here that all was well with the women and children and the few men who were picked up from small boats by the Carpathia hours after the Titanic foundered. Apparently the message was sent by Captain Rostron of the Carpathia, although it was unsigned.

Passenger Thought Lost Reported.

At the offices of the Saks department store a Marconigram was received from Halifax, supposed to have been relayed by wireless from the Carpathia, telling of the safety of Mrs. Edgar J. Meyer, the daughter of the late Andrew Saks, who died last week. From the message it appeared that Mr. Meyer was lost.

The name of Mrs. Meyer was not on the list of rescued given out at the White Star offices.

Mr. Franklin of the White Star line, when told of the message, expressed his delight and said he thought it might indicate that there were a number of other first class passengers of the Titanic aboard the Carpathia whose rescue had not been reported officially.

Details of Wreck Withheld.

Commander Decker of the Chester, in touch by wireless with the Cunarder, transmitted to Washington this report:

"Carpathia states that list of first and second class passengers and crew sent to shore."

The Chester had been ordered to obtain from the Carpathia details of the wreck as well as a list of the survivors; but, according to the news from Washington, information as to the circumstances of the collision were withheld.

Still another message received by the Cunard line, received with intense eagerness, but disappointing in its vagueness, came from Winfield Thompson, a Boston newspaper man, who is a passenger on the steamship Franconia. It was as follows:

"The steamship Franconia established communication with the Carpathia at 6:10, New York time, Wednesday morning. At that hour the Carpathia was 489 miles east of Ambrose light and was making 13 knots. The Carpathia has 705 survivors of the Titanic on board. The Franconia relaying personal messages from the survivors to Sable Island."

The suspense and uncertainty were increased by the failure of the cruiser Chester to obtain from the Carpathia exact details of the number of living and of the disaster itself. Boston heard through the wireless operator at the navy yard there that the Chester had tried to get information from the Cunarder, but that the cruiser's appeal for information was ignored except for a warning given by the Carpathia's wireless to the Chester's operator for the cruiser to "keep quiet."

Olympic Passenger Heard From.

The first coherent news from the liner Olympic, sister ship of the Titanic and one of the steamships which heard the Titanic's call for help, came here in the form of a United Press dispatch. The message was from Roy W. Howard. It suggested that the bodies of some of the Titanic's passengers were on the Californian.

None save Captain Haddock of the Olympic, his wireless operator, the officers of the Carpathia and the White Star line know whether the Carpathia told the Olympic the full story of the collision and what happened in the dreadful hours while the women and children who were saved along with a few of the men waited, chilled and exhausted, near the spot where the Titanic had plunged to her grave.

Relief Funds Started.

The following cablegrams were exchanged between the lord mayor of London and Mayor Gaynor of New York:

London, April 18, 1912.
The Mayor, New York:
Opening fund relief sufferers Titanic disaster. Will warmly welcome your sympathy. LORD MAYOR.

New York, April 18, 1912.
Lord Mayor, London:
Relief fund Titanic sufferers has our hearty sympathy. Will open one here. GAYNOR, Mayor.

Mayor Gaynor ordered the flags on all city buildings half masted because of the Titanic tragedy.

Parisian In Port, Adds Little.

Halifax, N. S., April 18.—The Allan liner Parisian has just reached port here. Captain Hains can tell nothing of the Titanic disaster. He had no intimation of it till Monday morning about 4 o'clock, when it was given him by the steamship Ocean that had taken in tow the disabled Deutschland, which the Parisian also had been trying to pick up. The only communication the Parisian had with the Titanic was on Sunday night at 10:30 o'clock, when the Parisian was in touch with her about 150 miles off and had asked her to relay a message to the Allen line in Montreal. This message was accepted and doubtless was forwarded.

The Parisian's operator then went to bed and when the fateful call for help came from the Titanic not long afterward it fell on space, so far as the Parisian was concerned.

"The ships nearest to the disaster, and they were much closer, were the Californian and Carpathia," said Captain Hains. "There were icebergs in hundreds, and when we met the Carpathia some time before we told them of the course we had come and they did the same thing for us, so that both gained, each hauling up on our course."

The only men on the Parisian who knew of the accident to the Titanic were the captain and the wireless operators. None of the officers beside these two, and not a single passenger, knew that the Titanic was lost till they entered Halifax harbor and learned the tragic news.

Could Have Seen Berg.

"Would it be possible that an iceberg would lie so low in the water that it would be impossible to see it on a clear night?" Captain Hains was asked.

"I never heard tell of such a thing," replied Captain Hains, closing the door of his cabin.

From Wireless Operator Sutherland of the steamer but little further information could be secured. Sutherland took refuge behind his contract with the Marconi company and said that it was impossible for him to say anything of what passed between the Parisian and any of the steamers that had been in touch with the Titanic.

No finer night, said Sutherland, could be desired than the night of Sunday, April 14. The air was clear and the sea smooth, and it was possible to see a distance of fifteen miles.

Pope and King Send Sympathies.

Rome, April 18.—Both Pope Pius and King Victor Emmanuel have expressed their deep sympathy for the victims of the Titanic disaster and have asked to be informed of the details of the wreck and of the names of the survivors.

London, April 18.—The text of the German emperor's message of sympathy sent to the White Star line from Achilleion is as follows:

"Deeply grieved by the sad news of the terrible disaster which has befallen your line. I send you the expression of my deepest sympathy and also with all those who mourn the loss of relatives and friends."

For Naval Maritime Station.

Washington, April 18.—As a result of the Titanic disaster the navy department will promptly inaugurate a movement to obtain authority from congress and by an international agreement with Great Britain to establish an international station at Cape Race in charge of a track master.

It is proposed to have installed at Cape Race a high power wireless station for the receipt of reports of icebergs and other menaces to navigation, to be forwarded from that point to all ships at sea and to the navy hydrographic office for publication to the maritime world.

Nathan Straus Collapses at News.

Rome, April 18.—Nathan Straus, the noted New York merchant and philanthropist, when informed that his brother, Isidor Straus, was missing and was believed to have gone to the bottom with Titanic, collapsed from shock and is now seriously ill.

His condition is such that the doctors are apprehensive.

Futrelle's Fate In Doubt.

London, April 18.—The list of survivors of the Titanic disaster, as given out by the White Star line offices here, contains the names of both Mr. and Mrs. Jacques Futrelle of Boston. Previous published lists here contained the name of Mrs. Futrelle only.

Another new name appearing on the list of second class passengers is that of Miss Finney.

Senate to Investigate.

Washington, April 18.—A resolution calling for a complete and comprehensive investigation of the Titanic disaster was adopted by the United States senate. Survivors of the terrible sea tragedy will be called to Washington to testify at this investigation.

Colony of Finns Believed Lost.

Duluth, Minn., April 18.—A colony of Finlanders coming to settle near Duluth probably perished on the Titanic. The colony consisted of twenty-five families, or 110 persons.

Dies When Told of Disaster.

Boissevain, Man., April 18.—J. P. Alexander, a former member of the provincial parliament, dropped dead when told of the Titanic disaster. He was a sufferer from heart disease.

Majestic to Replace Titanic.

London, April 18.—The steamship Majestic of the White Star line will replace the Titanic if the Olympic, which is due to sail on April 24, does not arrive in time.

Plainfield, N. J., April 18, 1912.

One feature of the Titanic disaster horrible to contemplate has had but little attention given it in the newspapers. The situation on board the Carpathia, which is bringing the survivors to New York must be heart-rending in the extreme. Can any sadder, more terrible moment be imagined than that when a boat load of humanity slowly continues a journey, begun under the most joyful of circumstances, with conditions so changed that the only description possible is one which likens the trip to a funeral cortege of four days' duration with thought of the mourning passengers on husbands, fathers and loved ones occupying watery graves? In addition to such sorrowing the survivors are undoubtedly without many necessities for physical comfort, and scores of them are probably suffering as a result of eight hours' exposure experienced while awaiting rescue. It is quite impossible that the Carpathia's lone surgeon can care for the wants of those urgently needing his services, to say nothing of the minor ills and ailments to be found among seven or eight hundred people.

Probably many who were rescued will be so grief stricken and their plight so pitiable that they will forget their own ills, and fail to realize the magnitude of their losses until they reach shore again. And it is safe to say that many who were among the survivors will never recover from the shock and the subsequent awful days on the Carpathia, but will be physical and mental wrecks during the remainder of their unhappy days. We would not be surprised to learn that many have gone mad, if only temporarily, since Sunday night. In fact, such is the report received by wireless.

The rescue ship has plenty of coal to bring her to New York for her bunkers were filled before she sailed away last week, but it is doubtful whether her larder was stocked to feed several hundred unexpected passengers for four or five days. Then again many passengers must have escaped with but little apparel. Certainly if the large majority were women there were few clothes on the Carpathia for them and they must be existing under distressing conditions. The whole thing is one of the most horrible features of a horrible catastrophe, the contemplation of which becomes more awful, more gruesome every day.

Radical changes in road construction and improvement will be among the beneficient results of the series of road bills enacted by the Legislature, approved by the Governor and now made law. They mean that ere long New Jersey will be restored to first place among the States of the Union in the improved highways list. Roads or portions thereof will be taken over by the State from time to time and their repair, maintenance and general improvements will be at the cost of the State and not at that of the people in the locality in which they are situated.

Regulations for the use of State roads are among the major features of the new statute. For instance, hereafter, no vehicle can be driven over a State road with more than a 20,000 pounds load. No blocks, hobs, studs or other projections can be attached to any vehicle's tires and no vehicle must be more than twelve feet high now more than nine feet wide. Penalties are imposed for the violation of these provisions and that which prohibits the placing of broken glass, pottery, or other sharp object on the roads which are injurious to their surfaces or to the person, health or property of those using the roads.

The entire system of State highways is placed, by the provisions of these acts, under the control of the State Highway Commission. This commission consists of the Govrenor, the State Road Commissioner, the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House and the State Treasurer. The highway system as arranged will include roads, parts of roads, main traveled highways, being chief lines of travel between seaside resorts and large centres of population, other roads which naturally would be a part of the State system and the Ocean boulevard and the Delaware river drive.

One of three famous brothers, Isidor Straus, lost his life in the Titanic catastrophe. Nathan Straus, another brother, is prostrated by the news, while it is reported that the third brother, Oscar Straus, has been kept in ignorance of Isidor's sudden end. Isidor and Nathan were partners in one of New York's greatest department stores, the R. H. Macy Company. Isidor attended to business and earned the hundreds of thousands that Nathan spent in philanthropic work. In the poorer sections of New York and in some cities of Europe, Nathan has done more to check infant mortality than any other living being and this he has done by supplying pure milk to infants whose parents could not afford to buy it. Isidor found time, however, to serve his country for a couple of terms in Congress, but in the political field Oscar was far more prominent. He achieved fame as a lawyer and as a historian. During three administrations he was United States minister to Turkey and was Secretary of Commerce in the Roosevelt Cabinet. Like his brothers, Oscar long since won distinction by his good deeds. All three have been good citizens and New York suffers a loss in the untimely death of Isidor.

Among the manifold gifts of our next Saturday's contributing editor is his high quality as an author and of him it can truthfully be said that he has talked to more people in more languages that he does not understand than any man in these parts. He has written a number of splendid volumes on religious subjects. One of the best known of his books is "The Life and Works of Jesus." It has not only had a wide circulation wherever the English tongue is spoken but has been translated into the Chinese, Japanese, Korean, Portugese, Spanish, Siamese, Norwegian and reprinted in English in India.

If dreams of our good friend, William L. Saunders, had come true, he would not be "out in the rain" on that State Board of Education job, but unfortunately for both North Plainfield is not annexed to Union county and is not a part of Plainfield. Although but one community, the inhabitants thereof are maintaining two separate governments and are attempting to solve our problems as no business corporation would by "putting the cart before the horse," as was illustrated in those plans for a joint sewage disposal plant.

Felicitations are extended to Rev. Cortland H. Mallery and the good people of the Church of the Heavenly Rest on the completion and dedication of the rectory in that growing parish. Since coming to Plainfield, Rev. Mr. Mallery has done an excellent work at this church and his many fine qualities have endeared him to his flock.

The Plainfield Board of Health is to be commended for responding to an appeal to abate the soft coal smoke nuisance. That an ordinance to put an end to this annoyance will be drafted and enforced without unnecessary loss of time is the hope of all who take proper interest in the community's welfare.

The "unsinkable" steamship may be put in the same category as the "fire-proof" skyscraper.

TOPICAL SONG FROM ELKS' MINSTREL SHOW

I.

Most every town I've visited
Have quite a bunch of Wops,
And some towns were full
Of Germans and of Greeks.
But in Plainfield
It's quite different,
Taking slant at all the cops.
Hardly one of them but good old Irish speaks.
And I can just imagine what a picture they would make
If the Chief should draw them up in single file.
Any kindergarten scholar
Who was really half awake,
Would declare each face
A map of Erin's Isle.

CHORUS:

I have met a lot of people,
Pauper and aristocrat,
But I never met the equal
Of our great and only "Pat."
Kiely is a great detective,
Of a good old Irish class,
And if you should want to join the force
You will have to have a brogue, of of course,
For Kiely knows a true blood Irishman.

II.

The men-folk here in Plainfield
Like to smoke their good cigars,
And some others like a glass or beer or two,
But if the Council keeps on closing up the hotel bars,
Why, whatever will the thirsty people do?
Each year they take away another license to sell booze,
And they say they really want to help the poor.
But, oh, dear fellow citizens,
How quietly they snooze,
When someone asks them,
"How about that sewer?"

CHORUS:

By and by when poor Chris Gloekler
Opens a Y. M. C. A.
And our friend, poor Aleck Findlay,
Sells soft drinks across the way;
When old Gabriel blows his trumpet,
And we start for glory sure,
Perhaps the Council in its bliss
Will give that license back to Chris.
And vote to have a really first class sewer.

III.

Since Jake Kilrain fought Sullivan,
Way down in New Orleans,
In the good old scrappy days of long ago,
We haven't had an Irish fight
Worth a half a bill of beans
Where one scrapper laid the other fellow low.
But now it seems that Plainfield
Is to have a dandy fight.
A scrap it will be, and no mere Highland fling,
For Patsy Reville's now in training
Ever since that night
Peter Sweeney threw his hat into the ring.

IV.

They tell us that in Plainfield everyone is nearly broke
And I hear that many cannot pay their rent.
This European business has affected every bloke
And has left him high and dry without a cent.
The ladies all are ready for their trip across the sea;
We sincerely hope that they'll enjoy the treat.
The money it has taken though to send them to Paree
Leaves their friends so broke they can't buy things to eat.

CHORUS:

Everybody reads the news now;
Everyone is up to date;
Some folks take a dozen papers
While some subscribe for twenty-eight.
We don't care if we are bankrupt,
If the girls will all enthuse;
There's not a one who's out of sorts
We'd have no chance to be game sports
If it wasn't for the Press and Courier-News.

CHORUS:

Here's a dandy combination.
What a scrap it sure will be,
If they want some advertisement,
Let Mike Watson referee.
Let all hands wear three leaves of shamrock,
And the fellow who shall rule
Let him his swellest clothes put on.
And act as Irish chaperon
In Europe with the Plainfield Daily Press.

Love and Success," Bertram F. Tallamy; End Song, "Toddling the Todalo," Harry N. Blimm; End Song "Der Faderland for Mine," Charles J. Ward; Closing Chorus, Medley of Popular songs.

In the olio, F. L. Steffin, of this city, who was to have contributed his impersonation act was unable to be present owing to a professional call. The numbers given, beside Mr. Weber's musical contribution, were banjo duos by the Van Eps Brothers and an original sketch, "In Chinatown," by Jack Todd and Harry Blimm. It permitted these two well known funmakers to introduce some original parodies and witty sidewalk conversation. This act was enhanced by a special scenic setting, representing a street in New York's Chinese district.

Those taking part in the closing number, "Aunt Dinah's Birthday Party," were the following: E. D. Cutting, J. C. Martin, J. H. Cose, E. H. Bennett, assisted by Messrs Weber, Taverner, Lohrman, Campbell, W. G. Smith, W. Firstbrook, C. L. Crist, F. H. Evans.

Much of the show's decided success is due to the untiring efforts of William E. MacClymont. He acted as coach during rehearsals and conducted the big orchestra of fifteen pieces with the aptness of a veteran baton wielder. The minstrel committee was composed of John H. Cose, chairman; J. V. Todd, H. N. Blimm, S. P. T. Wilbur, Albert C. Lohrman, J. C. Martin, W. E. MacClymont and Harry G. Weber.

The chorus was composed of the following: John Ardern, J. P. Burd, Henry Brentnall, C. L. Crist, F. H. Evans, A. D. Findlay, W. J. Firstbrook, F. J. Harding, L. B. Harris, F. R. Haynes, A. C. Lohrman, F. G. Lynn, W. T. McCullough, E. Y. Neighbour, W. H. Nischwitz, F. F. Nolan, A. A. Prudhon, E. C. Searing, A. E. Smith Sam Taverner, F. J. Van Eps and S. P. T. Wilbur.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

DELICIOUS DUMPLINGS.

DUMPLINGS are delicious in stews. They must be mixed with discretion, however. Shortening should not be put into them. It is apt to make them soft and soggy.

Do not remove the lid from the vessel in which they are cooked. They are then likely to be heavy.

Plain dumplings require only flour, salt, sweet milk and baking powder. The flour and baking powder should be sifted together. Then the milk may be mixed with them and the salt added.

Soup Dumplings.

When dumplings are cooking see that they are kept boiling. Only enough dumplings should be dropped in to cover the top of the stew or soup.

Egg Dumplings.—These make nice rich dumplings for soup. Take two eggs, a quarter of a teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of milk, a cup of sifted flour and a teaspoonful of baking powder. Beat the eggs. Sift the dry ingredients together. Add the milk and salt to the beaten eggs and stir these into the flour to make a thick batter. Drop into the soup by spoonfuls.

Parsley Dumplings.—For these take a piece of butter the size of an egg, two eggs, a teaspoonful of finely chopped parsley, a dash of nutmeg, some salt and sifted flour enough to make a batter. Cream the butter and combine it with the eggs, stir in the parsley, then mix with the flour. Drop by spoonfuls into soup.

Novel Recipes.

Suet Dumplings.—Take a cupful of grated bread, a cupful of sifted flour, a cupful of cleaned and shredded beef suet, three eggs, a cup of milk, a teaspoonful of salt and half a teaspoonful of baking powder. Sift the flour and baking powder together, beat the eggs and then add them to the breadcrumbs, suet and milk.

Have boiling milk ready and drop the dumplings into this. When they are cooked pour over them the cupful of milk called for in the recipe. If sweet dumplings are liked a cupful of sugar may be added to the ingredients of the dumplings.

Stew Dumplings.—This recipe is said to provide an excellent dumpling for use in stews. Take one egg, two cupfuls of sifted flour, a teaspoonful of salt and two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Add to these enough milk to make a batter. Drop into the stew by tablespoonfuls. Set the stew where it will boil. Cover the vessel and let it boil for ten or twelve minutes.

MOTHERS' WORK

Conducted by the Plainfield Mothers' Association.
Every Thursday

Contributing Staff.
Mrs. G. Stuart Simons, Mrs. Jos. Smith, Mrs. Wm. M. Sandford, Jr.

The New Jersey State Federation of Clubs has decided to co-operate with the New Jersey Congress of Mothers in all legislative matters and our president, Mrs. Augustus H. Reeve, of Moorestown, New Jersey, has been asked to speak at the annual meeting of the State Federation at Montclair, in May 1912, on points of contact between the Federation and the Congress.

The Conference of Charities and Correction has recognized the Congress as an active factor in State work by electing Mrs. Reeve to its advisory board. To the advisory board of the New Jersey Congress of Mothers have recently been added the well known names of Dr. Calvin N. Kendall, State commission of education; Dr. D. N. Schauffler, president State Board of Education, and Dr. Alex. M. Marcy, Jr., president of the New Jersey Society for the Prevention of Social Disease.

The people of New Jersey scarcely realize perhaps that the annual carnival of the Home and School League of Philadelphia to be held this year on Saturday, May 11, at the Academy of Music, is the display in graphic form of educational activities at work here, of vast significance, touching fully 200,000 people definitely and the whole citizenry definitely.

This league, whose president is Mrs. Mary V. Grice, works quietly and steadily throughout the year, in home, school and convention on all problems of childhood; it has gathered into one great working body all the vitally alert movements for sweeter, saner child life throughout the city; and in the spring time when other seeds are sown, this all-winter array of planters have the supreme joy of seeing the year's efforts blossom into one mighty show. This is the carnival. It is Philadelphia's childhood in bloom. Fairest of flowers, sweetest of services, holiest of products, the league here gives in a day, a vision of a year's splendid effort.

The league is a markedly Democratic organization with over 25,000 active members, demonstrating to the public its principles of motherhood, brotherhood, fatherhood and sisterhood through this monster merry-making, impressing on all beholders the educational value of all its activities.

Every section of the city will send participants, regardless of race, creed or social position. The strong human interest which holds the multitude centers in the child and those things that concern his best good. One great common purpose unites all hearts and charges the atmosphere with this spirit for which Philadelphia as a city stands.

Aims and Purposes of National Congress of Mothers.

To raise the standards of home life. To develop wiser, better-trained parenthood.

To give young people, ignorant of the proper care and training of children, opportunities to learn this that they may better perform the duties of parenthood.

To bring into closer relations the home and the school, that parent and teacher may co-operate intelligently in the education of the child.

To surround the childhood of the whole world with that loving, wise care in the impressionable years of life, that will develop good citizens, instead of lawbreakers and criminals.

To carry the mother-love and mother-thought into all that concerns or touches childhood in home school, church State or legislation.

To interest man and women to co-operate in the work for purer, truer homes, in the belief that to accomplish the best results, men and women must work together.

To secure such legislation as will ensure that children of tender years may not be tried in ordinary courts, but that each town shall establish juvenile courts and special officers, whose business it shall be to look out for that care which will rescue instead of confirm, the child in evil ways.

To work for such probationary care in individual homes rather than institutions.

To rouse the whole community to a sense of its duty and responsibility to the blameless, dependent and neglected children, because there is no philanthrophy which will so speedily reduce our taxes, reduce our prison expenses reduce the expense of institutions for correction and reform.

The work of the Congress is civic work in its broadest and highest sense, and every man or woman who is interested in the aims of the Congress is cordially invited to become a member and aid in the organized effort for a higher, nobler national life, which can only be attained through the individual homes.

At a meeting held in the High School library last Friday, the Plainfield Mothers' Association voted a contribution of fifteen dollars to be sent to the National Congress of Mothers to help carry on this child-welfare campaign.

The Roselle Parent-Teacher Association has started a free library of books helpful to mothers and teachers. The books have been contributed by mothers who have found them helpful in the training of their children and when they have served their purpose have put them in the library for the help of other mothers. These books cover many subjects, such as sex-hygiene, discipline, moral training of children and what books to read to children, story telling, etc. A librarian is appointed for each meeting.

It is rumored that Jane Addams or Florence Kelly may be appointed commissioner of the new "Federal Children's Bureau." Women have worked so hard for this measure it would be a beautiful tribute to their efforts, and either of these women would do inestimable service, combining, as they do, so many qualities that would make a perfect head for the place.

Iona Council, No. 14, Degree of Pocahontas, will hold a dance tonight in its rooms in the Coward building on Park avenue.

Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., at its meeting tonight will consider questions pertaining to the funeral benefit fund of the order.

Mrs. Charles C. Burnet and daughters, the Misses Clyde and Marguerite Burnet, of Madison avenue, have returned from Bermuda.

DISASTER HAS HAD NO EFFECT ON SEA TRAVEL

New York, April 18.—The disaster to the Titanic has thus far had no effect so far as curtailing sea travel is concerned, according to the steamship companies, and they believe that it will have no material bearing on the summer rush of vacation touring, which has already begun, but which does not reach its maximum until the latter part of May.

Some of the larger companies, as a matter of fact, are just now experiencing a contrary effect, an addition to their normal business, for each of them has had its generous quota of those who had planned to leave these shores on the new White Star liner.

ANNUAL MEETINGS OF CONGREGATIONALISTS

Plans of Church Enlargements Drawn and Soon to Be Exhibited.

Gratifying reports were received from all the church officers and committees at the annual meeting of the Congregational church, last evening. Charles Steiner, the church treasurer, presented a particularly satisfactory report. All bills have been paid and a goodly balance is in the treasury.

The committee on church enlargement reported that plans had been drawn. In the near future a congregational meeting will be held at which the plans will be shown upon a stereopticon screen and explained to the congregation.

A. W. Weseman, treasurer of the deacons' fund, told in what manner the disbursements had been made, after which the pastor, Rev. C. L. Goodrich, reviewed the general church activities of the past year, during which a very gratifying growth was experienced, twenty-four having been received into membership during the twelve-month.

At the election of officers the following were elected: Church clerk, R. W. Rice; deacons, A. W. Weseman and A. C. LaBoyteaux; official board, R. M. Hooker, E. L. Suffern and S. W. Dunning. The trustees whose terms expired were all re-elected and included M. C. VanArsdale, C. A. Rice, Philip S. Suffern and Dr. H. V. Hubbard.

The annual supper preceded the meeting. It was under the direction of the Ladies' Aid Society.

Chapel Has Had a Year of Successful Activity in All Departments.

Officers were elected and encouraging reports presnted at the annual meeting of Warren chapel last night. Rev. Joseph O. McKelvey, the pastor presided. The following was chosen as members of the finance committee: Charles D. Wheeler, treasurer of the chapel; Andrew J. Stiglitz, R. S. Lewis, Joseph W. Gravett and William Damarest.

Charles A. Harring and George B. Zimmer were reelected members of the ways and means committee and R. R. Pentecost and C. W. Jordan were added to the committee. Charles D. Wheeler was reelected treasurer of the chapel, and was complimented upon his fine report for the past year.

The total membership of the chapel is 217. It was reported that during the year $478 was raised for home missions and $296 for foreign missions, which with $44 for miscellaneous work brought the total for benevolences up to $813.

During the year five members were received on confession of faith, eight by letter, six were dismissed, sixty were placed on separate roll and seven infants and adults were baptized. Joseph W. Gavett, superintendent of Sunday-school, reported an average attendance of 227, with nine officers, 32 teachers, 75 in Bible classes, 166 in main school, 68 in primary department, 45 in beginners' department, a total of 395.

The cooking and sewing school, in charge of Miss Laura Lovell, reported a membership of 57. The receipts from the Wednesday missionary meetings were $224, divided equally between home and foreign missions. The society sent a barrel valued at $52.69 to a school at Sneedsville, Tenn., $5 to a hospital at San Juan and $5 for the work in the Philippine Islands.

The Men's Association contributed $50.82 and expended $46.40 for repairs on the chapel. The membership is 55. The report of Charles D. Wheeler, chapel treasurer, showed a cash balance of $495.24. The receipts were $3,974.47, of which $3,087.68 was given to the Crescent Avenue church. The total receipts were $6,566.91 and the disbursemnts $5,316.91.

GYMNASIUM EXHIBITION.

The Y. M. C. A. Juniors are to hold a gymnasium exhibition tonight at 8 o'clock. This is the final exhibition of the boys that participate in the "College League" and will be entirely in charge of the boys themselves.

COLUMBUS CLUB.

The members of the Columbus Club will entertain their feminine friends at the club this evening. The committee in charge has prepared a good program of card games, dancing and, a highly enjoyable evening is assured.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

The Giants, with Marquard in the box and Merkle back at first, got busy and took one for a change.

O'Toole succeeded in stopping the Reds after they had taken four straight from the Pirates.

He'll have to stop many more slides before he pays for himself.

The Red Sox took first place in the American League race Tuesday, and it looks very much as though they would put up a fight to stay there.

When the local interscholastic representatives pick out a day to start something, Old Sol puts the kibosh on their arrangements with moisture rumpus.

Tuesday warmed up like a good trout day.

The Yankees' twirling staff doesn't seem to loom very strong so far. In Tuesday's game Ford, Warhop and McConnell all did their little bit to hand things over to the Senators 10-3. These three constitute a fair slice of the Yank's staff.

Wolverton himself took a chance with the bat on Tuesday in an effort to help start the ball rolling, but he whiffed.

If this sort of sandwich weather keeps up you can't blame the fans for getting peeved.

Charles Dooin says he is going to work Alexander, Chalmers and Moore in rotation this year, and adds that each will pitch forty games before they take a crack at the American League pennant winner.

Perhaps—!

Matty's showing against Boston in his first game need give the fans no reason for apprehension. Matty will be there when he's needed.

The Polo Grounds are the scene of another opening this afternoon. Brooklyn is arguing with the Giants.

The cork center ball that we heard was the cause of so many large scores last year seems to have lost a little of its liveliness this year, or else the players have not got their eyes on it yet.

Last year Brooklyn and Boston were looked upon as a joke. Thus far this season they are a long way from last place, both of them.

St. Nicholas has a story by Christy Mathewson entitled "Matty in the Box," an autobiography of the big pitcher.

The Boy Scout movement has taken firm root in Plainfield. If you do not know about this world-wide organization, find out. It will pay you.

An old New Brunswick ball player has been heard from in Texas after a thirty years' disappearance—but he is not going to try to "come back."

Many players in these days disappear after the spring training ends and are never heard from again.

HARRY PAYNE WHITNEY RETURNS TO GAME AGAIN

Lakewood, April 18.—Polo enthusiasts are today contrasting the qualifications of Foxhall Keene and Harry Payne Whitney as polo players following the splendid showing made by the latter when he returned to the game Tuesday.

Many notables, including Mrs George J. Gould and John D. Rockefeller, witnessed the matches, which were held on the Georgian Court grounds. Keen rivalry was displayed between Keene and Whitney, who played on opposite teams. The former's team was the victor by a score of 6 goals to 2.

PLAYER WHO SKIPPED TURNS UP IN TEXAS

The New Brunswick Home News has the following interesting account of the discovery of an old New Brunswick ballplayer, who suddenly disappeared many years ago and who is now living in Texas. He had a brother living in this city who also mysteriously disappeared. The Home News says:

"The publication of a story in the Home News a few weeks ago, of a baseball game in 1860 between the Atlantics of Brooklyn and the Libertys of this city, which ended in a tie, recalled to several of the old timers here of the mysterious disappearance of Murray Van Nuis, the third baseman and batting star of the latter team.

"Shortly after that game Van Nuis disappeared from his home as mysteriously as if the earth had opened up and swallowed him.

"As the story goes Van Nuis returned to his home early one evening, and found two of his sons scrapping as to which one should go to the corner grocery after a pound of butter. This is only natural of children.

"'Never mind, I'll go after the butter,' Mr. Van Nuis is believed to have said. He went to the grocery, got the butter and left it on the back porch of his home. But that was the last seen in this city of Murray Van Nuis. His wife and children were heartbroken, and his disappearance remained a mystery to his old time friends. Mr. Van Nuis was a carpenter and was employed by Silas Wright, of South River.

"After years had passed he was given up as dead, and to this day the mystery remains unsolved to the New Brunswickers who knew him in those days when he was the star player of the old Libertys.

"To these men who remember him, it will be interesting to know that he is still living, and even hale and hearty at a ripe old age.

"He is located at Dallas, Texas, where he finally landed after many experiences in different parts of the world. He has now settled down in Dallas, according to a letter received here a short time by a cousin, who does not wish his name published.

"There are several relatives living in this city at the present time. Van Nuis had a brother, Charles, who disappeared in much the same manner from his home in Plainfield, but he later returned there.

"Murray Van Nuis never returned to New Brunswick, and probably never will. If he should he will come back as a modern Rip Van Winkle. In his letter to a relative here, he gave no facts as to why he disappeared. It was the first communication received from him since he disappeared some fifty and odd years ago."

RAIN AGAIN DEPRIVES LOCAL LADS OF GAMES

Yesterday afternoon proved to be poor baseball weather and the games scheduled to have been played by the local scholastic teams were of necessity postponed. The City High was to have journeyed to New Brunswick where they were slated to meet the High School team of that city, the borough school lads were chalked up for a game with the Somerset countyseaters, while Leals was forced to abandon their quarrel with the Wilson Military Academy boys. These postponed games deprived all three teams of a chance to show the improvement that the past few day's practise should have made with all of them.

The next chance that the fans will have to see these teams in action will be when the borough lads meet Kearney High School on Hyde field Monday afternoon. On Saturday afternoon the City High School lads make the Kenilworth trip, where they meet the Upsala college team, with the Leals lads visiting Staten Island, where they will try to lift the scalp from the Academy lads over there. On the following Wednesday we are scheduled to have a chance to see the local boys start something.

OLYMPIC GAMES WILL DRAW FROM ALL NATIONS

In every country that will be represented at the Olympic games in Stockholm in July athletes are now working hard to win positions on their national teams.

The question of promotion of inter-club contests in order that opportunities for the very best form of preparatory and eliminating trials in actual races might be arranged before the entries for the trial games close on May 4 is being considered by a sub-committee of the Southern Countries Cross-Country Association, whose headquarters are in London. The Olympic distances at which it is proposed to hold these inter-club trials are 100, 200, 400, 800, 1,500, 3,000 and 5,000 running and 10,000 metres walking.

A well-known London sporting writer says that Great Britain will never get an athlete up to the standard of the American cracks in hurdling and field events until they have a coach skilled in the American style to instruct them.

"But perhaps it is a mistake to write of style,' states this English authority; "it is not so much a question of style as of applied mechanics in these field events. The American hurdlers' speed is usually attributed to the 'straight leg' method, and correctly so, but that is only a means to and end, and that end the saving of a fraction of time between each hurdle and thus a yard or two in the whole race. Americans manage to get the front leg down straight and are fractionally quicker into their running for that reason. It is no doubt a great strain to practise the 'straight leg' method, but I think the majority of commentators forget that the athletes over the water practise over hurdles with movable top rails, which accounts for much."

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS TO ORGANIZE BASEBALL NINE

The City High School girls are to form a baseball team this spring. Class teams may be organized and a series of inter-class games played. A number of girls were out yesterday afternoon upon the High School tennis courts engaged in throwing practise.

Among those reporting were Fredrica Quentin, Mella Stryker, Jennie Feinberg, Pauline Feinberg, M. Solomon, Anna Franke, Jeanette Neighbor, Bessie Morris, Anne Smith, Elsa Schwed, Alice Mehl, Jessie Stewart and Ruth Douglas.

It is expected that a number of others will be out for the next practise.

TEMPLE BAPTIST GAME.

The Temple Baptist baseball team will play the Y. M. A. ball tossers, of Bound Brook, Saturday afternoon at 3:30 on Parker Field. This is a good chance for the fans to see a clean and fast amateur game, as well as to get a line on one of the teams entered in the Sunday-school League. Parrott and Lambertson will be the points for the church boys, while Zimmerman and Hall will officiate for the visitors.

SEVERAL BALL PLAYERS BECOME MAGNATES.

Finally Reap the Results of Their Labors on the Diamond.

The day when the baseball player is reaping the fruits of his labor is at hand. In the old days the magnates knew but little baseball, being in the game merely because they had the capital. The ball players were poorly paid, and when they were unable to play they entered other vocations.

It is different now. Not only does the average player receive far more remuneration than in the "good old days," but they are gradually creeping into the financial department of the game and sharing in the proceeds of the game which they helped to build up.

Comiskey, once a first baseman and not a richly salaried one at that, is now a millionaire owner in Chicago.

JOHN M. WARD, PRESIDENT OF THE BOSTON NATIONALS.

Connie Mack, who considered $2,000 mighty good pay when he was catching for Pittsburgh, is part owner of the Philadelphia Athletics. John M. Ward, a star pitcher and infielder, who possibly drew down $2,400 a year as a player, is now president of the Boston Nationals. James McAleer, after a lifetime spent on the diamond as player and manager, is president of the Boston Americans, while Clark Griffith, who has served in the ranks, is one of the stockholders of the Washington club.

Hughey Jennings, a brilliant infielder and manager, is now one of the owners of the Providence club of the International league. George Tebeau, one of the old Cleveland players, has grown wealthy from his holdings in the American association and Western league.

Others who have become club magnates in the minor leagues are Walter McCredie of Portland, Bill Coughlin, Bill Clymer, Jack Dunn, McGinnity, George Stallings and Charley Frank.

CARPENTIER COMING IN MAY.

French Middleweight Champion Will Visit America In Search of Matches.

George Carpentier, the eighteen-year-old Frenchman who won the European middleweight championship recently by knocking out Jim Sullivan in two rounds at Monte Carlo, is coming to America. Carpentier has received a big offer to box in New York, and it is believed that he will sail about May 1. He will be matched with Mike Gibbons, Frank Klaus and other topnotchers.

Hawaiian Swimmer In Olympics.

Duke Kahanamoku, the Hawaiian swimmer, who may make the American Olympic team, is being instructed in starting from "go" in the dashes by George Kistler, coach of the University of Pennsylvania.

Mack Still After Collegians.

Connie Mack, always partial to college ball players, is particularly interested in the future of Bull McCleary, former captain of the Pennsylvania State college baseball and football teams. McCleary is said to be an all around ball player, but Mack has made up his mind to develop him into a star pitcher if possible. McCleary weighs 195 pounds and is an athlete from head to foot.

Just as the World Makes Up It's Mind That a Thing Is Impossible---

Lo and behold, some clever geezer gets up and does it!

The first steamboat, the first locomotive, the first aeroplane were considered "impossible" but today "impossible" is a word we're careful how we use.

A few years ago folks thought it impossible to get ready-to-wear clothes as good as custom-made clothes.

Today these very doubters are wearing the "readys," and they'll continue to as long as they can get a that'll compare favorably with any custom-tailored suit at a much higher price.

OUR NAVY'S FLAGS

Each Vessel Carries Nearly a Ton of Bunting.

EMBLEMS OF ALL NATIONS.

Some of the Designs Are Quite Expensive, and, as a Rule, the Smaller the Nation the More Costly Its Banner. Uncle Sam's Flag Emporium.

On every vessel of the United States navy, from the monster battleship to the tiniest tug, is stowed away nearly a ton of flags, which go to make up the number each vessel is required to carry for use on different occasions. About half of this vast pile of flags consists of emblems of foreign nations. The making of the flag equipment for the navy costs more than $60,000 a year. Each ship carries forty-three foreign flags, which are thirteen feet wide by twenty-five feet long.

As a ship's quota of flags is renewed every three years it is no small undertaking to keep them replenished, and to this end Uncle Sam keeps a large flag-making establishment running at full time the year around at the Brooklyn navy yard. Employed there are some hundred skilled needlewomen working, cutting the different colored buntings into the required widths and sewing them together. Making the United States flag is not a difficult job, but the making of some of the foreign emblems is quite a different matter, and this is what most of the work at the flag establishment consists of.

Take, for example, the flag of San Salvador. In the background there is a belching volcano pouring forth its lava and white smoke. On the sides of the mountain is the green foliage and shrubery, while directly in the foreground is a tranquil sea of sapphire blue. Above the volcano is a rising sun set in a design of overflowing cornucopias and a diamond from which the rays are scintilating in every direction. To the left and right of the belching mountain are draped in varied designs banners which bear a similarity to the stars and stripes. Around the whole concentration is a wreath of cactus branches lovingly embracing the volcano, while at the top the date of the country's independence is inscribed. To make a flag of this description costs the government $52.50, and when one of these flags is placed on each ship of the navy every three years it can be readily seen that the insignificant little republic to the south of us is really costing the taxpayers of the country more than has ever been thought of.

The flag of Costa Rica, with its scenic beauty of mountains and sea, is another extravagant emblem, costing something like $50 to complete. So it seems that the smaller the nation the more costly its flag.

The largest flag made by the United States is the Ensign No. 1, which measures thirty-six feet long and nineteen feet wide. The cost of this monster is $40 or thereabouts.

The president's flag, while not the largest by any means, takes longest to make, requiring the labor of one person for a month to complete it. It is of simple design, being a blue field with the coat of arms of the United States in the center. The life sized eagle with outstretched wings and other emblems are all hand embroidered and involve the most patient work. The embroidery silk used on this flag, which is fourteen by ten feet, costs $9 a pound.

Uncle Sam's flag emporium is in charge of his flagmaster, whose business, among other things, is to test all the bunting bought by the establishment. One day a sample lot of bunting is soaked and washed in soap and fresh water, the next day the same process is followed with salt water. It is then exposed to the weather for ten days, thirty hours of which time must be in the sunlight. This is termed the color and fading test. Another test is always made for the tensile strength. A strip of the warp two inches wide is placed in a machine and must stand a pulling strain of sixty-five pounds, while two inches of the filling must stand a forty-five pound strain.

All over the floor of the workshop are arranged chalk lines and metal markers by the aid of which the flags are cut out. Large stripes and certain designs can be more conveniently stitched this way. The sewing is done by women on machines run by electric motors.

It is an interesting sight to see the big machine at work cutting out stars for the United States flags. It is the only machine of its kind in this country. It consists of a plunger fitted with steel knives the size of the star wanted, and with a single downward stroke it lays on a table 100 stars. There are eight different sizes of stars used for the different flags, and of course the machine is provided with the eight different dies for the purpose. Until recent years these stars were cut out by hand, which was a long and tedious task, but now a day's work of the machine will supply stars for a week's work on flags.—Harper's Weekly.

NEW SYSTEM MAKES TITLE SEARCH EASIER

Plan Used by First Class Counties Installed in the Registrar's Office.

Elizabeth, April 18.—Preliminary work for installing a new and different system of indexing the deeds and mortgages in the county registrar's office has been started by Deputy Registrar Edward Bauer and O. A. Howe, of Hackensack, an expert on the method to be employed, who will supervise the installation and instruct the clerks in its usage.

The change was authorized by the Board of Freeholders some time ago, when it was shown to them that under the present system, that of Johnson & Watson, it would be but a short time until there were as many index books as books of record. The one being installed is known as the Lusk index system and is in use in all the first-class counties of New Jersey and other States, where the registrar's department is under greater pressure.

A number of lawyers and others who make searches at the local Court house are more or less familiar with the Lusk method of indexing and pronounce it far superior to the one in present use.

The books to be used are patented. The left-hand page is divided into eight spaces; one for the date, five for the letters of the alphabet, one for the grantor's name and one for the grantee. The division of the alphabet into five parts is the secret of the space saving and when taken in collaboration with the method of carrying the alphabetical order through the whole name consequently, it is expected that one book will do the work now requiring four or five.

If there are five grantors to a piece of property, their names will all be set on the one line, each one being written in the space containing that letter of the alphabet with which their name begins. Under the present system five grantors require five lines. By carrying the alphabetical order further than the first letter of the name, all of the Ackermans, for instance, will be in rotation, as will be the Smiths and all others. In the present books Ackerman may be followed by Ammerman or some other name that properly belongs further along in the alphabet.

The work taken up yesterday was that first recorded after April 13, 1857, when Union county was formed. The lis pendens records are the ones to be treated first. Mr. Bauer said that the work would not be completed for probably two years, but would not in any way affect the running of the office.

As each record is gone over it is inspected and compared with the papers filed in connection with it, so that while the change is being made it also acts as an audit. It was discovered yesterday that one paper was missing in one of the records, but it is thought that it has been slipped in with others and will turn up before the work is completed.

Under the present system the letter M requires four books of 258 pages each. This is not the most used letter in the alphabet, but is merely used as an illustration and was the one on which the proposition was presented to the freeholders. The new system will accommodate all the names contained in these four volumes and a lot more, Mr. Howe says.

NEW TRUST COMPANY HAS POLITICAL FLAVOR

Elizabeth, April 18.—The Central Title Guarantee and Trust Company filed papers of incorporation with the county clerk yesterday. The new company will do a general banking and trust business, acting as executors for estates, fiscal agents for municipalities and individuals, and will accept trusts of all kinds.

The majority of the incorporators are prominently identified with the Republican organization. They are Hamilton F. Kean, 150 shares; Frank H. Smith, the county register and chairman, 150 shares; Frankland Briggs, of Newark, a son of the United States senator, 150 shares; Donald H. McLean, formerly John Kean's secretary, 150 shares; Charles N. Codding, of Westfield, who has been clerk in the Supreme Court for years. He has 150 shares; Arthur N. Pierson, of Westfield, 150 shares; Stephen T. Quinn and Walter J. Barrows, both of this city, who have fifty shares each.

The agent of the concern is Donald H. McLean and its office is to be at 120 Broad street.

WILLIAM F. HARRITY DEAD.

Philadelphia, April 18.—William F. Harrity, former chairman of the Democratic National Committee, died yesterday at his home in Overbrook after an illness of a few days. He was 62 years old. He achieved fame as manager of the campaign of Grover Cleveland in 1892. Much of the credit for the Democratic success that year was given to him. He withdrew from active politics in 1896, after the nomination of Bryan.

BORO TIGHTENING ITS FIRE LINES

Applications for Permits Must Be Filed 10 Days Before Council Meets.

TO INVESTIGATE PLANS

Under Present Regulations Applications May Be Put in Just Previous to Session—Two Permits Granted Last Night.

At an adjourned meeting of the Borough Council last night, held primarily for the purpose of giving a hearing on the Park place macadam petition, steps were taken to better regulate the granting of building permits. An ordinance to this effect was introduced by W. J. Buttfield, of the laws and ordinances committee, and placed on first and second reading. Heretofore, applications have been made to Chairman Stahl, of the Fire and Building committee or direct to the Council, invariably just before a meeting. The resolution changes the procedure, as may be seen, as follows:

"Whereas, the ordinance establishing fire limits in the borough prohibits the erection within such limits of wooden buildings, except in particular instances required by the circumstances; and,

"Whereas, it is impracticable for the Council to deal intelligently with any building permit requested without prior investigation; now, therefore be it

"Resolved, that hereafter all applications for building permits within said limits shall be filed with the clerk of the borough at least ten days before such permits to be considered and said applications shall be open to the inspection of the Mayor and Council and all property owners of the borough."

An application from the Plainfield Ice and Supply Co. to build an addition 35 by 16 feet to its stable at Somerset and Dupont streest made some time ago, was again laid over to permit of an investigation. These permits were granted: Mrs. Anna Carrine, addition to house on Harrison avenue; Frank Locke, garage in rear of residence on Mercer avenue.

There were no protests against the introduction of an ordinance to macadamize Park place and one will be introduced at the next regular meeting. A petition received from Dr. Clawson and others for electric lights on upper Manning avenue, was taken up. The request was denied because that portion of the street has not been accepted. J. V. E. Vanderhoef, and others, petitioned for oil sprinkling on Prospect place. Action was deferred as an authority on oils will be at the next meeting of the Council to advise the members as to the best composition to use in street work.

REORGANIZATION OF STATE ROAD DEPT.

Meeker Highway Engineer and Deputy Commissioner; Vail Division Engineer.

Trenton, April 19 (Special).—In conformity with the new laws, the State Road department has been completely reorganized. Commissioner Stevens has announced that Robert A. Meeker, of Plainfield, will thereafter be State Highway Engineer and also Deputy Commissioner. There are four division engineers, but only two, E. M. Vail, of Plainfield, and E. E. Reed, of Trenton, have been appointed.

There will also be a resident engineer in each county, and county engineers as a rule will be given preference for these positions. In addition, there will be ten inspectors whose duty it will be to keep in touch with road work as it progresses. For these positions a civil service examination will be held at Trenton next Wednesday.

SERVICES IN MEMORY OF THE TITANIC'S DEAD

Rector of Grace Invites Public to Join Congregation In Expressing Universal Sorrow --Sermons by Other Clerics.

A memorial service for those who perished in the sinking of the White Star Liner Titanic will be held at Grace Episcopal church, Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, the rector, impressed with the unexampled heroism of those who sacrificed their lives, and moved to deep sympathy for the survivors, decided to arrange the service. Several other pastors of the city will make the Titanic their subject at the services Sunday morning. The following from Rev. Mr. Stevenson explains itself:

"Editors Plainfield Daily Press:—

"The unequalled and tragic circumstances of the Titanic disaster which has stunned the world, and hangs like a pall upon the hearts of all men everywhere, holds at least one mitigating circumstance which, amidst universal pain and distress, casts forth an unspeakable hope and tempers our grief with a sense of pride for the race of man. I speak of the splendid courage and fortitude of those who are gone: the manhood and womanhood of those who met such a death so splendidly.

"It is my feeling that the whole body of Christians should hasten to offer in their religious services on Sunday next appropriate memorial for the noble dead, as well as supplications for the hundreds of survivors in their deep affliction. To this end, may I ask your kind offices to invite all members of the community who are willing to accept our hospitality to join us in Grace church on Sunday morning next at 11 o'clock. The service will be especially and peculiarly designed as a memorial service for the dead. We shall use every endeavor to avoid extremes of emotion, and provide such a dignified and substantial commemoration as the spirit of the prayer book only permits. A very hearty welcome will be extended to all who will join us.

"I shall be thankful if by this means we may be enabled to serve the present feeling and sentiment which must surely pervade the community.

"Thanking you in advance for your kindness.

"Believe me to be,

"Very sincerely yours,

"E. VICARS STEVENSON."

LECTURER PICTURED "OUR PACIFIC EMPIRE"

Robert Weyh Gives Illustrated Lecture in Board of Education's Free Series.

The last of the series of free public lectures arranged by the Board of Education, was given at the Washington School, last night, by Robert Weyh, of New York city, on "Our Pacific Empire." The lecture, which was illustrated, was considered by those present to be about the best in the course. Mr. Weyh, who has visited the Pacific Coast nearly every year since 1903, has made a personal study of conditions there. He displayed about one hundred exceptionally fine views.

There were shown pictures throughout northern and southern California, Seattle, Tacoma and Oregon, giving his audience an excellent idea of the natural beauty to be found in that part of the country, as well as the advantages from an agricultural and industrial point of view. Among some of the interesting views were those of the numerous missions, scenes along the coast, broad streets, lined on each side with stately palms, famous trees, and his pictures of flowers among the finest display here. Pictures taken in Santa Barbara, San Pedro were also shown, and an especially good one of "El Capitan," the famous mountain, 3,300 feet in height.

The views of San Francisco before and after the earthquake were of particular interest showing the rapid progress in rebuilding certain sections of the city, indicting the thrift and determination of the people.

COSTUME MUSICAL.

Announcement of a costume musicale to be given at the Hartridge Auditorium, Tuesday night, April 23, by the Misses Hoyt for the benefit of the Woman's Exchange, is attracting unusual interest. Since then the Misses Hoyt have appeared abroad.

Y. W. C. A. OBSERVES FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

First Membership Dinner a Brilliant Affair—Several Novel Features Please

The first membership banquet in the history of the local Y. M. C. A. was held last night in the association rooms at which about 140 were present. The event marked the fifth anniversary of the organization, which, as was brought out at the banquet, rounded out a most successful lustrum.

The tables and rooms were prettily decorated with cut flowers. The committee in charge was composed of the following: Miss Elizabeth Goddard, chairman; Mrs. Lewis A. Williams, Miss Margaret Mead, Miss Grace Burke and Miss Margaret Townsend.

Mrs. Robert Lowery, as toastmastress introduced the speakers of the evening and also read greetings from the president of the association, Mrs. F. G. Mrs. Percy Stewart made a short address in which she complimented the association upon the good work accomplished during the past five years.

The regular toasts were given in the form of magazine reviews, each one taking the name of some well-known monthly to represent the different department. Members of each department in costume carried out some original forms of entertainment. They made the hit of the evening.

The toasts were: Review of Reviews giving a historic review of the past five years, Mrs. J. R. Joy; Record of Christian Work, giving a review of the religious department, Miss Harriet O. Mattison; Dress, toasting the dressmaking and embroidery department, Mrs. C. W. WELCOMED BACK TO FIRST M. E. CHURCH Congregation and Members of Sister Churches Greet Pastor and His Wife.

The members of the First M. E. church joined in a hearty welcome to Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Charles M. Anderson at the annual reception in Vincent chapel, last night, which marked the beginning of Dr. Anderson's fourth year as pastor of the church. The members were a unit in their request to the Bishop that he should be sent back to the church for another year and in consequence were much pleased.

Despite the weather, there was a large attendance of members of the church, as well as many members of Grace M. E. and the Monroe Avenue M. E. churches, with their pastors, Rev. C. C. Cain and Rev. Fred J. Hubach.

Former Judge William R. Codington, a trustee of the church, was master of ceremonies and after making a few remarks complimenting Dr. Anderson and congratulating him upon the success of his work in the past and holding out bright prospects for the coming year, introduced the other speakers of the evening.

AS HEROES MET DEATH 'NEARER MY GOD TO THEE' WAS PLAYED BY THE BAND

Rushing across the seas under a star lit sky at a speed of twenty-three knots an hour, ploughing aside the ice field as a ploughshare turns a furrow, the ill-fated Titanic ran upon the submerged portion of an iceberg not much larger apparently than herself, ripping off her starboard plates about amidships. With her side sliced off and her back broken she listed to starboard, then rolled, lifted in the middle, and fore and aft slipped under the water in sight of a dozen or more lifeboats that bobbed in the sea with the rescued.

Captain Smith, when the crash came, it is reported, was not on the bridge, but was entertaining General Manager Ismay.

This flashlight picture was taken by the American Press Association from a tug. It shows some of the foundered liner's lifeboats in which passengers were saved hanging from the side of the Carpathia below the latter's boats.

The Titanic slid on to the narrow ledge of an iceberg, hung there for a brief moment and fell back into the water. Her three boilers then exploded, and she began to sink.

The band on board the Titanic went down playing "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

Mrs. Isidor Straus was partly dragged into a lifeboat. She refused to leave her husband to die alone, crawled back to him and died in his arms, a tragic heroine of the sea.

Henry B. Harris was placed in a lifeboat, saw a woman and child who must have died, left his place and lifted them into the boat and then went down to his death.

Colonel John Jacob Astor refused to accept a life belt, helped a dozen women and children into lifeboats, refused to get into one himself and was seen to die.

Two lifeboats were lowered almost on end and capsized as soon as they struck the water, survivors assert. All of the women and children who had been placed in them slid into the water and were drowned.

Officers of the Titanic held drawn guns to keep back panic stricken men while the women and children were being placed in the lifeboats.

The first thing that J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the steamship company that owned the Titanic, said when he was taken on board the Carpathia from a lifeboat was:

"For God's sake give me something to eat."

Mr. Ismay declared that he was the last man who entered the last boat that was taken away from the sinking Titanic. He also asserted positively that there was no use of firearms.

Officers with drawn revolvers kept fair order. They shot three steerage passengers to allay panic. Occasionally men were driven away from boats at pistol point.

Four perished in loading boats.

Many leaped into the water and perished, including John Jacob Astor.

Two men trying to get into a lifeboat ahead of women were shot by a ship's officer, who immediately killed himself.

MRS. ELIZABETH NAYLOR DEAD IN HER 68TH YEAR

Following an illness of three weeks from an effection of the stomach, Mrs. Elizabeth Naylor, wife of John R. Naylor, died at her home on East Third street, early this morning. She was in her sixty-eighth year and had lived in this vicinity all her life, having been born at New Providence. Her maiden name was Elizabeth Curtis.

Beside her husband, Mrs. Naylor is survived by three daughters and three sons. They are Mrs. Nathan Lee, of the borough; Mrs. Victor Lorton, and Mrs. Edward E. Townley, John, George B. and Albert Naylor, all of Plainfield. There are also a brother and a sister, E. P. Curtis, of St. Mary's avenue, and Mrs. Hannah Drake, of Scotch Plains.

LORING LOST IN WRECK; BROTHER-IN-LAW SAVED

The anxious crowd of relatives and friends who gathered at the Cunard line pier to meet the Carpathia, last night, included C. Wesley Holland, of West Seventh street. His nephew, J. H. Loring, of Loudon, and the latter's brother-in-law, George Rheims, were passengers on the ill-fated steamer. When she docked in, Mr. Holland found Mr. Loring had perished but Mr. Rheims was a survivor, but in a serious condition. Both of his feet were frozen and he had suffered frightfully from exposure, having had but little clothing on when put in a life-boat.

Owing to his condition, Mr. Rheims was not questioned about the tragedy and his version is not known. His wife, who is Mr. Holland's niece, was reported as a first cabin passenger also but this was an error. She is at present in Paris. Mr. Loring's parents reside in New York and his wife and two children are in London.

The total of those saved from the Titanic was placed officially at 705 today by W. W. Jeffries, general passenger agent of the White Star line. Mr. Jeffries accepts the report of the Carpathia as to the number of the survivors, giving them by cabins as follows:

First class	202
Second class	115
Third class	178
Crew	206
Officers	4
Total	705
Number lost	1,475

The U. S. Senate Committee appointed to investigate the Titanic disaster met at 10:30 o'clock this morning at the Waldorf to take testimony.

The most horrifying tales of brutality on the part of frenzied members of the Titanic's crew were related last night by J. P. Snyder, of Minneapolis, Minn., now at ethe Waldorf, and Luigi Signoli, of Philadelphia, who came in on the Carpathia.

WANT MAYOR TO RUN AT PRIMARY

Elizabeth Roosevelt Leaders Ask Him to Stand as Alternate Delegate.

NOT READY TO ANSWER

Expected to Notify Committee of His Decision In Few Days—Edward Knapp Picked as One Delegate in District.

A. V. Hoagland, John J. Stamler and Ernest A. Knapp, of Elizabeth, representing the Roosevelt League, of that city, called on Mayor G. W. V. Moy last night for the purpose of asking him to become an alternate delegate to the National Republican convention. The Mayor replied that he was not ready to give his answer at that time, but would notify the committee of his decision in a few days.

Edward Knapp, of Elizabeth, has been selected as one of the delegates from the Fifth district by the Roosevelt followers. He was one of the Roosevelt "Rough Riders" during the Spanish-American War and is an enthusiastic Roosevelt supporter.

There are two delegates and two alternates for each part from each Congressional district and as Morris and Union comprise the Fifth district, a delegate and an alternate will be selected from each. The Taft ticket has been selected as reported exclusively in this paper yesterday. The Roosevelt ticket is still incomplete.

MARTINE RESOLUTION IN THE WRONG HANDS

Improperly Referred; Lodge Sees That it Goes to Right Committee Finally.

Washington, April 19 (Special).—Considerable difficulty was experienced in the Senate in properly referring Senator Martine's resolution with relation to maritime law for passenger liners. The Vice-President inadvertantly referred the document to the Committee on Commerce. Senator Lodge happened to be away from his desk when the assignment was made, and upon returning to the room and discovering the error, he insisted that the resolution be withdrawn from the Committee on Commerce and referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations. The Vice-President took the necessary steps to change the destination of the document, and the Senate proceeded to receive a message from the House.

Senator Cullom, chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, announced yesterday that he expects to call a special meeting of his committee for Saturday, at which the possibilities of an international conference and of international agreements regulating life-saving apparatus on ocean vessels will be discussed. It is said that the Martine resolution, relating to treaties with other countries, will be the basis of the discussion.

AUTO DRIVER FLEES.

A delivery wagon of the Perth Amboy Beef Company, driven by John Albertz, of 724 Berckman street, Perth Amboy, was struck by an automobile on Park avenue, near Evergreen avenue, at 7:30 o'clock last night. The wagon had n light. Albertz was thrown out and the horses were shaken loose from the wagon, but the autoist didn't stop to see what damage he had done. The car went on and disappeared around the Evergreen avenue corner. The horses ran away, but were caught at Arlington place. Albertz was only slightly hurt, and continued on his way home.

TITANIC DEATH ROLL EQUALS SMALL CITY

More People Than Live in Garwood Went Down With Liner.

Assuming the loss of life on the Titanic was about 1,400, that would mean the death of more persons than reside in any one of 118 municipalities in this State. There are seven places in Essex county of less population.

More persons sank beneath the waves with the Titanic than live in the Union county municipalities of Springfield or Garwood. New Providence borough and New Providence township together have about as many residents as were drowned. The population of the Second ward of Westfield is only about two-thirds of the victims, and only about 100 persons would be left in either the Third or Fourth ward of that town after such a loss.

If an inundation should cover either Pompton Lakes township or Totowa borough in Passaic county, drowning every person in either place, the mortality would be only about two-thirds of that on the Titanic.

In Somerset county, North Plainfield township and Rocky Hill together would be depopulated by a like death roll. South Bound Brook and Warren township each contain only about five-sevenths of the number of victims on the Titanic.

Chatham township and Florham Park combined have a population probably less than the number of the ill-fated ship's passengers, who sank beneath the ice-covered waters. Only about 100 persons would be left to tell the tale if both Chatham township and Mendham township were destroyed. Chester township, Jefferson township and Mendham borough each have fewer persons in their boundaries than were drowned.

No more persons would be lost if a tidal wave should rise out of the ocean and overwhelm either Belmar or Rumson in Monmouth county. The population of Sea Bright is 300 less than the great steamer's death roll.

Bergen county has thirty-seven municipalities, each smaller than the total of those who went to a watery grave when the Titanic foundered.

After a loss of such a character each of every municipality in Sussex county except Newton, Hardyston or Wantage would not have a living soul. About 100 persons would be alive in High Bridge, Hunterdon county, after a disaster so extensive.

—Neuman Bros. will have for tomorrow's trade a fine and large assortment of lettuce, asparagus, tomatoes, cucumbers, beets, wax beans, new peas, radishes, rhubarb and green lima beans.

FORESAW HER DOOM.

Warnings of Her Tragic Fate That Came to Empress Elizabeth.

In "My Royal Clients" M. Paoli, the famous French detective, writing of the unfortunate Empress Elizabeth of Austria, who was so foully murdered in Geneva in 1898, says that two strange incidents incline one to the belief that the empress received a presentiment of her tragic end.

"On the eve of her departure for Geneva she asked Mr. Barker to read her a few chapters of a book by Marion Crawford, entitled 'Corleone,' in which the author describes the detestable customs of the Sicilian Mafia. While the empress was listening to the harrowing story a raven, attracted by the scent of some fruit which she was eating, came and circled round her. Greatly impressed, she tried to drive it off, but in vain, for it constantly returned, filling the echoes with its mournful croakings. Then she rapidly walked away, for she knew that ravens are harbingers of death when their ill omened wings persist in flapping round a living person.

"Again, a lady in waiting told me that on the morning of that day she went into the empress' room, as usual, to ask how she had slept and found her imperial mistress looking pale and sad.

"'I have had a strange experience,' said Elizabeth. 'I was awakened in the middle of the night by the bright moonbeams which filled my room, for the servants had forgotten to draw the blinds. I could see the moon from my bed, and it seemed to have the face of a woman weeping. I don't know if it is a presentiment, but I have an idea I shall meet with misfortune.'"

And it was a few hours later that Luccheni killed her with a three cornered file clumsily fitted to a wooden handle.

Where the Cold Is Warm.

I have seen sunshine, oh, sunshine as splendid as yours, among my beloved mountains in Switzerland! You know what cold is and what warmth is, but do you know what warm cold is?

Did you ever live a whole winter through glowing because the frost was so warm? Do you know the wonders of blue ice, pink snow and 40 degrees of frost, while the men skate in panamas and the girls with open parasols?

And the splendor of colors in the morning sky; everything in the solar spectrum—red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo, violet; at each moment a new combination. And then the sun is up, and the intoxication of it all makes you wonder if you ever lived before.—Dr. Aked in Christian Herald.

Wouldn't Act a Lie.

Theater Manager—You say you object to having real food on the table in the banquet scene Mr. Greesepaynt? Why, the rest of the company are delighted at it!

Mr. Greesepaynt—Yes, but my part requires me to rise from the table after a couple of mouthfuls and say: "I cannot eat tonight—a strange dread comes over me. I will seek the quiet of yonder apartment for a time."—McCall's Magazine.

Unfair.

"I s'pose it's all right," said Mr. Newrich, "but it doesn't seem fair."

"What doesn't seem fair?"

"For Matilda to scold because I want to eat dinner in my shirt sleeves. I don't make any fuss about her party dresses, an' they haven't any sleeves at all."

AUTOIST WHO KILLED SENT TO STATE PRISON

Daniel Dugan, Jr., Killed Thirteen-year-old Boy Last Christmas Day.

Newark, April 19.—Daniel A. Dugan, Jr., of Orange, was sentenced by Judge Martin yesterday to a State prison term of not less than five years and not more than ten years.

Dugan was committed a week ago for causing the death of fourteen-year-old Leo F. McDermott, whom he ran down in his automobile at Main and Day streets, Orange, last Christmas Day. He was charged with having run his car at high speed while under the influence of intoxicants.

The full penalty for Dugan's offense—manslaughter—was imposed, with the exception of a fine.

The youthful prisoner, he is nineteen years, did not betray the slightest concern in court. His father, Judge Daniel A. Dugan, of the Orange District Court, however, who had sat at his side during the trial, was apparently moved. Lewis Hood, the lad's counsel, announced that the judgment would be contested. It was subsequently learned that arrangements had been made, in anticipation of the court's action, to obtain a writ at once and insure its delivery yesterday afternoon by special messenger. With the arrival of the writ young Dugan was released under $10,000 bond.

In imposing a State prison term, Judge Martin has established a precedent in automobile accidents of this character. It is the first time in this county such an offense has been punished by the imposition of a State prison sentence.

In imposing sentence Judge Martin said:

"After a careful review of all the evidence, I find little that mitigates against your offense."

—Store proprietor (hiring a new clerk)—"You know how to work a cash register?" "Yes, sir; I was one of the first to get on to it. I can work anything from a taximeter to a gum slot, but they watch you closer nowadays."—Satire.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

"I've got rings on my fingers" has no fascination for Miss Ada Meade, the popular and charming prima donna of "Madame Sherry" company, which appears at the Plainfield theatre tonight, because she does not wear them. Instead, this young woman's fancy or hobby runs to bracelets. Miss Meade's collection of modern and antique bracelets or hoops, as she calls them, is one of the most complete in this country. While the gathering of these trinkets is a sort of mania with her, it is seldom she is seen wearing any of them. "I just like to gather up the odd pieces of workmanship," she said. "To know I am the possessor of them quite satisfies me." In the half hundred designs are diamonds, rubies, pearls and other precious stones. Many are of the old Egyptian and Indian workmanship, while others are modern and up-to-date. A New York jeweler has pronounced the collection one of the most complete, and offered a large price for several of the baubles, but the owner declined to sell. "It's the one thing I'm fond of and I wouldn't part with any of them," she said.

The cast of the Newlyweds and Their Baby Company has done much to add to its popularity. In the company are such well-known favorites as Olga Von Hatzfeldt as Mrs. Newlywed, Chas. A. Morgan as Mr. Newlywed and Earl Knapp as the Baby, Danl. F. Murphy as Adolph Nichol. Other clever players in the cast are J. N. Dyer, Milton Dawson, L. W. Carter, Celia Sylvester, Mabelle Jaust and Geo. Groce. The musical numbers, being twenty in all, are catchy and of the whistling kind especially the "Can't You See I Love You" and the "Boogie Boo." The scenic investiture is all new and elaborate, while the costumes are of the latest importation and a treat to the eye. The Newlyweds and Their Baby will appear at the Plainfield theatre, Saturday afternoon and night, April 27.

Miss Edna McDonald, of the borough, has returned from New York, where she spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Brokaw, formerly of this city.

When Suns Collide.

There is good reason to believe that the bodies in space—both luminous and dead—occasionally fall together, and his conception of such an event was given by Professor A. W. Bickerton in a Royal institution lecture in England. The collisions do not come at random. Gravity and other agencies are at work, and before two suns collide they come into each other's influence for hundreds of years, being drawn toward each other with constantly increasing speed. As the velocity would be proportionate to size, the collision would take place in the same time—about three-fourths of an hour—for all bodies. With the collision, the two stars become a new one, the tremendous speed is suddenly converted into heat, and the explosive force expands the new star at the rate of millions of miles an hour. This, Professor Bickerton believes, explains the origin of Nova Persei, which suddenly flashed out in 1901 with 10,000 times the brilliancy of our sun. This star became the brightest in the heavens except Sirius and was the most brilliant new star that has appeared in 300 years.

A Story of Henry of Navarre.

The following well authenticated anecdote will serve to show what manner of man Henry of Navarre was: One day, while on his way to join a hunting party, a countryman whom he had overtaken on the road asked him where he was going. "I am going on to attend the king's hunt," replied Henry. "That's where I'm going," said the rustic. "I have heard lots about the king, and I want to see how he looks." "Jump up behind me," said Henry. As they jogged along the countryman asked, "How will I know the king from the others?" "He will have his hat on, and all the rest will uncover when he arrives," answered Henry. When the pair finally reached the party every hat went off. "Where's the king?" asked Henry of the rustic. "It must be either you or me," responded the countryman, "for we are the only fellows who have our hats 'on."

Papyrus Books.

Early writers made use of linen or cotton fabrics, of skins and even of scales of fishes for writing. For a long period papyrus was used, the books being made in rolls, being about one and one-half feet wide and sometimes fifty feet long. Papyrus was a flag or bulrush, growing eight or ten feet high, found in the marshes of Egypt; from its inner pith the form of paper called papyrus was made. Papyrus sheets were neatly joined, attached to a stick and rolled upon it (whence we have our word "volume," from the Latin volvere, to roll). The titles were written on tags attached to the sticks or inscribed on the outside of the rolls. The rolls were kept in round wooden boxes resembling the old fashioned bandboxes and could easily be carried about.

Legend of the City of Is.

You might exhaust yourself looking in atlas and gazetteer for the city of Is, because it is purely legendary. Here is a brief statement of the legend: "The magnificent city of Is was situated on the coast of Brittany where now is the Bay of Douarnenez. It was built below the level of the sea and surrounded by massive walls. Here in the fifth century was the court of the pious King Gradlon and of his wicked daughter, Dahut, who had a pleasant habit of throwing her suitors into a well when their society became tiresome. One of her favorites asked her to obtain for him the silver key which fastened the sluice gates in the city wall. Dahut accordingly stole the key from her father's neck while he slept, the lover unlocked the gates, and the sea rushed in and overwhelmed the city and its inhabitants, including the princess. Only the king escaped. The Breton peasants say that the spirits of the drowned still haunt the spot, and the bells of the submerged city are often heard ringing at low tide."

Met the Emergency.

"The men with the most resourcefulness and the greatest power of initiative come from the smaller towns," declared an Ohio congressman. "Some time ago a printer in my district was promised the job of preparing some school board ballots. The work would give him a profit of about $50, and he needed the money. He had it all spent even before the time came to print the ballots. Then the board of election sent him word that they wouldn't need the ballots, as there was no contest for the school board.

"'You'd give me the job if you gave it to anybody, wouldn't you?' asked the printer.

"'Oh, certainly,' they told him. So the printer got out a petition and ran for the school board, thus making a contest, and they gave him the job of printing the ballots after all. As soon as they were printed and his bill O. K.'d he withdrew his candidacy."—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Clever Cat.

The owner of a clever cat writes to Our Dumb Animals that the pet, "a great, fat, lazy, good natured fellow," has a fondness for eggs. "Sam Tom was detected in the kitchen recently on a table watching an unopened bag of eggs. "Stepping back noiselessly," writes the owner, "we saw him cautiously tear the bag with his teeth and claws, stopping every little bit to listen. Finally the opening was large enough for him to get out an egg by gentle little pats. He held the egg in his mouth, jumped to the floor, rolled his prize about gently until he got it into position and then bumped it against the table leg until it broke. Then he enjoyed his feast." The writer wonders where Tom got the taste, as he is and "his ancestors for generations back were city bred."

The Stoics.

"Mucianus made a great number of remarkable statements to Vespasia (A. D. 71) against the Stoics—as, for instance, that they are full of empty boasting, and if one of them lets his beard grow long, elevates his eyebrows, wears his fustian cap thrown carelessly back and goes barefoot he straightway postulates bravery, righteousness as his own. He gives himself great airs, though he may not understand (as the proverb says) either letters or swimming. They view everybody with contempt and call the man of good family a molly, oddle, the ill born a dwarfed intellect, a handsome person licentious, an ugly person comely, the rich man an apostle of greed and the poor man a servile groveler."—Dio's Roman History.

Odd Origin of an Epidemic.

In a house in the English town of Exeter, some years ago, sat two men. One of them informed his companion that the last time he was in the town he suffered from smallpox in that very room. "In that corner," he said, "was a cupboard where the bandages were kept. It is now plastered over, but they are probably still there." And he took a poker and broke down the plaster and found them. From their "find" the two men contracted the disease, and it spread through the town and worked fearful havoc.—London Telegraph.

KOREANS ARE GLUTTONS.

Always Ready to Eat and Always Gorge Themselves When They Can.

The Koreans appear to be the greatest eaters in the world. To this the Japanese, French, English, Dutch and Chinese all bear witness. All reports concerning the Korean capacity for food seem to agree. In this respect there is not the least difference between the rich and the poor, the noble and the plebeian. To eat much is an honor in Korea, and the merit of a feast, it would seem, consists not so much in the quality as in the quantity of the food served. Little conversation occurs during the Korean meal, for each sentence might lose a mouthful. A Korean is always ready to eat. He attacks whatever he meets with and rarely cries "Enough!" Even between meals he will help himself to anything edible that is offered.

The ordinary portion of a laborer is about a quart of rice, which when cooked makes a good bulk. This, however, is no serious hindrance to his devouring double or treble the quantity when he can get it. Eating matches are common. When an ox is slaughtered and the beef is served up a heaping bowl of the steaming mess does not alarm any guest. When fruits, such as peaches or small melons, are served it is said that they are devoured without peeling. Twenty or thirty peaches are deemed an ordinary allowance per person and rapidly disappear. Such prodigality in food is, however, not common, and for one feast there are many fastings. The Koreans are neither fastidious in their eating nor painstaking in their cooking. Nothing goes to waste. All is grist that comes to the mill in their mouths.—New York Press.

A FUNNY SULTAN.

He Liked to Play Practical Jokes Upon His Invited Guests.

We all like our little joke, and eastern potentates have from time immemorial enjoyed the reputation of being the merriest of monarchs. The Moorish palace of Sultan Abu Yakub Yussuf at Seville—known today as the Alcazar—contains one of the most elaborate practical jokes extant. When in a gay mood some important merchant or notable of Seville would receive a pressing invitation summoning him to the presence. In a fever of delighted expectancy the flattered guest would don his whitest raiment and hie him to the palace.

There he would be ceremoniously conducted to the gardens and directed up the long avenue. But, alas, halfway up it he would inevitably tread upon a moving flagstone resting upon a spring, and immediately countless fine jets of water would gush out of the ground and from the surrounding shrubbery and drench him. Amid the jeers of the courtiers the luckless and bedraggled wight would beat an undignified retreat. Before he was allowed to leave the palace, however, he was sworn to secrecy on pain of death. At all costs nothing must make the joke fall flat when repeated.

The treacherous flagstone has been removed, and today the visitor may pass with impunity, but a peseta to the head gardener will usually cause the fountains to play. Not many people know of their existence, however. The water is sprayed through hundreds of tiny pipes, so small as to be almost invisible, which are placed in the cracks between the flagstones.—Strand Magazine.

By and Large.

A correspondent asks, "Whence did the fool expression 'by and large' come from, and what does it mean?" It is scarcely foolish, for the men who invented the phrase were the great sailors of the past, and by and large they opened a new world for folk to whom the spirit of adventure is a closed volume. To sail "by" is to sail as close to the point from which the wind comes as the ship's lines will allow and as skillful steering will permit. To sail "large" is to sail with the wind. Together they include all possible points of sailing. Therefore "by and large" is a vivid phrase to express the idea of all included.—New York Sun.

The Proud Duke.

An English importer in New York told a story illustrative of the pride of the late Duke of Fife.

"A very rich woman in Grosvenor square," he said, "once asked the duke to dinner in terms like these:

"'Mrs. Parvenu's social secretary is desired to invite the Duke of Fife to dinner on the 7th inst. at 8 o'clock.'

"To this invitation came back the answer:

"'The Duke of Fife's piper is desired to inform Mrs. Parvenu's social secretary that the Duke of Fife declines her invitation.'"—Washington Star.

Depending on the Neighbors.

She was a rather plump old woman and had always tried to be accommodating to her neighbors, but even her obliging spirit had to refuse a request from a neighbor who sent by her little boy the following message:

"Please, ma'am, mother sent me over to see if I couldn't get a couple of pounds of lard off of you."—Lippincott's.

Foot Workers.

ASYLUM FOR CONSUMPTIVES.

Indigent consumptives are advised to stay away from that section of the country by the Southwest Conference on Tuberculosis in session at Waco, Texas. This association has declared moreover that physicians of Northern and Eastern States who advise advanced and indigent consumptives to seek relief in the southwest are guilty of malpractice. It is futile for one in the last stages of the disease to go to that part of the country and it is also a serious mistake for the victim who has not sufficient funds to support himself for at least a year to make the trip.

Such are the decisions of the Conference which has passed resolutions calling upon the United States Government to convert military forts and reservations into tuberculosis hospitals. These they desire given over to the use of the indigent consumptives who flock to the Lone Star State and nearby States in large numbers. To accomplish this purpose, Governor Colquitt has been authorized to organize a committee representative of the southwestern States to have Congress enact necessary legislation. As these tuberculosis sanatoria will be for the benefit of expatriated citizens of the northern and eastern States their assistance in obtaining the passage of necessary bills is to be asked and naturally to be expected. As in recent years physicians is this section of the country have been making it a practice to send their tuberculosis patients to other climates there should be hearty cooperation particularly on their part in the plan of the southwestern States to have these victims provided for after they settle in that country.

AMERICAN FAIR PLAY.

Newspapers and individuals scoring and scorning Ismay, the managing director of the White Star Line, because he fled from his post of duty aboard the Titanic and took refuge with the women and children passengers leaving the men, to whose safekeeping his company was entrusted, entirely overlook the fact that it is well that Ismay is among the living. He is the only responsible man of the company, who was aboard the ill-fated ship, and the British Admiralty as well as the American Government will need him as a material witness when the disaster is investigated and when responsibility is fixed. With the confusing information at hand, the impression is that Ismay was a coward, but it should be remembered that he has not yet been heard. When he tells his story it will be time enough to condemn him.

All voters who did not cast a ballot at the general election last November as well as all young men who have attained their majority since that time, will be qualified to vote at the Presidential primaries on May 28 provided they register at the office of the city clerk for that purpose. It should be borne in mind that such registration cannot be made after ten days prior to the primaries. This simply means that if you are not already registered by having voted last fall or do not register on or before May 18, you cannot participate in the primaries.

In the Federal House next Tuesday, a vote will be taken on the establishment of a parcels post. By an overwhelming majority the House has already gone on record regarding the proposition having expressed itself in favor of legislation for a limited parcels post and authorizing the Government to obtain control of the express companies business. The proposal is that the Federal Government condemn and purchase the contracts and equipment of these companies and that it conduct a postal express in conjunction with a parcels post.

"Nowadays the banker advertises just like any other business man," says the Philadelphia Record. "He no longer considers it unethical to let the public know he has service for sale. He buys newspaper space and uses it on a strictly commercial basis. He has found it unnecessary to curry favor with the newspaper, but very necessary to curry favor with the public in order to increase the number of his institution's depositors and the volume of its dealings."

The Daily Press was an eight-page paper up to Jan. 2, 1912. That's much less than four months ago. The volume of advertising has been keeping pace with the circulation increase. If we tried real hard we might be able to squeeze all the advertising into fourteen pages today, but we won't. Both the subscriber and the advertiser have some rights and among these is that we publish ALL the news. Hence, it's sixteen pages today.

No American home is complete without an American flag. On Washington's and Lincoln's birthdays, on Independence Day, on Memorial Day and on many other holidays, Old Glory should be displayed to public view at private residences as much so as on public buildings. An exceptional opportunity for a large flag and flag-pole is offered by the Daily Press. See page twelve today for particulars.

Judge Martin, at Newark yesterday, meted out a sentence of from five to ten years to a young automobilist who was charged with manslaughter, his victim having been a child. That's the only proper sort of punishment to give the reckless autoists who are guilty of such offenses. A little more of this kind of "medicine" and the slaughter of human lives will be stopped.

The "hands across the sea" are clasped in mutual sympathy for those hundreds of precious lives that "crossed the great bourne from whence no traveler returneth" when the majestic Titanic was transformed into an immense coffin.

It will well repay our readers to pursue a timely article which will appear in the Plainfield Anti-Tuberculosis League column tomorrow. Ernest L. Ransome is the contributing editor.

A CHRISTIAN SOLDIER.

William D. Murray, our contributing editor for tomorrow, got his A. B. from Yale in 1880. Columbia conferred on him an LL. B. two years later.

Since that time he has been practicing law in New York, but has found time to devote to religious effort and general uplift work.

In addition to being vice chairman of the International Committee of Young Men's Christian Associations, he is chairman of the Foreign Department of the International Committee of Y. M. C. A.'s.

One would think that this work would take up a great part of his time, but as a matter of fact it's only a trifle when compared with all Mr. Murray does and does well. He's a member of the New Jersey Y. M. C. A. committee, a trustee of the Student Volunteer Movement for Foreign Missions and a trustee of the National Board of the Young Women's Christian Association.

But that's not all either, for Mr. Murray devotes some of his time to the Silver Bay Association for Christian Conference. Training, of which association he is president. Moreover, he has taught preparatory school boys at the Northfield Student Conferences for the last ten years and for five years he has been teaching the Bible and other subjects at Silver Bay during the August conference.

As an author of religious works Mr. Murray has gained considerable reputation. Among his books is "Life and Works of Jesus According to St. Mark," which has been translated into Chinese, Japanese, Korean, Portugese, Spanish, Siamese and Norwegian and represented in the English for India. He is also the author of "The Message of the Twelve Prophets," "Principles and Organization of the Y. M. C. A.," "What Manner of Man Is This?" "Bible Stories to Tell Children," and "Our Primary Department.

Here in Plainfield Mr. Murray takes an active part in every good movement and every good work. He is a member of the Y. M. C. A.'s board of directors and was its president for eleven years. He is an elder of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church and is the leader of the primary department in its Bible school.

We overlooked another fact. It is that he takes a great interest in the physical as well as the spiritual and moral upbuilding of the young man. This is why he is a member of the Executive Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

Tomorrow Mr. Murray will do the work of an editor. Read what he has to say.

TELLS HOW TO REACH PROPER 'PHONE RATES

Trenton, April 19.—Testifying before the Board of Public Utility Commissioners in the investigation of rates charged by the Delaware and Atlantic Telegraph and Telephone Company, inspector Philander Betts reviewed the contents of elaborate and carefully worked out tables and studies showing how he had arrived at his conclusions of fixing the basis upon which rates should be allowed. After giving his testimony the inspector was cross-examined by John L. Swayze, counsel for the company.

Eliminating the technical details of the testimony, the conclusion of Mr. Betts was that the base on which rates should be calculated should be the reproduction value, new, less the depreciation reserve fund as now carried by the telephone company. In estimating the cost of reproducing the property, Mr. Betts recognized that the cost of establishing the business was a proper element to be included in arriving at the investment of the company. He did not approve any particular method of arriving at the cost of establishing the business, but agreed that in the cost the depreciation element should be considered.

At the conclusion of the hearing it was agreed that briefs should be exchanged between the parties to the inquiry, these to be followed by certain interrogatories which will be propounded to the company, after which there will be further briefs and finally an oral argument. It is probable, therefore, that the inquiry will be prolonged for some time.

The case is one which in many respects may serve as a test proceeding throughout the entire country. The ultimate decision will be looked upon as one of the most important findings handed down by the board.

TRENTON WOMAN DIES WHILE PLAYING BRIDGE

Trenton, April 19.—Stricken with heart disease while playing bridge at the home of Professor Fran is C. Van Dyke at Lawrenceville, Mrs. William A. Clarke died almost instantly. With a party of friends she had motored to Lawrenceville to attend the function at the Van Dyke home. Mrs. Clarke was the wife of a local physician. She had long been a sufferer from heart disease and had been in a sanitarium all winter. She had seemed much improved recently.

A doctor and nurse were hastily summoned from Lawrenceville School, where Professor Van Dyke is a teacher, but Mrs. Clarke was dead when they arrived. Besides her husband, a son and two daughters survive.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Principal Lindsey Best, of the Plainfield High School, has received a number of small elm trees which will be distributed among the members of the school.

Arthur Stout and Valentine Goldsmith both made amusing speeches before the assembly at the Plainfield High School, this morning, in behalf of the junior class play, "The Private Secretary," which is to be presented tomorrow night in the P. H. S. auditorium. A matinee and class rehearsal will be held this afternoon at reduced prices.

Committees have been chosen by the presidents of the four classes of the Plainfield High School to arrange for the details of the reception which will take place on Saturday evening, April 27. These receptions will be held once a month and will take the place of the weekly Friday afternoon receptions which have been held during the winter months.

The games in the inter-class series will start Monday afternoon, when the senior and junior baseball teams will clash at the Parker Field. All the teams in the class league have been having practice during the last week and the series gives promise of some good games. The seniors have not been out for practice yet, as a majority of the boys have been kept busy at rehearsals for the senior play but they will work in some practice before the game. The sophomores have been making the largest showing at practice with nearly twenty reporting regularly and "Yellow" Van Zandt, who has been elected captain, has hopes of his team getting the championship this season. Henry Zook has been chosen manager of the Sophs in the place of Murdock Hetfield, resigned. At a meeting of the class managers yesterday afternoon plans were made to govern the teams and the following schedule arranged: April 22, Seniors-Juniors; April 29, Sophomores-Freshmen; May 3, Senior-Sophomores; May 7, Juniors-Freshmen; May 10, Seniors-Freshmen; May 13, Juniors-Sophomores; May 15, Seniors-Juniors; May 29, Seniors-Sophomores; June 3, Juniors-Freshmen; June 5, Seniors-Freshmen; June 7, Juniors-Sophomores.

Charles R. Bostwick, director of the Parker Field, has arranged a schedule governing the use of the field for baseball and other teams. The P. H. S. baseball team will have the use of the field for practice and games from 1:30 to 3:30 on Monday, Wednesday and Friday and for a game Saturday. The Stillman school may use the field for practice during these hours on Tuesday and Thursday. From 3:30-5:30 on Monday, Wednesday and Friday the P. H. S. class teams will use the field, and on Tuesday and Thursday the P. H. S. girls' teams will have the privilege of using the field and diamond. Regular games will have precedent over practice but the captains must have a permit for the use of the field from Mr. Bostwick at least a week before the game is to be played.

The girls who started to play field hockey will begin practice again soon and a team organized. A number have already signed to play.

LINKED IN GENIUS.

Great Fathers Who Gave to the World Great Sons.

THE QUESTION OF HEREDITY.

Science Asserts That Genius Is Not Transmissible, Yet Here Are Numerous Brilliant Exceptions, Both Ancient and Modern, to That Dictum.

An allusion by Henry W. Lacy, an acute judge of contemporary notables, to Winston Spencer Churchill as a born parliamentarian in whom the genius of his father, Lord Randolph Churchill, lives again and who may yet prove to overshadow the fame of Lord Randolph, even as William Pitt eclipsed the renown of Lord Chatham, moves Thomas McCaleb, in the New York American, to say:

"We are prompted by these allusions to ask ourselves the well worn query, Is genius transmissible? And, though the most authoritative latter day dictum of science answers in the negative, there are not a few noteworthy exceptions that involuntarily occur to the mind.

"Might we not, first of all, cite from among the ancients such fathers and sons respectively as Philip of Macedon and Alexander the Great, Hamilcar and Hannibal, Marcus Junius Brutus and Lucius Junius Brutus, Vespasian and Titus? Also we find genius resident both in Pepin and his offspring Charlemagne, to which case might be added, did space permit, the few great medieval English kings who were also the sons of great kings. Nor should we omit to mention the poets Bernardo Tasso and his progeny, Torquato Tasso; also the great Nicholas Bacon and the still greater Francis Bacon. Indeed, the list might be multiplied to an appreciable figure by taking an extended tour in universal biography. There are, besides, quite a number of fathers and their sons possessed of such extraordinary talent that they might, by slightly stretching a point, be likewise called men of genius.

"In the biographies of great Germans we see this fact especially creeping out now and then, and in France, to mention only three cases, we find genius exemplified in such a sire and offspring as Etienne Saint-Hilaire Geoffroy and Isidore Saint-Hilaire Geoffroy, as Lazare Hippolyte Carnot and Sadi Carnot and as Alexandre Dumas pere and Alexandre Dumas fils.

"Quite rich in illustration of the apparent hereditary transmission of genius is the list among Englishmen. Here, confining our examples to those whose fame belongs to the last century, we may select at random such names as Sir William Herschel and Sir John Frederick William Herschel, astronomers; George Canning, orator and prime minister, and Charles John Canning (earl), first viceroy of India; Edward Bulwer, Lord Lytton, novelist, and Robert, Lord Lytton (Owen Meredith), poet; James Mill, philosopher and historian, and John Stuart Mill, economist; Isaac Disraeli, author, and Benjamin Disraeli, Lord Beaconsfield, statesman and novelist; Gabriel Rossetti, poet, and Dante Gabriel Rossetti, poet and painter; Thomas Arnold, educator and historian, and Matthew Arnold, poet and critic; Justin McCarthy, politician and historian, and Justin Huntly McCarthy, advocate.

"In American biography we find the names of such famous fathers and sons respectively as Increase Mather and Cotton Mather, theologians; John Adams and John Quincy Adams, both presidents and statesmen; 'Light Horse' Harry Lee, patriot, and Robert E. Lee, soldier; General Zachary Taylor and General Richard Taylor; Joseph Story, jurist, and W. W. Story, sculptor; Oliver Wendell Holmes, humorist and poet, and Oliver Wendell Holmes, jurist; Louis Agassiz and Alexander Agassiz, naturalists; Nathaniel Hawthorne and Julian Hawthorne, writers of fiction; Thomas Crawford, sculptor, and Marion Crawford, novelist; Henry George and Henry George, Jr., economists; the two George Innesses, landscape painters; Henry James, the most famous of the Swedenborgians, and his son and namesake, the gifted novelist.

"That the genius of interpretation, a truly great art, may betimes be inherited would appear from the instances of such great actors and their sons respectively as Junius Brutus Booth and Edwin Booth, Sir Henry Irving and Henry B. Irving, the two Salvinis, Tommaso and Alessandro, and both Coquelin pere and fils.

"It is observable from the examples recorded in this article that the genius of fathers and sons ofttimes manifests itself in the same sphere of endeavor, either of them approximating or excelling, as the case might be, the fame or excellence of the other.

"It goes without saying that illustrations, perhaps far more numerous, might be given to prove the contention of the best recent scientific thought—namely, that mental attributes are not inheritable. For all that we believe we have produced a sufficient number of concrete exceptions to affirm that in this particular the late dictum of science, which, of course, is never empirical, is not altogether and absolutely conclusive."

Worse.

"How would you like to have death staring you in the face?"

"Humph! Did you ever come home late and have your wife stare at you?"—Satire.

Double ignorance is where a man is ignorant that he is ignorant.—Plato.

—"I don't look well in a steamer cap." "Few people do. You see, it is a sort of handy cap."—Baltimore American.

NATURAL GAS IN PLAINFIELD.

The invention of the Gem Oil Burner has made it possible to use coal oil or kerosene in any locality and enjoy the advantages of natural gas for heating purposes of all kinds. This new method is cleaner and less destructive to stoves than coal, and it makes a regular, fresh fire at all times, doing away with the continued labor attending the use of coal or wood. It may be put into any stove without changing or damaging the latter in the least and will heat the largest size cook stove or range sufficient for family cooking for $1.25 per month. The Gem Oil Burner Company, of Willoughby, O., is the promoter of these newly improved burners and has brought this system of heating all kinds of cook stoves, ranges, heating stoves and furnaces up to the acme of perfection. The territory through this State will be rapidly taken up by local agents. The company's representatives are located for a few days at 124 East Front street, next door to Shoe Repairing Shop, with a cook stove burner in operation, where our citizens can see it and examine its workings.

TRIED TO BE OBLIGING.

The Old Gentleman Did His Best to Make the Case Quite Clear.

A dear old gentleman, who visited New York recently, has a habit of taking things literally, and is so kind hearted that he is always ready to fall in with the wishes of other people, even at trouble or inconvenience to himself. The day after his arrival in the city he stepped into the office of a large coal dealer and asked if the proprietor was at home. Upon being shown into the private office of that gentleman, he took a seat and began:

"You see, sir, I live away up in Warren county—200 or more miles from here. Now, to ship coal 200 miles from here would be mighty costly. It would have to go over three roads—the New York and Hudson River road, the Delaware and Hudson and the Adirondack road—unless I sent it up by the boat, which would mean loading and unloading and loading again. Besides, mostly up there where I live the folks burn wood, though I use some coal myself."

"But, dear me, what!" said the astonished coal dealer, as soon as he could get a chance to say something, "why, what is the meaning of all this? I haven't proposed to send coal to you up in Warren county."

"I SAW A SIGN YOU HAD PUT OUT."

"No, sir," replied the old gentleman, rising from his chair, "but when I'm asked a question, I always answer it, if I can."

"I was not aware that I had put a question to you," responded the coal dealer, rather impatiently.

"Well, not directly, perhaps," answered the old gentleman, turning to leave, "but as I was passing by, on my way downtown, I saw a sign you had put out, asking, 'Why don't you buy your coal from us?' and I thought, if you took the trouble to put that out, I might as well take the trouble to step in and explain. Good morning!"

And he went out, leaving the coal dealer amazed and speechless.

Meant What She Said.

A Columbia professor rebuked the hidebound grammarian at a studio tea in New York with a story.

"A lady," he said, "had a rather dissipated husband, and one evening she said to a friend:

"'I wish I knew where George was.'

"The friend, a professor's wife, said primly:

"'I presume, dear, you mean you wish you knew where he is?'

"'No, I don't,' said the lady. 'I know where he is. He is upstairs in bed with bloodshot eyes and a terrific headache. I want to know where he was!'" —Washington Star.

He Rattled Dickens.

When Charles Dickens was in Washington he met one morning on the steps of the capitol a young congressman from Tennessee whom the great novelist had offended by his boorishness. That morning Dickens was in great good humor and full of talk. "I have," said he, "found an almost exact counterpart of Little Nell." "Little Nell who?" queried the Tennesseean. Dickens looked him over from head to foot and from foot to head before he snorted out. "My Little Nell." "Oh," said the Tennesseean, "I didn't know you had your daughter with you." "I am speaking of the Little Nell of my fiction, sir," retorted Dickens, flushing. "Oh," said the imperturbable Tennesseean, "you write novels, do you? Don't you consider that a rather trifling occupation for a grownup man?" Dickens snorted like a quarter horse and hurried down the avenue.

Willing to Help.

Vice President Sherman desires to maintain order in the senate and frequently calls down the body in general terms without singling out any particular man. It often happens that when a dry and prosy speaker has the floor a group of senators will begin telling stories and make a great deal of confusion with their laughter. On one occasion a group was listening to Senator Taylor of Tennessee, and the mirth was rather uproarious. They paid no attention to the gavel of the vice president nor to the frowns of the speaker.

Finally Sherman sent a note to the group which read, "If that fellow who thinks he is making a speech is interfering with one of Bob Taylor's stories I shall call him to order."—Washington Star.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

And it rained!

Raritan Bay is to have a patrol boat in the near future that will look after Jersey's interest in the fishing line. There are very few, if any, violations in this section, but such a boat will prove of immense value to this locality, as those in charge will have a chance to see some of the polluted water that is being sewered into the rivers and bays.

This wet weather makes us think of fishing.

Polluted water kills the fishing, and, as it has already killed off two-thirds of the oyster industry of Staten Island Sound and Raritan Bay, something should be done to put a stop to it. No other state would permit the loss of such great oyster beds as New Jersey has done, and, once gone, they can never come back.

Hank O'Day sticks to his lanky catcher, Larry McLean, like a brother. It seems that the long legged man is slightly addicted to the cup the queers and Hank keeps his eye on him. He might try his hand with Bugs Raymond.

Milwaukee has received a player by the name of Shinn from Boston. He lived up to his name and tried to stop too many balls with the portion of his anatomy below his knees.

The borough high meets New Brunswick high on Hyde Field tomorrow afternoon.

The Giants took advantage of a rainy day by going to the circus.

Let us hope that it will not tend to give their playing a circussy flavor.

Tomorrow P. H. S. at Upsuala College, and Leals on Staten Island.

The High School girls are organizing a baseball team. Again the female of the species.

Cornell has been dropped from Chicago's football schedule for next fall.

Twenty-one runs in one game against the cubs by the Cardinals makes the Tinker to Evers to Chance song sound like ancient history.

If Marquard can only learn to throw a slow ball Coach Robinson thinks he will become invincible. The lanky pitcher doesn't know much about change of pace but he can put the hot ones over in great shape.

The Cub team had a narrow escape in a train wreck at O'Fallon, Ill on Tuesday. They will be fortunate if they do not run into one or two more narrow escapes before the season ends.

We will try to get in a little baseball tomorrow if the weather man will be good.

The Giants did not get a chance to open things up at the polo grounds yesterday but will try again this afternoon if the grounds dry sufficiently.

Meeting of the Manufacturers League tonight at the Y. M. C. A., when it is expected that all six teams will be represented.

COTCH SAYS QUICK THOUGHT COVERNS SUCCESSFUL HOLD

Frank Gotch, the world's champion heavyweight wrestler, who is now in the West, says that half the aspirants to championship honors do not know the names of half the holds they use while struggling on the mat.

"I think I can name about six of the locks," says the champion, "but there is such a difference of opinion as to the names of the holds that I never have tried to be an authority on the holds employed by myself or other wrestlers.

"There are many holds which even the novice knows by name. They have been employed ever since wrestling became recognized as a sport. I can call a half Nelson, full Nelson, footlock crotch and half Nelson, grapevine and scissors on either the body or head. Outside of these I don't believe I would be technically correct in naming the other locks.

"Wrestlers use different methods in applying various holds, but the fundamental point is leverage, but if he does not apply his weight and strength on the proper places and at the right time, he cannot be termed a successful wrestler. I have met a number of men who were stronger than I, but I beat them because I knew when and where to apply my weight and strength.

"If a wrestler can think and act at hte same time he is sure to be successful. The conservation of energy is another point which should be borne in mind by the beginner. There is nothing to be gained by jumping around the ring and trying for holds which will not down an apponent."

CHANCE TO PICK THE INTERSCHOLASTIC CHAMPION

Considerable interest will be created this spring with three teams of high school calibre here in the city. Leal's School, for the first time in a number of years has a team upon the field to contend for the city interscholastic championship, and there is no reason why the keen rivalry that used to exist between the city schools should not resume healthy proportions again. The time was when the games between Leal's and the local high school attracted a great deal of attention and justified the interest taken in them by the kind of ball played.

A year ago the Borough High School had a team of which they were justly proud, and although they have lost a number of their mainstays they have had a quantity of new material appear that looks very promising. The outlook at the City High School is good and with an even break in luck there is no reason why they should not have a winning team this year.

With these three schedules running, those who love baseball here in the city are liable to have their interest kept alive until the Sunday-school and the Manufacturers Leagues start later in the season.

"BRIT" MARTIN QUITS HIS CLUB

Captain and Veteran Infielder Dissatisfied With P. B. C. Business Management.

WITHDRAWS HIS MONEY

Veteran Slugger Helped Organize Clinton Avenues in Old Days and Ranks as Dean of Local Semi-Pros and Amateurs.

The letter that follows, from one of the most widely known ball players among the semi-professionals and amateurs in Plainfield, is more or less self-explanatory:

"Sporting Editor, Plainfield Daily Press:

"In Monday's issue of your paper it was stated in an article on the Plainfield Baseball Club's doings that Mr. Driscoll had been appointed captain of the team. Since then the club has been subject to criticism in view of the fact that it had two captains, one elected and one appointed.

"I wish to state that at the last meeting of the Plainfield Baseball Club I resigned as captain of the baseball team, which made it necessary for the club to appoint another. I wish also to state at this time that as I was dissatisfied with the way in which the business end of the club has been conducted I withdrew all money invested and am at present in no way connected with the Plainfield Baseball Club. Deeming it only fair to the baseball public and myself that such facts be made known, I remain

"Yours in good clean honest sport,
"DAVID B. MARTIN."

David B. Martin, or "Brit" Martin, as he is best known among the fans, is the dean of baseball players here, having been in the game for many years. He helped to organize the Clinton Avenue team, predecessor of the Plainfield Baseball Club. The Clinton Avenues were the outgrowth of a team representing the Pond Tool Works, and under "Brit's" captaincy the nine made an enviable reputation. "Brit" has a record as one of the best infields and hitters in this vicinity. Many a game was won by his timely stick work.

"HOME-RUN" BAKER GETS ONE ON HIS RIVAL COBB

Washington, April 19.—"Home Run" Baker put one over on his rival for baseball honors, "Ty" Cobb, and Postmaster General Hitchcock is being blamed by the friends of the "Georgia Peach" for it. Orders were issued at the postoffice department, changing the name of the office at Cobb, Fla., to Baker.

Whether Baker's remarkable showing in the world's series had anything to do with the change is not stated, but, anyhow, the followers of Cobb are indignant at the action of the department. The score between the two men now stand 13 to 5 in favor of Baker. There are 13 offices named Baker in various sections of the country, while Cobb has the honor of having but five named for him.

MANUFACTURERS' LEAGUE.

At the meeting tonight of the directors of the Manufacturers' League representatives will be present from the following manufacturing plants: Rushmore Dynamo Works, Levgar Construction Co., Watchung Silk Mills, Public Service Corporation, Hall Signal Co., Garwood Electric Co. and the Saurer Motor Co. The Aolean Co., of Garwood, is also expected to send a representative. It is the intention to select six teams but there is a possibility of there being eight in the league.

ELK PINNERS DROPPED GAMES AND STANDING

Jersey City Took Two Out of Three; Sixth Place for Plainfield.

The local Elk bowling league team went to Jersey City, last night, and did the drop act. They dropped two out of the three games played to Jersey City and dropped into sixth place in the league race, Jersey City, New Brunswick and Rutherford jumping into the race.

It was Jersey City from the beginning to the end with the exception of the second game, and Plainfield won that by only 9 pins. Corydon was high man, rolling 204, 199 and 216, respectively, for the three games, while Stout took scores 193, 190 and 203 for the highest score made by the locals.

The Plainfield team rolls a match with the Newark antlered ones tonight on the Olympia alleys.

YEAR CHANCES STANDING OF "RUBE" MARQUARD

Just a year ago a tall, spiral youth sat on the Giant bench gazing moodily across the field.

He was wondering how many days would drift by before McGraw slipped him another chance to show under fire—and after that how many rounds would drift by before the battle howl of the tribe, "Take the big boob out," would boom again through the box.

The same tall, spiral youth sat on the Giant bench last Thursday. But this time he was toying gently with his left elbow, wondering whether or not every cog was right to start his people off with victory in a hand-to-hand grapple with Nap Rucker, one of the great side-wheelers of the industry.

Rube Marquard was a forlorn hope last April. Yet he won 24 games and lost but six. And Thursday he confessed that he expected to blow himself to over 30 victories this season—and 30 victories are a few more than any slabman from either circuit peeled off in 1911.

As the Rube pulled 22 of his 24 victories after mid June, an April start with the same line of merchandise should boost him well over the classic border which but few slabmen reach in a lifetime of pitching.

JACKSON AND GREGG FOOL CHANCE AND EVERS.

The friends of Frank Chance and Johnny Evers of the Chicago Cubs are telling some stories at their expense. It appears that when Chance landed in New Orleans for the 1912 spring training trip he saw a lanky youth pitching in practice and noted that he had a "lot of stuff" on the ball. He thought the pitcher was one of his new recruits, and his face brightened, but only for an instant, for on asking the youngster's name he discovered that it was Vean Gregg, the brilliant pitcher of the Cleveland team, who was working out with the Cubs before the arrival of his own teammates.

Before the players were through laughing at the mistake of their manager Johnny Evers furnished another opportunity for a haw-haw. Going up to an outfielder, who was pulling down flies in a most amazing way, he inquired carelessly if he hoped to make the team. "I'm not trying for this team," came the answer. "Oh," responded Evers, "just a home boy getting a little exercise." The smiling rejoinder almost threw Evers into another attack of nervous prostration, for the "home boy" replied, "I'm Joe Jackson of the Cleveland team."

NOT BOUND BY CONTRACT.

Champion Kilbane and Manager Dunn Have Only Verbal Agreement.

Jimmy Dunn, manager of World's Featherweight Champion Johnny Kilbane, was offered $25,000 for something he does not possess—his contract with Johnny. Dunn and Kilbane work on a basis of mutual friendship and confidence and are not bound by any written agreement.

When asked if it were true that he had been offered $25,000 for his contract Dunn said: "Yes, that is straight, but the funny thing about the matter is I never had a contract with Johnny, and I never want one. Johnny and I are friends, and we take each other's word for everything.

"It is a fact, nevertheless, that a moving picture man in Los Angeles offered me $25,000 to turn Johnny over to him. I think too much of that kid personally to let any monetary inducement ever get us apart."

Callahan Objects to Squatting Catchers

Manager Callahan of the Chicago Americans is opposed to the kneeling position employed by all big league catchers. He says a backstop loses time in straightening up to receive a pitched ball and cannot steady himself quickly enough to throw with accuracy to the bases.

Y. M. C. A. JUNIORS IN GYM EXHIBITION

Boys, Assisted by Four Members of the Senior Team, Perform Excellently.

A most successful gymnastic exhibition was held last evening in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium by the boys of the Junior department assisted by four members of the Senior gymnastic team. This exhibition was given by the boys and was entirely without charge, James McNamee and Raymond Manley acting as leaders.

The past year's work has been most successful for the Junior classes and last night's exhibition was to show the boys' parents and friends the work that they have been doing.

The program opened with a march in which the whole class took part and led by James McNamee, followed by a free hand drill.

The Junior gymnastic team composed of Godfrey Clay, James Brownlee, Daniel McNamee, Edward Ryder, Alva Brownlee, Raymond Manley, William Wheelan and Leslie Foster gave an excellent exhibition upon the parallel bars. James Brownlee, the smaller member of the team, had the crowd with him from the start doing many difficult turns on this piece of apparatus.

Following this event four members of the Senior gymnastic team, including Hansen, Kenney, Brynaraki and Anderson, gave an excellent exhibition on the horizontal bar after which the Junior class divided into four sections performed on the mats, buck, horse and parallel bars. The four senior members appeared once more in a tumbling event in which they were assisted by Godfrey Clay and James Brownley, after which the exhibition was closed with a game in which the Juniors participated.

This exhibition was pronounced one of the most successful ever given in the local gymnasium and showed a marked improvement in the work of the younger boys of that of last fall.

BOSTON FANS TURN TO NATIONALS FOR BASEBALL

Boston fans are turning to their National league representatives this season with hope and confidence. It is confidently expected that the Braves will finish the season at the head of the second division.

In Johnny Kling, President Ward has a capable manager, one who is ever on the job, and a man of great personality. If any one can get real baseball out of the Braves it is none other than this same Kling.

He is not only one of the greatest catchers in the National league, but is a manager who knows every angle of the game. He comes from the school of experience as taught by Frank Chance, the peerless one, and the knowledge he has imbibed should enable him to get the utmost out of the players at his command, and should he succeed in this it is not beyond a possibility that Kling should lead the second divisioners.

BALL PLAYERS ILL.

New York, April 19.—Two big league baseball stars, Manager Charley Dooin, of the Philadelphia Nationals, and Birdie Cree, of the New York Americans, are seriously ill here. Dooin is at the Hotel Somerset, the victim of an attack of appendicitis. His teammates returned to their home city yesterday without their chieftain. Cree is in a hospital with a fever, which the physicians say is likely to keep him from the game for a fortnight. He has not been well since contracting a cold in Atlanta during the spring training there.

FIRE IN THE HOLD.

Vessels at Sea Are Often Smoldering Furnaces Below Decks.

Smoldering fires on board ship are common enough and in many cases are comparatively harmless. They arise mostly from spontaneous combustion caused by piling large quantities of coal in close quarters.

It is said on excellent authority that there is not much danger from such a fire, hardly any on an iron or a steel ship. The first protective measure in such an event is to exclude the air, so that the fire can only smolder. Then the bunker is flooded with water, which usually serves to extinguish it.

Even in wooden ships the danger from smoldering fire is not half so great as has been pictured by non-seagoing folk. This is illustrated by the experience of the captain of the Twin Brothers, engaged some years ago in the wheat trade between San Francisco and Liverpool. The vessel was returning from Liverpool with a thousand tons of coal in the hold as ballast. Just after it rounded Cape Horn it was discovered that the coal was on fire.

There was a steam pump on board, and after closing the lower hatches the crew flooded the hold until the ship had settled about four feet lower in the water. Then the captain stood pat and let her burn. No one was frightened, and every one was confident that the ship would be safely brought into port. Call was made at Valparaiso for fresh water and provisions, but not a man deserted.

The vessel was seventy-two days in reaching San Francisco from the Horn, and all that time the coal burned, and little streams of smoke could be seen coming through the cracks in the deck. Arriving at San Francisco, the Twin Brothers sailed out on the mud flats and was flooded until she settled almost even with her upper deck. This extinguished the fire.

The appearance of the vessel after all this was pretty fair evidence what a ship may sustain in the way of a fire. In a dozen places the bottom had burned through, and all that was between the crew and the deep sea was the thin sheet of copper bottom. The weight of the coal and the pressure of the water kept about equal strain on both sides of the copper sheeting, and it had not broken, although it was little thicker than an ordinary tin pan. There was one place where this copper was exposed about the bigness of the top of a barrel.—New York Tribune.

Luring the Beaver.

Beavers when they have been undisturbed for long are very curious in relation to strange sounds. They will come swimming out of their house even at the firing of a gun. The Indians usually call them with a hissing noise or one produced by munching the lips. Another favorite tole is a sound made by tapping the trousers with the hand. The most successful beaver caller in Newfoundland killed great numbers of beavers in the open season by making a sound that resembled the cutting of chips off a tree. It is said that the unfortunate beavers never fail to respond to this noise.

Charles Lamb's Bad Cold.

When Charles Lamb was suffering with a cold he wrote the following to his friend Bernard Barton:

"Do you know what it is to succumb under an insurmountable daymare—an indisposition to do anything or to be anything, a total deadness and distaste, a suspension of vitality, an indifference to locality, a numb soporifical good-for-nothingness, an assification all over, an oyster-like indifference to passing events, a mind stupor, a brawny defiance to the needles of a thrusting in conscience, with a total irresolution to submit to water gruel processes?"

Stories of Stevenson.

Robert Louis Stevenson delighted in odd clothes, which made people take him, much to his own joy, for a sort of vagabond. One night, dressed with a special view to quaintness, the novelist wandered through south London trying to come upon a policeman who would arrest him on sight. He came upon various "bobbies," but not one of them would apprehend him, and he was vastly disappointed.

Another time, when in France, officials of a bank on which he had a draft from his father in Edinburgh warned him away, saying that he was an evident fraud and that if he did not go they would send for the police. Stevenson noticed in the bank the pigeonholes which intuition told him contained foreign drafts. He plunged at those pigeonholes and, as luck would have it, pulled out the duplicate of his Scottish draft. Waving it triumphantly, he demanded his money and got it with a whole officeful of apologies.

The Chinese "Five Kings."

"The Five Kings" is the name of the sacred book in which is incorporated the religion of the Chinese, as well as a great number of other peoples of the orient. The doctrine is a complex system of moral, social, political and religious teaching built up by Confucius on the ancient Chinese traditions, and, although its author lived more than five centuries before the birth of Christ, it is still perpetuated as the state religion of the Chinese down to the present day. Confucianism is a religion without positive revelation, with a minimum of dogmatic teaching, whose popular worship is centered in offerings to the dead, in which the notion of duty is extended beyond the sphere of morals proper, so as to embrace almost every detail of daily life. The chief exponent of this remarkable religion was K'ungtze, or K'ungfutze, Latinized by the early Jesuit missionaries into "Confucius."—Chicago News.

Curious Land, Curious People.

Near Cape Horn, in the island of Tierra del Fuego, live the most curious people in all South America. It rains or snows or sleets nearly every day, and yet they look on their country as the finest in the world. They wear hardly any clothing and seem not to feel cold. Because he saw fires on the shore the explorer Magellan, the first European that rounded the Horn, called the island "the land of fire," which is almost the worst name he could have chosen. Their huts are made of bent boughs and covered with grass and give only the poorest shelter. The folk are vain, too, wearing necklaces of the teeth of fishes or seals and painting patterns on their bodies. Among them some colors have a novel meaning. White is the sign of war and red of peace. They are great mimics and will imitate voice and gesture perfectly.

The Exchequer.

In past times it was the custom for the king's justiciar and his subordinates to make up the royal accounts twice a year, at Easter and Michaelmas, on a table which was the most striking object in the chamber in which they assembled. This table was covered with dark russet cloth divided into squares, which gave it a checkered, chessboard-like appearance, and in the columns and spaces the accounts rendered by the sheriffs and great landowners who attended for that purpose were entered and reckoned up. It was the checkered cloth, so conspicuous throughout the proceedings, that gave rise to the name exchequer, just as the stars painted on the ceiling of another historic room originated the name "star chamber."—London Globe.

TWELVE PRIMARY PETITIONS FILED

Candidates for Delegates Hurry Papers in Although Law Gives Until May 1.

SMITH WORKING HARD

Active Campaign for Anti-Wilson Delegates—Roosevelt's Sweep in Illinois and Pennsylvania Said to Have Altered G. O. P. Plans.

Trenton, April 19.—Although the law gives until May 1 for the filing of petitions nominating candidates for delegates to the National Conventions, twelve such petitions have already been filed in the office of the Secretary of State, four for Colonel Roosevelt, two for President Taft, four for Governor Wilson and two Democratic petitions in which the candidates declare themselves independent, but who it is known will be against Wilson. These are all district petitions, no petitions having yet been filed for delegate-at-large or alternate-at-large.

The two anti-Wilson petitions already on file are those of Obadiah C. Bogardus, of Keyport, as candidate for delegate from the Third Congressional district, and Samuel Schleimer, of New Brunswick, as candidate for alternate on the ticket with Bogardus. Bogardus was not reappointed to the State Board of Assessors by Governor Wilson and hence he is opposing the Governor, a position in which he is being backed by the Raritan Club, of Keyport. Schleimer is a lawyer and for some time has been working against Governor Wilson. These two are planning a lively campaign in which they will speak in as many places as possible throughout the Third district. Congressman Thomas J. Scully is to be a Wilson candidate in the Third district, but has not yet filed his petition. The other Wilson candidate in this district is Senator John W. Slocum, of Long Branch, who has his petition on file.

The Smith-Nugent people are actively at work securing anti-Wilson candidates. Petitions are being circulated in the new Sixth district for the nomination of Frank Coyne, of Phillipsburg, and Melville J. Ford, of Bergen county, as candidates, and it is said that will be opposed to Governor Wilson. Nugent and some of his followers recently conferred with several Warren county Democrats and the word has gone out to give the Governor a hot fight. The Wilson forces say they will elect the Wilson ticket in the district easily.

The Roosevelt sweep in Illinois and Pennsylvania has led the State Republican leaders to give deep thought to the situation in this State and their plans for candidates may be somewhat modified. It is said that some of the men picked for candidate are hesitating about coming out openly for Taft. The two Taft petitions on file are those of William E. Page, of Atlantic City, for the Second district, and Robert W. Thompson, Jr., of the Sixth district.

The Roosevelt petitions are: John W. Harris, of Mount Holly, and Winfield Forrest Cozart, of Atlantic City, for the Second district; E. Gerry Roberts and John M. Hoffmire, both of Red Bank, for the Third district. Hoffmire will run as an alternate.

The petitions favoring Governor Wilson are: First district—Senator J. Warren Davis, of Salem. Second district—Joseph B. Lamson, of New Gretna. Third district—Senator John W. Slocum, of Long Branch. Fifth district—William L. R. Lynd, of Dover.

Many other petitions will be filed within the next few days. In the Second district the Republican candidates picked by the leaders are Senator Walter E. Edge, of Atlantic, and State Tax Commissioner Bloomfield H. Minch, of Cumberland, with Clerk in Chancery Samuel K. Robbins, of Burlington, and Senator Robert E. Hand, of Cape May, as the alternates. Quartermaster General C. Edward Murray, of this city, and D. Ledyard Blair, of Somerset, are the candidates in the Fourth district. Although they were picked by regular Republicans, friends of General Murray declare he may be for Roosevelt, if the Colonel continues to show strength. The Roosevelt followers in Mercer have named Assemblyman John E. Gill, of this city, as their candidate for delegate, with former Senator Elijah C. Hutchinson, as the candidate for alternate.

The regular candidates of the Republicans in the Fifth district will be Hamilton Kean, of Union, and William F. Redmond, of Morris.

TITANIC SURVIVORS HERE

New York, April 19.—It was the submerged ledge of an iceberg of ordinary proportions that sent the White Star liner Titanic more than two miles to the bottom of the Atlantic, off the Grand banks of Newfoundland. She was steaming almost full tilt through a gently swelling sea and under a starlit sky, in charge of First Officer Murdoch, who a moment after the collision surrendered the command to Captain Smith, who went down with her. The captain was washed from the bridge and was seen to make his way back again. He had been urged to get into a lifeboat, but refused.

Perfect Discipline to Last.

The lifeboats that were launched were not filled to their capacity. The general feeling aboard the ship was, even after the boats had left her sides, that she would survive her wound, and the passengers who were left aboard believed almost up to the last moment that they had a chance for their lives.

The captain and officers behaved with the utmost gallantry, and there was perfect order and discipline in the launching of the boats, and after all hope had been abandoned for the salvation of the ship and for those who were on board. Just before she went down she broke her back.

Goes Down, Band Playing.

The band was playing solemn tunes as the Titanic went down. To the straining ears of the refugees in the boats came first "When We Meet Beyond," and later, when the great ship had sagged still deeper in the water, the band played softly, "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

Officer Shot Two Men.

Washington Dodge said that there was no dancing on board when the boat struck, as most of the passengers were preparing to turn in for their night's rest. "I saw one officer," Mr. Dodge said, "shoot two men. The men were trying to get into one of the lifeboats ahead of the women. Then the officer lowered his revolver for a moment. A minute later he raised the pistol again and blew his brains out."

VINCENT ASTOR.

Survivors Brought to Port.

Lifted from the gates of death the survivors of the Titanic, numbering about 700, were landed by the Carpathia, which rescued them six hours after the great White Star liner Titanic hurled herself against an iceberg last Sunday night. Disfigured by calamity and misery and oppressed by awful sorrow, the women and children and the few men who escaped from the world's greatest disaster were in better physical condition than the most optimistic had hoped for.

Majority of Saved Well.

Out of the great company that waited for hours in bitter cold among the grinding bergs, many of them thinly clad, many bruised and hurt by the collision which destroyed their ship, few needed the ministrations of physicians when they came out in sight of the vast crowd that had been waiting in almost unbearable uncertainty. Many, it is true, were weak and nervous and hysterical from an experience that had left the world void and empty for them. But—and thousands thanked God for it as they watched—the majority of the saddened, bereaved company were well in body.

Only One Survivor Died.

Only one of the Titanic's survivors died while the Carpathia was driving through fogs and storms to this port. Four of the Titanic's people had perished trying to get aboard the Carpathia and another Titanic passenger lost his life by the overturn of a boat. One woman, a second cabin passenger, who was landed, was suffering from a broken arm. But the general condition of the hundreds so dramatically saved from death was a cause of inexpressible pleasure to the thousands who saw them land. There was no need, as it turned out, for the ministers of death.

Various Estimates of Lost and Saved.

The Carpathia reported that there were 710 saved out of a passenger list which the White Star line figured at 2,180, making a loss of 1,470 lives. The statement from the Titanic's passengers says there were 745 rescued out of a passenger list of 2,340.

The list of names furnished by the Carpathia on her arrival show 188 first cabin passengers saved, 115 in the second cabin, 178 third class and 206 of the crew—a total of 687 names.

A woman passenger on the Carpathia heard from the ship's doctor that 495 of the passengers and 210 of the crew had been saved and that thirty-nine women lost their husbands. Six of those were brides.

J. A. Brayton of Los Angeles was one of those who jumped from the Titanic after the big list. He was about fifty feet from the bow, swimming on his back, with his face turned toward the ill fated ship. He said her bow sank and then rose up into the air. Then came a third boiler explosion. The ship buckled amidships and sank. He said there was not enough suction to draw him back, but a wave came from the vessel and pitched him forward and away from the ship.

"I was walking on the deck," he said, "and it was a fine, cold, clear night. The moon was shining, and a number of us were enjoying the crisp, keen air, promenading about the deck.

Berg Close When Sighted.

"Captain Smith was on the bridge when the first cry from the lookout came to him that there was an iceberg ahead. It may have been 300 feet high when I saw it, and it was probably 200 yards away from us, dead ahead. Captain Smith shouted some orders. What they were I could not understand and have not since learned, but a number of us promenaders rushed to the bow of the ship. When we saw we could not fail to hit it we all rushed to the stern. There came a crash, and the passengers were panic stricken for a time. But Captain Smith and a number of officers reassured everybody and insisted there was no danger if only the passengers would keep their heads. A number of people had gone to bed at this time and at the crash they rushed affrighted to the bridge. Captain Smith and his officers reassured all.

"We stood huddled around in groups after we had been pacified and reassured, telling one another that certainly there could be no danger, that the Titanic simply could not sink.

Ship's Boilers Exploded.

"The accident happened at about 10:30. Within half an hour the wireless was calling for help and at about midnight, I think, there came the first boiler explosion. Then for the first time, I think, Captain Smith began to get worried. A few minutes later a second boiler explosion occurred, and then Captain Smith ordered the crew to man the boats.

"Among the first cabin passengers little or no confusion prevailed. The first and second officers, with revolvers, stood by the ladders to the boats. The orders were, 'Women first.'

"Captain Smith paced up and down the deck, enforcing and continually reiterating the command, 'Women first.'

"The procedure into the boats was orderly. I understand that among the steerage passengers a panic broke out and that the ship's officers had to shoot three men who tried to force their way into the boats. No trouble at all of this kind broke out among the first cabin passengers. Occasionally an officer had to drive a man away from the boat, but no shooting was done."

these whom I noticed," said Mr. Brayton, "and he behaved very well. I think that he jumped right after I did, but I am not certain. I saw Mrs. Astor get into a small boat. Before this the colonel had been supporting her in the crowd. He let her go with a great deal of coolness as if he were not afraid of himself and did not wish Mrs. Astor to have fears for him.

"After I was picked up by the small boat it was two hours before we sighted the Carpathia and about half an hour more before we were taken on board the Carpathia. I hope I may never go through such another experience. The women were hysterical without exception, crying for the ones they had lost and suffering bitterly from the cold and exposure.

"The cold was the worst I ever felt. Many of the women did not have enough wraps on and they suffered terribly.

"All around us were scores of drowned bodies. Every once in a while a woman on our boat would recognize a corpse and then had to be restrained from jumping overboard. The sailors could not move an oar without striking a body."

LENGTH OF LINER FOUR CITY BLOCKS.

An idea of the immensity of the Titanic may be gained when it is known that in length she would stretch over four city blocks and would be considerably over 200 feet, standing on her end, higher than the tallest building in New York.

The vessel had accommodations for 3,500 passengers and carried a crew of 860. She was built in the river Laffan, at Belfast, and was launched May 31 of last year.

Went Back to Bed After Crash.

Mrs. Dickinson, wife of the bishop of Detroit, said:

"I was the first woman in the first boat. I was in the boat four hours before being picked up by the Car-

"The small boats were all filled when the ship gave a heavy lurch. She rolled to the right and to the left as if she were soggy. I don't know why I jumped at this point, but I did with my heavy ulster still on. Then I began to swim away from the boat, as I feared that if the boat went down it would suck me under. My coat helped to keep me up, although it retarded my swimming, and I was about fifty feet away when she sank. I was in the water for about twenty-five minutes when I was picked up by one of the small boats.

"The small boats had all been filled when the Titanic went down. Three of them which were in the rear of the Titanic were sucked under when the steamship sank."

Colonel Astor Calm.

At this point Mr. Brayton was asked how Colonel Astor, Benjamin Guggenheim and Major Butt had carried themselves.

"Colonel Astor was the only one of pathia. I was in bed at the time the crash came, got up and dressed and went back to bed, being assured there was no danger. There were not many passengers on deck when I got there. There was little or no panic, and the discipline of the Titanic's crew was perfect. Thank God my husband was saved also."

Refugees Waiting In Boats.

Nothing in life will ever approach the joy felt by the hundreds who were waiting in little boats on the spot where the Titanic foundered when the lights on the Carpathia were first made out. That was at 4 o'clock Monday morning.

The Carpathia, steaming on her way to the Mediterranean, was halted a little after midnight by the desperate calls of Phillips, the Titanic's wireless man. The Cunarder slowed, turned and headed at full speed for the location given. Captain Rostrom swung the Carpathia westward at full speed. Arrangements were made to take care of 2,000 people.

The wireless failed at 12:17 a. m. after only a hint of what was taking place. It was not until 4 a. m. that the Carpathia made out the fleet of small boats lying over the scene of the wreck. The night had been clear and there was no difficulty in sighting without glasses the little boats that were waiting in such suspense.

Survivors Pitiable Sight.

Captain Rostrom stopped his ship while still a good distance from the boats. He lowered rope ladders as well as the ordinary gangways and waited for the boats to come up to him. The sailors of the Titanic who manned these boats rowed hard, and it was only a few minutes when the survivors came alongside. The appearance of the survivors was pitiable. The women were clad only in nightgowns and thin kimonos, and many were wet through. A few men wore hats, hastily and unconsciously donned, no doubt, although they had no heavy clothing. Some had on evening dress and slippers.

The coming of the Carpathia seemed to open the gate of tears for many of the women who had sat dulled and stunned from the enormity of their misfortune. Some became hysterical and cried shrilly. Others were restrained by the sailors and other men folks from leaping to their feet. The cold was cruel, because so many of the women were thinly dressed. The men did their best to relieve that by supplying their coats. Several men took off their shirts, gave them to women and sat half naked in the cold.

Eight Died During Rescue.

It did not take long for the Carpathia to pick up the survivors. There were sixteen of the Titanic's boats afloat when the Carpathia got up. Two, which carried the purser, the doctor and other officers of the White Star liner, had capsized. Four of the Titanic's passengers died just as help came to them. Two died as they were being helped over the side and two others just as they were taken aboard. Of these two were sailors, one a passenger and the other a steward.

It was said that most of the men passengers of the Titanic who were brought here jumped from the sinking ship and were hauled into the lifeboats. Once in the water these were buoyed up by the life belts until they could get to the boats.

Mrs. Astor Well.

There were three automobiles to meet Mrs. Astor. Mr. Dobbyn, the colonel's secretary, was on the pier all evening. Mrs. Astor was taken to Colonel Astor's house at 840 Fifth avenue. Mrs. Astor was well, although she had been reported seriously ill.

Young Vincent Astor was seen running toward his car, a big limousine directly in front of the long procession of waiting automobiles. Vincent Astor cranked up the machine himself and jumped into the driver's seat.

"How is Mrs. Astor?" he was asked.

"She is well," he replied. "I am delighted to say that she is far better than I expected to find her."

No News of Colonel Astor.

"Have you any other good news to give us?" young Astor was asked.

"No," he said. "I have not yet dared to ask Mrs. Astor any questions."

"No news of Colonel Astor?"

"No," he again replied sadly.

RELIEF COMMITTEE.

Which Helped Care For Women Survivors of Titanic at Pier.

From top—Mrs. E. H. Harriman, Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., and Mrs. Nelson H. Henry. Photos by American Press Association.

The limousine was running now at a rapid rate, and it disappeared in the White Star pier, where Mrs. Astor was waiting to enter young Astor's car. In the car was a suit case filled with Mrs. Astor's clothing and other personal belongings, which had been taken to the pier to supply her immediate needs. Mrs. Astor walked down the gangplank unassisted wearing a white sweater. She walked across the pier and entered the car and was driven away.

Private Ambulances Called.

Twenty private ambulances had been called to the Cunard pier, and besides these whatever equipment that could be applied by city hospitals or by private philanthropy was ready to give aid to the suffering and make easier the progress of the bereaved and destitute. The great hospitals held their ambulances in waiting. Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., and other women waited in private automobiles, Fifth avenue electric buses, carriages—whatever vehicle could be of service.

The women's relief committee, with Mrs. Vanderbilt and Mrs. E. H. Harriman and Mrs. Nelson H. Henry at its head, were waiting to take charge of the women survivors.

$5,000 For Needy Survivors.

Among the first to arrive was a committee from the Stock Exchange headed by R. L. Thomas. Mr. Thomas carried a long black box, which contained $5,000 in small bills, which was to be handed out to the needy steerage survivors of the Titanic as they disembarked without any provisions attached.

The Waldorf-Astoria had sent over eight limousine cars to convey to the hotel a number of survivors.

FIRE IN SUMMIT.

Summit, April 19.—All four fire companies fought a blaze in the Badelt block, in Park avenue, East Summit. The damage was confined to a barber shop and is estimated at $1,000. The fire is supposed to have started from a stove in the shop. The bottling plant of Frank O'Brien in one side of the block suffered only the loss of a plate glass window. The block is the property of Mrs. Frederick Badelt, of Overlook road.

DELEGATES PETITIONS FILED.

Trenton, April 19.—More petitions of prospective delegates to the national conventions have just been filed with the Secretary of State, as follows: Senator John W. Slocum, Long Branch, Wilson adherent; petition contained 139 signatures; Joseph B. Lamson, New Gretna, Wilson man.

"A Two-Bagger!" Double Service Clothing for Men

What do we mean by double service? Just this—

It has been the experience of almost every man that the trousers of a suit do not stand up with the coat, the wear being doubly hard on the trousers. Thus many a good coat and vest has to be thrown aside because the trousers are worn out.

A suit with two pairs of trousers gives practically double the service of that with a single pair—that is what we mean when we say double service clothing.

Now the best of this story about our good clothing is that we are going to sell suits with two pairs of trousers at the usual cost of suits with only a single pair—see how we double your money in value.

There is nothing cheap about this clothing, either in the cloth or in the making.

Buying the cloth in the bolt at a time when it was offered cheap by a well known man put us on the inside at the start. Then having them made according to our own standards, having them as right inside as out, making them equal to custom-made clothing, brought us suits that are incomparable—suits you will not match at the price anywhere.

All wool, of course, in the newest shades, in the snappiest styles; many of the coats and vests silk lied; you may take your choice of them at only.....$15

We are going to put into this offering a goodly number of fine suits that have been worth up to $25, but these have only one pair of trousers with them.

DRESSY SUITS FOR BOYS

A profusion of the newest and snappiest styles ever devised for the little fellows—well-made clothing of attractive materials strongly stitched, and assure excellent service.

Thrilling Stories of Escape Told.

ISMAY SAYS LEFT LAST

Tells His Tale Briefly; Silent on Lifeboats.

COL. ASTOR REFUSED LIFE BELT

Poohpoohed Danger --- Survivors Describe Wild Scramble That Soon Followed.

New York, April 19.—Graphic stories of the disaster were told by survivors when the rescue ship Carpathia landed.

J. Bruce Ismay, head of the transatlantic shipping trust, which controls the White Star line, said:

"I was asleep in my cabin when the crash came. It woke me instantly. I experienced a sensation as if the big liner were sliding up on something.

"We struck a glancing blow, not head on, as some persons have supposed. The iceberg, so great was the force of the blow, tore the ship's plates halfway back, I think, although I cannot say definitely. There was absolutely no disorder.

"I left in the last boat. I did not see the Titanic sink. I cannot remember how far away the lifeboat in which I was had been rowed from the ship when she struck."

"How soon did she sink after she struck?" Mr. Ismay was asked.

"Let me see; it was two hours and twenty minutes, I think."

"In other words, there would have been ample time to have taken everybody off if there had been enough lifeboats?" he was asked.

"I do not want to talk about that now," was the reply.

"What was the captain doing when you last saw him?"

"He was standing on the bridge."

"It is not true that he committed suicide?"

"No. I heard nothing of it."

Mr. Ismay was asked to explain the delay in the sending of news of the wreck from the Carpathia. He said:

"I can't say anything about that now except that I sent the first telegram announcing what had happened to Mr. Franklin about 11 o'clock on the morning that we were picked up. I am told that that telegram did not reach its destination here until Wednesday."

"Colonel Astor was walking the deck at the time the Titanic struck the iceberg," said William David, assistant saloon steward on board the Carpathia in reciting incidents which had been repeated to him by surviving passengers.

"He was approached by a frantic waiter, I was told, and urged to put on a life belt. The waiter had several life belts in his hand. Colonel Astor waved the waiter away.

Colonel Astor Made Light of It.

"'Pooh,' he said, 'this is nothing. There is no need of life belts.' And that was the last seen of Colonel Astor.

"J. Bruce Ismay was pulled on board the Carpathia from a lifeboat. He was clad only in pajamas. He collapsed completely upon reaching the deck."

Mr. David was emphatic in his statement that failure to realize the extent of the damage to the Titanic on the part of the passengers of the doomed vessel was responsible in great part for the large loss of life.

"At midnight on Sunday," said Mr. David, "the men on the Carpathia received the word that the Titanic was sinking. They laughed at the idea, and it was not until fifteen minutes after 12 that the real situation occurred to them. Instantly torches, electric apparatus and other signal devices were prepared on the decks, masts and bridge of the Carpathia and provisions placed in all boats. Blankets and robes were placed in alleyways and gangways. All available men were put on the lookout and all equipped with powerful glasses.

Light Lifeboat Torch.

"The first light—a blue light—was sighted, and it was found to be the torch on one of the Titanic's lifeboats, the only one having a light. It was for a time thought that the illumination was from the head mast light of the sinking Titanic. Every one on board believed that they were seeing the Titanic gradually going to her grave.

"But this lifeboat was positively recognized soon before three o'clock Monday morning. It was picked up and found to contain only fifteen persons, while it could have easily accommodated sixty. It had on board one entire family, one sailor and five firemen.

"We found the Titanic's lifeboats within three or four miles of one another. All passengers rescued were lifted to the deck of the Carpathia by means of the jacket ropes. All were too exhausted to climb the rope ladders which were lowered. Mrs. Astor was lifted to the deck in this manner. The Carpathia picked up twenty-two boats. There were from thirty to forty persons in each.

"Mrs. Rothschild" (Mr. David could not tell which Mrs. Rothschild) "carried a little Pomenarian when taken on board.

"All Right, Jerry," Then Sank.

"Surviving passengers told me that when two firemen attempted to board a lifeboat when the Titanic was sinking the officer of the boat shouted to them that they would swamp it because it was already overcrowded. The firemen are quoted as saying: 'All right, Jerry.' After which they went out of sight in the icy water. I was told that the Titanic's officers directed the filling of the lifeboats with drawn revolvers and that only two shots were fired and those by the second officer, who meant to intimidate several of the crew fighting to escape from the sinking ship.

"The Titanic went down slowly. When the bridge was on a level with the water, Captain Smith, who had remained on the bridge, was picked up by two sailors, I was told, and dragged on board a floating raft. He had no sooner been taken on board than he leaped into the sea. It was not until the boilers of the Titanic burst that she sank fast. She went down bow first.

"We then began to realize after an hour or so that it was more serious than it had been supposed and my first thought was to go down and get more clothing and some money, but seeing people pouring up the stairs decided it was better to cause no confusion to people coming up by doing so. Presently we heard the order: 'All men stand back away from the boats and all women retire to next deck below'—the smoking room deck, or B deck.

"The men all stood away and remained in absolute silence leaning against the end railings of the deck or pacing slowly up and down. The boats were swung out and lowered from A deck. When they were to the level of B deck, where all the women were collected, the women got in quietly with the exception of some who refused to leave their husbands. In some cases they were torn from them and pushed into the boats, but in many instances they were allowed to remain because there was no one to insist they should go.

"Looking over the side, one saw boats from aft already in the water slipping quietly away into the darkness, and presently the boats near me were lowered and with much creaking as the new ropes slipped through the pulley blocks down the ninety feet which separated them from the water.

"One by one the boats were filled with women and children, lowered and rowed away into the night. Presently the word went round among the men, 'The men are to be put into boats on the starboard side.' I was on the port side, and most of the men walked across the deck to see if this was so. I remained where I was and presently heard the call:

"'Any more women?'

"Looking over the side of the ship, I saw the boat, No. 13, swinging level with B deck, half full of women. Again the call was repeated:

"'Any more women?'

"I saw none come on, and then one of the crew looked up and said:

"'Any women on your deck, sir?'

"'No,' I replied.

"'Then you had better jump.'

"I dropped in and fell in the bottom as they cried 'Lower away.' As the boat began to descend two women were pushed hurriedly through the crowd on B deck and heaved over into the boat and a baby of ten months passed down after them. Down we went, the crew calling to those lowering each end to keep her level 'aft, stern,' 'both together,' until we were some ten feet from the water, and here occurred the only anxious moment we had during the whole of our experience."

CAPTAIN'S WIFE DELIRIOUS.

Southampton, April 19.—The widow of Captain Smith, who went down when the Titanic struck an iceberg, is delirious.

She continually mutters, "The Olympic is all right," and seems entirely ignorant of the fate of the Titanic.

"Mona," the $10,000 American Opera

SOMEWHAT over two years ago The Metropolitan Opera Company of New York announced a competition for a prize of $10,000 for the best grand opera to be written in English and composed by an American. The operas were to be passed upon by a jury of musicians and the winner assured a production at the Metropolitan Opera House.

Twenty-four operas were submitted. The jury selected to decide the competition was composed of Alfred Hertz, conductor of the Metropolitan; Walter Damrosch, conductor of the New York Symphony orchestra; George W. Chadwick of Boston, director of the New England Conservatory of Music, and Charles Martin Loeffler, concert master of the Boston Symphony orchestra.

The jury decided unanimously in favor of an opera entitled "Mona," the work of Professor Horatio William Parker, composer, of New Haven, Conn., and Brian Hooker, author, of Farmington, Conn. To them the prize was accordingly paid, and the promised presentation of the opera has just been given. Mme. Louise Homer sang the title role.

Professor Parker was born at Auburndale, Mass., on Sept. 15, 1863. His father was an architect, his mother the daughter of a clergyman. At fourteen his love for music took hold of young

BRIAN HOOKER (ABOVE) AND PROFESSOR PARKER.

Parker, and within a year he was trying his hand at competition. At sixteen he was organist of a church. Then he was sent to Boston for more advanced study. In 1881 he went to Munich, where he studied at the Hochschule Fur Musik. He was married while abroad and in 1884 returned to the United States.

At different times he was instructor in music at the schools of St. Mary and St. Paul at Garden City, N. Y., organist at the cathedral there, teacher of counterpoint at the National Conservatory of Music in New York and organist of the Church of the Holy Trinity. Thence he was summoned to Boston as organist and choirmaster of Trinity church there. In 1894 he was elected Battell professor of the theory of music in Yale university, and he has lived in New Haven ever since as dean of the Yale music school. He has conducted the Symphony orchestra and the Oratorio society of New Haven and was until recently organist of the Collegiate church in New York city. He still makes a weekly visit to Philadelphia as conductor of the Orpheus and Euridice clubs.

In June, 1902, Cambridge university conferred upon him the degree of doctor of music. Yale had already honored him with the degree of master of arts.

Brian Hooker was born in New York city Nov. 2, 1880. Like Professor Parker, he is of New England origin, his family having lived since the middle of the seventeenth century at Farmington, Conn., Mr. Hooker's present home. He was graduated from the Hartford public high school in 1898 and from Yale in 1902. After a year in the graduate school at Yale he went to Columbia university as assistant in English and returned to Yale as instructor in rhetoric in 1905, in which position he remained for four years, leaving Yale in 1910 to take up writing as a profession. While an undergradute he was editor of the Yale Record and the Yale Literary Magazine and in 1901 won the university prize for an original poem. In 1909 his song "Mother of Men" won the prize offered for a Yale song.

DEALING IN STOCKS.

Know What You Are Buying Before Investing Your Money.

We hear of fortunes quickly made in Wall street, of miners who have accumulated enormous wealth by a lucky strike, of inventions that have made inventors rich. But how many of these instances are there? Just a few, while countless thousands and hundreds of thousands have lost everything in unsuccessful ventures.

The prosperous, successful man or woman is the one who buys with knowledge of what he or she is buying, whether it be a piece of beef, a dozen of eggs, a horse, a house or stocks and bonds.

Money has been made in Wall street and will continue to be made. Those who buy stocks when they sell low and sell them when they advance must make money. The operation is no different from buying a house or a farm at a bargain and selling it at a profit. But one should exercise just as much care in one transaction as in the other.

Have nothing to do with those who offer glittering opportunities to get rich quickly. This will save your money. It may sound very nice to say that one owns a thousand shares of a gold, silver or copper mine with a par value of $10,000 and that cost the holder only $50 or $100. But what use is such a certificate unless it has real value? Better put the $50 or $100 in one share of a dividend paying stock and be satisfied with moderate returns and a moderate profit on any advance the stock may enjoy.—Leslie's.

EAGLES IN COMBAT.

Fury of the Belligerent Birds In Their Duel In the Air.

An old time observer in Maryland says that the Eastern Shore eagles can fly faster, remain in their lofty flight longer and descend from it to the earth with more velocity than any other created thing with wings. He also says that the fierceness of the eagles and the tenacity and power of clutch they can put into their immense talons are beyond belief, and he cites as an instance of it a fight between two of the big birds that he once saw.

Just what incited the two eagles to the combat this spectator of the fight did not know, but they came together high in the air. A long time the two fierce birds fought with beak and talon and wing, rushing upon one another, delivering their blows and retreating for advantage in a new attack. Then at last they clinched and fought at close quarters.

In that position they came plunging to the earth, but neither made any effort to stay the fall, so desperately intent was each on the savage battle. They struck together in the freshly turned furrow of a plowed field, and the impact failed to separate them or to cause an instant's delay in the fight, and the coming on the scene of a man with a club, with which he at once took part in the battle, did not distract their attention from one another, and the man killed them both. Their talons were buried so deeply in each other's flesh that to separate the two belligerent eagles it was necessary to cut off their legs.—New York Sun.

Married Young to Beat Smallpox.

When I was a lad the number of people whose faces were pitted with smallpox was legion. "Blind from smallpox" was on the card worn by most of the unfortunate street beggars who had lost their sight.

The anxiety of parents to have their daughters married at an age which would now be considered almost scandalously immature was one by-result of the frequency and severity of smallpox. If a girl's face were marred her prospects of matrimony were, of course, impaired, and the ambition of mothers—so common was smallpox—was to see their daughters safely married before they caught the disease.—From Walter Gilbey's "Recollections of Seventy Years" in Nineteenth Century.

What Life Is.

Nothing is of real value in the world except people. Never hurt a person by a wrong thought or by word or by act. Never hurt each other. Then go on a big discovering expedition and find each other. Never say, "That person has nothing in him," for that only means that you haven't found it yet. Then, last of all, never think you are the only person. You are just a part of "each other." You are not somebody and the rest of us everybody else. We are each other. Life is each-otherness, not everybody-elseness.—St. Nicholas.

The Hornbill.

The hornbill, a bird which is widely distributed in India, the Malay archipelago and Africa, has a very loud note. Its call has been described as between the shriek of a locomotive and the bray of a donkey and can be heard a distance of about a couple of miles.

Twisted.

Hicks—I hear that Brown's speech at the club dinner last night was quite funny. Wicks—The opening sentence was—very! He rose and said, "While I was sitting on my thought a chair struck me." Everybody roared.—Boston Transcript.

Company.

A crowd is not company. Faces are but a gallery of pictures where there is no love, and talk but a tinkling cymbal.—Francis Bacon.

When men are pure, laws are useless; when men are corrupt, laws are broken.—Disraeli.

—Do not adulterate the finer feelings any more than you would the food you eat. Both are necessary for right living.—Manchester Union.

ENRICO CARUSO.

Noted Tenor Who Has Composed a Ballad That Tells of Love.

Enrico Caruso, the noted singer, has composed a love ballad which is said to possess not a little musical merit.

Caruso has long been prominent as a tenor and has attained some distinction as an amateur cartoonist, but this is his first invasion into the field of composition.

ENRICO CARUSO.

"Dreams of Long Ago" is the title of the Caruso effort. The words tell a story of passionate love, but Caruso has not disclosed the identity of his inspiration.

Substitute For Garters.

A charming story of a child is told by Katherine Busbey in "Home Life In America."

"One spring day I heard a small voice at my porch ask of the maid:

"'Please may I come in and soap my legs?'

"Mistrusting my ears, I investigated and found it to be the six-year-old daughter of a friend, and I had not misunderstood.

"She had started for Sunday school and found, to her dismay, that her socks had a persistent tendency toward her low shoes, because, as she explained earnestly:

"'They will not stick unless you soap your legs.'"

A WASHINGTON STORY.

General Gassaway Saw the Great Man In a Comic Situation

A correspondent favors us with this unpublished anecdote about George Washington, obtained from a manuscript autobiography:

"In the spring of 1814 I fell in company with General Louis Gassaway at Annapolis, Md., then clerk of the district court, by whom I was informed that in the Revolutionary war he was an aid-de-camp to Washington. I will let General Gassaway relate the anecdote himself:

"'In the winter of 1779 and 1780, called the "hard winter," the American army went into winter quarters at Morristown, N. J. General Washington and his staff had their headquarters at the farmhouse of one Gabriel Ford, a large and convenient establishment. One severely cold night, about 2 o'clock, there was an unusual bustle at headquarters. I lodged below on the first floor and soon learned the cause of the stir. General Washington ran to the head of the stairs in his night dress with a pistol in each hand and called to me to know the cause of the uproar.

"'"A soldier on guard, sir, has been frozen at his post and brought into quarters."

"'"See that the poor fellow is well cared for and change the guard every hour," was the humane reply.

"'To see a man six feet high in his night clothes with a pistol in each hand for a slight alarm of the night guard bordered so near on the ludicrous that I could not easily keep my equanimity to answer the great general of the American army with becoming respect.'"—Army and Navy Journal.

TONE UP THE BODY.

It Will Help to Fortify Your System Against Serious Illness.

There is a saying, much wiser and cheaper than it seems at first glance, to the effect that "you won't get sick if you keep well." It is a half jesting way of setting forth a profound truth.

The risks and exposures of life are so many and so insidious that they cannot be escaped. The only hope of passing through them unharmed is to keep the body so strong and sound that it can defend itself against the diseases which are constantly lying in wait for the unguarded and the weak.

It is a mere commonplace to say that one man will take exactly the same course and face precisely the same risks that another man finds fatal and go entirely unscathed. Sometimes it is a difference born in the two organisms, but often it is the result of different living and different conditions in respect to strength and health.

If the body is maintained at a high state of efficiency and if care is taken to overcome and correct the little disorders and signs of trouble as soon as they appear there is not much danger of a serious illness. The small precautions and the constant toning up of the body by exercise, fresh air, sensible eating and drinking and abstention from all excesses and follies ward off prolonged and often desperate struggles against disease.

It is the principle of the old adage, "A stitch in time saves nine." The same rule applies to the care of health. —Cleveland Leader.

The House of Lords.

The house of lords was composed chiefly of clerics until the time of Edward III. Thus in 1295 the peers were ninety spiritual and forty-nine lay members, including twenty archbishops and bishops, sixty-seven abbots and priors and three masters of orders. Many clerical dignitaries summoned did not attend at Westminster, refusing to recognize the authority of parliament over their own convocations of Canterbury and York. It was partly from this cause that the lords spiritual decreased in number until early in the reign of Edward III. the upper house consisted of eighty-six lay and only forty-five clerical peers, while during Elizabeth's parliament there were forty-three and twenty-six respectively.—London Standard.

Smallest Books.

The smallest book in the world was made in Italy. It is not much larger than a man's thumb nail. It is four-tenths of an inch in length, a quarter of an inch in width and contains 208 pages, each with nine lines and from 95 to 100 letters. The text consists of a letter written by the inventor of the pendulum clock to Mme. Christine of Lorraine in 1615.

The next smallest book is an edition of the "Divine Comedy" of Dante. This is something less than an inch wide, with type so small that a microscope is needed to read it.

Bars to Happiness.

"Now that you've made your pile I suppose you're happy?"

"No. Mother won't lemme see any show I wanter, daughter won't lemme wear anything I wanter, and the doctor won't lemme eat anything I wanter."—Washington Herald.

Looking Ahead.

Same Old Story.

She—How did they ever come to marry? He—Oh, it's the same old story. Started out to be good friends, you know, and later on changed their minds.—Puck.

Be ignorance thy choice where knowledge leads to woe.—Beattie.

ICEHOUSE NEAR COLLAPSE.

Sussex, April 19.—The Independent Ice Company's large icehouse, located near Wright's Mills, in Wantage township, is said to be on the verge of collapse, water having undermined the foundation. Manager James O. Sutton says that of the $2,000 worth of ice the building contains not over $200 worth can be saved for local consumers this summer.

ISMAY ASSERTS HE WELCOMES INQUIRY.

J. Bruce Ismay issued the following statement:

"In the presence and under the shadow of this catastrophe so overwhelming, my feelings are too deep for expression in words. I can only say that the White Star line, officers and employees will do everything humanly possible to alleviate the sufferings and sorrows of the survivors, their relatives and friends of those who perished.

"The Titanic was the last word in shipbuilding. Every regulation prescribed by the British board of trade had been lived up to. The master, officers and crew were the most efficient men in the British service.

"I am informed that a committee of the United States senate has been appointed to investigate the cause of the accident.

"I heartily welcome a complete and exhaustive inquiry, and any aid I or my associates or our builders or navigators can render is at the service of the public and the governments of the United States and Great Britain. Under these circumstances I must respectfully refuse to make any further statement at this hour."

CONGRESSMEN AT PIER.

Carried Subpoenas For Ismay and Others to Appear at Investigation.

New York, April 19.—The subcommittee of the senate committee on commerce arrived at the Pennsylvania station on the Congressional Limited at 9:07 p. m. from Washington. They were met at the station by Deputy Collector Stewart. The entire party immediately took taxicabs to the Carpathia's pier.

Senator William Alden Smith of Michigan headed the party, in which were Senators Newlands of Nevada. Sergeant at Arms Ramsdell, Deputy Sergeant at Arms Cornelius. The last two had subpoenas, which they intend-

TAFT'S TRIBUTE TO BUTT.

"He Was a Man to the Last, Soldier Through and Through."

Washington, April 19.—President Taft paid a touching tribute to Major Archibald Butt, his official military aid, official and personal companion and friend.

"I never at any time," said the president, "had any idea at all that Archie was saved. As soon as it became apparent that the reports were true that several hundred persons, perhaps a thousand or more, had gone down I knew that he went too. He was a man to the last, soldier through and through: he was always on deck where he belonged, and I know he must have been the last to leave. There now appears no doubt that these last were lost."

IN WOMAN'S REALM

FASHION JOTTINGS.

Gay Colors Not Seen In the Season's Hosiery.

So grotesque have become the crude colors, carelessly chosen, of last season's footwear that a reaction has set in largely in favor of the all black than which nothing is more truly becoming and beautifying to the foot.

Simple little frocks made after this manner are always charming. This season there are an unusual number of pretty materials suited to their use but nothing for summer wear is better than French gingham. The model pictured is of white gingham checked with pink. JUDIC CHOLLET.

FROCK OF CHECKED GINGHAM.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes for misses of fourteen, sixteen and eighteen years of age. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7385, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage, which insures more prompt delivery. When ordering use coupon.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

MINCED BEEF.

THE family that is supplied with a meat chopper can vary the bill of fare in dozens of different ways.

This minced meat is much more nourishing than ordinary kinds.

Beef is especially recommended for this purpose. If well seasoned minced or chopped meat is always palatable.

Meat chopped at home is much more likely to be clean and fresh than when bought of the butcher.

Well Seasoned Dishes.

Baked Hamburg Loaf.—Take a pound of round or other cheap steak. Grind it in the meat chopper. Mix with it three tablespoonfuls of breadcrumbs, a well beaten egg, a tablespoonful of melted butter, a tablespoonful of chopped parsley, a teaspoonful of salt, a quarter of a teaspoonful of pepper, a teaspoonful of lemon juice, a teaspoonful of onion juice and a little milk.

Shape this into a firm loaf. Brush with the beaten yolk of an egg, sprinkle with crumbs and lay in a baking pan on top of thin slices of salt pork or bacon.

Bake in the oven and serve hot.

Russian Steak.—Take about a pound of lean steak, chop it very fine, place in a dish and season with pepper and salt. Add by degrees, while pounding the beef in a mortar, three ounces of butter. Flour a board, divide the mixture into about eight pieces and flatten the pieces into small steaks nearly half an inch thick. Beat up an egg with a teaspoonful of salad oil, dip each steak into this and roll in breadcrumbs. Melt one ounce of butter in a frying pan, put the steaks in and cook on each side for three minutes. Serve on a mound of potatoes.

White Sauce and Dressing.

Beef Rolls.—Mince a pound of raw beef, add a tablespoonful of chopped herbs for flavoring, a half teaspoonful of vinegar, a teaspoonful of black pepper and half a teaspoonful of salt. Add to these a small teacupful of breadcrumbs and a well beaten egg.

Shape into a roll and wrap in buttered paper. Place in a baking pan and bake for half an hour.

When cold wrap in thin oblongs of pie crust, place on the pan and bake until the crust is browned.

Minced Beef and Tomato Sauce.—Take a pound of round steak, run it through the chopping machine and mix with it a teaspoonful of salt, a half teaspoonful of pepper, a tablespoonful of grated onion and a tablespoonful of chopped parsley. Shape this into round, flat cakes. Brush a baking pan with drippings and bake in a hot oven.

The beef cakes are to be served on a platter with a border of rice and with tomato sauce, which may be made as follows: Strain a cupful of canned tomatoes into a saucepan, stir in a teaspoonful of cornstarch which has been wet with a little water and boil for three minutes.

Anna Thompson.

GARDENING TIME IS NOW HERE

And In Suburban Communities the Most Intense Rivalry Exists as to Who Shall Have the Biggest and Finest Garden.

By BYRON WILLIAMS.

AN English writer who has been flitting from flower to flower in this country and doing snapshot observing on the wing advises us that American hurry is a myth. In other words, we are not going nearly so fast in this country as has been generally understood. He says that the hurry of the Strand has the hurry of Broadway very much discounted, and after a visit to Chicago he questions very materially whether even Chicago with its mad rush for dollars has anything on London.

It is to be regretted that the gentleman came to this country in search of the hurry bug and returned without having visited its natural precincts. While it is true that he visited Chicago and New York looking for the hurry bacilli, it is also quite evident that he did not leave the environs of those cities and visit the pastoral scenes of the country where the greatest race of the universe is just now taking place. I refer to the spring Marathon between suburban gardeners. Here the English novelist would no doubt have been surprised to see suburbanites engaged in the rapid transit work of planting onion sets.

A rustic fence may or may not divide two suburban gardens, but that is immaterial. In each garden may be seen a man upon his knees beside a paper sack. Between his thumb and first finger, deftly poised, is a redolent onion set, which with lightning-like rapidity he thrusts into the ground, diving into the sack for another, which likewise is deposited with celerity beneath the moist earth. On the opposite side of the fence his neighbor, jealous of the other's prowess, is excitedly engaged in trying to get one more row of onions planted before dark.

In the morning our English friend might have seen the suburbanites arise with the sun and hurry out to the garden patch with seeds and tools. With deftness and dispatch the lines are run across the garden patch, and while a sleepy wife drops the corn the racing husband covers it and digs more holes for more corn. The neighbor across the way is occupied in the same manner, and over the fence his wife cries shrilly to the other woman, "We had radishes from the garden for dinner last night," to which the woman addressed scoffs disdainfully and replies: "Oh, that's nothing! We had them a week ago from ours."

And thus the battle wages, the rivalry of the first strawberries, the first asparagus, the first potatoes, at times reaching the riotous stage.

And should the visitor have chanced to come upon a real suburban resident who has been delayed by politics in the preparation of his garden his idea of American speed against time would be materially changed. To have the middle of May arrive without the garden having been plowed is a most undesirable situation from the standpoint of the country dweller. All is bustle and confusion when the local plowman arrives, and from the time his shining share cuts the first furrow until the crop is in there is a most terrific exhibition of hurry. To have the neighbors discover that the Fourth of July has arrived without new potatoes in your garden is equal to having been caught robbing a hen roost.

LAUNDRY LORE.

Borax water will restore the gloss to sateen in washing.

Use warm water to sprinkle starched clothes and the effect will be twice as satisfactory.

To erase all traces of scorch stains wet the scorched place, rub with soap and bleach in the sun.

Silk handkerchiefs should be washed with borax in tepid water with little or no soap. Iron them before dry.

By using soapy water when making starch the clothes will have a glossy appearance, and the irons will be less likely to stick.

Iron rust stains yield to the following treatment: Soak the stain in lemon juice sprinkled with salt and bleach several hours in the sun.

Tar stains may be removed from cotton fabrics by covering the spot with butter and allowing it to remain for a few hours before washing.

Fine ginghams and percales will emerge from the tub with the gloss and dressing of new material if dipped in sweet milk instead of starch.

If colored cottops are washed in bran or starch water instead of soapsuds they will keep their color. If bran is used put it into a bag of loosely woven cheesecloth. A handful of either is enough for a small tub of water.

Keeping Hands Soft.

Always use a pure soap on the hands, rinse them in clear water and dry thoroughly. At night rub the following cream into the hands, draw on a loose pair of white cotton gloves and leave on overnight: Cocoa butter, one ounce; oil of sweet almonds, one ounce; boric acid, one-half dram; oxide of zinc, one-half ounce; essence of bergamot, four drops; extract of violets, ten drops.

PIERCE BILL IS TREATED AS LAW

Effect of Opinion Passed by Attorney-General for Secretary of State.

TEST IN COURT AHEAD

Secretary's Duty Purely Ministerial, He Is Told and It Is Not His Function to Pass Upon the Measure's Standing.

Trenton, April 20 (Special).—Secretary of State David S. Crater received yesterday afternoon from Attorney General Edmund Wilson, a written opinion that the Pierce grade crossing bill, over which a question has been raised whether or not it is a law, should be filed, given a chapter number and be treated like other passed bills which reach the Secretary of State through the usual statutory channels. The Attorney Geneal says that whther the bill be a law or not may raise queries which it is not incumbent upon the Secretary of State to decide. It is believed that the effect of the opinion will be that the bill will be regarded as a law until it is formaly tested in the courts.

The bill was filed with the Secretary of State by authority of a resolution passed by the Assembly last Tuesday night after the Senate, by a vote of 6 to 9, had concurred in the Governor's veto, the Assembly having previously pased the bill over the veo. Secretary of State Crater then asked the Attorney General for the opinion as to whether the bill should be formally fled as a law.

ACTRESS BROKE ANKLE; AUDIENCE DIDN'T KNOW

Accident on Stage of Plainfield Theatre Sends "Madame Sherry" Dancer to Muhlenberg Hospital For Three Weeks' Stay.

Miss Ruth Florence, one of the principals in the "Madame Sherry" company, which appeared at the Plainfield theatre last night taking the part of "Pepita," broke her right ankle in a dance on the stage. The accident occurred just after she finished "The Dance of Danger," immediately before the finale of the third act. She was attended by Dr. A. H. Dundon and was later removed to Muhlenberg hospital, where the broken bone was set. Miss Florence will probably be detained at the hospital two or three weeks. The audience knew nothing of the occurrence.

The accident followed the musical number entitled "The Mad Madrid" and the Dance of Danger," which was given by Miss Florence and Ben. Grinnell, who had the part of "Phillippe," the janitor. The dance, a difficult one, was so cleverly executed that an encore was given.

Miss Florence was walking off the stage amid the applause of the audience, when she stepped on something which caused her ankle to turn. She experienced a sever pain and found it difficult to walk. Th incident was reported at once to the stage manager, who promptly called a physician. He discovered that a bone was broken. Miss Florence is an English woman and has been with the "Madame Sherry" company for two or three seasons.

MR. AND MRS. FISK GIVE A DINNER DANCE

Entertain Bridal Party and Number of Friends on Wedding Eve.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Fisk, whose daughter, Miss Anne Gray Fisk, will be married to James Ford Johnson, Jr., this afternoon, entertained the bridal party and other friends at their home, last night. There were about forty guests. An elaborate dinner was served, and there were several novel features.

The guests as well as Miss Fisk and Mr. Johnson wre pleasantly surprised by the menu cards. On the cards appeared photos of the bride-elect and bridegroom-elect, together with a picture of the Fisk home, where Miss Fisk was born and where she will be married.

While the dinner was being served and afterward VanEpps Brothers played a popular program of music, including several of the latest songs in which the company joined in singing. Dancing was continued until an early hour this morning. The guests included a number of Mr. Johnson's college friends; also Mr. and Mrs. Allen Corey, of Pittsburg. The decorations of the parlors and dining-room by Brower were very attractive.

AGED RESIDENT OF S. PLAINFIELD DIES

Physically Vigorous, in Spite of Her 89 Years Until Last Month.

Mrs. Charity S. Dunham, wife of Bethune Dunham, died last night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. R. Soper, at South Plainfield, in her ninetieth year. Despite her advanced years, Mrs. Dunham, prior to a month and a half ago, when she was taken ill, enjoyed the possession of all her faculties a good deal of vigor. She performed the somewhat remarkable feat of walking two miles each way to church every Sunday until her health failed.

Mrs. Dunham was born in the vicinity of South Plainfield and always lived there, with the exception of seven years spent at Perth Amboy. She was the daughter of John Martin, who for many years operated a grist mill at South Plainfield. She was the last of a family of seven. She was a life-long member of the Baptist church at South Plainfield, and for a number of years taught the women's Bible class in the Sunday-school. She was a great Bible student.

Beside a husband, Mrs. Dunham is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Benjamin Randolph and Mrs. Albert R. Soper, of South Plainfield, and Mrs. J. W. Wyckoff, of Metuchen; also sixteen grandchildren and nineteen great-grandchildren.

PUBLICITY SCHEME TO ADVERTISE CITY

Chamber of Commerce Starts Movement by Using a New York Sunday Paper.

P. H. Burns, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, today told of the campaign of advertising Plainfield which has been started under the auspices of the chamber, and which bids fair to insure a new era of prosperity and expansion for the owners of real estate and the merchants of this community.

Mr. Burns said, "The principal function of a Chamber of Commerce is the finding of ways and means to benefit the general public in the community in which it exists. In Plainfield we have one of the best suburban towns in the country, and if its merits were better known, the population would be very materially increased. This would result in added business for the builders, building material men, real estate agents, and merchants. It would also tend by the increased activity in real estate to increase the value of the holdings of Plainfield's property owners. I find that our real estate men are a unit in enthusiasm and hearty interest in anything that will promote the welfare of the city, and in the few hours that I have spent interviewing them, I found substantial evidence of this, in that they have arranged to take a considerable amount of space in tomorrow's New York Herald to advertise the merits of this community. I do not believe, however, that real estate men should be the only ones to interest themselves in a matter of this kind, and my idea in launching this campaign is that every man in this community who has an interest in increasing the property values and increasing the local business will have an object lesson placed before him without cost to himself. This demonstration, however, should result in a number of suggestions which I will gladly welcome. Definite offers of co-operation from the many men who have from time to time urged a scheme of advertising the town should be forthcoming. I have one or two other ideas that will certainly result in making the merits of Plainfield known to a great many people who are looking for suburban homes, and will be very glad to talk these over with any resident of the city or borough desiring to financially aid the project. By having a great many people interested, the cost will be very lów to each individual, and I hope that sufficient interest will be generated by this initial attempt to secure continuing and profit-bearing results to the people of Plainfield."

SOLO BY REQUEST.

Miss Ruth Harris, soprano soloist at the First Baptist church, who will leave the church May 1, to accept a position in New York, will by request, sing "With Verdure Clad," at the morning service tomorrow.

MISS ANNE GRAY FISK AND JAMES FORD JOHNSON

Miss Anne Gray Fisk, daughter of former Mayor and Mrs. Charles Joel Fisk, and James Ford Johnson, Jr., son of James Ford Johnson, of Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., will be married at 4 o'clock this afternoon, at the home of the bride's parents on West Seventh street, in the presence of about 300 guests, including relatives and a number of young friends of the couple. Miss Helen Timpson, of this city, is to be the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will be Miss Margaret Drayton, Miss Mary Gray Runkle and Miss Dorothy Fisk, of this city; Miss Emily Morgan, of New Haven, Conn.; Miss Margaret Reikirt, of Cincinnati; Miss Marie Cozzens, of New York, and Miss Katherine McCutcheon, formerly of this city, but now of Washington, Conn. Louise Fisk Waring and Helen Talmadge Runkle, the former a niece of the bride, will be flower girls.

The best man is to be Francis Johnson, of Oswego, N. Y., brother of the groom, and the ushers are Gordon Abbott, Reginald Roome, Seth Barton French, Lyall Hall, Ruthven Wodell, of New York; Earle T. Williams, of Brooklyn; Harry T. Curtis, of Greenwich, Conn., and Elton Hoyt, 2d, of Cleveland, O.

The bride will wear a gown of white satin, court train, trimmed with duchess lace. She will wear a tulle veil and carry white lilacs. Her special adornment will be a diamond horseshoe pin, the gift of the groom. The maid of honor is to wear an ecru lace gown, with a peach colored taffeta coat; also a leghorn hat trimmed with ecru lace and roses and carry Wardell roses.

Miss Drayton's gown is grey crepe meteor, that of Miss Dorothy Fisk Alice blue crepe meteor; the Misses Emily Morgan and Margaret Reikirt will wear gowns of pompadour silk; Miss Runkle a gown of tan silk, trimmed with black; Miss Cozzens a gown of white embroidered lingerie over lavendar, while Miss McCutcheon's gown will be of blue taffeta. The gowns of the maid or honor and bridesmaids have all been made pannier style and are most striking. The flower girls will dress in white and carry baskets of forget-me-nots and roses.

Chapman, of New York. After the ceremony, Mr. Chapman will play a "Postlude," a composition dedicated to the bride by Henry Holden Huss.

Following the ceremony a reception will be held. Afterward a wedding breakfast will be served. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will leave early this evening for New York and on Wednesday morning they will leave on the Mauretania for Europe, where they will remain until June 1. Upon their return they will reside at Dobbs Ferry.

The Fisk home has been lavishly decorated for the affair by Brower. Southern smilax, asparagus fern, roses and spring flowers being attractively arranged throughout the parlors, reception hall and dining-room. The effect in the parlors is particularly striking.

During the reception the guests will be given an opportunity to view the large collection of handsome and costly gifts received by the bride. They include a wealth of silverware, china, furniture, linen—in fact, about everything that a bride could wish for. One gift of especial value is a solid silver tea service which came to the bride originally from her grandmother, the late Mrs. A. G. Richey. Three pieces of the set of six were given to Mrs. Richey when she was married, and after her death it was left to Miss Mary Richey, an aunt of the bride, who died a few months ago. Miss Richey had three additional pieces of silver made to match the others and all were appropriately inscribed. The original pieces of silver are believed to be at least one hundred years old.

In the exchange of gifts among those of the bridal party, the groom received a gold watch from the bride; the bridesmaids and maid of honor received pearl and sapphire pins and the best man and ushers received silk cigarette cases from the groom.

The bride and nearly all of her attendants are graduates of Miss Masters' School at Dobbs Ferry, and it was while a student there that the bride met Mr. Johnson. She is a favorite in the younger sociey set, being prominent at the many social functions given during the past few years.

Mr. Johnson is a graduate of Yale, Class '10, and besides being a member of "Scroll and Keys," while in college was prominent as a football, baseball and hockey player. FLIM-FLAM GAME THAT DIDN'T WORK AS PLANNED

A well dressed man wearing a brown suit rushed up to the ticket window of the east bound station of the Jersey Ceentral, yesterday afternoon, and throwing down a bill, asked for a single to Elizabeth. It was passed out to him with change for a dollar.

"Hold on," he exclaimed to Agent Stine, "that's a five spot I gave you."

He was told to guess again, whereat he demanded the bill be held up for inspection. This was done and it showed the figure five inked into the paper very crudely. While pretending to look closer, the stranger suddenly grabbed the bill from Stine's hands and ran from the station. He disappeared in the direction of Watchung avenue.

The matter was reported to the police but so far no trace of the man has been found.

TELLS WHY HE IS FOR LA FOLLETTE

Howard C. Tracy Says Col. Roosevelt has no Record on Tariff Question.

THINKS LITTLE OF TAFT

Claims President Will Withdraw Support From Tariff Board and Roosevelt Yields to Selfish and Insatiable Ambition He Asserts.

Howard C. Tracy, former chairmain of the progressive's city central committee, is out for La Follette for the Republican Presidential nomination and in the following communication tells why he believes the leader of the Progressives in the United States Senate and not President Taft nor former President Roosevelt should be named:

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

That the results of the Republican primaries recently held indicate a widespread dissatisfaction with the administration of President Taft cannot be disputed. Whether that dissatisfaction will be sufficiently strong to prevent his renomination is at present, perhaps, doubtful, but the increase of progressive sentiment in New Jersey during the past few years gives reason to expect that the progressive Republicans will be heard from at the approaching primaries in this State.

I should like to call attention to the fact that those Republicans who wish to register their dissatisfaction with the present administration have not the sole alternative of voting for Col. Roosevelt, but have the opportunity of voting for Senator Robert M. La Follette, and also to state, briefly, some reasons why I believe him to be worthy of support.

Senator La Follette's record on the tariff question is strictly consistent with the pledges of the Republican platform of 1908. While the Payne-Aldrich bill was before Congress, he strenuously fought for such tariff rates as should conform to the standard fixed by that platform, and opposed the increased rates of the woolen, cotton and other schedules which have aroused such popular indignation. There is little doubt that if President Taft had then exerted as much pressure on Congress to compel a performance of the platform pledges with respect to the tariff as he has since done on other matters, he would have been successful in materially modifying the provisions of the Payne-Aldrich bill.

The trouble with him then, as it is now, was that he could not bring himself to actively oppose the plans and wishes of the regular party leaders, Aldrich, Cannon, and others of that group. Those men had no sympathy with the plan for a tariff board, and their survivors now have none. I believe President Taft stands practically alone among the regular Republicans in his support of the tariff board. Such support as he can command, outside of the progressive ranks, is, it seems to me, given grudgingly and of necessity, and will be withdrawn at the first opportunity.

La Follette is a sincere believer in a tariff board, but he also knows and has demonstrated in the Senate that the rates of many schedules are now too high, measured by the standard of the Republican platform, and that there is no justification for delay in reducing them.

La Follette believes in enforcing the Sherman anti-trust law, and in supplementing it by legislation making more clear just what acts are and what are not prohibited.

La Follette's work in the Senate during the past few years has been largely responsible for perfecting and strengthening the inter-state commerce law, almost all of the good points in the amendment of 1910 for which President Taft claims great credit for his administration having been forced into the law by the progressives of the Senate under La Follette's leadership, against the opposition of the regular Republican leaders.

These are but a few of the subjects on which La Follette has made a record in public life. He has shown himself to be a sober, earnest, studious, intelligent, constructive statesman. He is an indefatigable worker and absolutely fearless. No one can read his speeches in the Congressional Record, indicating, as they unconsciously do, the shameful treatment to which he has from time to time been subjected by some of his fellow senators, without conceiving the highest admiration for his moral courage.

It is impossible for anyone, from the imperfect and distorted accounts of his speeches, which are permitted to appear in most of the newspapers to form a just opinion of his views and of his abilities; and yet every citizen owes it to himself to inform himself on this subject before the approaching primaries. This can best

AN UNLIMITED MARKET

How many of your friends have a talking machine? A few—but why not more? Two reasons: Either the price is too high, or the unnatural metallic twang of the average talking machine offends the sensitive musical ear.

The smallest type Vitaphone, that almost any family can afford is so far superior in tone quality to any talking machine on the market as to make comparison absolutely impossible.

This means that the whole field is open to the Vitaphone. From the man who does not care to invest more than $15 to the one who wants the best machine at $185.

We require additional capital to erect a concrete building, 4 stories, 190x70, in order to fill contracts in hand and a block of preferred stock (with a bonus of common that will soon be withdrawn) is now offered.

THE VITAPHONE CO.

"Facts Do Not Admit of Argument," is the title of a concise and interesting booklet that will be sent upon request and without obligation.

PRINCETON'S FARM READY FOR TILLING

Undergraduates Expected to Be Working Ground By Beginning of Next Week.

Princeton, April 20.—Definite plans for Princeton's farm project have been drawn up and it is expected that the undergraduates will be working on the ground by the beginning of next week. In an address before the students, J. E. Bathgate, of the class of '94, formulated tentative plans for the operation of the farm, and the undergrads who heard him showed lots of enthusiasm over the idea.

"Boyles Farm," as it is to be known, will be situated to the east of the college buildings on the University campus. West of Lake Carnegie there is a gradual slope which ends with Nassau street. The western boundary of the farm will be the new ball grounds which will be about 100 yards to the south of what is to be known as Cuyler Hall, the new dormitory.

About 100 acres of rich soil will be available for the use of the students. The whole farm will be run by Princeton University men. It is not known as yet, however, whether a superintendent will be engaged to oversee the work.

A club will be formed to operate the farm. There will be two memberships, active and associate, the former consisting of men who have worked a month or more on the farm, and the latter being made up of those who merely take an interest in it. Two dollars for an eight-hour day will be the schedule of wages. This spring, while the harrowing and plowing is being done, twenty-five cents an hour will be paid for work. The undergraduates possibly will be able to devote two hours apiece in the morning for three mornings of the week, and three or four hours in the afternoon for the same number of days. Work will be continued right through the summer and fall. The men who stay in Princeton during the summer will have the free use of a dormitory and will be boarded at the rate of $4 a week.

TITANIC STRUCK AND SEEKING RECORD

Making High Speed, Investigators Hear.

ISMAY EXPLAINS RESCUE.

Says He Entered Lifeboat Only When There Were No More Women or Children to Be Found to Fill It—Congressional Inquiry On.

New York, April 20.—J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the White Star line and president of the International Mercantile Marine company; Captain Arthur Henry Rostrom of the Carpathia; Charles W. Lightoller, second officer of the Titanic; Guglielmo Marconi, inventor of wireless telegraphy; Harold Thomas Cottam, wireless operator of the Carpathia, and haggard seamen of the sunken vessel who rowed the survivors to safety told the senate investigating committee under oath the story of the sinking of the giant vessel. It was a thrilling recital and it established beyond a reasonable doubt how the catastrophe occurred and the cause of it.

Mr. Ismay and Mr. Lightoller, second officer, agreed that the ship was making twenty-one knots—twenty-six miles—an hour when she hit the iceberg. The officer added the detail that it was the intention of the captain to let her out more and perhaps exceed the twenty-two and one-half knots made on her trial trip. The speed was not lessened even after Captain Smith and Mr. Lightoller had discussed the proximity of icebergs at 9:20 o'clock last Sunday night.

One Lifeboat Not Used.

One of the lifeboats of the Titanic was not used. It was on the top of the officers' quarters on the boat deck and it capsized when it reached the water. Later thirty men stood in the upturned boat for four hours. This is the story of the second officer, who went down with the vessel and came up again. He climbed aboard the upturned boat and took command of it.

Determined to get to the bottom of the case without an hour's unnecessary delay, Senators William Alden Smith of Michigan and Francis G. Newlands of Nevada, representing the committee, will late today go aboard the Cunard steamship Saxonia and take the testimony of Harold Bride, the surviving wireless operator of the Titanic, whose ankles are broken and back is injured.

Drastic legislation requiring every ship carrying passengers to and from an American port to have two wireless operators will probably be recommended by the committee as the result of the statements of Cottam, Mr. Marconi and Captain Rostrom that if the Titanic's distress call had come a few minutes later it would never have been received by the Carpathia. The operator had begun to get ready for bed and had no one to relieve him.

Last Salute of Major Butt.

"We particularly desire one witness who is now too ill to appear," said Senator Smith, "who briefly described to the committee when the members went aboard the Carpathia Thursday night the bravery and heroism of the men who perished. This witness says that Major Archibald Butt and Clarence Moor of Washington stood at the rail and waved a parting salute to the last boat to leave the Titanic's side."

Absolute denial was made by Captain Rostrom, Mr. Ismay, Mr. Marconi and Harold Cottam, the operator, that any instructions had been given not to answer President Taft's message from the cruiser Chester about the safety of Major Butt and the details of the accident.

"My God, I hope not!" cried Captain Rostrom when asked if he had issued any such order.

Ismay Explains His Escape.

Mr. Ismay told the committee that when he boarded the last lifeboat there were no other passengers, either men or women, within hailing distance. Second Officer Lightoller said that when he went on deck to uncover the lifeboats twenty minutes after the ship had struck he saw Mr. Ismay standing alone on the boat deck, near one of the boats. He did not speak with him and said he did not see him get into a boat.

Representative James A. Hughes of West Virginia, who was present at the hearing, created a sensation when he read a telegram received from a newspaper in his home town, which quoted him and his daughter as saying that Mr. Ismay should be lynched. His daughter, Mrs. L. P. Smith, is one of the survivors of the wreck. Her husband remained behind and is dead. Mr. Hughes denied he or Mrs. Smith had said Mr. Ismay should be lynched, but declared they had said the matter should be investigated, and if his conduct was improper he should be severely punished.

Rescue Ship Took a Risk.

Captain Rostrom startled the committee when he said that he knew he was running a risk when he drove the Carpathia through the sea of ice at top speed toward the Titanic after receiving her call for help.

"I doubled the watch and knew what I was about. I took the risk, for there were many human lives to be saved," he said.

"In the name of congress and the people of the United States we thank you for what you did," said Senator Smith solemnly.

Second Officer Lightoller had a thrilling experience. He is a stolid little Englishman. When Senator Smith asked him when he left the ship he replied:

"I did not leave the ship, sir. She left me."

No one in the committee room even thought of smiling.

Twice the second officer was sucked downward and twice forced to the surface by the force of explosions of the Titanic's boilers before he caught an upturned lifeboat. The forward smoke stack of the Titanic fell into the water beside him, probably killing many persons struggling in the water.

The committee in its work has the assistance of George Uhler, chief of the United States steamboat inspection service, and Truman H. Newberry, who was secretary of the navy under Theodore Roosevelt.

Men All Calm to Last.

Lightoller actually stuck to the ship after having sent off boat loads of women until the water came up to his ankles. There had been no lamentations, no demonstration either from from the men passengers as they saw the last lifeboat leave the ship, and there was no wailing or crying, no outburst from the men who lined the ship's sides as she disappeared from the view of Lightoller. As he expressed it, the men as they helped get women in the boats "stood quietly as if they were in church." Only one man outside of seamen, about two to each boat sent off by Lightoller, was taken from the ship in the presence of Lightoller. The man, Major Peuchen of Montreal, a brave man, Lightoller said, had been put in a boat by him because there wasn't a seaman handy.

As the ship settled swiftly, although after the collision Lightoller did not believe that there was any danger, the second officer found himself near the officers' quarters. "The ship took a dive," he said without emotion. "I looked forward. I took a dive."

Sucked Under Twice.

He was sucked to the side of the ship against the grating over the blower. There was an explosion, at least he believes it was an explosion, though he is not certain. He was thrown to the surface of the water again, only to be sucked back by the water rushing into the ship. This time he landed at the grating over the pipes which furnish a draught for the funnels. There was another explosion, and again he came to the surface not many feet away from the ship, he said, and on the other side of it, the ship having turned while he was under the water.

Only once did Lightoller raise his voice perceptibly, and that was when he denied that there was any favoritism for the crew that mitigated against the chances of the escape of the passengers. Asked if he had been ordered by Captain Smith to send the women first or he had done so because it was through a rule of the sea, he said:

"It is a rule of human nature."

Lightoller said that he did not know what the maximum speed of the Titanic was. The builders, he said, had expected to get 21 knots out of her. As to the life saving apparatus on board, Lightoller said that the Titanic was "perfectly complete."

It was Captain Clark of the British board of trade, Lightoller said, who made the examination of the Titanic before she had been approved by the British authorities.

ARRAIGNS J. B. ISMAY.

Rayner Tells Senate He Is Criminally Responsible For Disaster.

Washington, April 20.—J. Bruce Ismay and the directors of the White Star line were arraigned for criminal carelessness in the senate by Senator Rayner of Maryland. He arraigned Mr. Ismay as criminally responsible for the great loss of life. The horrors of the wreck were pictured by the senator, who told scornfully how Mr. Ismay had reached the shore in peace and safety.

"We permit the men who give the orders and reap the profits to escape," said Mr. Rayner. "We must depend on English justice to punish the guilty directorate who made such a disaster possible.

"Mr. Ismay was the president of the line. He was saved. Fifteen hundred human beings, including the captain and the crew, went down to untimely deaths. Mr. Ismay claims, according to reports, that he took to the last lifeboat. I do not believe it, and if he did it was cowardly to take to any lifeboat, for the president of the line, who, together with his board of directors, is criminally responsible for this appalling tragedy."

Senator Simmons, a member of the investigating committee, said Mr. Ismay would undoubtedly be brought here. Any other course would be disgraceful to a great nation. A majority of the committee did not approve of going to New York.

HOW CAPTAIN SMITH DIED.

Jumped Into the Sea After Telling the Crew to Save Themselves.

New York, April 20.—The survivors of the Titanic spoke of Captain E. J. Smith as a brave man, who stood calmly ordering his crew and directing the lowering of the boats. Most of them were sure that the captain was drowned and dismissed as an absurdity the rumors that he had shot himself.

Several of the passengers, a few that went down with the ship and were picked up by the small boats, said that Captain Smith threw himself overboard just before the broken ship foundered. He had been on the bridge up to that time. Then, after telling the men near him that it was time for everybody to save himself, jumped into the sea.

Nobody was able to say whether the captain deliberately sought death and refused to be taken aboard a raft, although some of the crew believed that was the case. The last that anybody saw of the captain was when he was putting a child aboard a raft.

The boats were so far separated when the Titanic foundered that few of the passengers had a glimpse of the captain while he was in the water. Two or three who thought they recognized Captain Smith said that he was apparently exhausted and sank before he could struggle to a boat.

HE WOULD HOLD SCHOOL ALL THE YEAR AROUND

Rahway, April 20.—Advocating the holding of school the year round, with sessions from 9 to 12 and from 1 to 5, William J. Bickett, superintendent of schools in this city, addressed a meeting of those interested in organizing a civic league. The result of the meeting, which was under the auspices of the Federation of Woman's Clubs, was the appointment of a committee to draft a constitution and bylaws.

Superintendent Bickett condemned clubs for the young and said the places for the boys and girls at night were in their homes.

"Too many parents," he said, "want to unload the entire moral responsibility of their children on the schools. The school cannot do it all. Parents in many cases take pride in the adult accomplishments of their children. It is a case of too many opportunities and too much pleasure."

Mr. Bickett urged the women to take a greater interest in the educational work of the community.

TOGETHER BUT ESTRANGED.

Jersey City, April 20.—Vice Chancellor Garrigan Thursday refused to grant a divorce to either Frederick W. Reich, or his wife. Despite their alleged estrangement, they continue to occupy the same apartments at 38 Charles street. Reich brought the suit, alleging that his wife had deserted him in 1906. She denied the charge and declared that her husband was the deserter. The couple became estranged six years ago. Mrs. Reich prepares the meals for her husband, but while she eats in the dining-room his food is served to him on the top of the wash tubs in the kitchen. Reich has the custody of their three sons and occupies rooms in the extreme rear of the flat. Mrs Reich, with her daughter Florence, lives in the front.

THE UNREST CURE.

It has been said many times that unrest is the sign of life; where there is no motion death reigns. The lashing waves of the restless ocean purify, while the water of the stagnant pool breeds disease. The same is true in the social realm, restlessness shows that there is life. Dissatisfaction and uneasiness in existing circumstances are not always bad signs of the times.

That we are living in a time of unrest no one with open eyes can deny. It shows itself everywhere. In the political world we have numberless experiments in government and a disintegration of old parties. In the industrial world the coal strikes in England, Germany and the United States are symptomatic. In religion we have not only the work of the destructive critics of the Bible, but the great awakening under the Men and Religion Forward Movement. In society the cleft between classes seems to have grown deeper; never have the poor shown so plainly that they felt the pinch of poverty; never have the rich been so ostentatious and extravagant. While it is true that such great sums of money were never before given for philanthropic purposes, it is equally true that there never was a time when money was so lavishly and so foolishly spent on luxuries. The other day a man paid for a single book a sum equal to the wages of a skilled mechanic for his entire working life. Men who have not themselves earned the money frequently pay for a single meal more than a poor family would use for food in a whole year.

Our legislation is a symptom of the prevalent unrest. In every State great masses of people are insisting on workmen's compensation laws, by which they hope to make the loss heretofore borne by the injured workman and his family fall on the industry or on the community. In our national legislature all sorts of laws are being proposed apparently intended to help the poor against the rich.

People are restless under life's inequalities. Here is a man, for instance, owning a medium size manufacturing plant, employing some ninety men and women. He is an officer in the church. On Sunday no doubt he puts a goodly sum in the collection plate, repeats devoutly his creed, including, "I believe in the communion of Saints," and prays, "Thy Kingdom come." But when you look over his books at the end of the year you find that he has received as his share of the earnings of the plant much more than the payroll, for the entire year, of all his "hands." Asked if the girls are well paid, he, with not a little pride, replies, "Oh, yes, there isn't one of them that gets less than four dollars and a half a week."

There is unrest in the business world. Men complain that without graft and bribery they can not successfully compete with their rivals in business, and they tell, often with shame, true stories of what they have felt themselves compelled to do in order to live. Everywhere we find business men striving to find some way of evading restrictive laws, not yet discovered by their competitors.

The tremendous competition in business makes men restless. A busines man once said to me, as we were walking along on Decoration Day, talking about the great events the day was commemorating, "If Sherman were speaking now he would not use his famous phrase, 'War is hell;' he would say 'war is business.' For," said my friend, "it's this way now. When we hear that an order is to be given out, we are like a pack of hounds trying to get at a bone. We scramble over one another and finally one gets it and goes off with it by himself and finds there's nothing on the bone after all. It's been picked clean."

There is unrest over the outcome of such sad events as the so-called "Triangle Fire." One hundred and forty-six helpless women are killed, through someone's negligence, but no one is punished; and the legislature neglects to pass the bills introduced for the purpose of making such calamities more nearly impossible. Commenting on the supineness of the Legislature one newspaper says, "the bills are not neglected out of apathy. * * * Private greed, opposition and cowardice oppose their enactment actively, if secretly." People complain, with not a little reason, that the starving wretch who steals a few dollars worth of food is sent to prison, while those rich men who raise the price of food for millions go scot free.

There is discontent, because even when the law provides a remedy it is too often inadequate. Take a single illustration, one of thousands. In 1882 a poor fellow was injured on the railroad by which he was employed. His only remedy was an appeal to the courts. After seven trials by as many juries, nine appeals to the higher courts, after nearly fifty judges and one hundred jurymen had passed upon the law and facts of his case, after hundreds of pages of stenographer's minutes had been taken, and hundreds of pages of evidence and arguments had been printed and paid for, at last in 1904, at the end of twenty-two years, it was finally determined that he had been injured in a way which made the railroad corporation responsible to the amount of $4,500. This process is too slow and too costly. It is absolutely true in litigation that the rich man has a better chance than the poor man. Not because the rich man can use his money to influence the decisions of judge or jury, but because he can afford to hire lawyers who know how to use legal methods of wearing out an opponent.

But I am not a pessimist, for there can be no doubt that the world is on the up grade. A glance at some of the social conditions in the 19th century shows that the public conscience is far more tender than it was. In 1843, in a report to the Legislature of Massachusetts on the treatment of the insane, the committee said, "Hardly a town but was using, or had used, chains and cages. One poor mad woman was in the cellar of an almshouse shut in a closet under the stairs. Others were in the stalls or pens in outhouses or barns. Scores were chained to floors or walls, or confined in filthy cages, their ravings quieted with the lash, their beds a wisp of straw and their clothing a mass of all too scanty rags." In 1830 there were 147 lotteries in New York State and over $9,000,000 were offered in prizes. Child labor laws are quite a new feature of legislation. Who would have thought of a public playground a generation ago? Our fathers could do with impunity acts which would close prison doors on their sons.

But the progress is very slow and society is seething with discontent. Now it will not do to shut our eyes and trust that all will come out right in the end. This is what many good people insisted on doing in the early days of the Republic, when the slavery question, like a great restless monster, was agitating the country. But it would not keep quiet. In spite of the constitution and gag laws in Congress it insisted on being dealt with. So with the unrest of today: we must deal with it, we cannot leave it alone.

If then, like brave men and women, we are going to face the facts, and think a little of the future, for there is a harvest to be reaped, what are we going to do? Is there any remedy for this unrest? We may as well admit that, human nature being what it is there will always be a dissatisfied class. There is no cure all. But he is very shortsighted who can not see that something can be done to bring a larger measure of tranquility into the body politic. But what do we need and how shall we get it? Legislation will never do it. We are trying in all our States to induce our lawmakers to make fewer laws. Moreover human nature can never be changed by law. Our courts cannot do it. Were they far less subject to human error it is beyond their power to bring peace on earth.

No man would dare to claim that he knows how to bring in the millenium, but I venture to suggest that if ordinary men and women were really and in truth what they want other people to believe they are the spirit of unrest would in a great measure disappear. How soon workman and employer would get together if the employer were really content with the modest profit he wants his men and the tax assessor to believe he is making. If business men treated each other as brothers and not as brigands what changed trade conditions we should soon see. If in all his relations in life a man would be what his little daughter thinks he is how much unkindness and harshness would disappear.

What we need is more reality in life. Our children ought not to grow up in the miasma of subterfuge and deceit. Even if we had no laws against adulteration we ought to sell only pure food. Men ought to be real men, sincere men. We ought to hear more about it from our pulpits. We ought to realize that life is a sacred thing, and that life is a unit. A man is the same man on Sunday as on the other days of the week, although it is hard at times to believe it.

A young man told me long ago that when he took a business position with the superintendent of their Sunday school the superintendent said to him, "you'll find me a very different man in the office from what I am in Sunday school;" and I remember the emphatic way in which he added, "And I did." Some years ago I asked a friend of mine how his wife was. Sorrowfully he told me she was very sick, but that he believed she would get well in answer to his prayers. A little later we were talking about an election in which his party had been defeated in his district, and he said, without a smile and rather dolefully, "And just to think I had money enough left over to have changed the result." Every decent man, be he protestant, Romanist, Jew of pagen, in his heart despises these hypocrites.

What we need is that men should live always as they do live when at their best. We shall hear splendid stories of the noble men on the Titanic, who went down with the ship that weaker women and children might be saved. They will be remembered as great men, because, whatever their creeds, they lived up to Christ's words, "Whosoever will be chief among you let him be your servant." We need in every day life the spirit of Christ, and this spirit men are seeking; for it is this spirit that brings reality into life.

The other day at a largely attended noon meeting of the Republican Club in New York city, addresses on religion were made by a Jewish Rabbi, a Catholic priest, a Protestant minister and Christian layman. Men are realizing as never before that some power outside ourselves is needed if we are going to change the conditions which we know are wrong. This is the opinion not merely of the preachers. In a recent remarkable article on Government and Christianity in the Atlantic Monthly, Winston Churchill, the well known American author, says: "A medical specialist recently gave it as his opinion that most of the so-called nervous prostration of today is due to a lack of religious belief."

Today there is meeting in New York a Congress of three thousand men from every province of Canada and every State in the Union, each paying his own expenses. For five days these men, and thousands of others, are going to discuss the reports of the work done in ninety cities during the past six months, during which time the leaders of the Men and Religion Forward Movement have spoken to a million and a half men. Among the speakers are such laymen as Walter G. Fisher, Secretary of the Interior, John R. Mott, James G. Cannon, Alfred E. Marling, William J. Bryan, John Mitchell and Dr. Grenfell. These men and their associates are going to emphasize the need of religion in men's lives.

This then is the thought which has inspired this article: Restlessness cured by Reality through Religion. Life, a unity, ruled by the highest. The expulsive power of un-selfishness, driving out of life all greed, meanness, deceit and hypocrisy.

As a well known layman has said, "Commercialized and protected vice in our cities, the jack pot in politics, unmoral methods in the accumulation of wealth, lawless measures by wageworkers, may be temporarily held in restraint by constitutional law, but the evil will never be eradicated until the principles and precepts of the Christian religion are ruling the life of the individual members of society."

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For Week Beginning April 21, 1912.

Topic.—The Christian virtues.—IV. Perseverance.—Gal. vi. 1-9. Edited by Sherman H. Doyle, D. D.

Our great need is undoubtedly staying power. We begin well, but we lack the grace of continuance. One of the bad signs of our times is the multitude of the things we begin which are never carried to a successful conclusion. Lincoln said of Grant, "When once he gets his teeth in nothing can shake him off." That is what is needed in the Christian soldier—putting in the teeth of an invincible purpose and refusing to let go until the task is done and the conquest is complete. In every sphere it is the condition of any worthy attainment. It is lesson after lesson for the student, scale after scale for the musician, picture after picture for the artist, mile after mile for the traveler, and there is no less call for perseverance in the sphere of religion. The angel will go if you acquiesce. It was because Jacob said, "I will not let thee go unless thou bless me" that he compelled the blessing. Look at what dulls the edge perseverance. We grow weary. We believe in Bible study, but we grow weary of it. We resolve that we will read the Bible through, that we will study the topics and the suggested readings week by week. We begin, but gradually the reading lags and becomes irksome. We have grown weary. We believe in prayers, and we seek to form habits of place, of time and of petitions in prayer. We begin, but soon the pressure of other things intrudes and we miss times and places and cut down our petitions. We have grown weary. We believe in service, in doing definite things for God and man. We seek out opportunities. We accept tasks in the church, in the society, but by and by our interest lags. Our attendance becomes less frequent, and at last we give it all up, and this not because we do not believe in the worth of these or in the ultimate victory and reward of the worker, but it simply means that we have grown weary. The work was difficult and unfruitful. Those for whom we labored were unappreciative and unthankful. The task was greater than our competency and, like Moses, we say, "Send another." Let Aaron be thy mouthpiece.

There never was a time when weariness was so besetting, because there never was a time when work in the kingdom was so difficult and worldly interests so pressing and inviting. This is peculiarly a time which calls for perseverance, for girding the loins and setting one's purpose perfectly on spiritual ends. Consider the incentives to perseverance. First, our work is needed. Our labor is not in vain in the Lord. We have a mission to fulfill which is peculiarly our own and which is also an essential part of God's great campaign of grace. Our failures cause irreparable loss elsewhere. Second, our time is short. Opportunities are few and fleeting. Like sailors, we must take advantage of wind and tide. Like merchants, we must buy up the opportunities to finish the work given us to do. Third, the certainty of reward. We shall reap if we faint not. Our labor will not be fruitless. We may not see the harvest. We may be of those who go forth weeping, bearing precious seed, but there will be a harvest. We shall come again rejoicing, bringing our sheaves with us. It is assured that all who have a part in the sowing and the tillage will have a share in the joy of the harvest home. We shall reap also a present blessing in the consciousness of duty done and in a mind and heart enriched by what it gives away. God loves a cheerful giver, and the smile of his approval rests on those who give as freely as they have received.

A Blackboard Talk.

CHRIST — ENERGY CHURCH — ENTHUSIASM
COURAGE — ENTERPRISE
CONQUEST — ETERNITY

The blackboard shows our "C. E." ideals. Christ is the beginning of it all and the power of it all. Next comes the church of Christ, which we love and for which we work. We need courage in our work for Christ, but He will give it to us, and courage means conquest of all our difficulties. The E stands for energy—no sloth, no putting off. It stands for enthusiasm, being happy and zealous in our work, singing over it. It stands for enterprise, reaching out for new work to do, new fields to conquer.

And it all extends through eternity, for every deed done for Christ has endless blessed results.—Amos R. Wells.

Hungarian Hospital Endeavoring.

Dr. Clark has just been in Hungary. The rally that he attended in Budapest was large and enthusiastic. The Endeavorers of Hungary are doing a great work, supporting a large hospital in the capital.

Four Square.

Christian Endeavor in its ideals and activities is four square. It is bounded by Christian education, Christian expression, Christian expansion and Christian efficiency.—Gertrude Barton.

—A wise physician is more than armies to the public weal.—Pope.

SPAGHETTI RECIPES.

SPAGHETTI is very much like macaroni. It is made of a paste in which glutinous flour is one of the chief ingredients. The paste is forced through the openings in a machine that gives spaghetti the cord like form which distinguishes it from macaroni. Macaroni is always a tube.

Good spaghetti is yellowish in color and rough. It should be brittle when broken. It may be cooked in any of the ways suggested for macaroni. A favorite method of serving it is with tomato sauce.

Softening and Shaping.

Hold the sticks of spaghetti together, letting the ends stand in hot water until they soften and can be bent and coiled around in the pan in which they are to be cooked.

In this way the sticks may be shaped without breaking.

For plain spaghetti, boil for about twenty minutes or until soft. Drain and rinse with cold water. Season and pour tomato sauce over it.

Spaghetti Savories.—Take two ounces of fresh boiled spaghetti, half an ounce of butter, a half cupful of milk, half an ounce of flour, two ounces of grated cheese and seasoning to taste. Melt the butter in a saucepan, stir in the flour smoothly, add the milk and stir this sauce until it boils and thickens.

Next mix in the cheese and seasoning. Heat the mixture and add the spaghetti. Make all very hot and serve in neat heaps on rounds of toast the size of the top of a sherry glass. These should be hot and lightly buttered.

Dust the top of each with a little red Hungarian pepper.

With Eggs and Bacon.

Spaghetti and Eggs.—Cook spaghetti with a cupful of grated cheese, then place in a bowl and let it brown in the oven. Garnish with slices of hard boiled eggs and sprigs of parsley.

Spaghetti and Bacon.—Take a small package of spaghetti and half a dozen slices of bacon. Cut up the bacon and fry until crisp. Put the spaghetti into about two quarts of well salted boiling water, add a half teaspoonful of red pepper and let it boil for twenty minutes. Then drain in a colander and rinse in cold water. Add the bacon and about half a can of tomatoes. Let it boil for about thirty minutes, season and serve.

Spaghetti and Beef.—Take a half package of spaghetti, pour boiling water over it. Then let it cook twenty minutes, drain and drench with cold water. Take a half pound of chopped lean beef, a quart of canned tomatoes, a small bunch of white celery, two sliced onions, a tablespoonful of ground chili pepper, a pinch of cayenne and salt to taste. Cook these together for about three hours then add to the spaghetti and simmer together for ten minutes. Serve hot.

NATURAL GAS

PLAINFIELD HOMES TO BE HEATED BY NEW PROCESS.

Invention Which Promises to Revolutionize Modern Methods of Heating and Cooking—Everybody Will Soon Be Using Gem Oil Burner.

The writer yesterday saw a new invention which, when introduced, cannot help but revolutionize the methods of heating, cook and other stoves. It is the Gem Oil Burner exhibited by their representative and what it will do is surprising. The principle of this burner is that common kerosene or coal oil is converted into gas, which mixes with 90 per cent. of air and 10 per cent. of carbon gas, passing through the burner and producing a long, super-heated blue flame of intense heat free from smoke and odor, as well as free from dust and ashes arising from the use of wood and coal.

Their representative is located at 124 East Front street, next door to shoe repair shop for a few days, representing the Gem Oil Burner Company, of Willoughby, O., where he will be glad to exhibit the invention to any one. It may be put in any stove without changing or damaging the latter in the least, and after it is in, will heat the largest cook stove or range sufficiently for family cooking for $1.25 per month. It has a decided advantage over wood, coal or illuminating gas, especially the great advantage of economy, with none of the disadvantages of wood or coal, and is just what is needed for comfort and efficiency. The company is soon to put their burners in the hands of agents who will retail them at about $12.00 apiece. To get them started in this vicinity one may buy direct from the manufacturer, free on board cars at Willoughby, for half that sum for the next few days, during which time an agent will be appointed. Whether one wishes to buy or not, it is worth one's while to visit the store to see this ingenious invention.

The Men's Association of the Church of the Heavenly Rest will meet in the parish house tomorrow afternoon at 1:30, from where they will take the car for their trip to the Rahway Reformatory.

That night he went home with a large sized grouch on and his wife thought him sick. She couldn't get a word out of him. AUTO NOTES.

TIPS ON ROADS FOR PLAINFIELD AUTOISTS

Conditions to Be Met Crossing the State and in New York.

With the touring season opening up, many Plainfield and other New Jersey autoists are planning to take advantage of the new reciprocity law by making trips into other States. There is a likelihood of a big turnout tomorrow, should the weather be fair. Figuring that Jersey motorists would welcome information on the conditions of roads across this State, as well as into New York and Long Island, the bureau of tours of the Automobile Club of America has made reports on thoroughfares over the following routes:

New York to Philadelphia.

New York—Hudson County boulevard in fair condition, the asphalt on Newark turnpike badly worn particularly at railroad crossing to Newark—Fair macadam, rough in spots to Elizabeth—Excellent new macadam to
Rahway—(Connection to Perth Amboy, fair to Woodbridge, balance excellent new road.) Very rough and cut up to Metuchen—Good macadam to
New Brunswick—The Cranbury turnpike is being repaired, but still in bad condition (route via Princeton not recommended, owing to very bad conditions between Lawrenceville and Trenton) to Heightstown—Good, except for two stretches of 100 yards each to Windsor—Fair to good to Edinburgh—Fair to good to Trenton—Route via Camden longer but better, as follows: Good stone road to Bordentown—Poor gravel to Columbus, fair to poor stone to Burlington—(Advisable to avoid river road through Palmyra; bear left, leaving trolley; mileage 89.1, route 302.) Good stone through Camden—Ferry to Philadelphia.

New York to Coney Island. Via Queensboro Bridge.

This route cannot be recommended at present, owing to the fact that Trotting Course lane, Dry Harbor road, Fresh Pond road and Cypress avenue are in poor condition, though passable.

New York to Jamaica, Via Brooklyn.

Asphalt and macadam on Bedford avenue and Eastern boulevard in good condition. Jamaica avenue in fair to good condition, with a few rough spots. The route via Ridgewood avenue, Liberty avenue and Rockaway road should be avoided, as these highways are in bad shape although passable. Route No. 7, via Manhattan Bridge, should be avoided, on account of the atrocious condition of the approaches to the bridge at each end.

Flushing to Jamaica.

Rocky Hill road, from Broadway to Hillside avenue, in good condition. This route in conjunction with Jackson avenue to Flushing, makes a good alternate to the trunk route via Hoffman Boulevard and Hillside avenue.

New York to Greenport, L. I. Via the South Shore.

New York—Hoffman boulevard rough and pitted, but better than last year, to Jamaica—Hillside avenue good; first mile and a half of Merrick road rough; balance good to Springfield—Fair to good, via Lynbrook, to Rockville Centre—Good macadam, with the exception of a rough spot near Baldwins, to Massapeque—Good macadam to Amityville—Main street very bad; balance good macadam to Babylon—Street through town very bad, full of holes; balance fair to good macadam, via Bay Shore, Islip and Sayville, to Patchogue—Fair dirt road via Brookhaven to Centre Moriches—Fair to poor dirt road, via East Moriches to Eastport—Dirt road not very good but passable to Quogue—Fair to good macadam; wavy and narrow to Riverhead—Dirt road in very fine condition, recently scraped, via Cutchogue to Greenport.

STATE COMMISSIONER EXPLAINS MOTOR LAWS

With the desire to have automobilists properly informed as to the workings of the new laws affecting the licensing and operation of automobiles in this State, and also to set them clear on reciprocity, J. B. R. Smith, State commissioner of motor vehicles, has this week issued in pamphlet form the addenda to the New Jersey motor vehicles laws, being amendments and supplements enacted by the Legislature of 1912. Mr. Smith sets forth the new scale of license charges, the provisions of the cut-out law and the chain law, as well as the reciprocity act.

The provision regarding the granting of reciprocity to chauffeurs, as well as owners, is set forth clearly and it shows that New Jersey grants such reciprocity to States which have a chauffeurs' reciprocity clause in their acts. Under this, New Jersey's reciprocity is without restrictions, and New Jersey autoists are going to ask that New York grant the same privilege or change its law so that New Jersey chauffeurs can go into the Empire State free, something which they cannot do now.

The new scale of license fees along with comments on some of the law amendments, are as follows:

For cars of the first class (cars of ten horsepower or less), $4.50.

For cars of the second class (cars from eleven to twenty-nine horsepower), $7.50.

For cars of the third class (cars of thirty horsepower or more), $15.

A fee of $10 in addition to the regular fee shall be charged for automobile commercial trucks weighing unloaded, over 4,000 pounds.

Motorcycle and manufacturers' registrations are not affected by this act.

Tourists from all States shall be admitted free without registration for a period of fifteen days.

Chauffeurs from other States driving cars that have been exempted under Section 7 of the supplement are also exempted from the provisions of the law regarding drivers' licenses.

The new law changes the ruling regarding transfers. The attorney-general has advised that it is the intent of this law that the registration certificate should only be transferred from one person to another for a fee of $1. The registration goes with the car. There must be no transfers made from one car to another car.

STRANGEST PREDICTION EVER MADE BY MANAGER

On the eve of a baseball season's opening, the manager of a club would be counted daffy if he didn't predict everything for his club. Pennants are common promises of these managers. But it remained for John Ganzel, manager of the Rochester club of the International League, to spring the most unique prediction. He did it through the Rochester Herald, and here it is:

"Anniston, Ala., March 31.

"To the Sporting Editor of The Herald:

"In response to your request for an outline of our chances this season, I can only say that they are punk, rotten, nil and otherwise no good. I haven't succeeded yet in finding a man who knows a bat from a hoe handle, and, with Charley Chapin sitting on the bag like a miser on a nickel that's nailed to the sidewalk, I can't see how I'm going to get any. If we win another pennant, it will be a pure miracle, and I will be surprised if we don't get thrown out of the league.

"Take it from me, Rochester is going to be so far behind that they'll stop counting her in the average. This lot of bone-headed, mummified fossils I've collected so far couldn't win a ball game from a team of deaf and dumb kids. There you have my opinion.

"Sincerely yours,
"JOHN H. GANZEL,
"Manager."

It may be imparted that the Charley Chapin Ganzel mentioned in his prediction is the owner of the Rochester club.

MARTINE IS OPPOSED TO A LITERACY TEST

Illiterate Immigrants, if Moral and Healthy, Are All Right, He Says.

Washington, April 20 (Special).—During the discussion in the Senate on Thursday relatives to the regulation of immigration, Senator Martine took a stand for the unlettered immigrant. He declared that literacy was no test for fitness to become an American citizen.

"I cannot vote," he said, "for the literacy test in this bill as a passport to this country. Forty or fifty years ago, 90 per cent. of the immigrants that came to this country came from Ireland and Germany, and scarcely one of them could have stood this test; and yet all these immigrants, or practically all of them, became industrious citizens, amassed money, yes, fortunes, through their thrift and ambition, and their children today are among the best citizens of this country.

"Education in a man or woman of evil character and disposition will make him or her most dangerous. I believe that this great country blessed of God, can digest and assimilate all the nations of the earth. I have no fear. Let our test be clean morals, sound and clean bodies, and with a public school system, we can safely trust the rest to God.

"As Heaven is my witness, I will never vote to pass a measure that makes this ungenerous and unjust exaction on the part of a free people."

In reply to Senator Martine, Senator Root called attention to the fact, that since the Spanish-American war 97.4 per cent. of the Irish immigrants had been able to read and write, while the percentage of literacy among Scandinavians and Scotch was even higher, but that on the contrary 53.9 per cent. of the South Italians were illiterate.

1,000 Women's Handsome Gowns

One of the Most Extraordinary Features of This Wonderful Sale

If we could crowd all our show windows (and there are 400 feet of them—more than two blocks of ordinary stores' show space) we could not begin to show you all the styles of dresses that are in this lot which we purchased that we might startle the town and its environs. With these dresses we could clothe almost the entire sales force of this great establishment. We say this to give you a definite idea of the choice presented and to make it clear to you that we have not had a lot of dresses made up from a few styles easy to copy. These are dresses from a maker whose gowns have always been held in high esteem by the best of the Eastern stores. Many of them are modeled after the most charming French gowns; all are strictly new, fresh, never having been seen before, just out of their boxes, bought specially for the Profit-Sharing Sale which begins Monday.

There are dresses of Changeable Taffeta, exquisite Chiffon, Messaline, Eolienne, Marquisette, dainty Voiles, novelty Foulards, Crepes in beautiful plain colors and striped effects.

The Trimmings are braid, fringe, satin, gilt embroideries, shadow or macrame laces, embroidered effects, combinations and buttons.

The Colors include Copenhagen, lavender, rose, green, gray, gold, brown and black in all their variations.

It would be futile to attempt a detailed description of any of the styles and there are hardly any duplicates, for where there is more than one dress of a style there are different colors.

The sizes run all the way from 16 to 44, so that every one may be nicely fitted.

An offering of Dresses at this time would be welcomed even tho the prices were only moderately reduced, because we are on the threshold of the outdoor season; but the interest is heightened in this sale by the fact that the prices are just about cut in two.

We would advise you that the valuations put upon the Dresses are based upon the selling prices at which actually similar garments have been sold in our stock within a very few days.

Dresses worth up to $20.00, go at $9.95
Dresses worth up to $26.00, go at $14.95

WRITES HIS OWN BRIEF IN APPEAL

McFarland Says He Wants to Explain.

HE, NOT WIFE, USED BROMIDE

Condemned Man Says "Bunny" Letters So Prejudiced His Case That He Was Not Permitted to Present His Explanation of Wife's Death.

Trenton, N. J., April 20.—Allison M. McFarland, convicted as the poisoner of his wife in Newark, whose sentence to the death chair has been stayed by an appeal to the court of errors and appeals, has written and has had presented to the court his brief in his own defense. It treats with great exactness the technical and legal questions involved, much as did Patrick in the Rice murder.

McFarland declares that his cause was prejudiced because the "Bunny" letters were not admitted under proper restriction, that an explanation of their meaning by the writer was denied him, that he was robbed of the opportunity to show it was he himself and not his wife who was taking sedatives and that bromide was procured for his personal use only.

He contends that he should be allowed to go on the stand and personally explain his reasons for getting the poison and placing it where it was found. He asks the denied opportunity to explain and prove that death could not have occurred as asserted by the state, but that it was instantaneous and due to suicide.

INCOME FOR DESERTED WIFE

Newark, N. J., April 20.—With her husband, William P. Hesse, presumably in Germany, to which country, it is alleged, he fled with Florence A. Heclin of Hoboken, after he had contracted an alleged bigamous marriage with her May 4, 1910, Mrs. Catherine M. Hesse of this city is about to receive support for herself and four children out of the sequestered proceeds of a sale under foreclosure of Hesse's home.

A decree just signed by Chancellor Walker directs the payment of $60 a month to Mrs. Hesse out of the sequestered fund, which amounts to $1,485.40, plus about a year's interest. The decree provides for the payment of arrearages from July 18 last, thus making $540 immediately available for Mrs. Hesse.

Married Nov. 24, 1895, Mr. and Mrs. Hesse lived together until Nov. 3, 1909 when the husband left his wife and four children, ranging in age from thirteen to six years, and went to Hoboken to live. It was just a year and a day later that he had the hardihood to marry the Heclin woman, the nuptial knot being tied by the Rev. William R. Jenvey, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church in Hoboken. News of his marriage soon came to the ears of Mrs. Hesse No. 1, and as a result Hesse and wife No. 2 departed post haste for Germany. Following Hesse's departure suits were brought to foreclose two mortgages, one being a lien on property which was bought in by friends of the abandoned wife for her benefit and the other a lien on the house. The sale of the latter yielded the surplus sum of $1,485.40, which was reached by a writ of sequestration allowed by Vice Chancellor Emory.

NO PASSES FOR PAGES.

Only "Oath" Gets Free Transportation on Railroads.

Trenton, N. J., April 20.—Assistant Attorney General Gaskill has in response to a request advised Secretary of State Crater that only those legislative officers who had to take an oath of office when they assumed their jobs are entitled to be classed as state officers and entitled to receive a ticket under chapter 115, laws of 1912, entitling them to free transportation on railroads.

This decision bars out the pages and some of the minor clerks from the privilege of getting free transportation on the railroads for the year.

FITZHERBERT'S TRIAL SOON.

Will Be Heard in the Senate Chamber on April 29.

Trenton, N. J., April 20.—The trial of Senator Fitzherbert of Morris county on the charge of endeavoring to get a fee from the Lehigh Valley Railroad company as the price for his vote on the Morris canal abandonment bill will take place in the senate chamber Monday, April 29.

The date was fixed by Senators Gaunt and Leavitt of the probe committee. Senator Johnson, the Democratic member of the committee, was not present.

Would Be Wilson Delegate.

Trenton, N. J., April 20.—Senator John A. Slocum of Monmouth has filed a petition with Secretary of State Carter as a candidate for district delegate on the Woodrow Wilson ticket from the Third congressional district.

ELIZABETH MAN'S WIFE AND CHILDREN PERISH

The wife and two children of Benjamin Peacock, of 609 South Broad street, Elizabeth, perished on the Titanic, according to the list of those who were on the boat and whose names do not appear in the roster of those saved.

Mr. Peacock, who is employed in the power-house of the Public Service Corporation at Cranford, came to this country from England a year ago, leaving his wife and one child, then three years old, behind. After he arrived here another child was born, and Mr. Peacock had never seen it. He went to New York this morning to get further details of the tragedy.

Mr. Peacock's two brothers in England had planned to sail on the Titanic's maiden voyage, but they changed their plans at the eleventh hour.

PREPARING FOR EXAMS UNDER NEW SCHOOL LAW

Trenton, April 20.—Preparations are being made by Dr. Calvin N. Kendall, State Commissioner of Education, for the State examinations in the public schools prescribed by the law of 1911. Under the amendment made to the law by the last Legislature the examinations will not in any way effect the right of the pupils for promotion, but will be merely a test of the efficiency of school methods.

The test will be for those pupils who are to be graduated from the grammar schools to high schools or who are to be admitted to the high school departments.

The law provided that the examination shall be confined to arithmetic, writing, spelling, English, grammar and composition, history and geography. The tests are to be prepared by Dr. Kendall, but will be conducted under the direction of the State Board of Education.

It is understood that the examination will be conducted at two different periods, one in May for those schools which close early for the summer vacation, and the other in June for the schools which close that month.

MEMORIAL SERVICE.

A memorial service for those who perished on the Steamship Titanic, at which time prayers will be offered for the survivors of that disaster, will be held at Grace church tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, the rector, will be in charge.

WHY HE IS FOR LA FOLLETTE

be done by reading his speeches as reported in the Congressional Record and by hearing him speak, if, as is hoped, he is able to make a tour of New Jersey before the primaries.

Some of the most interesting and instructive of Senator La Follette's speeches are as follows:

Speech of July 14, 1911, on the Canadian Reciprocity bill, in which he presents a striking array of criticisms of President Taft and his administration.

Speech of June 26, 1911, on the same bill, in relation to timber, pulp wood and print paper.

Speech of June 21, 1911, on the practical way to revise Schedule K of the tariff law, the woolen schedule, by attaching it as an amendment to the Canadian Reciprocity bill.

Speech of July 21, 1911, on the Canadian Reciprocity bill generally.

Speech of August 15, 1911, on the duties on wool provided in the conference report.

Speech of August 17, 1911, on the cotton schedule.

Speech of August 21, 1911, outlining a plan for the development of Alaska.

Copies of the Congressional Record containing any of these speeches can undoubtedly be obtained upon application to any member of Congress, and, if permitted, I shall be glad to leave a copy of each of them at the Public Library, which, I was surprised to learn recently, is not a regular subscriber to that publication.

It was a great disappointment to me that Senator Colby and other prominent progressive Republicans of New Jersey should so hastily cast in their lot with Mr. Roosevelt. He has no record on the tariff question. He has repeatedly stated that he knows nothing about the tariff or the currency, and during his Presidency he took no steps to reform either. During his recent tour in the middle west, he had the assurance to read a two-year-old speech as expressing his present views on the tariff. As if nothing worthy of comment on this subject had happened since then!

As to Mr. Roosevelt's attitude on the trust question, La Follette has shown that his administrations covered the period in which the formation of trusts was most actively carried on, and although he instituted some actions to enforce the Sherman law, it is worthy of note that he failed to prosecute the Sugar Trust for its conspiracy to close up the Segal refinery in Philadelphia, although fully informed of the facts by reason of which it was successfully prosecuted during Mr. Taft's administration.

The Progressive Republican conference in Chicago in October last endorsed La Follette as the logical candidate for President, and there is good reason to believe that Mr. Roosevelt was at that time favorably disposed toward his candidacy. Having entered the fight as a matter of principle, he will stay in it to the end. It seems to me, and I say it with regret, that Mr. Roosevelt's present campaign for his own renomination is but the evidence of his yielding to the dictates of a selfish and insatiable ambition.

If, instead of such a campaign, Mr. Roosevelt were now supporting La Follette with equal energy, there would be little doubt of the latter's nomination and election.

BROUGHT TO LIGHT.

Plainfield People Receiving the Full Benefit.

There have been many cases like the following in Plainfield. Everyone relates the experience of people we know. These plain, straightforward statements will do much toward relieving the suffering of thousands. Such testimony will be read with interest by many people

Mrs. Anthony Wahl, R. F. D. No. 1, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I had such distressing pains in my back that I could hardly stand and it was out of the question for me to stoop. I was all crippled up and I knew perfectly well that my kidneys were the cause of my trouble. A neighbor recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to me and on her suggestion, I used them. They gave me almost immediate relief and three boxes changed me from a chronic sufferer to a healthy woman. I still take Doan's Kidney Pills occasionally when a cold settles on my kidneys and they act as a preventive of any serious recurrence of my former trouble. You may publish this account of my experience for the benefit of other kidney sufferers."

PREVENTION AND CURE OF TUBERCULOSIS.

BY

Ernest L. Ransome.

A review of this work as carried on in the States of Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Wisconsin, and in the District of Columbia reveals that the methods adopted, or advocated are about the same. They are as follows:

House to house canvassing.
Registration of all cases.
Aid for needy cases.
Disinfection of the homes of cases.
Instruction.
Open air schools.
Pasteurization of milk.
The avoidance of unventilated rooms, poor food, poor cooking.
The erection of hospitals for serious cases.
Islation of cases.
Prosecution of physicians who disregard the law by failure to report cases.
The abolition of the common drinking cup.
The installation of mechanical drinking devices in schools and factories.
Securing favorable legislation.
Placing suitable receptacles for expectoration in factories and workshops.

Of these methods, in this house to house visitation, Miss Anna K. Sutton, draws some vivid pictures, for example she writes: "As the nurse enters a bad-smelling, dark hallway it is easy to imagine the condition in which she may find her patient—commonly one of a family of five or six who live in an attic room. Probably there is only one window in this room, and it is tightly shut and covered with dirt. Often the family makes its living by selling chickens which they have killed and picked in the overcrowded room. Not unusually there is but one bed, some of the family sleeping on chairs, some on a bench." Again—"In a blind alley was found a house with three rooms, one above the other, all damp, gloomy, dirty, with no possibility of sunlight or cross ventilation. A seventeen year old boy had tuberculosis and was sleeping with his father in a room in which the windows were tightly closed. A fourteen year old sister was the housekeeper, the mother having died a year before."

In disinfecting the homes of cases it is pointed out that cleaning should be undertaken first, all the patient's clothing and bedding should be removed and cared for by boiling or other means. The use of formaldehyde seems to have largely superseded other chemical disinfectants.

Instruction is carried on in many ways. It is given by the house to house canvassers. It is scattered broadcast by freely distributed literature. It is spread by lectures, moving picture and other vivid and realisitc shows. Newspapers are opening their columns to this cause (Educational leaflets might be put into the pay envelopes of operatives) so that knowledge on this vital subject is rapidly gaining ground.

Open air schools are recommended for children suffering from tuberculosis. It would seem that they are desirable for all children. The recent declaration of Dr. Woods Hutchinson that "no school room should have more than two walls" is food for thought, and also for action. The problem of ventilating rooms where scores of children sit at their lessons has been a puzzle. It will be solved says Dr. Hutchinson by the holding of school sessions in the open air. He further asserts that "the open air school is one way to attain robust bodies and clear minds." It is not as some persons suppose only a benefit for tuberculosis children, but so valuable to those in normal health that with fewer hours they accomplish the same results, that now require the full school day in the ordinary school room." Hence fewer teachers could accomplish the same results in the open air school than are required now, and great economy could be thus effected.

In the third annual report of the Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis of the District of Columbia, the following statement is made: "Placed in an open air school for an entire year ordinary school children in comparison with similar children in the indoor school showed an average gain in weight of 2.85, whilst the average gain with the children of the indoor school was only 1.89.

"At all three of the comparisons of the outdoor school with an indoor school which have been made during this year, the gain in health has been greater in the outdoor school." Mr. Selden M. Ely, supervising principal of the Fifth Division quotes as follows from a report of Miss Gardner, teacher of the school:

"So far as I can judge the gain in mental alertness, in accuracy, in interest, in energy, in initiative, has been if anything more marked than the physical gain. My school is never listless or apathetic, whatever else it may be. It has taken hold of the new work in arithmetic, long and short division, with a rapidity and an assurance that have surprised me."

The securing of favorable legislation is necessary in many cases, for the problem is too big for private associations, which without legislative assistance are badly handicapped.

Greatest morality from their diseases in Pittsburg has been found amongst males. These were mostly clerks, laborers and school boys. Amongst females the disease is mostly with housewives and housework-ers.

MASONIC BUILDING IS STORIED OLD PILE

Craft in Five States Sprang From it—First Temple In Jersey.

(Special from Staff Correspondent.)

Trenton, April 20.—The old Masonic building on West Front street near the State House, which the Grand Lodge of Masons took steps to preserve permanently, was the first Temple of Masonry in the State of New Jersey; was the first home of Trenton Lodge, No. 5, Free and Accepted Masons, and from it was born Masonry in the five great States of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin. The structure was completed about 1797 and was used as a Masonic building until a few years before the outbreak of the Civil War.

Within its walls have sat Governors of States, United States Senators, members of Congress and many other notable personages, and it was here that Major Anderson, of undying Civil War fame, was made a Mason. He gave it desks in the old Lodge building and some years ago they were distributed as relics among members of Trenton Lodge, No. 5.

Trenton Lodge, No. 5, is famous in New Jersey Masonic history in that it has not missed a communication, commonly called Lodge meetings, since 1787. All through the Morgan riots when Masonry was looked upon as inimical to the interests of America, sessions were held in this old Lodge building when most of the Masonic Lodges in the United States did not meet at all. From this Lodge was granted to Jersey members who settled in Cincinnati, Ohio, the first charter for Nova Caesarea Lodge in what was then the Northwest territory of the United States. This was really the beginning of Masonry in all the territory north of the Ohio River between the Pennsylvania State line and the Mississippi River. From this lodge the famous Indiana, No. 1, of Cincennes, Indiana, received its origin at the close of the Second War with England.

The proposition to preserve the building was made to the Grand Lodge by Adjutant General Wilbur F. Sadler, Jr. It was immediately indorsed and the Grand Lodge appropriated $500 toward the fund for the purchase of the building. It is planned to acquire the building and remove it to a site on the lands recently acquired by the State as an addition to the State House Park. If the plan be carried out the structure will stand near the historic old Barracks. The movement for the improvement of the State House Park includes the restoration of the Old Barracks to its original condition. Thus, when the work is finished, the park will be the site of two famous structures.

General Sadler will in a few days name a committee to secure funds for the purchase of the old Masonic Temple and to defray the expense of its removal to the park lands. The fund will be made up by subscriptions throughout the State, and others than members of the Masonic body will be allowed to contribute should they so desire.

SLIM CHANCE OF COUNTY MONEY FOR SKEETER WAR

The Union County Mosquito Extermination Commission, of which Dr. F. C. Ard is chairman, has asked County Attorney W. R. The county budget has been made up, and the Board of Freeholders does not seem inclined to take steps to alter it for the benefit of the new commission.

If there is no money forthcoming from the county, the only work that can be done this year will be that for which the State will pay, such as the draining of ditches in the meadows.

CHURCHES VOICE CITY'S SORROW OVER DISASTER

Memorial Services at Grace and Crescent Avenue--Sermons on the Calamity by Pastors of Other Congregations.

Through the voice of the Church, ageold comforter in time of woe, Plainfield gave expression yesterday to the deep feeling that has stirred it since the full extent of the Titanic disaster became known.

Impressive memorial services were held at Grace Episcopal church and the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, and in a number of pulpits the dreadful happening off the Grand Banks on the night of April 14 was the subject of sermons.

Grace Episcopal church was well filled yesterday morning when the memorial services were held. The Dead March from Saul was played in place of the usual Processional hymn and all the hymns were those used at funerals. The service was deeply impressive.

Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, the rector, pointed out in his sermon how man often thought he could reckon without God and built "fire proof" buildings, and "unsinkable" boats, that when brought to the test proved inadequate. Man thought that he could defy God and build the tower of Babel, but God demonstrated that he could not and taught him his lesson. But man needed depeated lessons and it was often necessary for the innocent to suffer with the guilty. Man must take God into his reckoning or be brought up suddenly and compelled at times to pay an awful price.

In the course of his remarks Mr. Stevenson paid a tribute to the men and women who, when brought face to face with death, met it without a falter. Men who had been severely criticized by the world gave up their lives that others might be saved and showed by their noble manner of meeting death that they must have lived noble lives.

At the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church a large congregation joined in the service of remembrance for the Titanic victims and prayers for the survivors and those who suffered loss of relatives and friends. Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, the pastor, took for his text these words: "I charge therefore, that, first of all, supplications, prayers, intercessions and giving thanks be made for all men."

Dr. Zelie said that he had been impressed by the stories of the survivors of the splendid truthful silence of the passengers aboard the great ship and the spirit of bravery. He said that the greatest suffering is felt by God and that such sorrows are more keenly felt in Heaven than elsewhere. At the conclusion of the sermon, the congregation sang "Nearer My God to Thee," and remained standing while the "Dead March" from "Saul" was being rendered on the organ.

Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, prefaced his sermon with a recital of the catastrophe.

"April 14 was a cold, black day for the men, women and children on board that ill-fated steamer," said Mr. Maguire. "Why? God and man can answer that question; it is found in one small word—greed! So long as a mad desire for speed actuates the authorities, we may look for awful calamities such as this. So long as swimming pools, palm gardens and golf courses take the place of life boats, we may expect to hear of dreadful loss of life.

"God moves in a mysterious way, his wonders to perform. Why is this awful loss of life allowed, we ask? We can only reply, perhaps that we may take our eyes off material things and on to God; to bring us into a closer brotherhood; to enact better laws; as a reminder of the great uncertainty of life, and to get us ready to meet our God."

Rev. J. Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, at the morning service yesterday drew several lessons from the disaster, showing how helpless man was among the forces of nature. Man, said the minister, could not get along without God even though he had money, time and a free-hand. Despite all those things, man was helpless in God's hands. The preacher emphasized the importance of everyone being ready for any event in life. He took exception to the belief of some people that God was unconscious of such a disaster, adding that He is not an absentee God in such trouble.

"Whatever the event there is a work of an active Sovereign intelligence," said Mr. Broek. "I do not believe that the terrible disaster was a punishment for any special sin.

"So teach us to number our days that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom," was the text chosen by Rev C. H. Mallery for his morning sermon yesterday at the Church of the Heavenly Rest. He pictured the awfulness of the sea tragedy, which had shocked the whole world. Mr. Mallery said that such a calamity tended to humble one's pride, and show the uncertainty of life, but that from all the sorrowing much good

PIERCE'S ATTITUDE ON BILLS IN SENATE

Howard F. Williams Tells of Senator's Stand During Recent Session.

The following letter received from Howard Hunter Williams is self-explanatory:

"Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

"Inasmuch as no mention has been made in your news columns of the attitude of Senator Pierce on certain bills recently pending before the Legislature I think it is only fair to him that your readers be apprised in this way of some things he has done in the Senate in fulfilling his platform pledges, and of his efforts to uphold what is right and honorable in at least two striking instances. The first of these concerns the Holloway Election bill and the other is what is known as the Newark Re-Districting bill. Both of these bills were passed by the Legislature and vetoed by the Governor, and every fair-minded citizen will feel that the Governor was justified in his veto.

"The Holloway bill was an attempt at most pernicious legislation, and endeavored by a re-arrangement of dates to take from the people their existing rights of independent nominations after the primary. So long as this right exists it behooves party organizations to make reputable nominations. If taken away, all check is removed, and localities would be remediless no matter how bad the nomination. The bill also covered certain other proposed amendments to the Election law which were not open to such objection, although there might be a very great difference of opinion as to their desirability. When the measure came before the Senate after the Governor's veto certain factions of the Republi

SHEARS STABBED HIM WHEN HE FELL OFF CHAIR

Morris Esakson, aged 21 years, of 96 Race street, while engaged in paper-hanging at the home of Dr. F. C. Ard on Park avenue, Saturday, accidentally fell off a chair upon which he was standing, and the points of a long pair of shears which he carried in a pocket in his overalls, jabbed him in the right side near the ribs.

The injury although not serious was a painful one, and acting upon the suggestion of Dr. Ard, the man went to Muhlenberg Hospital for treatment. He will be able to leave the hospital in a day or two.

RECOVER BODIES OF 64 VICTIMS

Steamer Mackay - Bennett Searches Where Titanic Went to the Bottom.

ALL MAY BE IDENTIFIED

Some Other Bodies Found of Which Identification Was Impossible, and These Were Given Sea Burial With Religious Ceremonies.

St. John's, N. F., April 22.—Sixty-four bodies of victims of the Titanic disaster that can be identified have been recovered by the White Star steamship Mackay Bennett on the scene of the wreck, according to wireless messages received through the Cape Race station.

They were taken aboard the steamer and cared for by the undertakers who went with the vessel from Halifax.

No information could be obtained at the wireless station as to the names of any of the people picked up.

It is also stated that the cable ship found some bodies that were in such condition that identification was impossible, and these were given sea burial with religious services.

Dense fog, it is said, has delayed the search for the victims by the Mackay Bennett.

Messages were sent from the Mackay Bennett saying the steamships the Rhein and the Bremen had passed by wreckage and bodies.

Many of these bodies which may have been found and which were unidentifiable were probably those of sailors who were crushed when the Titanic struck the iceberg, and others, it is understood, were those of men and women who were drowned in their night clothes, making identification almost impossible.

Three huge icebergs were approximately ten miles from the spot where the majority of bodies were found floating.

TITANIC SURVIVOR TELLS HOW SHE WAS RESCUED

Sixteen Year Old Girl, Attending Local Memorial Service, Was First to be Taken Aboard the Carpathia--She Defends Mgr. Ismay.

There sat in the congregation at the solemn memorial service for the Titanic's dead at the Crescent Avenue church yesterday morning a sixteen-year-old girl whose face bore a sombre impress laid upon it before ever that service was conceived. She needed none of the moving words of Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie to bring full realization to her of the dreadful happening in the darkness of the night of April 14, off the Grand Banks, and of the weight of woe that the Carpathia carried to New York.

Georgette Alexander Madill saw those things for herself. She was the first one of the rescued passengers of the Titanic to be lifted from a lifeboat to the succoring Carpathia.

Miss Madill went to the service in company with Mr. and Mrs. John Doull Miller, of East Ninth street, and their daughter. She is a schoolmate of the latter, and came to Plainfield Saturday to spend the week-end with her. Today she returned to New York to rejoin her mother and her cousin, who were saved from the Titanic with her, but before she went told a vivid story of the disaster and how she was plucked from the gates of death. Interpolated in that narrative was a vigorous defense of J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the White Star line, who has been charged in certain quarters, among other things, with having shown cowardice in entering a lifeboat and with ordering Captain Smith to increase the Titanic's speed in the face of iceberg warnings.

Miss Madill travelled on the Titanic in company with her mother, Mrs. Robert Madill, of St. Louis; her cousin, Miss Elizabeth Allen, and maid. All of them were rescued by the Carpathia.

Miss Madill characterizes the treatment accorded Bruce Ismay by the newspapers and general public as most outrageous, and spares no pains in denouncing the stories told of his alleged selfishness. She says he was one of the very last to leave the ship and only did so at the earnest solicitation of Captain Smith.

Miss Madill and her party were in a stateroom of the ill-fated ship immediately over the section torn away by the impact with the ice and she attributes the general calmness displayed by the majority of the passengers to the extreme lightness of the shock of the collision, it being scarcely noticeable in certain portions of the boat. Following the crash Captain Smith took command, and of his discipline, courage and unselfishness Miss Madill has the highest praise. He had the situation, she asserted, in hand at all times, and set an example to all of the men by his cool headedness. The young woman heard no shots fired and saw no fighting for places in line, the only noise being the shrieks of agony that attended the actual sinking of the ship.

Miss Madill wasi n the ninth boat to leave the Titanic, and was accompanied by her mother, cousin and maid, and was the first one upon the deck of the Carpathia as well as one of the first two to leave her after docking in New York harbor. Her boat was the only one whose officer had lights and other comforts that some of the others lacked, thus alleviating much of the suffering and enabling the Carpathia to sight them first of all the boats.

Explaining why the life boats were not filled to their limits, thus leaving many on board the fateful boat that might have been saved, Miss Marill said that the officers were afraid to fill them to their limit while suspended from the davits, for fear that the great load would break the boats in two before they were lowered to the water. For that reason there was room for the many that were picked up from the water after jumping.

Miss Madill returned to New York this morning where she will meet her mother at the Ritz-Carlton, where she has been taking care of a young Spanish woman, who was saved, but was compelled to leave her husband of only a few months on the boat to perish in the wreck. They will return to St. Louis today.

CORNERSTONE-LAYING AT THE SANITORIUM

Three Hundred Citizens, Including Many Physicians, Attend.

The laying of the cornerstone of the administration building at Bonnie Burn Sanitorium Saturday afternoon, was attended by more than three hundred representative citizens of Union county, including many physicians as well as a number of women. John N. Cady, director of the Board of Freholders, was in charge of the program, and after a few remarks, introduced Freeholder J. Hervey Doane, head of the committee in charge of the work, as "the indefatigable chairman."

Mr. Doane recounted the story of how the movement to build the sanitorium started, telling of the interest shown by the physicians of the county, which led to the holding of public meetings, which made the sanitorium a fact. He referred to the spot as "a Union county Eden, set like a gem among the hills, where the bloom would be brought to the pallid cheeks and strength to the stopping form." Mr. Doane spoke words of praise for the contractors, Metzger & Wells, and the architect, C. W. Oakley.

After Mr. Doane's remarks the cornerstone was laid by Director Cady. There was placed therein copies of county newspapers, names of the freeholders, county officers, a copper penny, dated 1851 and a Lincoln penny dated 1909, a bronze souvenir from Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., and the prospective list of the Board of Governors of the new institution.

Dr. Glazebrook, of Elizabeth, in which he praised the Board of Freeholders for not waiting until compelled by law to erect such buildings, but rather took the initiative and provided such an admirable place for those afflicted with the "white plague."

After the exercises those present adjourned to the old residence where refreshments wer served. The committee in charge of the work comprises J. Hervey Doane, chairman; Henry Krouse, Adolph Gruener, S. P. T. Wilbur and Logan Fay.

CHURCHES PREPARE FOR BIG MISSION GATHERING

Presbyterian, Methodist and Baptist denominations have their missionary finances in shape for coming national gatherings. The Methodist foreign mission returns fall off $33,000 for the general fund, although they gain in total amount because of special gifts. The Baptist home mission board took over a debt of $25,000 a year ago and is reported to have added $46,000 to it this year. The Presbyterian board of foreign missions, which is celebrating this year its seventy-fifth anniversary, has receipts exceeding $1,960,000. Much gain has come from the work of the women's jubilee. Presbyterian women not only accomplished certain financial tasks undertaken by them for the official board, raising more money than promised, but they kept up their own receipts, amounting to about $400,000 a year.

The Presbyterian foreign board states, through its treasurer, that its only gains to be credited to larger interest by laymen amount to $42,000, but it has not had time since ending its year to ascertain whether the increase is due to gifts from laymen or not. The amount credited to individuals, possibly women, year before last was $228,000, and the amount last year $271,000. The Presbyterian board of home missions has also increased receipts, the increase not coming from churches or laymen, but chiefly from legacies to

MANY MUST SWEAR TO A RIGHT TO VOTE

More Than 100,000 Electors Must File Affidavits for Primary Ballots.

(Special from Staff Correspondent.)

Trenton, April 22.—There are more than 100,000 voters in New Jersey who are not now eligible to vote at the Presidential primaries May 28 and who will have no vote then unless they are registered by affidavit before that time. The Geran election act provides that only those may vote at the Presidential delegate primaries in May who cast their ballots at the general election in the November preceding, or who file affidavits with their respective municipal clerks that they are entitled to vote. There will be no registry days for the approaching primary election.

The voting in New Jersey last fall was extremely light. The aggregate number of ballots cast was 340,168. In the Presidential election of 1908, when, of course, an unusually heavy vote was cast, the aggregate number of ballots of all parties was 465,915. Comparing these figures, it shows that there were more than 125,000 voters who did not cast their ballots last November and who, consequently cannot vote May 28 unless they register by affidavit.

If the vote of last November be compared with the election for Governor in 1910, which also brought out a large vote because of the interest in the campaign, nearly as great vote because of the interest in great a falling off is shown. The total vote for Governor in 1910 was 433,292. The vote of 340,168 last fall, therefore, shows that 93,124 voters who voted in 1910, failed to cast their ballots.

The only way these voters can become entitled to participate in the Presidential primaries on May 28 is for each one to file an affidavit with his municipal clerk at least ten days before May 28.

GROTESQUE DANCES.

Yaqui Natives Wear Antlers and Jump Like Deer.

Natives of the Yaqui region in Mexico make use of queer costumes in their dances. Seated on the ground around a fire, four good singers chant dialogues between the deer and other animals and birds, such as the coyote, the jaguar, the wolf, the bear, the eagle and the hawk. Their music is made by beating with small sticks, saturated in blood and then dried, on "guegas" or tightly stretched mats of plaited tule leaves.

The dancer ties on his head the skin and horns of the head of a deer—which is often better than his own—and from his belt of deer hide hang many deer hoofs, which rattle continuously as he goes through the steps of the dance. In his hands he carries two large rattles, made of gourds partly filled with pebbles. These he also shakes to keep time to the music.

The dancer tries to imitate, as far as possible, the movements of the deer. He shakes himself sideways and with his hands makes motions similar to those of the deer's long white tail as the animal goes running swiftly over the plain, leaping through the underbrush or trying to free himself from the files which infest the valleys of the mountains. He whirls around, jumps and leaps straight up and down into the air. When we are least expecting it another pascola appears, wearing the head of a coyote, a bear or a puma, chases the deer, tries to bite him, leap on his back or otherwise bear him to the ground, but the deer always escapes.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

COLONY OF THE CRAZED.

A Belgian Town Where Insane Folks Are Wholly Unrestrained.

In the year 600, according to legend, a young Irish princess named Dymphne, seeking to escape from her cruel father, traveled to the continent of Europe and in Belgium established herself in a hut, where it was her misfortune to be discovered and murdered by her parent. A temple was afterward built to the memory of the princess, and it later became a refuge for the "sick in mind." Huts and houses were gradually built to accommodate those who came until after many centuries it became the town of Gheel, known far and wide as the colony of the crazed.

The remarkable thing about this Belgian town is that the residents accept patients into their own homes so that they may enjoy the beneficial effects of domestic and social intercourse. Nearly every house contains at least two mental incompetents, and except in certain cases the patients are permitted to go about town and enjoy themselves. A stranger may not know whether he is meeting a patient or a sane resident in his walks through the town.

For more than 100 years this system has prevailed at Gheel. Attempts at suicide are few, the death rate among the unfortunates has averaged about 4 per cent during the past few years, while in England the rate has been 7 per cent for the past ten years. The percentage of recoveries for twenty-five years has been almost double that in England.—New York World.

CONSERVATION DAY.

April 28 is Conservation Day for all cities that have entered the Men and Religion Forward Movement. Plainfield is one of them. On the twenty-eighth it is expected that every community will adopt a five-year program "to test the strength of the entire Christian force." The congress is expected to outline the work to be done by denominational bodies and by interchurch societies. It is hoped to produce a permanent literature on the varied activities of the churches. Final reports of commissions will go to participating organizations to be carried into effect. Of the many speakers at the Conservation Congress one only is a woman, Jane Addams, of Hull House, Chicago, who will give the closing address on "The Responsibility of Men For Vice Conditions."

NEW CATHOLIC CHURCH.

There is forming in France and Italy a Catholic church that is not papal. The sentiment in favor of this is being fostered by Methodists, Baptists and other American communions. It is reported that Italians prefer an Italian church that retains the forms and doctrines of the Catholic Church, except the hierarchy, the Vatican and the Pope. This movement is furthered by the younger element of Italian families. It is said that the old hierarchy is composed of men too steeped in historic Catholicism to cope with modern conditions. This native tendency is not toward liberalism nor away from Roman ritual, but for a new governing body, made up of younger and progressive men.

ESCAPES INDICTMENT.

Perth Amboy, April 21.—No indictment has been found against Lloyd Griswold, sixteen years old, held under a charge of manslaughter, because he was in charge of the automobile which killed eight-year-old Leocavia Palaszak several days ago in this city. Coroner James J. Flynn held Griswold responsible after an investigation. No hearing was asked for, and the case went direct to the grand jury. Mrs. Catherine Palaszak, the mother of the dead child, was deserted by her husband six months ago, shortly after the death of their oldest child, a boy eleven years old. W. H. Griswold, father of young Griswold, has made a financial adjustment with her.

FIFTH MARRIAGE VENTURE.

New Brunswick, April 21.—A letter received here announced the wedding of Mrs. Amelia Fliedner, widow of Rudolph Fliedner, former owner of the box factory here, to Dr. W. E. Mettcale, of Los Angeles, Cal. The wedding took place Thanksgiving Day. The announcement came as a surprise. This is Mrs. Fliedner's fifth matrimonial venture. Dr. Mettcale is a Seventh-Day Adventist.

CRUELTY TO HENS.

Califon, April 22.—Asa Trimmer, a poultry raiser of Crestmoor, has a unique way of "breaking up" sitting hens. "At certain seasons of the year," Mr. Trimmer says, "poultrymen experience great difficulty in getting their hens to lay again, because they continually want to hatch. I have used many methods without effect. Last year I caught a ground hog, stuffed the skin, and every time a hen wanted to sit I placed the stuffed hog in the nest with the head looking out. A hen never returns to the nest but once. The hog knocks the sitting propensities sky high. I have never had it miss, and in a few days they are laying again."

HUNTERDON ROAD CONTRACT.

Flemington, April 22.—The Board of Freeholders held their semi-monthly meeting here. W. Y. Holt of this place, was awarded a contract to place cribbing along the Flemington-Whitehouse macadam where it joins the South Branch of the Raritan River near Flemington. The roadway was damaged by high water and heavy ice several weeks ago. The contract price for the work is $650. No action was taken by the board Saturday on the proposed Frenchtown-Flemington macadam.

RECEPTION TO PRIEST.

Perth Amboy, April 22.—After fourteen months in the mountain resorts of Pennsylvania, Monsignor B. T. O'Connell returned to his duties as pastor of St. Mary's Roman Catholic church and was tendered a reception by the people of the parish. San Salvador Council, Knights of Columbus, was in charge of the program. In behalf of the parishioners, John C. Donehue gave Monsignor O'Connell a purse. The amount was not made public, but it was understood to contain $1,000.

PEDRICK-SUYDAM.

Flemington, April 22.—Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Mary Fisher Suydam, daughter of Isaac Suydam, of Quakertown, and B. Hunt Pedrick, of Flemington. The ceremony was performed at Allendale. Rev. Dr. C. S. Woodruff, former pastor of the Flemington M. E. church, officiated. The couple were accompanied to Allendale by Miss Irene Wilson and Paul Barbiche. Mr. and Mrs. Redrick will make their home here.

HAMILL A CANDIDATE.

Trenton, April 22 (Special)—Congressman James A. Hamill, of Jersey City, has announced his candidacy for renomination on the Democratic ticket for election to the House of Representatives next fall. He is in the new Twelfth Congressional District of Hudson county, in which Congressman Eugene F. Kinkead resides.

A Terror to Orators.

A speaker in the house of commons has to address "the most chilling, nerve destroying audience in the world." Even such a cool headed, seasoned orator as John Bright once said toward the end of his career, too, "I suppose I ought to be ashamed of myself, but the fact is that I never rise in the house without a trembling at the knees and a secret wish that some body else would catch the speaker's eye and enable me to sit down again." And Disraeli, who boasted that he had no nerves, declared: "The blare of trumpets, a thousand lookers-on, have induced men to lead a forlorn hope. Ambition and one's constituents have induced men to do a far more desperate thing—speak in the house of commons."—London Mail.

Dogs Trained as Smugglers.

Italian smugglers frequently train dogs to assist in their contraband work. According to a report from the Italian customs officials, the dogs pressed into the smuggling service are first submitted to rigorous training on Swiss territory and after being ill treated by one of the smugglers attired as a customs official are driven across the frontier into Italy. Here, meeting with great kindness from the smugglers, the animals soon distinguish between friends and foes. After a time the canine confederates are taken over the boundary to Switzerland, where they are loaded with excisable articles—sugar, tobacco and spirits—and set free to make their way back to their friends' quarters over the Italian frontier.

Odd Geographical Division.

The range of the Blue Ridge mountains in Pennsylvania is divided by a river every twenty-seven miles, as follows: From the Susquehanna to the Swatara, 27 miles; from the Swatara to the Schuylkill, 27 miles; from the Schuylkill to the Lehigh, 27 miles; from the Lehigh to the Delaware, 27 miles. At the next 27 miles is a hollow of New Jersey, in which nestles a lake known as Culver's pond.

ENGINEERS AWAIT RAILROADS' REPLY

Demand Answer Today on Ultimatum.

REPEAT THREAT TO STRIKE

"If Roads Do Not Consent to Some Kind of Arbitrary Negotiations We Will Tie Up Eastern Railroads In Three Hours," Says Stone.

New York, April 22.—Officials of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers stated that they would order a general strike of locomotive engineers on the fifty eastern railroad systems unless the railway companies make some definite proposition immediately which may serve as a basis for arbitration.

Grand Chief Warren S. Stone of the engineers said:

"We will wait until this afternoon, as the railroads have requested, but if by that time they do not consent to some kind of arbitrary negotiations we will tie up all the eastern railroads inside of three hours.

"We have given our ultimatum, but as yet we have not received anything from the railroads which we can construe as a definite reply relative to the matter of arbitration. They have been saying the same thing over and over again about being unable to grant the demands.

Says Roads Can Grant Demands.

"That the engineers of the southwest and northeast have been granted what the engineers of the east are demanding show that the railroads in the eastern section can very easily do likewise if they have the slightest desire of averting a great public calamity.

"The volume of business in the east is enormous. In many instances it is necessary to put two engines on the trains, and they are compelled to pull twice as much in the east as in the west. It is a common thing in the east to run 3,000 and 4,000 ton trains. In the west there may be a slight increase in freight rates, but in the east there is a great volume of business for the roads.

"There is nothing further for us to do except await the next move of the railroads. It will depend on them entirely whether we are to have the world's greatest railroad strike or whether there can be an amicable adjustment which will avert such a calamity."

CHILD KILLED BY AUTO.

Boy Driver of Hoboken Is Charged With Manslaughter.

Jersey City, N. J., April 22.—Francis Barden, five years old, the son of Peter Barden of this city, was killed by the three seated automobile of Michael Ricco of Hoboken, a real estate dealer. Ricco, his wife and five children were in the automobile. His son John, seventeen years old, was driving.

They said the boy, who was killed, came from behind a wagon and ran against the mud guard of the automobile. A rear wheel passed over his neck, breaking it. An angry crowd got in front of the automobile. Ricco and his son say they stopped as quickly as they could.

Patrolman John Fennessy, who lives in the same house with Barden, arrested young Ricco and his father. The Riccos took the boy to the City hospital, a few blocks away. The surgeons at the City hospital said he was dead. John Ricco showed a chauffeur's license.

At the city hall station Justice of the Peace Edward Markley, on the permission of Judge Robert Carey of the common pleas court, released John Ricco on $3,000 bail given by his father to appear in the second criminal court on a charge of manslaughter. Michael Ricco was paroled to appear as a witness.

TAXPAYERS PROTEST.

South Orange People Oppose "Transient Trusteeism."

South Orange, N. J., April 22.—The last day of the campaign for the only spring election in New Jersey—that for local candidates in South Orange village—was enlivened by the appearance of an eleventh hour protest from taxpayers against what is called "transient trusteeism."

"Transient trusteeism" is a phrase coined at a meeting of property owners. It is directed at three members of the village board of trustees who are credited with a determination to leave South Orange.

"The Citizens' party," says the taxpayers' platform, "has broken every pledge in its platforms for four years or more, has imposed tax burdens which are excessive and, after having imposed them, now announce that four of the trustees responsible for these burdens are about to shake the dust of South Orange from their feet to flee to new pastures."

Salary Brings Out Candidates.

Gloucester, N. J., April 22.—That $1,200 a year is bringing out the mayoralty candidates. The latest one in the field on the Democratic ticket is John H. Boylen, who was the incumbent of the office for six years. The other candidates thus far mentioned on the Democratic ticket are John F. Zimmer, Dr. John K. Bennett, Thomas McNulty, Edward Baker, Theodore Allen and Joseph Gately.

William Holmes, of Sycamore avenue, who has been suffering with a severe attack of laryngitis, is much improved.

NEW PROVIDENCE CHAPEL BECOMES HOME OF LODGE

A change of note in the few public buildings in New Providence will be made when Starry Flag Council, No. 158, Junior Order of United American Mechanics, moves the Presbyterian chapel across to the lot on Springfield avenue between Fire Headquarters and the Passaic Valley Garage and takes possession of it as its permanent home.

The building is an old one, though it has been completely remodelled in recent years. Half a century ago it was used as a schoolhouse, and for a long time thereafter was generally called The Academy. It was used for lectures and entertainments of various kinds. It was for a considerable time the meeting place of the Sons of Temperance. It has long been regularly used by the Presbyterian church as a place for Sunday-school and prayer meetings.

The Jr. O. U. A. M. will signalize its acquirement of the building with a reception and entertainment and a "Boost the Council" meeting early in May, at which it is expected that a number of State officers of the order will be present.

MRS. PETER GARRETSON.

Mrs. Peter Garretson, who was well-known here where she had many friends, died Saturday noon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. A. Beekman in Paterson, where she had made her home for the past three years. Mrs. Beekman formerly lived in East Millstone for many years, where her husband was engaged in the butcher business. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. A. A. Beekman, of Paterson, and Mrs. George Riggs, of Newport, R. I., and one son, John M. Garretson, of East Millstone. The funeral will be held at the East Millstone Reformed church Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and the burial will be at East Millstone.

CONFERENCE ON SCHOOLS.

Trenton, April 22 (Special).—The conference of the State Board of Education, State Commissioner of Education Calvin N. Kendall and the County and City School Superintendents on important public school questions will take place at the State House tomorrow evening, extending into Wednesday morning very probably. One topic to be taken up is the method of dealing with the pupils who are below the normal in their studies. Special consideration will be given to the proposition of having special classes for such pupils. The proposed new code to bring about the erection of modern and safe school buildings will also be discussed.

NEW JERSEY'S PART.

In the hour of trial, all men are brothers. Particularly is this the case when some great calamity has befallen the world, such, for instance, as the Titanic disaster. When a catastrophe of this kind happens prompt material aid is needed. The two great nations of the earth, whose interests are lined together by ties of language and other things, appreciate the fact that something must be done for the survivors and moreover for relatives of those who met their untimely deaths when the giant ship went to the bottom of the ocean. To that end, funds are being raised in this country and in England. Governor Wilson, in our own State, has sent forth an appeal. We can not do better than to quote his proclamation:

"In an hour of sympathy and commiseration for the loss of life and the abrupt parting of family ties, due to the most harrowing catastrophe of modern times, the destruction of the Titanic, a spirit of charity has prompted the organization of a fund for the aid and comfort of any needy survivors of the lost Titanic. The citizens of New Jersey, I am sure cannot be unmindful of this opportunity to participate in a movement founded upon the noblest motives that can appeal to the human heart, an admiration of unselfish heroism, and a desire to mitigate the severity of an anguish which has evoked universal compassion.

"I would, therefore, suggest, for those citizens of New Jersey who are desirous of donating contributions for the survivors of the Titanic that all contributions be sent to the Mayors of their respective municipalities, and that in the near future a meeting be held to decide upon the means of co-operating with those bodies already in existence, that the fund secured in New Jersey may be most advantageously expended."

Nine mayors of as many cities have been named by Governor Wilson as a temporary committee to receive contributions. Unfortunately, Plainfield is not included in the list. Yet there are many good people here, we know, who would like to express their sympathy in a substantial way. Therefore, the Daily Press will be glad to receive, publicly acknowledge through its columns and promptly transmit to the Governor direct any sum no matter how small for this purpose.

The Fateful Date—April 14, 1865, when Lincoln was asassinated, and April 14, 1912, when the Titanic went down—is the inspiration for this verse by Edward E. Kidder, of the Lambs Club:

"From the ice throttled sea
To the God overhead
Sounds a sigh for the living,
A dirge for the dead;
And a nimbus of glory
Shall history give
To the men who died, Christlike,
That others might live."

Local real estate men, co-operating with the Chamber of Commerce yesterday inaugurated a campaign of publicity, Plainfield's advantages and attractinos being presented through the medium of the New York Herald. This is a sensible scheme and one which, if conducted systematically, will bring excellent results.

Pending a definite interpretation of the New York law by the Attorney-General, Police Commissioner Waldo, of New York city, has issued an order permitting New Jersey chauffeurs to be admitted without license. By the Callan law, in force in New York, chauffeurs must pass an examination and obtain a license before they are permitted to operate cars. This provision acts as an obstacle to full reciprocity between the two States and therefore the authorities will attempt to find a loophole whereby they may be allowed to admit foreign chauffeurs regardless of the restriction.

A group of distinguished Frenchmen, on board the La France which is making its maiden trip to the United States, have in their keeping Rodin's bust of "LaFrance," which is to be presented to this country by citizens of the younger Republic. The gift will be placed at the base of the Champlain memorial light house now being built at Crown Point on Lake Champlain and it will commemorate the discoveries of the great French explorer three hundred years ago.

More than 100,000 otherwise duly qualified voters in New Jersey will have to register before municipal clerks in order to cast their ballots at the Presidential primaries on May 28. This unusually large number is due to the fact that a light vote was cast at the last general election. If you are not registered, do not delay until the last day, May 14, before making the necessary affidavit.

Our readers are familiar with the good work of Senator Pierce as to bills he introduced and championed during the recent session of the Legislature, notable among which was the grade crossing act. In this issue, a local admirer of the Senator relates the position taken by Mr. Pierce on various measures introduced by other members of the Legislature.

State Commissioner Stevens will have a fund of approximately $300,000 at hand for the coming year for road work. Judging by the amount of repair work alone to be done this sum would have to be multiplied by ten and then might not be sufficient to meet the expense.

The next President of the United States will be selected when over 15,000,000 voters register their choice, but as has happened in the past this does not necessarily mean that the choice will be made by a majority of votes.

Considerable prominence is given the heroism of Astor and others, but how about those bandmen, who calmly played, "Nearer My God to Thee," until they were carried beneath the waves?

After the church and the press has finished giving their opinion on the Titanic disaster, the Senate investigation committee will be permitted to give its decision.

William Jenning Bryan says that the Republicans have stolen his platform and that he's afraid they will draft him as their candidate.

ELECTION OFFICERS.

Trenton, April 22 (Special).—The State Civil Service Commission has forwarded to the chairman of the various county committees of both parties throughout the State a letter calling attention to the fact that under the provisions of the Geran election law nominations for positions on the local boards of registry and election must be filled with the commission for Civil Service examination this year by May 1. The law provides for the filling of such nominations the first year on June 1, and thereafter on May 1. Examinations will be held by the commission in Elizabeth, May 15, for Union county and in Somerville, May 14, for Somerset county.

CENTER OF THE EARTH.

It May Be a Mighty Mass of Molten Precious Metals.

Did you ever stop to consider the fact that in all probability the center of the earth is a globe composed of gold, iridium and platinum? These metals are, of course, in a liquid state, the iridium at the exact center—that is, provided there is not some heavier metal at present unknown to man occupying that place—the platinum next and the gold surrounding the other two.

"But," you say, "what proof have we that this proposition is correct?"

In answer I would say:

"Two proofs, and perhaps more."

First, the three metals are the heaviest known substances, compared bulk for bulk. This being the case, they would naturally be attracted to the center of our planet. In the beginning the earth was liquid, if not gaseous. In either case the heavy metals mentioned were held in solution. By gradual condensation the metals settled to the center, iridium first, platinum next and gold last.

Ages ago, when the crust of the earth was thin—very thin—all of the gold now known was thrown out in volcanic eruptions. This last mentioned fact is the second reason for believing that our globe has a golden center, woven around a nucleus of iridium and platinum.

A third reason for believing that there is gold at the center is this: The earth as a whole weighs five times as much as a globe of water of the same bulk, while the rocks forming the outer crust are less than three times as heavy as water.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

QUEER QUITO.

A City With No Chimneys and Where Carriages Are Curiosities.

Travelers in South America see many strange places, but the queerest of all is probably Quito, the capital of the republic of Ecuador. The first thing which strikes a visitor to that city is that there are no chimneys to the houses.

Charcoal is all that is burned there, and consequently no smoke arises. Another peculiarity is that while the streets are well paved you may pass days in the city and never see a wheeled vehicle.

There are some carriages in Quito, but they are rarely used, and when one of them comes rattling along everybody turns out to look at it as at some curiosity.

A third peculiarity is that while the bulk of the population dress in ponchos (a kind of cloak or loose garment) and short linen trousers a considerable number of people—white men—are to be seen walking about and wearing frock coats and tall hats. These men, the visitor is generally told, are enlightened and cultivated men, natives of Spanish origin, who claim that they form the nation of Ecuadorians. Indians, of course, do not count.

Every white man in Quito who can possibly manage it wears this sort of coat and hat to emphasize his importance and highly civilized condition.

This dress justifies him in calling himself doctor and others in so styling him, and he also thinks that it gives him a claim to come into your apartments without being invited and try to borrow 5 cents from you.

How Malta Became European.

Malta underwent a geographical as well as a political change through its acquisition by England in 1814. It had always been regarded as part of Africa, to which it seemed to belong both from topography and language. After its annexation, however, it was discovered that the garrison was entitled to the higher pay granted to troops employed out of Europe and was therefore more privileged than the soldiers in the Ionian islands. To remedy this parliament passed an act decreeing that so far as pay went Malta should be regarded as part of Europe. It used to be a joke that Malta had become European by act of parliament, and the jest soon became a reality.—London Standard.

The Baldheaded Eagle.

The staid, dignified and homely baldheaded eagle, the glorious emblem of the American republic, mates but once and lives with his one mate until he or she dies. If left a widower—even a young widower—the baldheaded eagle never mates again. He remains alone and disconsolate in the nest on the rocky crag or in the branches of a tall pine that formed his domicile while his mate was alive. No other female eagle can tempt him to foresake his disconsolate life.

"What's the matter now, old man?" his friend asked.

Insect Curiosities.

Insects do not follow the rule sustaining a higher life—that of a brief youth followed by a longer period of adult life. The May fly lives two years as a grub in a pond and then is granted a life of but a few brief hours. The dragon fly spends more time even than the May fly in seclusion and then is cut off after a few weeks of existence. But the palm goes to that strangest of American insects, the cicada. Pestilent swarms of these sweep over the country for a few weeks—a veritable scourge to all whom it visits, planting, the while, its eggs in the bark of trees. As grubs they crawl out and bury themselves in the soil at the roots of the trees, whence, in sixteen years, they issue as insects, having thus spent seventeen years in maturing.

Tragedy In a Clock.

Hogan was late at work several times and was advised to buy an alarm clock. It worked finely for a time until one of the kids got to monkeying with it and took it apart. When it was put together again it wouldn't run.

Hogan couldn't understand it, on account of past performances, and did a little dissecting on his own account. When he opened the clock he found the remains of a large insect mixed up with the machinery.

"No wonder it won't run," he said to his wife. "The engineer is dead."—Chicago Post.

For the Children

Mr. Opossum, Who Is a Noted Chicken Thief.

Doubtless most young people who live in the country are familiar with the opossum, but city folk rarely see them except in captivity. It belongs to the family of marsupials and carries its young in a pouch at the breast. It is about the size of a common cat and has a hairless prehensile tail about fifteen inches long. By prehensile it is meant that it can grasp things with its tail, which greatly aids the animal in climbing trees. In summer he lives in the woods, robbing birds' nests and gathering fruits and berries. In the winter, when his food supply is short, he visits the farmer's hencoops and helps himself to a fat chicken whenever he can do so. When captured he pretends death. The mother opossum carries her dozen or more children in her pouch until they are large enough to follow her on foot.

A Trick in Addition.

This trick in addition is very simple when you once know the secret, but until then it seems an astonishing mystery.

First ask some one to write a row of figures. There may be any number of figures desired. Then say, "Before another figure is written I can tell you the sum of five rows of figures—the one that you have written with four other rows." Turn the paper over and write the answer on the back of it.

Then ask the other person to write another row of figures under the first row. The next row of figures must be written by yourself. Ask the other person to write the fourth row of figures and write the last row yourself. Then add up the five rows, turn the paper over and the answer will be written on the back.

To get the answer in this marvelous fashion as soon as the first row of figures has been written subtract two from the last figure and then write the same figures in the answer, placing the two in front of the first figure. The answer is just like the first row of figures except that the end figure is two less and the two is in front of the first figure. To make it come out this way you must, when it is your turn to write the figures, be sure each figure that you write with the figure above it adds up to nine. The same thing must be done when you write the second row of figures.

Numerical Songs.

To make even the sobersides of the company shout with laughter try numerical songs. This is where all the company are gathered in a circle or in two rows and where some familiar song is sung, each phrase of which is punctuated with numbers, which are sung also, as if they belonged to the text. A certain number of words may be agreed upon as the space to be punctuated thus, say four or five words, and this division used instead of dividing the verses into phrases.

Some song must be selected which all know, and it must be sung slowly and solemnly, like a dirge. Thus:

John Brown's body (One) lies a-moldering
(Two) in the grave (Three);
His soul (Four) goes marching on (Five).

One player may sing a verse as a solo, or two or more may sing it in unison, while all join in the chorus.

A School Land Ship.

One of the features of their public school training which the boys of Berlin, Germany, enjoy most is the "land ship," on which young sailors go through a regular daily training. The Iltis is the name of the land ship which has been built and which has a crew of 120 boys. The larger boys act as officers. When they are at work on the land ship the boys dress in middy blouses and caps. There is gun practice on the land ship every day and a naval drill, and all the usual work of a ship is done by the boys. They have the greatest fun in climbing the spars and hoisting the sails, and life on the Iltis is so popular that there are always more applicants for the crew than there are places to be filled.

Sun Spots.

She stood before the looking glass,
A winsome, dainty lass,
And gazed with puckered brow upon
The sweetest face that sun shone on.

"Oh, dear," she murmured, with a sigh,
"I can never imagine why
These nasty freckles always come!
They're really very troublesome!"

The sun peeped through the window pane
And beamed upon her once again.
"Ah, ah," he, chuckling, made reply,
"I think I know the reason why!

"The freckles on your pretty face
In admiration there I place.
And every one is only this:
The spot where I imprint a kiss."

A Lingerie Frock For 1912 Summer.

COSTUME OF WHITE VOILE OVER BLUE CHIFFON.

This pretty frock of white voile with an embroidered border is draped over a skirt of blue chiffon, deeply hemmed. The cuffs, sailor collar and sash are of the blue chiffon, the sash having knotted ends at the back.

How to Sow Your Flower Seed.

After the soil is made ready and smoothed over and made firm the sowing is done. This operation varies according to the size of the seed. The finest seed may be sown broadcast, tearing off a corner of the envelope which holds it and letting the tiny grains fall gently and evenly through the opening.

Another way is to pour the contents of the envelope into the palm of the left hand and with the thumb and two fingers of the right take a pinch of seed and scatter it. The hands, of course, must be quite dry, otherwise the seed will stick to them.

After sowing sift a little fine soil on top and press it down. Another way is to make shallow rows and sprinkle the seeds in either one of the two ways mentioned, then sift the soil on top and press down.

Very large seeds, such as the nasturtium and morning glory, it is easier to place in the trench one by one about two inches apart.

After the seed is sown an excellent idea is to lay a cotton cloth on the bed and wet it well with a watering can. The cloth keeps the ground moist and the soil is not washed out at all by the sprinkling. Until the seeds begin to come through all the watering is done through the cloth.

An ingenious woman, with the imperative need for remodeling her picture hat in mind, paused before a display of imported headgear and, with wistful eyes, took in the detail of one fascinating black and white "creation" which was trimmed with heavy white silk ribbon, woven with very narrow black velvet stripes. Anything even approaching the quality of that ribbon or giving the handsome effect of it would be quite beyond the small amount which she would be able to spend on the renovating, but an idea came to her as she stood there, and when she returned home she put it into swift execution. In her box of wide ribbon for girdles and sashes was some of heavy white silk, and among her stores she had laid aside several bunches of the narrowest black velvet ribbon, once used for little collar "dangles," but still in perfectly good condition, needing only to be passed—pile upward—across a fairly warm flatiron.

This velvet ribbon she stitched in exact, even rows along the heavy white silk sash ribbon selected for the purpose, and the desired trimming for a very up to date and most becoming chapeau was hers without any expenditure whatever.

Cotton For Seasickness.

"Apropos of the approaching season of ocean voyages," remarked a suburban physician who goes abroad every summer, "I am reminded of a pretty girl I met one evening on the deck of a liner. I noted that she had cotton in her ears and took the liberty of asking if her hearing was affected.

"'No,' said she, with a smile; 'I have cotton in my ears because I don't want to get seasick.'

"That was new to me, so I asked her where she obtained the idea.

"'Last season,' she explained, 'on our way across there were a number of deaf mutes on board. Not one of them was seasick on the entire trip. That gave me a thought. I stuffed my ears with cotton, and I did not have a qualm all the way over. Before I tried that experiment I was seasick every day. I was told that the stomach nerves and the nerves of the hearing are in sympathy.'

"And they are," said the doctor. "That cotton batting remedy for mal de mer is efficacious, I know, for I tried it."

Anaesthetics For Plants.

Most plants living for a greater period than a year require certain intervals of rest. It is at these times that energy is stored up for future activity. The more complete this period of quiescence the better is the development and the quicker the rate of growth when the plant awakens from its sleep. Dr. Johansen of Copenhagen, after an elaborate series of experiments, has given to the market grower an effective method of rapid flower production based on an intensification of the plant's resting period. For long it has been known that vegetable tissue is much affected by the vapors of chloroform and ether. After a good deal of investigation the Danish professor was able to demonstrate that plants submitted to the influence of these anaesthetics were afterward capable of an astonishingly rapid growth. So satisfied has the practical grower been that the treatment will be exceedingly helpful to him that the method is being extensively employed.

The manner of procedure is decidedly interesting. When in an entirely restful condition specimens of lilacs, azaleas, lilies of the valley and other plants are placed in an airtight box. A small vessel affixed to the lid of the box is filled with chloroform or ether and the cover is placed in position. Being heavier than air, the vapors rush to the bottom of the box and mingle with the plants. At the end of forty-eight hours the specimens are taken out and grown in the ordinary manner. Nothing in the way of forcing is required and without the employment of any great degree of heat the plants develop in a most remarkable manner. Lilacs were in full bloom within a fortnight after being placed in the vaporizing chamber, while lilies of the valley were hardly so long in coming to maturity. In no way did the treatment harm the plants, which produced flowers and foliage in profusion.

Changed Her Mind About Baby's Name

Mrs. Zuba Creel, a young colored woman who did housework by the day, was for a time obliged to devote herself exclusively to a new member of the family. Miss Lucy West, one of her customers, called one morning to find out how Zuba was getting on, says the Youth's Companion.

"What are you going to name the baby, Zuba?" asked Miss Lucy, after inspecting the tiny newcomer with due interest.

"Well'm," returned Zuba, "I been studying over a new name I heard, and I 'spect I'll name him Rodent."

"Rodent," gasped Miss Lucy. "What ever made you think of that?"

"Well'm, one day las' spring, when I was f'ning clo'es at Miss Parlin's I heard Miss Alice tell her maw she see some signs that made her think de Rodents were a-coming.

"I didn't hear no mo'n dat, but I 'lowed de Rodents was fren's o' de fambly, and somehow de name kind o' struck me. Don't you like it?"

"No," said Miss Lucy, "and I don't think you will, either, when I tell you that Miss Alice probably meant rats and mice when she spoke of rodents."

"Hush!" cried Zuba in astonishment. "Ef dat ain't de cap-sheaf! Well, I shore ain't goin' name dis po' little lamb after no varmint. I reckon I'll name 'im Beelzebub. Dey'll call him 'Bub' anyway, no matter what I names 'im."

Cooks' Traveller's Cheques Are Good All Over the World

FOODS THAT THE HUMAN BODY NEEDS

A professor of household economics in the Manitoba Agricultural College, writing an article on "Practical Cooking and Serving" in The Farm and Fireside, makes the following report and classification of foods:

"We all need every day some food to make muscle and keep the tissues of the body in good repair; then we need some fat to keep the body warm, some starch and sugar to give us energy, some mineral matter to keep the blood pure and aid digestion, and lots of water to help get all this food to the tissues and to carry away wastes.

"The amount that we need of these different kinds of foods, I learned, depends upon our work, our age, the climate and ourselves. I found out that here on the farm, where we are all in good health and have plenty of fresh air and exercise, nature regulates our desire for food, and the amount that satisfies us is about right. We have no invalids or dyspeptics in the family, or my task would be harder.

Then, of course, it was necessary to know which are muscle foods, etc., and so I wrote out the classification of foods according to their principles and kept the list on the pantry door until I knew it by heart. I'll repeat it to you.

"'The chief muscle foods are: Lean meat, lean parts of fish, cheese, beans, peas, eggs, milk, gluten in flour, nuts and other foods.

"'Fat foods: Butter, cream, oil in cheese, olive oil, in nuts, fat of meat, such as bacon and other fats prepared for eating, etc.

"'Sugar: Sugars of all kinds, honey, syrup, sugar in fruit, candy, etc.

"'Starch: All cereals and flours, potatoes, corn, and some other vegetables.

"'Mineral matter: In all fruits and all vegetables.'"

WOULD PROVIDE FOR A BARREL OF U. S. STANDARD

Washington, April 22.—Congressman Tuttle has been working on a bill designed to put into effect the provision of the Constitution of the United States providing for a uniform standard of weights and measures. This bill would establish a standard barrel for all fruits and vegetables, thereby making it more easy for local officers to prevent those deceptions by dealers which within the past year have been the occasion for so much criticism and action in New Jersey and elsewhere. Congressman Tuttle is a member of the sub-committee of the Committee on Coinage, Weights and Measures, which has the matter in charge, and he has just received a commandatory letter from the Commissioner of Weights and Measures of New York City, in which the writer says, among other things, that this is the first absolutely clear-cut and intelligent measure he has seen, and that it should meet the objections brought forth by any critics. Congressman Tuttle believes the Committee on Colnage, Weights and Measures is favorably disposed toward the bill and that it will be reported out of committee without unnecessary delay.

FREE OF CHARGE—The most thorough and accurate examination of the sight that is possible and there is no chance of any error in being fitted to glasses by the DAMMERS SCIENTIFIC METHOD. This examination is worth at least $5 of any one's money.
We make a pair of glasses as low as $1 with as fine a gold-filled frame as can be made.
When you are tired and sick of having your eyes fitted by the old style way of fitting glasses, or the so-called subjective test of putting lines and letters on the wall and asking whether you can see this or that letter and line, when you have been all through this many times and have been unable to get fitted correctly, come to us and we will look through your eyes and take the exact optical focus and error of your sight and give you comfort and relief.
If you have headaches, dizziness, nervousness, or any trouble resulting from eyestrain, come to us and have your eyes measured by the new system, from which wonderful results are obtained.

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

Lots of baseball here on Saturday.

Matty added another to his list on Friday so we will probably not hear anything more from the knockers until he happens to drop another.

There are many managers who would be willing to exchange a large sized bank account for a wing as good as Matty's and run the risk of getting their moneys worth.

McGraw had the red rag out again for his friend Finneran.

The High School put the kibosh on the Upsala crowd on Saturday. They will go after Cranford Wednesday.

The fans gave Matty an automobile which only partially expressed the esteem in which he is held by the baseball loving public in the big city.

When the first game was played at the Polo grounds on Friday there was lots of room, only about half of the seats being occupied and yet one could hardly speak of it as a small crowd.

Leal's lost at Montclair on Saturday but they were up against a team that is credited with playing gilt edge interscholastic baseball.

Michigan does not desire to reenter the western conference, those in charge of activities in Ann Arbor feel that they can take care of themselves in the future.

The intercollegiate track season opened in this vicinity Saturday when N. Y. U., C. C. N. Y. and Columbia held their first annual metropolitan college track championships on South Field, with Columbia walking away with it.

Walter Johnson, the speed king, is putting the fast ones over in the same old way. He held the Athletics to four hits on Friday, which speaking Giantwise, is some accomplishment.

Fred Merkle holds the distinction of making the first home run of the season at the Polo grounds.

Next Saturday will see the McKeesport team of the Ohio and Pennsylvania league at the Oval.

The Giants and the Yanks played a benefit game for the Titanic victims yesterday afternoon at the Polo grounds, the Giants winning 11 to 2.

The Giants are beginning to hit their stride again.

The Borough High is mixing it up with the Kearny High School boys this afternoon on Hyde Field.

Parker Field is now open for business. Mr. Bestwick will tell you when you can have it.

It is a fact that a winning team will draw the crowd but it is also a fact that many a losing team plays good ball. Sometimes a losing team deserves a great deal more credit than the one that finds the easy going for it takes a great deal of courage for the loser to stick, and it's the sticking that makes the loser the winner in the end.

Coombs strained his back in Saturday's game and had to be carried off the field. He is an excellent pitcher and a clean sportsman and it is to be hoped that his misfortune will not deprive the baseball loving public of the chance to witness more of his good work.

Tresreau, the new Giant wing artist, has been playing to hard luck so far this season, losing his first game after pitching a masterful game and just managing to squeeze through in Saturday's game after another exhibition of first-class pitching.

N. P. H. S. GETS THE LITTLE END OF 10-1

Borough Lads Have Two Bad Innings and Give Away the Game.

The New Brunswick High School lads visited Hyde Field, Saturday afternoon, and took a game from the Borough High ball tossers by a score of 10 to 1. The visitors got their runs in bunches, getting four in the fourth and five in the ninth. Aside from those two innings the borough boys showed well. The game started out like the real article, and the crowd settled back to watch a close game, but the fouth inning upset their calculation and after that New Brunswick was never headed. The local team pulled their lone run in the sixth inning when C. Taylor slid over the rubber. Smith, the visiting pitcher, had everything, allowing only two hits with one pass.

This afternoon Kearny H. S. is playing on Hyde Field and the Somerset School will try hard to land one.

LEALS FALLS BEFORE A MONTCLAIR TEAM

Make Good Showing Against Strong Academy Lads But Cannot Win.

The inexperienced Leal's school nine met the strong Montclair Military Academy bunch of ball tossers on the latter's grounds Saturday morning and were compelled to return home with the little end of a 10 to 0 score. As in the previous games their opponents got the jump on the Leal boys and had piled up 9 runs before they settled down to business. After the second inning the visitors tightened up and allowed only one more run during the game.

Although the score board does not indicate the fact the game came far from being one-sided. Leal's made it interesting at two or three times but poor base running deprived them of runs. Mellor, who started out to take care of the receiving end for the Front street team, was catching his first game and was far too light and inexperienced to hold Lee, although he showed plainly that a year's experience will make him a reliable back stop. Lee pitched good ball and proved very stingy with his hits all through the game.

The final result was most encouraging to the Leals supporters for every member of the team showed a vast improvement since the Cranford game. They meet Pingry on Wednesday afternoon at the Oval and should put up a good argument.

P. H. S. WALKS AWAY WITH UPSALA TOSSERS

The City High School team took a slow game from Upsala College at Kenilworth Saturday morning by the score of 18 to 11, as told in Saturday's Daily Press. This gives the local lads two victories out of three games played.

It was Plainfield's game from the first, even though they did not have their regular team to start the game with; Manager Dunwell and Harold Sharkey being pressed into service until the regulars showed up. The visitors enjoyed a swatfest, fatting their batting averages at the expense of the college boys, picking off 26 large sized hits, Carty and Davenport both getting six. The Upsala team plays a return game here next Saturday afternoon, when they will try to get back a little of the stuff lost day before yesterday.

CAN "DOUBLE UP" IN SPRINT RACES

Olympic Program so Arranged for the Competing Athletes at Stockholm.

FAVORS DISTANCE MEN

Unless there should develop serious opposition to the two Sunday dates which the Swedish Olympic club committee has announced the program for the 1912 Olympiad is sure to meet with universal approval in this country. The arrangement of the preliminary and final heat in all of the track events has been made in such a manner as to permit the greatest amount of doubling up. The program set at rest the fear that the American sprinters would not be able to compete in both the 100 and 200 meter dashes and the middle distance men in the 800 and 1,500 meter runs.

According to the schedule, which has just been announced, the games will begin on Saturday, July 6, and finish on Monday, July 15. The 100 meter, 200 meter and 400 meter dashes and 800 and 1,500 meter runs have been spread out over six days so that a sprinter, if he had the necessary endurance, could compete in the 100, 200 and 400 meter runs and the middle distance man can easily compete in both the 800 and 1,500 meter events. The trial heats for the 100 and 800 meter runs is set for the first day, with the finals of each the following days.

The 100 meter men who wish to compete in the 200 meters instead of the 400 meters will have a rest of two days before they are compelled to work again, while the middle distance men will have a rest of one day.

The dual games between Oxford and Cambridge recently brought to light but one competitor of Olympic caliber that this country did not already know. He was Ashington of Cambridge, and he won the running broad jump with a leap of 23 feet 1½ inches. When it is considered that this man also won the 120 yard hurdles, competing in the rain, his broad jumping was quite remarkable, and if he makes the improvement which should be expected of him for the remainder of the year he will cause some uneasiness in the American camp.

The victory of McMillan in the 100 yard dash was entirely expected, though his performance of 10 seconds for the distance either stamps him as a world beater or the time was not accurate. To run 100 yards on a heavy track and in a pouring rain in 10 seconds flat is a most unusual performance. Reports from England state that McMillan has been running the distance in this time repeatedly, and he has been clocked by some of the best timers in England, who insist that the times announced for him are accurate.

With the exception of the broad jump already referred to the performances in the field events were nothing unusual. The high jumping and shot putting would not have done justice to one of our best interscholastic meets.

That England intends to make an unusual effort to develop a winner for the Marathon run is indicated by two incidents. The first is the organization of an advisory club, formed for the purpose of imparting information and methods of training for all candidates for the British Olympic team. This club has devoted particular attention to Marathon running. There have been talks and papers on the proper way to train for this event, and every possible encouragement has been given to clubs for the promotion of Marathon running. It is the hope of the British Olympic association that, through the efforts of this club, there will be developed some man able to restore English prestige in long distance running.

"A LIKELY YOUNGSTER."

Patsy Flaherty, baseball expert, has the following to say of a Plainfield boy that the local fans are watching closely. "Martin, now with Rochester, and owned by the New York Americans, is the most likely youngster in any league," which is putting into words just what a great many of his admirers have thought for a long time.

HOPE CHAPEL'S FAST BASKETBALL TEAM

One of the fastest basketball teams in this section of the country was the one representing Hope chapel during the past season. They won twenty-six out of the thirty-three games played and ended the season with a decisive victory over Co. M. cadets, of Somerville. In the picture those standing are (from left to right), Snyder Leighs (coach), Wardrop, Sitting, (from left to right), Doig, Leighs, Thomas Heron and John Heron.

THE OFFICIAL BALL.

When one reads, "Spalding's Official National League Cork Center Base Ball," an idea at once suggests itself: why should there be an officially adopted base ball? What could necessitate any rule designating so absolutely a ball of any particular make? Any good old schoolbody will remember what a difference there use to be when a "Bounding Rock" was put into the game and when it was not. The "Bounding Rock" would go over the fence the first time it was batted, so something had to be done to make a uniform ball for all games. A base ball had to be adopted and made official and comply exactly with rigid standards of weight and measuremsnt. The ball adopted was that of A. G. Spalding & Bros. From over thirty years' experience in the manufacture of base ball, A. G. Spalding & Bros. have now evolved a cork center ball superior to anything heretofore known in base ball.

TEMPLE BAPTIST LOSES.

The Young Men's Association baseball team, of Bound Brook, took the Temple Baptist diamond representatives into camp Saturday afternoon on Parker Field by a score of 27-7. It was all Y. M. A. from the very beginning and at no time did the church team have a look-in. The game was loosely played and errors were frequent with many hits to keep the fielders on the go. This game was in the nature of a practice game for the church lads preparatory to the opening of the Sunday-school League season.

BOUND BROOK WINS.

The Bound Brook High School team defeated the High Bridge school boys at High Bridge, Saturday afternoon, by the score of 4 to 2. The game was closely contested throughout, the result remaining in doubt to the end of the contest.

EIGHT KILLED, MANY HURT, BY TORNADOES

Storms Hit Illinois and Also Oklahoma.

St. Louis, Mo., April 22.—A tornado struck the western part of Willisville, Ill., laying it to waste. It is reported that five persons were killed and twenty injured.

Wind storms swept over central and southern Illinois. The Santa Fe coaling station at Lorenzo was blown over, killing an attendant. The heaviest loss was at and near Chatsworth, many farmhouses and store buildings being unroofed. The storm reached a width of 100 miles. At Campus a woman was killed and two children fatally injured. There are rumors of many others dead, but the wires are down.

Perry, Okla., April 22.—Two children are dead and two men injured as the result of a tornado that struck this place.

LINER COLLIDES IN FOG.

The El Sud, Badly Damaged, Races to Coast and Goes Aground.

Galveston, Tex., April 22.—The Morgan liner El Sud, outbound for New York, was rammed by the Mallory liner Denver, incoming, and the former vessel is badly damaged with a large hole more than halfway through her, just forward of the first hatch.

The collision occurred fifteen miles out from the Galveston bar. A dense fog prevailed, and the Denver slowed down to half speed when she heard the El Sud's whistle. When Captain Staples of the Denver sighted the lights of El Sud he saw that they could pass in safety, but veered somewhat from his course to allow more passage room to the El Sud, but the latter suddenly turned straight across to the left and, though the Denver signaled full speed astern, the collision could not be prevented.

The El Sud, after the collision, raced to the bar, where she went aground and was pulled off later and brought into her berth. About 250 bales of cotton and much other of her cargo is strewn over the water. The damage to the El Sud is estimated at between $20,000 and $30,000 and that to the Denver at about $8,000.

The Canny Sailorman.

"It was a terrible situation," said Dubbleigh. "There we were, hub deep in the sand and the tide rising. At the end of an hour the water was up to the floor level of the tonneau, and then I managed to get hold of an old cuss with a team of horses, and he hauled us out."

"By George, that was a narrow escape. What did you give the old fellow for rescuing you?" said Higgs.

"I offered the old duffer $10, but he was a retired sea captain, and he attached the car for salvage," said Dubbleigh.—Harper's Weekly.

Easy Waiting.

A newspaper woman, a spinster, went to interview a member of one of the leading firms in Boston and was told to wait five minutes for him to be at liberty. Three-quarters of an hour later he came hurrying toward her with, "Well, Miss W., I would never wait so long as this for any man!" "Oh, Mr. Cole," she retorted, "if you had waited forty-five years for a man you wouldn't mind an extra half hour."—Boston Post.

"I just saw Hunter, and he looks pretty bad. What's the matter with him, do you know?"

"Compound fracture."

"What sort of compound fracture?"

"He's broke, and Miss Richley, discovering the fact, broke her engagement to him."—Catholic Standard and Times.

HONOR HEROIC DEAD.

Thousands Pay Tribute to Victims of Titanic Disaster.

New York, April 22.—Expressions of heartfelt sympathy for those who are in great grief, sorrow for those who died, glowing words of tribute for the heroism that has thrilled the world, and then strong words urging legislation and regulation to prevent a recurrence of the Titanic catastrophe, marked the memorial meeting at the Broadway theater.

Solemn as the occasion was the great audience of several thousands which jammed the auditorium from orchestra to topmost balcony could not forbear testifying its aproval of that which was said at times or in joining in hearty approval of the resolutions which crystallized the sentiment.

Frederick Townsend Martin presided. The footlights were covered with banks of beautiful potted flowers. At the left end was a gigantic wreath contributed by James B. Nugent in memory of his friend, Henry B. Harris. At the rear of the stage hung two entwined flags of the two nations.

The headquarters band from Governors island filled the orchestra box in front.

Sorrow Too Great For Words.

When Mr. Martin appeared on the stage he was accompanied by William Jennings Bryan, Lewis Nixon, John D. Crimmins, the Rev. Dr. Joseph Silverman, the Rev. Dr. Thomas R. Slicer, the Rev. Dr. H. J. Wylie, Edmund Baylis of the Seaman's institute, Edward Breitung of Chicago and a score of others.

After the Rev. Dr. Wylie had read the service for the dead and a prayer, Mr. Martin made a brief address.

"The greater the sorrow the less the tongue can say," he declared. "There are some sorrows too great to dwell upon. We can only mourn for those who perished; we can only sympathize with those that are suffering today. We have rejoiced over the great strides of business and commerce. We have believed in it, aided it until this commerce has grown too greedy, and it has taken advantage of our confidence. It has preferred to spend its millions in extravagances and pennies for safety. We now reap the result of that policy."

Mr. Martin said that sorrow is a great educator. "We sometimes see farther through a tear than through a telescope." Out of this might come great good to the future. He called the conduct of those in the wreck heroic, showing a heroism far greater than that shown on the greatest battlefields in the world's history.

Drawn by Common Sorrow.

The epigram about seeing farther through the tear than through the telescope had appealed to Mr. Bryan, and he used it as a little text at the outset of his address. "May we see through the tears now," he said. "Our coming here today is an evidence that sometimes all of us can meet together, and we do meet together when drawn by a common purpose. There is a difference in education between us much more than there should be, I fear; there is a difference in wealth, much more than there should be; there is a difference of church, much more than there should be, but we all are one when our hearts are touched when we meet together upon one foundation of the heart.

"An occasion of this kind teaches its lessons," Mr. Bryan continued. "This catastrophe has given us a chance to see how many heroes there are who only need a call forward to vindicate their right to be admired.

"I am proud of what we have learned of these men and these women, proud to know of their self control that has given them the power to face undismayed—aye, to stand back and say, 'Before me.'

"It is very easy to be polite when there is no danger in waiting. It is harder when delay, even for a moment, may mean death. I am proud of the record they have made and glad that these illustrious examples come from every class. These examples of manliness and womanliness are the heritage of our people. They make us proud of those whom we knew, who were a part of us.

"Nothing that we can do will bring back the dead," said Mr. Bryan, "and little that we can say can soothe those who are under the shadow of a great personal loss. These occasions are for the future more than for now, for others more than for ourselves."

The Rev. Dr. Silverman said: "God is not responsible for this calamity. Man is responsible. Pity it is that so many had to die to pay for the guilt of others. That iceberg had a right to be where it was, but that ship had no right to be where it was. The ship was out of its course. Those who are responsible for that are responsible for this horror.

"A man has asked me where God was that night. I have told him not on the deep, not in the ship, not in the storm, not in the heights. He was in the hearts of men and women who were giving up their lives that others might live."

Diplomatic Corps and Other Statesmen Also Honor Lost Aid to President.

Washington, April 22.—President and Mrs. Taft attended services at St. Paul's Episcopal church in commemoration of Major Archibald W. Butt, the president's military aid, who lost his life in the Titanic disaster. Major Butt was a member of St. Paul's church. Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh, Secretary of War Stimson, Charles D. Hilles, secretary to the president, and many persons prominent in Washington society, including members of the diplomatic corps, were also present. The service was opened by the singing of "Nearer, My God, to Thee," the hymn the heroic bandsmen on the Titanic played as the ship sank.

WHY THE WORLD WAITED IN VAIN FOR THE NEWS.

The probable explanation of why the world was forced to remain in agonized suspense for details of the Titanic disaster until the arrival in port of the Carpathia is contained in three messages sent by T. W. Sammis, chief engineer of the Marconi Wireless Company of America, to the operator on the Carpathia. Mr. Sammis had arranged for the sale of the story of the disaster.

The first message was unsigned, and, it is said, it was sent as a list of names of survivors was being forwarded. It read:

"Keep your mouth shut. Hold story. Big money for you."

The message from the Carpathia concerning this matter was not available, but there was evidently some communication, for the second unsigned message read:

"If you are wise, hold story. The Marconi company will take care of you."

The third and last message, addressed to "Marconi officer, the Carpathia and the Titanic" and signed "T. W. Sammis," read:

"Stop. Say nothing. Hold your story for dollars in four figures. Mr. Marconi agreeing. Will meet you at dock."

Mr. Sammis after admitting sending these messages said:

"Do you blame me for getting the highest price I could for the operator for the story he had to tell about the collision and the rescue? I thought I was doing a good turn for him, and I can't see how it is the business of any one."

The Rev. Frank Talbott, pastor of the church, took as the text of his sermon "Greater love hath no man than that he lay down his life for his brother."

Having Fun After Death.

A humorist in Japan who jested all his life told his friends when he was dying that his body was not to be washed after death, but was to be taken at once to the family temple to be cremated. When he died his instructions were followed. As soon as it was set on fire the mourners were astonished by several loud explosions. At first they were inclined to take to their heels, but curiosity got the better of fear, and careful inspection showed that the humorist had stowed away a large number of firecrackers about his person before his death.

The New State Flower

Let the Jersey State flower be the DAISY!

What say you?

Our State flower agitation has brought forth so many suggestions and so many GOOD suggestions that we have had great difficulty in making a selection. From the very start the daisy has been our choice, but, strange to say, out of the hundreds of letters that we have received not more than a dozen have suggested this dainty, dashing posey of the field—this winsome flower that we all loved as children.

There were almost as many flowers suggested as there are flowers to suggest. One woman even invaded the vegetable garden and entered the carrot in the race; all of the flowers suggested were good because ALL FLOWERS ARE BEAUTIFUL, but for one reason or another many of them were utterly impracticable. Some of the flowers do not grow in Jersey—some were so exotic as to be practically unobtainable and some had already been adopted by OTHER STATES.

No other State has the daisy, so why not make it ours before it is too late?

If you are in favor of making Jersey the DAISY STATE, just drop us a line.

A Delicate Bit of Work.

To transfer an old oil painting to a new canvas is a branch of art that calls for a union of mechanical skill and talent. There are not many men in the business. It is an entirely distinct work from renovating a cracked or mutilated painting. Transferring a painting from an old canvas to a new one requires years of experience to accomplish the simplest part of it. After the picture has been removed from its frame several layers of fine tissue paper are pasted firmly across the surface. When the paper is dry the back of the canvas is made thoroughly wet. Thread by thread it is picked away until nothing remains but the paint, which is fast to the tissue paper. A new canvas is then mounted and glued to the back of the picture. When the glue is dry the tissue paper is moistened and gently removed from the surface. A little cleaning and retouching by a skilled hand make the work complete.

What There Is In One Ton of Coal.

From one ton of ordinary gas coal may be produced 1,500 pounds of coke, 20 gallons of ammonia water and 140 pounds of coal tar. By distillation the coal tar will yield 69.6 pounds of pitch, 17 pounds of creosote, 14 pounds of heavy oils, 9.5 pounds of naphtha yellow, 6.3 pounds of naphthalene, 4.75 pounds naphtol, 2.25 pounds alazarin, 2.4 pounds solvent naphtha, 1.5 pounds phenol, 1.2 pounds aurine, 1.1 pounds benzine, 1.1 pounds of aniline, 0.77 of a pound toluidine, 0.46 of a pound of anthracite and 0.9 of a pound toluene. From the latter is obtained the substance known as saccharine, which is 230 times as sweet as the best cane sugar, one part of it giving a very sweet taste to 1,000 parts of water. If a ton of coal be used in this way there is a bigger profit in it than if it be sold for burning in a range.—New York World.

Historic English Churchyard.

The Church of St. George the Martyr is famous for the eminent men buried in its churchyard, for this was for many years the burial place of prisoners in the Marshalsea and king's bench, and illustrious prisoners were common there. Bonner, bishop of London, died in the Marshalsea and was buried in St. George's churchyard, and here, too, are buried Rushworth, clerk of parliament in the days of Charles I., and the famous Cocker, whose arithmetic book went through a hundred editions. The parish register records the marriages of Lilly, the astrologer, and General Monk. This parish register narrowly escaped destruction, for at a public vestry in 1776 it was resolved to "sell to Mr. Samuel Carter all the parish papers in a lump at three halfpence per pound."—London Chronicle.

"LOOKOUT ASLEEP, CREW DRUNK"

Titanic Sailor Makes Startling Statement.

CHAMPAGNE AFTER BALL.

Only Four Sailors on Watch and "We Had Something to Drink Too"—Says Passenger First Saw Iceberg Ahead. To Appear Before Senate Committee.

Cleveland, April 22.—Telling a story of lax discipline on board the ill fated liner Titanic, which struck an icebirg off the Grand Banks and sunk with 1,635 passengers last Sunday night, Louis Klein, a sailor who was rescued by the Carpathia, is held here under arrest until he can be taken to Washington to testify in the senate inquiry into the disaster. The man's story is as follows:

"The night the ship went down I was doing patrol duty on the promenade deck, starboard side. I took the watch at 9:30 o'clock and was to have kept it for six hours.

"There was a ball following a banquet of some kind going on down below, and the captain and the officers were there with many of the passengers. I thought the company was connected with it somehow. After the party the stewards served the champagne and wines that were left over to the crew. I knew that many of them were drunk.

Sailors on Watch Drank.

"There were only three sailors besides myself on watch. We had had something to drink too."

He goes on to say that while patrolling the deck a passenger standing at the rail exclaimed:

"'Look, quick,' he said, 'see the hill over there.' I followed his arm as he pointed, and I saw it was a big iceberg."

Klein then says he ran for the spar with the crow's nest on it and shouted to the lookout there to give the alarm.

"Not a word did I hear," he continued, "so I started up. It was less than a minute before I left the promenade deck that I got to the top of the spar and found the lookout sound asleep. I rang the alarm bell myself."

Investigation Is Resumed.

Washington, April 22.—The subcommittee of the senate committee resumed its investigation of the Titanic disaster here today in the large caucus room of the senate office building.

Senator William Alden Smith, the chairman, conferred with other members of the committee, and it was decided that the officers and crew of the ill fated ship who are under subpoenas should be given precedence over passengers. Senator Smith regards it as important that the testimony of these men be heard at once, inasmuch as they are British subjects and most of them are anxious to return to England, while many are reluctant to testify.

Ismay Called Again.

J. Bruce Ismay, the managing director of the White Star line, will be called to testify some time today.

Senator Smith has arranged to call many of the passengers before the committee. Among these will be many women who have agreed to appear and tell what they know of the wreck. Mrs. Ryerson of New York, Mrs. Lucien Smith, the daughter of Representative Hughes of West Virginia, and Mrs. Douglass of Minneapolis have all indicated a willingness to testify. Senator Smith has also received assurances from Major Arthur Peuchen of Toronto that he will appear.

Interest in the investigation at this stage revolves around the testimony of Thomas Whitley, a first saloon steward of the Titanic. Whitley alleges that Mr. Murdock, the first officer in charge, was warned twenty-five minutes before the accident that the Titanic was headed straight for an iceberg. Moral confirmation of the charge is contained in the statement that Mr. Murdock shot himself immediately after the crash. This has not been verified.

"Lookouts" Warned Ship's Officers.

Whitley was at work on the boat deck immediately after the collision, helping to prepare boats for launching and assisting the passengers. While at this work, he says, he was accidentally knocked overboard and succeeded in swimming to a small boat near by. He was pulled aboard this boat, he says, and there heard the two lookouts in conversation.

"One of them said," he declared, "that at exactly a quarter after 11 o'clock on Sunday night, about twenty-five minutes before the Titanic struck, he had told the first officer, Mr. Murdock, that he believed he could see an iceberg ahead. A short time afterward he reported to the officer again that another iceberg seemed to be appearing out of the darkness ahead. A third time he saw the outlines of what seemed to be a mountain of ice, with the starlight glinting from its surface, and again reported to the officer, this time with more assurance, that he was not mistaken. They declared that 'nothing was done.'"

Whiteley is now in St. Vincent's hospital in New York, but the committee expects to bring him to Washington as soon as he is able to travel.

Lewis Klein, a Hungarian member of the Titanic's crew, is another witness who is expected to give interesting and sensational testimony.

Quartermaster Hitchins of the Titanic, who was arrested on the Lapland as she sailed from New York, will be closely examined by the committee.

The French ambassador called on Senator Smith to commend the committee for its diligence in pushing the pending inquiry and to assure him of willingness on the part of the French government to co-operate with the United States to prevent a recurrence of such disaster.

Secretary of the Navy Meyer also conferred with Senator Smith and it is believed will order the wireless operators and officers of the cruiser Chester to appear before the committee. The operator on the Chester is regarded as the most efficient wireless man in the service.

TWO OF TITANIC CREW.

Thomas Whitely, Steward, and John Thompson, Fireman.

Whitely, who was a first saloon steward, says he overheard two lookouts of the ship tell of repeatedly warning the first officer of icebergs ahead. Thompson, who was a fireman, says he was within two feet of Captain Smith when the Titanic went down and that the captain did not leave her. These pictures were taken in St. Vincent's hospital, where a number of Titanic survivors who are sufferers are being cared for.

ISMAY SAYS HE GAVE NO ORDERS TO CAPTAIN.

New York, April 22.—J. Bruce Ismay, in a statement issued in his defense against the numerous charges of misconduct and responsibility for the Titanic disaster, had this to say:

When I went on board the Titanic at Southampton on April 10 it was my intention to return by her. I came merely to observe the new vessel, as I had done in the case of other vessels of our lines.

During the voyage I was a passenger and exercised no greater rights or privileges than any other passenger. I was not consulted by the commander about the ship, her course, speed, navigation or her conduct at sea. All these matters were under the exclusive control of the captain. I saw Captain Smith only casually, as other passengers did. I was never in his room; I was never on the bridge until after the accident; I did not sit at his table in the saloon; I had not visited the engine room nor gone through the ship and did not go or attempt to go to any part of the ship to which any other first class passenger did not have access.

It is absolutely and unqualifiedly false that I ever said that I wished that the Titanic should make a speed record or should increase her daily runs. I deny absolutely having said to any person that we would increase our speed in order to get out of the ice zone or any words to that effect.

I was never consulted by Captain Smith nor by any other person, nor did I ever make any suggestion whatsoever to any human being about the course of the ship.

MASKED BANDITS ROB TRAIN.

Obtain $650 Cash and $500 Jewelry From Passengers, Then Escape.

Chicago, April 22.—The Golden State Limited, the Rock Island's train de luxe between Chicago and California, was boarded by masked bandits at Bureau, Ill. As the train plunged westward the eight passengers in the Los Angeles compartment car were made to deliver their money and jewelry at the point of guns. The collection netted the bandits $651 in cash and about $500 in jewelry.

Satisfied with their haul, the robbers tried to bring the train to a stop. Their amateur efforts on the signal cord were disregarded, and they finally brought the train to a stop by firing shots through the air hose.

The bandits escaped.

THREEPENNY DAY.

A Curious Old Custom That Is Observed at Eton College.

On "threepenny day" a new threepenny piece is presented to each of the pupils in the famous Eton college in England. The custom was founded nearly 400 years ago by Roger Lupton, who was provost of the college from 1502 to 1535. Lupton arranged with the fellows for an annual distribution of money on the anniversary of his death. The provost received 2s. 8d., the fellows, headmaster and Lupton's chaplain 1s. 4d., the other chaplains and usher eightpence, the clerks sixpence and the scholars and choristers a penny each.

The scholars still get this penny in the threepenny pieces distributed to them on Feb. 27, the other twopence being from the gift of Provost Bost, Lupton's successor as provost. There was a tradition at Eton, which has been disproved, but which subsists to the present day, that half a sheep is what the colleger is really entitled to and that the colleges evade their obligation by giving the value of half a sheep in the middle ages. Some time in the middle of the last century a boy named Charles Henry Branwell, on being tendered his threepence by Bethell, one of the fellows, said:

"No, thank you, sir, I want my half sheep."

"Bethell flew into an awful rage," says the late Montagu Williams, who tells the story, "and exclaimed, 'I'll mention this matter to Dr. Hawtrey and have you flogged,'" and flogged the unfortunate youth was.—New York Sun.

THE COST OF LIVING.

You Can Easily Keep It Down if You Care to Try This Plan.

In these days of high prices anxious heads of families are eagerly seeking helpful hints for keeping down expenses. As containing such a suggestion the following story of a gormand—and sage—of the sultan's realm, told in Hester Donaldson Jenkins' "Behind Turkish Lattices," is hopefully offered:

It is said there was once a man who so dearly loved his evening meal that every day while he worked he did nothing but plan what it should be. At the thought of the viands his mouth would water and he would rejoice over the food that was coming.

One day it occurred to him that he got more enjoyment from the long anticipation than from the brief realization, and then the thought came to him, Why not have the anticipation without spending the money that the dinner had been costing? So he tried the plan.

"I shall have kibobs and fine pilaff tonight," he would assure himself all day, "and after that wire cake and yogurt."

He would lick his lips in happy anticipation while he worked, and when night came he would eat a simple meal of olives and bread and remark:

"'Tis as if I had eaten."

The plan worked so well that in the course of years he saved enough money to build a mosque, which he called "The 'Tis-as-if-I-had-Eaten Mosque."

School Discipline.

The young teacher should learn and the older teacher remember that for every teacher that fails on account of lax discipline there is another who fails on account of overgovernment. Some teachers assume the same attitude as the policeman who found two men talking on the street corner and ordered them to move on, as there was an ordinance prohibiting crowds gathering on the streets. One man remonstrated, saying that two did not make a crowd. "One makes a crowd if I say so," answered the policeman. A teacher who assumes that whatever he says is law, and it is law because he says it, is making a sad mistake. When the pupils have a definite aim to do and the teacher has a definite aim in what he does there will be no time or occasion to "maintain order." It will maintain itself.—Missouri School Journal.

Origin of the Postmark.

Great Britain, it is said, can without fear of contradiction claim the honor of having originated the postmark. The first one, which was used in London as long ago as 1660, was a very simple affair, consisting of a small circle divided into two parts. In the top portion were two letters indicating the month, while in the lower half the day of the month was shown. No endeavor was made to denote the year, and it is only by the dates of the letters on which the mark is impressed that it is possible to fix the date of its use. The earliest known was on a letter written in 1680.—London Telegraph.

PIERCE'S ATTITUDE ON BILL

cans brought enormous pressure to bear upon Senator Pierce to persuade him to vote to pass the bill over the veto, but this he positively declined to do on the ground that it was unfair to the people to take away their existing right of presenting an independent candidate. Senator Pierce went so far as to draft a new measure which amended the Primary law in all other respects just as this bill proposed, but left untouched the features relating to independent candidates. This was presented to the Senate and also to the House to give them an opportunity, if they so desired, to make such amendments as were deemed necessary and at the same time fulfill their pledges to the people with regard to primary laws, but the machine faction did not desire the enactment of the bill in its modified form for the reason that there was omitted therefrom the single feature upon which they had set their hearts, namely, the elimination of independent candidates.

The experience of Senator Pierce with regard to the Newark Re-Districting bill was very similar. The Newark Republican machine was desirous of preventing any new division of the districts in Newark, now due under the law, by the Democrats who are now in control. The bill sought to defer the re-districting two years. The measure was eminently unfair, the expectation being that by a delay of two years the Republicans could gain control of the city and then re-district it to suit themselves. This was even more particularly a factional measure than the Primary bill, and every possible means was used to persuade Senator Pierce to vote to override the veto but the measure was one which was so clearly contrary to all principles of justice that even its supporters were compelled to admit the fact.

In successfully maintaining this courageous stand against the assaults of the factional machine Mr. Pierce has taken a position which must command for him the admiration and gratitude of the great majority of his constituents who believe in justice and uprightness.

"Yours very truly,
"HOWARD H. WILLIAMS."

CHURCHES VOICE SORROW

would result. He referred to the heroism of men on the ship, which, he said, should prove a lasting inspiration to the world. In conclusion he urged that prayers be offered to God for the souls of those who went down and for relatives and friends that God may sustain them in their great affliction.

Rev. John G. Currier, curate of Grace church, preached at the Holy Cross church, yesterday morning for Rev. W. S. McCoy, the rector, and in the course of his sermon made reference to the Titanic disaster. He took for his text, "Am I My Brother's Keeper?" In the evening Mr. Mallery preached at Holy Cross church and referred to the disaster.

Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson at the First M. E. church, yesterday morning, in touching on the disaster was careful not to offer words of criticism or attach blame for the catastrophe, other than to say that some one erred, and when teh laws of God are violated there is consequent disaster.

"It was not the fault of God that the accident ocurred," said Dr. Anderson. "The ship was there and the iceberg was there and man is a free agent to do his will and pleasare. It is plain to all, that the ship and the iceberg could not occupy the same place at the same time, hence the accident in which the ship went down against the immovable iceberg and there was the terrible loss of life"

"Man's Invidiual Responsibility to His Creator," was the theme of an interesting talk given at the Friends' meeting-house, yesterday morning, by Elizabeth Lloyd, of the Religious Society of Friends of Philadelphia, and one of the editors of the Friends' Intelligencer. The speaker drew many helpful lessons fro mthe disaster which befell the steamship Titanic and her passengers a few days ago.

"It was the desire for increasing speed and the fact that the steamship company was more interested in a quick passage than the safety of the passengers that resulted in the terrible accident," said the speaker. "People choose the steamers that make the greatest speed, just as they select railroad trains that can get them to their destination the quickest, and in a large measure the public is to blame. The faster they can rise is more important than a safe trip.

"Such an accident as befell the Titanic arrests our thoughts, and yet thousands of lives are lost every year in accidents to boats and railroad trains. We should demand more safety in travel. In this respect Europe is considerably ahead of this country. We need to be stirred. We admire the courage of the men who lost their lives that women and children might be saved and ou hearts are thrilled when we read of their courage and bravery."

Turning her thoughts in another direction, the speaker commented upon the efforts to Congress to investigate the child labor conditions, and touched briefly on the fact that so many women in this country are working for such a small wage. She desplored the fact that so many men in State prisons and penitentaries are under the age of twenty-five years. She thought it far easier and more important to care for the children and to look out for the women who are to become the mothers of the race, and to see that they are properly educated, trained and developed so that they will become a credit to the country.

Again referring to the steamship disaster, the speaker said that someone had remarked that if less money had been spent on the mother of pearl decorations in the cabin of the ship and more for a searchlight, the accident might not have occurred. Recalling the parable of the foolish virgins, the speaker said that they were all ready for the wedding feast with one exception, and that was they had no oil for their lamps. That was sufficient to keep them away from the feast. In conclusion the speaker urged all to live nearer to God and to choose between those things which are ignoble and those that are noble and thus obtain the divine power so essential in this life.

A PUZZLE IN METALS.

Brass Has an Odor Yet Copper and Zinc Separately Have Not.

Brass, as every one knows, has an awful odor, yet the two things of which brass consists, zinc and copper, give no odor whatever in their separate states. This is a problem that has given a great deal of work to scientists. It is one as yet not entirely solved.

To arrive at the general law it has been found that almost all alloys, or mixtures of two metals, will give an odor, while the metals themselves do not. Brass is not the single example, though probably the most odoriferous.

The explanation is as follows: All substances, including metals, are always giving off small particles of their substance to the air—that is, evaporating. Some solids give these off so rapidly as soon to disappear. Gum camphor is a conspicuous example. To smell any substance a particle of that substance has to tickle a nerve ending in the nose. If a small particle of copper, we shall say, does this by itself, no effect is noticed, but if a particle of zinc and a particle of copper strike at the same time the effect is such as to cause a perceptible impulse to the nerve. The chance for these two to strike at the same time is given only when they are intimately mixed in an alloy.—New York Tribune.

FAMOUS EPIDEMICS.

In Europe In 1348 the Black Death Claimed 25,000,000 Victims.

In the twelfth century not less than fifteen epidemics of disease and many famines carried off the people of England. The thirteenth century saw twenty plagues and nineteen famines, while the fourteenth had a black record of disease. In 1348 the "black plague" or "black death," which was brought into the country from the east, caused the death of 100,000 persons in London alone, while in Europe altogether 25,000,000 people fell victims to its ravages.

In 1485 the "sweating sickness" appeared in England, causing great destruction of human life. It reappeared at various intervals for a century thereafter. The last terrible visitation of the plague in England was in 1664-66, by which 100,000 lives were lost in London alone.

This epidemic was followed by the great fire of 1666, which destroyed 16,000 houses, including all the most densely populated portions of the city. The rebuilding of London with some regard to sanitary laws appears to have put the first check on the epidemic diseases that had previously devastated the population. — London Standard.

Whistles and His Door Opens.

There is in London a man who surely must combine the two characteristics of laziness and invention to a remarkable degree. It is his custom to have his breakfast in bed, and, burdened with the trouble of getting out of bed for the purpose of unlocking his bedroom door, he has invented a door which opens to his whistle. He has accomplished this somewhat remarkable feat by means of a simple electromagnet which draws the bolt when a current passes through it, a platinum point and a piano wire attuned to a certain note. When this note or one of its octaves is sounded the wire vibrates in response, and this vibration brings it in contact with the platinum point. The circuit is thus completed, and a sensitive relay is brought into operation.—Chicago Tribune.

Russian Place Names.

The Russian has not applied his names without reason. In 1858, when he founded the capital of the Amoor province, he named it Blagoveschensk. This means "good news"—to all save the proofreaders in newspaper offices. Three years later he founded the capital of Primorskaya and gave it a name that plainly showed what it was intended to be—Vladivostok, "ruler of the east." Near the end of his great transcontinental railway he made a brand new city and called it Dalny, "farthest," a very appropriate name for a place 5,800 miles from the starting point of the road.

His Profession.

"Now, Robert, what do you intend to do when you become a man?" questioned Aunt Ellen as she looked approvingly upon her small nephew.

"I'm goin' to be a soldier," replied the boy promptly, "'cause then I can fight whenever I want to without being spanked for it."—Youth's Companion.

Its Suggestion.

"When I asked our new girl if she could do anything in the line of putting up vegetables she replied, 'I can can.'"

"My dear, that sounds as if she was a French chorus girl."—Baltimore American.

To Stop His Laugh.

Patient—When I laugh my side hurts me. Doctor—Ah, well, we'll soon put that right. Send for your mother-in-law to stay with you and I will send in my bill.—Pele Mele.

Money and Time.

Money and time are the heaviest burdens of life, and the unhappiest of all mortals are those who have more of either than they know how to use.—Johnson.

Heard In a Street Car.

Big Man (with a grouch)—Will you be so kind as to get off my feet? Little Man (with a bundle)—I'll try, sir. Is it much of a walk?—Boston Transcript.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred W. Dunavan, of Grandview avenue, are parents of an eight and three-quarter pound girl, born to them Friday.

The Emperor's Favorite Hen.

It may be interesting to owners of chicken farms to know that a genuine enthusiast in the pastime of poultry raising lived and flourished as far back as the year 410 A. D., when Alaric the Goth was busying himself about the sack of Rome. The Rev. Dr. George Hodges' "Saints and Heroes" is the authority for the story.

Only the Roman emperor seemed unmoved by this tremendous calamity. He was in a safe retreat at Ravenna when the news came. It is remembered of Honorius that there were only two matters in which he was ever known to show interest. One was the safety of his own imperial person; the other was the raising of hens, in which he was very successful. His favorite hen was named Rome.

"Your majesty, Rome has perished!" they came crying.

"Why," he said, "only an hour ago she was feeding out of my hand!"

And when they told him that it was the capital of the world which had been destroyed he was much relieved.

The Gloaming.

The "gloaming" is by origin akin to gloom. The root idea is to look covertly from beneath the brows not with full open eyes, and so the gloaming is that time of day when the sun, sinking below the horizon, shines obscurely under the advancing shades of night, as eyes may gleam dimly from lowering brows.

Byron, the poet, wrote, "As gloaming, the Scottish word for twilight, has been recommended by many literary men and particularly by Dr. Moore in his letters to Burns, I have ventured to use it on account of its harmony."

The evening star is called the "gloaming" star in Scotland, and Lowell's "The snow had begun in the gloaming" and Hogg's "'Twixt the gloaming and the mirk, when the kye come hame," are familiar instances of its use.

Earthquakes.

Earthquakes generally do their work with great rapidity, but there are exceptions. While Caracas and Lisbon were destroyed in a few minutes, the Calabrian earthquakes beginning in 1783 lasted four years. Earthquakes travel across the earth at velocities varying between several hundred and several thousand feet a second, the greater the intensity of the shock the greater being the velocity. The sea waves that frequently accompany earthquakes also travel at tremendous speeds. A submarine earthquake near the coast of Japan in 1854 gave rise to sea waves which traversed the whole breadth of the Pacific at the rate of 370 miles an hour. At Simoda, Japan, the waves from this earthquake were thirty feet high. At San Diego, Cal., they were only six inches high.

"Solid Gold."

Commercially speaking, the term "solid gold" is a misnomer, since such gold has not been used for many, many years. Some of the ancient Roman jewelry and some of that of the renaissance period was, indeed, made of pure gold, worked up by hand with the crudest of tools, but since the old day there has been a constantly increasing employment of alloys, for the reason that jewelers found that the harder the gold was rendered by good alloys the greater its wearing qualities and the more secure, therefore, was the setting of the gems it contained. Nowadays jewelry is of 18, 14 or 10 carats, according to the design and character of the article, and it is much more frequently 10 than 18 carats.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Flank Steaks.

The flank contains a broad, flat muscle known as the flank steak, which is a very desirable piece of meat if taken from a well fattened animal. There is no waste to it whatsoever. It is coarse in fiber, but very rich in flavor, and, if carefully prepared, is a very choice cut. In thin cattle the flank steak is not usually removed, the flesh being made into rolled roasts or sold for stews. A rolled roast of the hind flank is one of the most economical cuts in the whole animal. It is good to eat, is cheap and contains no bone.—National Provisioner.

Looking to the Future.

"I guess I'll make a lawyer of Josh," said Farmer Corntossel.

"But your wife wants him to be a physician."

"Yes, he's got to be a professional man, and we'd want to show our confidence in him. And I think it would be a heap safer to take Josh's law than his medicine."—Washington Star.

Stung!

"How fat and well our little boy looks."

"Ah, you should never judge from appearances. He's got a gumboil on one side of his face, and he has been stung by a wasp on the other."—Pele Mele.

—One way to make yourself solid is to eat a piece of cake a girl has made herself.

LOCAL SUFFRAGISTS TO MARCH IN PARADE

Mrs. Champlain Riley one of Them—Annual Meeting of Suffrage League.

The election of officers with a resume of the work for the year, together with reports of officers and a consideration of the plans for the coming twelvemonth comprised the chief business at the annual meeting of the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield at its rooms in the Babcock building, yesterday afternoon. There was a large attendance, including two new members, and much interest.

These officers were chosen for the year:

President, Mrs. Champlain L. Riley; vice presidents, Dr. Clara Krans, Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, Mrs. C. E. Ryder; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Charles E. Selden; recording secretary, Mrs. Isaac Schwed; treasurer, Mrs. Allen Cowperthwaite; auditors, Mrs. Henry C. Wells, Mrs. Edward F. Feickert.

The following heads of committees were appointed by the president and approved by the league:

Press, Miss Zoe R. Bateman; program, Mrs. Russell Dorr; house, Mrs. Millard F. Elderton; entertainment, Miss Harriett French; enrollment, Mrs. Edward F. Feickert; literature, Mrs. A. B. Jones. It was also decided to have a committee on civics, to study civic conditions. The committee will be named later by the president.

There was a discussion of the parade of women to be held in New York on Saturday afternoon, May 4, under the auspices of the Women's Political Union. Several members of the local league will join in that parade. Among those who have signified their intention of parading are Mrs. Champlain L. Riley and the former president, Mrs. Stephen Haff. It is expected that there will be 15,000 women in line.

Among the reports presented it was shown that the league had raised and expended considerable money during the year in advancing the interests of woman's suffrage. The sum of $50 was given for State work, in addition to a contribution to the maintenance of the headquarters of the State league at Newark, and in addition a box was engaged for the Pankhurst meeting in New York. Miss Mary Philbrook was engaged for a series of lectures on civic topics. The present membership of the league is 116.

A tentative program for next year was presented and this will be announced to the public at the regular May meeting. Miss Mary Philbrook will give her last lecture on Monday, May 13, and the league will hold its last meeting for the season on Monday afternoon, May 27, at the home of Mrs. David L. Thompson, on Rockview avenue, the borough, when Mayor G. W. V. Moy will speak, telling of the needs of the city. A tea will follow.

COSTUME MUSICALE AT HIGH SCHOOL TONIGHT

A costume musicale will be given this evening in the High School auditorium by the Misses Frances and Grace Hoyt, soprano and contralto, accompanied on the piano by Miss May Hoehago-Hauser. The Misses Hoyt have a very entertaining program, consisting of clever monologues, burlesque songs, and native songs in costume.

They are the same entertainers who appeared last year in an entertainment given by the Monday Afternoon Club, but their program will be entirely different this year and those who heard them at that time will enjoy hearing them again. A number of Plainfielders heard the program given by the Misses Hoyt in the Waldorf Astoria last Saturday and speak highly of it.

COUNTRY OF THE WALDENSES.

Tomorrow evening in the parlors of the Crescent Avenue church, Rev. William H. Oxtoby, D. D., pastor of the Tabernacle Presbyterian church in Philadelphia, will give stereopticon views of "The Waldenses of Today," and state his experiences last summer in his travels among that interesting people in Italy. Dr. Oxtoby took his own views while visiting these survivors of the ancient protestant sect, which dates from A. D. 1170, and which though fearfully prosecuted, still inhabit the valleys of Piedmont and have representatives in some other cities of Italy. The public is invited. The lecture will begin at 8 o'clock.

CONVENTION CHOIR.

A rehearsal of the Convention Choir will be held in the Seventh-Day Baptist church at eight o'clock tonight. All members of the original choir are urged to be present.

WILLIAM H. TAFT CLUB EFFECTS ORGANIZATION

Officers Are Elected and Stirring Speeches Delivered at Meeting Held at Republican City Committee Headquarters.

Officers were elected and a constitution adopted at an enthusiastic meeting of the Taft club at the Republican city committee headquarters last night. It was decided that the organization's membership should embrace Republican voters of North Plainfield as well as Plainfield and to that end provision for representation on the governing body was made.

Former City Judge William N. Runyon acted as temporary chairman and the report of the nominating committee was presented by Assistant Prosecutor Walter L. Hetfield, Jr. Their recommendation that these be selected as officers was unanimously adopted: President, former Councilman George H. Frost; vice presidents, former City Judge William R. Codington, First ward; George E. Hall, Second ward; A. V. Heeley, Third ward; former District Court Judge William Newcorn, Fourth ward; secretary, Martin Stutsman; treasurer, former Assemblyman Roger F. Murray.

The report of the committee on constitution and bylaws was presented by Mr. Hetfield and each article was adopted separately. A change was made to permit North Plainfielders to become identified with the organization on the suggestion of former Mayor Newton B. Smalley and also to allow two residents of the borough, one residing on either side of Somerset street, to be a vice-president, making the total number six. These extra vice-presidents will be elected later.

It was decided to have application for membership blanks printed and for the members to make every effort to increase the roll.

During the meeting rousing speches were made by Messrs. Smalley, Murray, Heeley and John J. Carroll. Mayor Smalley made one of his charcteristic speeches and was frequently interrupted by outbursts of applause.

STATE DEPARTMENTS IN THROES OF SPRING MOVING

(Special from Staff Correspondent.)

Trenton, April 23.—"Spring Moving" is in progress at the State House, and in consequence two or three of the State Departments are considerably upset. Owing to the overcrowded condition of the State House there are two moving periods each year involving several departments, one just before the Legislature meets and the other just after it adjourns.

Two departments which are moving today are the State Public Utility Commission and the Election Department of the Civil Service Commission. Adequate quarters for the Public Utility Department have never been provided by the State House Commission, owing to lack of room, and the board makes its home in two of the Senate Committee rooms. When the Legislature meets, of course, the Senate uses these rooms and then the Utility Commission home comprises two small offices in another part of the first floor of the building.

These latter offices last fall were occupied by the election branch of the Civil Service Department because the suite ocupied by the Civil Service Commission offered no room for this branch. With the adjournment of the Legislature, the Public Utility Commission is moving back to the Senate Committee rooms, and this permits the Election Department of the Civil Service Board to go back to its old quarters. The overcrowded condition of the State House will continue until the new wing authorized by the last Legislature, is erected.

PATRICK LYNCH ILL.

"A TRIP TO THE MOON."

Arrangements are being made for a spectacular entertainment to be given at the Plainfield theatre next month, under the auspices of the Episcopal churches of the city and borough. It will be entitled "A Trip to the Moon," and members of the different parishes will have a part in the entertainment.

CHARMING RECITAL BY DANISH BARITONE

Large Audience Delighted with Birkerod's Art—Receives Warm Reception.

Holger Birkerod, the Danish baritone, was greeted by a large and highly appreciative audience at the Hartridge Auditorium last night, when he gave a delightful song recital. He was in fine voice and charmed everyone present. The program was one that displayed to advantage the singer's powers of interpretation. Especially noteworthy was his singing of "Archibald Douglas," and "The Pagliacci Prologue."

The audience was delighted with the beautiful song, "Youth and Death," by William Parsons, and the composer, who was at the piano had to respond repeatedly to the applause which greeted its magnificent climax.

A majority of the songs were sung in Birkerod's native language, but in two or three instances he favored with English renditions and this was warmly appreciated by the audience. Mr. Birkerod has been in this country but a short time, and it was only through his intimate friendship with Jonas Lie, the artist, that he was induced to give a song recital in this city. It was the expressed wish of many presnt last night that another opportunity be given to hear Mr. Birkerod.

CLAN MACKENZIE HAS INFORMAL ENTERTAINMENT

Clan MacKenzie, No. 204, held a social time following their regular business meeting in their rooms las night. The evening was spent in the playing of games, an informal program and in dancing. The feature of the evening was a "surprise package" auction, conducted by Past Chief Murray. Great amusement was caused by the opening of each package. Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Cowley and Messrs. Gilbert and Petrie entertained with songs, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Cook and Miss Cowley. Miss Doig recited a number of times.

The Grand Past Chief Daughter of Scotia gave an interesting talk relative to the starting of a women's auxiliary to the local clan. Music for dancing was furnished by Piper MacIntosh, champion piper of America, and Mrs. Cook and Miss Cowley on the piano.

COUSIN WRECK VICTIM.

Mrs. John J. Goff, of Duer street, mourns the death of a first cousin in the Titanic weck. Thomas Hade, the victim, was John Jacob Astor's valet, and Mrs. Astor, through her family, has informed the Goffs that he died bravely with his employer. He had been employed by Mr. Astor for 16 years. He frequently visited at his cousin's home, and a number of Plainfielders knew him.

NOT IDENTIFIED.

The Bayonne police reported to Chief Kiely, of the local force today, that they had in charge C. A. Jackson, colored, accused of obtaining money under false pretenses, who says he lives on Somerset street and is known to the chief. He says he is a minister. He wasn't known at the address on Somerset street that he gave, the police here say, and Chief Kiely has no recollection of him. Bayonne was informed to that effect.

MR. FIELDS LEAVES TOWN.

Policemen McGinley and Bader, ranging up and down the railroad, last night, ran across Gilbert Fields, known to the police here as a tool thief. They arrested him on suspicion. He was freed under suspended sentence today after he had promised earnestly to leave the city and give it a wide berth in the future.

SUGGESTS COMMISSION TO PASS ON JURY

Assemblyman Anderson Forming Tentative Plan to Submit at Meeting Today.

The first session of the Jury Reform Commission was held in the Senate Chamber at Trenton, this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock for organization and to map out a plan of procedure. The commission is composed of Senators Lewis and Read and Assemblymen Anderson and Gill. Assemblyman Anderson, in speaking today to a Daily Press reporter of the work before the commission, said::

"Without having gone into the question at all as yet, a plan has suggested itself to me as follows: That the Attorney-General shall select six men from each county and forward their names to the Governo: who shall appoint from the six names offered a commission of three members for each county in the State to be known as the talesmen's commission and whose appointment shall be confirmed by the Senate.

"In large counties it would probably require a larger commission. The sheriff on the first of January and the first of July will select 500 names for petit juries and 100 names for grand juries in each of their respective counties. These lists he will submit to the talesmen's commission, who shall pass upon the eligibility of his selection of talesmen.

"The names will then be written on slips and deposited in a box and the juries will then be drawn from the box by the county clerk in the presence of the sheriff and judge of the common pleas as panels may be required. The governing bodies in each municipality shall on the first of January and first of July furnish to the sheriff a list of names, the number varying according to the size of the municipalities, from which list the sheriff shall select the names to be presented to the talesmen's commission. It is also suggested that some such plan be adopted in reference to District Court juries.

"It would seem to me that if a plan on this order should be inaugurated, provided it did not work too great an expense or too great delay in court practice, that the checks established by it, should absolutely insure the integrity of the jury finally selected."

RUNAWAY STOPPED BY HEROIC FIRE CAPTAIN

Mehl Leaps on Step of Careening Wagon, Then Goes Out on Horse's Back to Secure Dragging Reins.

At the risk of, perhaps, serious personal injury, Fire Captain George Mehl, of No. 3 Hose Company, demonstrated to a large crowd of onlookers, yesterday afternoon, that he is composed of the stuff of which heroes are made by leaping from a trolley car and stopping a runaway horse that was madly racing down West Fourth street, spreading terror to women and children along the way. The intrepid fireman, who has many times received hurts fighting flames, made a daring jump to the seat of the wagon pulled by the frightened animal, then clambered over its back until he had grasped the dragging lines that hung from its head. He was carried a full block before bringing the horse to a halt. Hoseman William Jaegar, also attached to No. 3 Company, was hurled to the roadway by the swerving of the rig, in a previous effort to stop the runaway.

The horse belongs to Fatouros Brothers, the East Front street fruit dealers, and was attached to a peddling wagon, loaded high with fruits and vegetables. The animal took fright at Fourth street and Lee place, while the driver was soliciting orders in a nearby house. It ran east at break-neck speed, ignoring the futile efforts of several men to stop it.

Jaegar was standing in front of No. 3 fire house, opposite Darrow avenue, when his attention was attracted by the racket. He rushed to the street in time to catch the tailboard and clamber over piles of lemons and bananas to the seat. He was in the act of working his way over the shafts, when the sudden swing of the runaway threw him to the ground. He was badly shaken up but escaped with a few bruises.

Captain Mehl was on the trolley car, returning from dinner, and the motorman stopped it at Spooner avenue as the runaway approached. The fireman sprang off the back platform not a moment too soon to make the flying leap to the wagon seat. He was carried to John street before he succeeded in his purpose, the rig in the meantime grazing several trees and poles. The captain escaped without a scratch and the horse and wagon were also uninjured. The route of the runaway was easily discernible by a trail of lemons, bananas and early vegetables that were jolted out by frequent bumps.

COUNCIL ASKS FOR A PISCATAWAY PERMIT

Dunellen and Township Offered a Chance to Join in Sewer System.

The Common Council, at a special meeting held last night for the purpose, adopted a resolution petitioning the Piscataway township committee for permission to lay sewer pipes, drains and locate a sewage disposal works on the Darling farm in Piscataway township. The resolution and petition carried with it a provision that Dunellen and Piscataway township may be allowed to join in this system as a part of the consideration.

A copy of the above was ordered sent to the Piscataway township committee, it being understood that upon the receipt of the same, the committee will arrange for a special meeting at which there will be a public hearing and the Common Council will be notified so that it can be represented at the meeting.

The tract of land desired for the sewage disposal works is now known as the Darling farm. It was formerly owned by Alexander Dunn, but is now owned by John Darling and at present is occupied by Edgar L. Fitch. The proposition has the endorsement of Dunellen, that borough being anxious to join in the system and both Dunellen and Plainfield are anxious that the desired permission be obtained so that the State Board of Health will approve Plainfield's plan.

GEOGRAPHICAL PLAY AT WATCHUNG CREST SCHOOL

Painstaking care has been taken in preparation for the presentation by pupils of Herbert Hall next Thursday and Friday afternoons and Saturday night of the "geographical" play, "A Dream Trip to Northern Lands."

Special effort has been made to prepare suitable scenery and costumes so as to represent the geographical features and the customs of the inhabitants as faithfully as possible. There will be folk dances and songs, a dance of the ice-bears, etc. The play is not only a living represntation of the work done by the pupils in the school, and part of Dr. Groszmann's educational scheme, but it will be entertaining and instructive to those who attend.

"Herbert Hall" is maintained by the National Association for the Study and Education of Exceptional Children, and is an institute for what Dr. Groszmann has called nervous and atypical children. The proceeds of the sale of tickets go to the scholarship fund of the association.

The play was written by Dr. Groszmann himself. It takes the audience to the mysterious lands of eternal snow; to Greenland, the home of Agoonak, so dear to young readers of Jane Andrew's "Seven Little Sisters;" to Alaska and its tetem poles; to the inhospitable north pole; to the sad realm of Siberia and to the land of the Midnight Sun.

The afternoon performances will begin at 3 o'clock and the evening performance at 8.

LITTLE BOY RUN OVER BY A WOMAN AUTOIST

Vinton Lawrence, the nine-year-old son of F. V. Lawrence, of Denmark road, just after alighting with his father from a Netherwood car at Fourth street and Watchung avenue, this morning, ran around the end of the car directly in the path of an automobile being driven by Mrs. Allen Cowperthwaite, of Hydewood Park.

Although the auto was moving slowly, the engine crank struck the lad, knocking him down. As he lay there the machine partly passed over him, but did not touch his body. Mrs. Lawrence quickly brought her car to a standstill and assisted Mr. Lawrence in removing the boy from beneath it. She took young Lawrence to the office of Dr. Ellis W. Hedges, where an examination disclosed slight injuries. He was afterward taken home. Mrs. Cowperthwaite was absolved from blame.

A birthday supper will be given in the Y. W. C. A. next Saturday night for all the members or friends of members having their birthdays during either the month of March or April. Those expecting to attend should register their names by Friday.

WILL ARRANGE JERSEY END OF BIG CONVENTION

Trenton, April 23 (Special).—Edward E. Grosscup, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, and Robert S. Hudspeth, the New Jersey member of the National Democratic Committee, will go to Baltimore Saturday to complete the arrangements for the New Jersey end of the Democratic National Convention which will open in that city Tuesday, June 25. Mr. Hudspeth is a member of the sub-committee of the National Committee charged with making the convention arrangements and this subcommittee will meet on Saturday.

The State Committee has already engaged the entire fifth floor of the Stafford Hotel as the New Jersey headquarters for the convention. While Chairman Grosscup and Mr. Hudspeth are in Baltimore all the details to insure the success of New Jersey's part in the great gathering will be attended to. Mr. Grosscup said today that the outlook was that the number of Jerseymen to attend the convention would be unprecedented.

NEWLYWEDS' BIG CHORUS.

A simon pure, dyed in the wool typical New York chorus of forty will be in evidence at the Plainfield theatre Saturday matinee and night for the engagement of the merry, tuneful and girly success, "The Newlyweds and Their Baby." Earl Knapp, Countess Ilga vonHatzfeldt, Daniel F. Murphy and Charles Morgan, who helped to make the play a huge success in New York are still in the big company of 60½ people.

A DRUNKEN DRIVER.

Michael Dellecarro was taken from the seat of his junk wagon on Front street, between Park and Watchhung avenues, yesterday afternoon, by Policeman Sweeney. He was helplessly drunk, and was on the point of falling to the street when the policeman interposed. He took the pledge for a year before Judge William G. DeMeza in the city court today and was released under suspended sentence.

FATHER ARRESTED.

Stephen Murphy will be arraigned in the city court tomorrow charged with neglecting to provide support for his four children, whom he has placed out to board.

PUBLIC INSPECTS THE DAY NURSERY

Formal Opening Reception at the New Structure Begins This Afternoon.

BEST EQUIPPED IN N. J.

City Union and All the Circles of The King's Daughters in Plainfield Take Part in Receiving and Entertaining Visitors.

The opening reception at the new Day Nursery of the City Union of The King's Daughters, is being held this afternoon at the nursery, 502 West Front street, and will be continued this evening from 8 to 10 o'clock. The affair marks an auspicious event in the history of the charity, which during its seven year's existence has come to be one of the most needed institutions of the kind in the city.

The new quarters, which were recently completed at an expense of about $10,000, are probably the best-equipped of any for this kind of work in the State, and the King's Daughters are rejoicing over the realization of their hopes. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to visit and inspect the building.

The reception committee in charge today, comprises the officers of the City Union of The King's Daughters, as follows: President, Mrs. Frank W. Jones; first vice-president, Mrs. Frederic W. Butler; second vice-president, Miss Margaret Mead; recording sercetary, Miss Elsie Suffern; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Emerson E. Parvin; treasurer, Mrs. M. E. Most, together with the following presidents of the circles comprising the city union:

Benevolent Band, Mrs. Emerson E. Parvin; Brightside Circle, Mrs. Frank W. Jones; Cup Bearers' Circle, Miss Marion Brown; Charity Circle, Mrs. Orton G. Dale; Cheerful Workers, Mrs. Charles Livingston Hyde; Daughters of the Cross, Mrs. Frank B. Berry; Emanuel Circle, Mrs. Edward Baker, Jr.; Golden Rule Circle, Mrs. M. E. Most; Loyal Daughters, Mrs. J. A. Peterkin; Silver Cross Circle, Mrs. Charles Smith; Unity Circle, Miss Alice Smith; Mizpah Circle, Miss Lillie Teeter; Little Workers for Little People, Mrs. J. M. Shellabarger; In His Name, Mrs. Frederic W. Butler.

In serving tea the Daughters of the Cross will have charge of one table and the Loyal Daughters of the second table. Those from the Daughters of the Cross who will serve comprise Mrs. John Valiant, Mrs. DeWitt Brokaw, Mrs. George T. Rogers, Mrs. William Griscom and Mrs. J. C. Peck, and those from the Loyal Daughters who will serve at the other table comprise Mrs. J. A. Peterkin, Mrs. W. W. Corlell and Mrs. E. E. Iremonger. Other members of these circles will assist.

Miss Marsh, Mrs. F. L. Sill and Mrs. William M. Stillman are in charge of the cradles, and it is especially desired that the "cradle mite boxes" be returned today. Through the kindness of Stanley Carson, Smith & Haff, florists, and Willing Workers of the Temple Baptist church, the reception room and parlors were attractively decorated with beautiful roses. One special gift was a floral horseshoe for "good luck."

The nursery has been handsomely furnished throughout by a woman friend of the work, who will not permit the use of her name. Everything needed in the furnishings has been provided by this friend. On the first floor there are to be found the assembly room for meetings, the reception room, matron's dining-room, emergency room, children's dining room, kitchen, cloak room and a dumb waiter extending from the basement to the attic.

On the second floor are the playroom for children, a dining room, children's closet, crib room, small and large bathroom, sun porch, matron's and assistant's rooms and linen closets, while the third floor is reserved for the maid's room, spare bedrooms and a store room. There is also a commodious porch on the rear of the second floor.

The Day Nursery was established seven years ago at 444 West Third street, and since then has continued to grow in usefulness. On an average between twenty and twenty-five children are cared for each day. When Mrs. M. E. Edgerton passed away she left $10,000 for the work and that bequest made possible the present commodious quarters, together with the furnishings by a friend.

The present property was purchased and plans drawn by A. L. C. Marsh for transforming it into a day nursery. The building committee comprised Mrs. M. E. Most, chairman; Mrs. F. W. Jones, with an advisory committee comprising George E. Hall, former Judge W. N. Runyon, Charles Lyman, Assemblyman George L. Babcock and Frank W.

JUSTIFIES DESTRUCTION OF FAULTY LIFE BELTS

Perth Amboy, April 23.—Recorder Henry W. Kehoe denounced faulty life-preservers yesterday and said that Alfred Price, of South River, did no more than any citizen should have done when Price appeared before him yesterday morning on a charge of destroying life-preservers on the ferry-boat Englewood, plying between this city and Tottenville, Staten Island.

Price was on his way from New York to his home in South River, when he was arrested as he left the ferry-boat. The charge made by Antonio Cerbo, a deckhand, was that Price had cut and slashed a number of life-preservers.

In court a string of life-preservers was produced as evidence against Price. Price told the court that, with the Titanic disaster fresh in mind, he tried one of the life-preservers and found the convas so rotten that the strap would not lift the weight.

Recorder Kehoe attempted to lift and handle the life-preservers and again the canvas covering tore. Turning on Cerbo and Patrick Reckhow, another deckhand on the Englewood, the recorder denounced the equipment of the boat and complimented Price for his action. Price was paroled until wanted.

The Englewood is temporarily in service between this city and Tottenville, taking the place of the Perth Amboy, which was taken to Hoboken for repairs several days ago. The life-preservers produced in court yesterday were stamped "Inspected April 8, 1910."

STRICKEN MAN DIES.

Elizabeth, April 23—Stricken with apoplexy while in a woods near Westfield, his home, Cande Vialon, sixty-four years old, died Saturday evening at the General Hospital here. He was found Friday insensible under a tree, where, it is presumed, he wandered when he became ill. He did not regain consciousness. His widow lives in Westfield.

MYSTERY ATTACHED TO BODY FOUND IN BRUSH

German Valley, April 23.—A well-dressed man about thirty-five years old, was found dead early yesterday about a mile from German Valley on the road leading to Chester, about fifty yards from the main road. It was in the brush, and the man had been dead probably several weeks. His clothing consisted of a mixed suit, overcoat and rubber coat. He wore a black soft hat. His shirt collar and necktie were clean and tidy.

There was found on him a pocketbook containing nine dollars in bills and some change. A suit case nearby held several clean shirts, and collars and other articles.

The man wore one high heeled shoe. It seems a mystery how his clothing should be in such good condition, while his body is in such a state of decomposition. It is thought the body may have been placed there recently from a place of shelter.

Dr. William James took charge of the body, pending the arrival of Coroner Sutton from Dover.

FIND BODY KNEELING IN WATER OF CANAL

Dover, April 23.—The body of Peter Robbins was found in a kneeling position in about three feet of water in the Morris Canal. The discovery was made by some boys who were on their way to fish.

Robbins made his home with his son, Frank Robbins, who lives near the canal and several hundred feet east of the Central Railroad drawbridge. It is thought that Robbins, losing his way while returning home late at night, got too near the canal. The fall of about five feet in the shallow water is thought to have stunned him and he was drowned before regaining consciousness.

Whitehouse, April 23.—After a long illness, Mrs. Dorothy Sutton, eighty-eight years old, died at her home in East Whitehouse, Sunday, from a complication of diseases. The funeral service will be held in the Methodist church tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock. Rev. Sylvanus D. Decker, of the Methodist church at Lebanon, will officiate, assisted by Rev. James Jamison.

SON'S SUICIDE IS KEPT FROM SUMMIT WOMAN

Summit, April 23.—Two sisters of E. J. Brown, formerly of this place, who committed suicide in New York by swallowing carbolic acid, went to Manhattan yesterday to claim the body. They are Miss Genevieve A. Brown and Mrs. Frank Grady. Brown's mother, Mrs. Margaret Brown, lives at 233 Morris avenue, and she has not been apprised of her son's suicide. She has been ill a long time and it is feared that the shock might prove serious. Miss Margaret Brown, a sister, is also ill.

Brown, who had been living in Eighth avenue, Manhattan, reeled up to Policeman Leehane in that city Sunday afternoon and said that he had been drinking. The officer detected the odor of carbolic acid, and he left the man in charge of Charles A. Pursell, of 325 West Fifty-second street, who was passing, and sprinted for a store, where he got a bottle of milk. He made the man drink it, but by the time a hospital ambulance arrived Brown was dead.

In the suicide's pockets was a note, reading: "I am E. J. Brown, of 233 Morris avenue, Summit, N. J. I did this by my own hand. Call my sister, Miss G. A. Brown, Auchincloss Brothers, 22 William street."

The body was taken to a nearby police station and the family of the suicide notified.

It was said here this morning that Mrs. Brown left her husband last Thursday, taking with her their five-month-old child. He held a clerical position with the Western Electric Company in Manhattan. He left Summit about two years ago.

His leg was cut off near the knee. The motorman, Perry Watson, had seen the child's danger and applied the brakes, but he was unable to stop the car in time to prevent the accident. The conductor was Joseph Tonkins. Neither was arrested.

The child was taken to Overlook Hospital, where he is in a critical condition.

Bradshaw was arrested soon after the accident by Police Captain Simon Birmingham, of Roselle Park, and arraigned before Judge Noah Woodruff. He was held under bail furnished by his father, pending the outcome of Razinak's injuries. Prosecutor Swift was notified of the accident by the hospital.

The accident occurred at Westfield avenue and Sheridan avenue, Roselle Park. Razinak, who was on his way home from work, stepped from the sidewalk into the road to board a trolley car. He is alleged to have stepped directly in front of Bradshaw, who was speeding from Elizabeth to his home in Roselle.

Atlanta, Ga., April 23.—Probably twenty-five persons were killed and over 100 injured as the result of cyclonic storms which swept portions of west and middle Georgia and east Alabama. In Brookside it is reported that thirty houses were destroyed. A large area was covered by the storm in eastern Alabama and residences and barns of many farmers were destroyed. Hail followed the storm and destroyed the young cotton and corn.

At Newborn six people are reported dead and more than a score injured. Many houses were wrecked, and the occupants caught in the ruins. There was much damage done at Hampton, and two women are reported killed. The storm was very severe at Cedarstown, and in Polk county, Ga., it cut a path of ruin almost through the county.

Scientists are figuring where the Titanic's hulk is at present, refusing to accept the popular notion that it has found a final resting place at the bottom of the sea, where it went down. As the giant vessel weighed sixty-six thousand tons, these learned men calculate that the density of the water would prevent it sinking two thousand fathoms and that in their judgment it is floating somewhere beneath the surface, probably somewhere about one thousand fathoms deep.

There would be a pressure of 5,200 pounds per square inch on the Titanic's hulk were it at the very bottom of the Grand Banks, or a total on the whole hulk of one-half billion tons. An illustration of the density of the ocean's water is given by one scientist who states that a champagne bottle at a depth of but 300 feet would collapse like an egg shell dropped on a sidewalk.

This reasoning prompts the hydrographers to consider the probable direction in which the Titanic was swept, if at all, when the vessel reached its lowest point in the ocean. The velocity of the boat's descent may have been so great, they say, that the Gulf Stream's effect was never felt. In this case, the drift of the wreck would be in a southern direction; otherwise the drift would have been eastward.

The Labrador current, a powerful carrier of icebergs, passes through the region where the Titanic sank from sight and in the past this force has carried many water-logged derelicts southward casting them in many instances upon the Jersey shore.

Employers' liability and workmen's compensation laws are becoming general among the States of the Union, though some people cling to the strange idea that New Jersey stands alone in this great movement. California, Illinois, Kansas, Maryland, Nevada, Wisconsin and New Hampshire all have compensation laws which protect industrial workingmen. Insurance laws covering injuries to employees are also in force in Massachusetts, Ohio and Washington.

An extra session of the Michigan Legislature has been called to consider both an employers' liability and a workmen's compensation bill. New York has suffered a setback in this progressive legislation by a decision of its highest court. There is every reason to expect the enactment of such laws in the near future, but before that is accomplished it appears that there will have to be an amendment to the State constitution. The Journal of American Medicine, in commenting on the action of Michigan's Governor in summoning an extra session to have similar laws passed says that "the arguments for the proposed law are irrefutable and that it means a juster, wiser and happier distribution of the hazard of industrial employment, with a saving to employers, employees and courts, and the avoidance of the bitter enmities of suits at law."

It is safe to assume that within a decade laws of this nature will be in force in every State.

Ohio's constitutional convention has nearly finished its work and as a result of its first fifty-eight days' work will present to the people for ratification seventeen proposed amendments to the organic laws. The initiative, referendum and direct vote for United States Senators are suggested to be incorporated in the constitution. Moreover, the convention would have embodied in the instrument women's suffrage, rearrangement of the judicial system and provision for the immediate improvement of the roads. The recall, taxation and home rule for municipalities are subjects yet to be wrestled with.

It will be a downright shame if the railroads are compelled to pay their engineers higher wages, for as it is they are too poor to furnish their cars with sanitary drinking cups as provided by law. They're so poor, in fact, that they can't spend any money after paying fat dividends.

Why do the taxpayers stand by and allow thousands of dollars to be spent for a Jersey City lawyer's services in the long-drawn-out and, as yet, barren effort for a municipal water plant when they pay a corporation counsel $2,000 to attend to the city's legal affairs?

NATIONAL GUARD INSPECTION COMES TO AN END TONIGHT

Trenton, April 23 (Special).—The annual inspection of the National Guard of New Jersey will be completed tonight when Companies C, I and F, Second Infantry, of Elizabeth, will be officially inspected by Lieutenant Elvid Hunt, United States inspecting officers. The State headquarters in the capital here and the State Arsenal were inspected yesterday by Major Evan M. Johnson, Jr., United States inspecting officer stationed in New Jersey.

The Adjutant General's Department and the Department of the Judge Advocate were inspected yesterday afternoon at one o'clock, while the inspection of the department of the Quartermaster General, Subsistence, Ordinance, Inspector General, Pay Department and the Medical Department were inspected last night. In each department all the officers appeared in dress uniform and the inspecting officer passed upon the uniforms, equipment, condition of the officers, etc.

PRIMARY PETITIONS.

Trenton, April 23, (Special).—Two more petitions for the nomination of candidates for delegates to National Conventions were filed with the Secretary of State yesterday afternoon. One names Melville J. Ford, of Westwood, Bergen county, as an unpledged Democratic delegate from the new Sixth Congressional District. The other petition was filed by James W. McCarthy, a Progressive Republican, who is pledged to Colonel Roosevelt as a candidate for President. Mr. McCarthy is assistant prosecutor of Hudson county, and represents the new Eighth Congressional District.

LARGE AUDIENCE AT LECTURE ON MASONRY

Members of Order and Their Friends Enjoy Judge Ulrich's Entertainment.

"The Ages of Masonry," a lecture by former Judge John Ulrich, illustrated with superb pictures, some of them moving views, together with a musical program, including soprano solos by Miss Gertrude Van Diense, of Brooklyn, and selections by the Royal Venetian Concert Band, conducted by Signor Joseph Quintano, attracted a large audience to the Plainfield theatre last night. The affair was given under the auspices of all the Masonic bodies of Plainfield, and the Masons with their friends filled the theatre. Mayor Moy, who is a member of the order, introduced the lecturer.

The program opened with a selection, "Poet and Peasant," by the Royal Venetian Concert Band. Then followed a historical Masonic narrative by Mr. Ulrich, beginning with a visit to the Masonic Temple at Philadelphia. During the reading of the narrative, Miss Van Diense sang "Where the Desert Meets the Nile," "The Holy City," and the band also rendered popular selections.

The lecture by Mr. Ulrich was divided under the following sub-divisions: "Narrative on Grecian Masonry," "Narrative on Roman Masonry," "Narrative on mediaeval and modern Masonry." Among the moving pictures were included the Knights Templar parade at Chicago; laying of the corner stone of the Sottish Rite Cathedral, and in conclusion there were pictures of the Masonic Home in Pennsylvania, Masonic presidents, President Taft at Mt. Vernon, and other interesting views. Miss Van Diense, at the close of the program, sang "My Country 'Tis of Thee."

PLAY AT THE PARK CLUB.

The North Plainfield High School A. A. will present its second annual play on Friday night at the Park Club, when H. J. Byron's London success, "Our Boys," will be presented. The cast has been in charge of Paul A. Mertz, of the High School department of English, and will receive final coaching from Edward Lane, dramatic coach at Ursinus College.

BUNGALOW REDECORATED.

Louis K. Hyde, of Hydewood Park, has had his bungalow on Johnston's Drive renovated and redecorated. His family expect to devide their time between their town house and the bungalow, while in Plainfield next summer.

Honors Easy.

People who were present smiled at the little passage of arms which took place between two young ladies at a luncheon. One of them, a bride, shaking hands in her characteristically cordial way, said to the other:

"I'm so glad to meet you! You have afforded me so very much amusement just lately."

"Amusement?" said the other.

"Oh, yes," went on the bride. "I've been through my husband's desk, and I've read all his old love letters. I found several very affectionate letters from you, and I enjoyed reading them really ever so much."

"I'm so glad you enjoyed them," purred the other. "But do come and see me very soon. Here is my card. I have the answers to all those letters, and you might like to read them as well. Mr. X.'s letters are so much more affectionate than those I wrote to him. I know you'll enjoy reading them ever so much more than you did mine."

Too Smart For Him.

Being threatened with a visit from his mother-in-law, a husband decided to resort to strategy and thus save domestic infelicity.

"My dear," he said to his wife, "you have asked me to do two things. One is to give you a new silk gown and the other to send your mother a check to defray her traveling expenses. I can't afford to do both, but I will do the one you prefer. Which shall it be?"

"Send mother the check by all means," responded the wife quickly. "I've already ordered the gown."—Life.

A Heavy Diet.

A Tipperary fisherman makes a specialty of pike, for which he finds ready sale in the town. He had one customer who was in the habit of so beating him down in price that he felt justified in resorting to somewhat questionable means to increase the weight of his fish. In the manner of the winner of the stakes in the celebrated "Jumping Frog" sporting event, he would introduce some weighty substance into their interior—stones, bits of iron railing, etc.

Once he went so far as to stuff two old handless flatirons he had picked from a refuse heap down the gullet of one before taking it to his customer, who, having weighed it carefully and, after much haggling, paid him a fraction less per pound for it than he might have perhaps obtained elsewhere. Meeting him next day, Pat was instantly aware there was trouble in the wind by the opening remark, "What do pike feed on, Paddy?"

"Och and indade, your honor, but there's mighty little that comes amiss to thim lads," answered Pat. "Frogs and fish, sticks and shtones they like well, but they would give their two eyes for flatirons."

Mrs. Margaret Vervort, wife of Fred Vervort, died at her home in Hoboken, Sunday, in her thirty-sixth year. She was the youngest sister of Mrs. William L. Born in Glasgow, Scotland, she came to this country when very young and had been a resident of New Jersey ever since. MAYOR CLARK BACK, ILL

Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., of the borough, returned from Atlantic City yesterday afternoon, where he had gone in hopes that it might benefit his health. MARINE SAFEGUARDS.

Washington, April 23 (Special).—The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations has agreed to recommend to the Senate the adoption of the amended Martine resolution looking to international co-operation in the regulation of ocean traffic. This resolution advises the President that the Senate would favor treaties with maritime powers regulating speed, routes and life-saving and wireless equipment. Searchlights were especially recommended.

The man who parades his virtues seldom needs a police guard to keep back the admiring crowds.

Cookery Points

For Breakfast.

The simple dishes following will be found wholesome, nourishing and economical and an appetizing change from the stereotyped porridge, eggs and bacon, etc., for breakfast.

Oatmeal With Dates.—To each cupful of uncooked oatmeal add one cupful of dates, washed, with the stones removed and cut small. Cook in the usual way in a double saucepan and serve with milk without sugar, as the dates are sweet enough.

Kidney Fritters.—Take the requisite number of sheep's kidneys, half a pint of frying batter, seasoning and frying fat. Skin and cut each kidney in half. Take the frying batter and stir into it one teaspoonful each of minced parsley and shallot, a dusting of red pepper and a small pinch of powdered sweet herbs. Dip each half kidney in this mixture, then drop carefully into a pan of boiling fat, doing only a few at a time. When light golden brown in color, take out the fritters, drain carefully and serve as quickly as possible, garnished with parsley on a hot dish.

Scotch Scones.—Half a pound of flour, one level teaspoonful of cream of tartar, half a level teaspoonful of carbonate of soda, one ounce and a half of butter, one teaspoonful of sugar, a quarter of a pint of milk. Mix the flour, cream of tartar and carbonate of soda and sift them together; rub the butter into the flour, add the sugar and mix to a paste with the milk. Roll out and cut with a small round cutter or make a large round scone and cut into four sections. Bake in a good oven for about twenty minutes. The real Scotch scones are baked on a sort of griddle, and some housekeepers have been known to cook them on a well floured frying pan.

Compote of Rhubarb.—The early rhubarb is best for compotes and forms a most wholesome breakfast dish. Cut the sticks into two inch lengths and carefully wipe them. Make a sirup color with cochineal and flavor with lemon peel. When boiling put in the rhubarb and simmer very slowly till tender. Remove the fruit, reduce the sirup and pour over the fruit. This should be made the previous day and served cold.

Beef a la Mode.

Take a round of beef, four or five inches thick. For a piece weighing five pounds soak a pound of bread in cold water until soft; turn off the water, mash the bread fine, then add a piece of butter the size of an egg, a half teaspoonful each of salt, pepper and ground cloves, about half a nutmeg, two eggs, a tablespoonful of flour and a quarter of a pound of fresh pork chopped fine. Gash the beef on the sides and, together with half the dressing, place it in a baking pan with lukewarm water enough to cover it. Cover the pan and put in the oven two hours, then cover the top with the rest of the dressing and put it back for an hour. Let it brown well. When serving the meat, if the gravy is not thick enough, stir in a little flour and add a little butter.

Orange and Ginger Sherbet.

Put two pounds of sugar and two quarts of water in a saucepan on to boil, stir until the sugar is dissolved, then boil rapidly for eight minutes. Remove from the fire and leave to cool. When cold add the strained juice of six oranges and one lemon, pour into the freezer and freeze without much turning. When frozen add five tablespoonfuls of preserving ginger chopped fine, cover the freezing can and stand away for two hours to ripen. Serve in dainty glasses decorated with a piece of ginger on top of each glass.

Poor Man's Rice Pudding.

An old fashioned Indian pudding served with cream is delicious enough for the veriest epicure. Here is a long tried rule: Mix four cupfuls of scalding milk, a cupful of molasses, two level tablespoonfuls of sugar, a quarter of a cupful of corn meal, a tablespoonful of flour and a little salt. Let this mixture simmer over the stove for about half an hour, stirring often enough to keep from burning and lumping. At the end of this time stir in a cupful of cold water, turn into a baking dish and bake for two hours.

A Tasty Sandwich.

It was the memory of a childhood appetite which inspired a woman to serve brown bread sandwiches spread with horseradish and sugar with her afternoon tea. The snappy pungency of the horseradish was very delightful. The horseradish had, of course, been mixed with vinegar, the slightest possible amount used, and it was sprinkled lightly with powdered sugar. The brown bread was made of whole wheat and graham flour and was cut as thin as possible.

For Afternoon Tea.

Many hostesses this spring are serving with afternoon tea the tiniest little hot baking powder biscuits, not larger than a fifty cent piece. They are usually buttered and spread with maple sugar or with a paste made of the sugar and chopped hickory nuts, but some prefer to use a filling of peach marmalade or thick honey. Biscuit halves spread with grated cheese and toasted brown are the specialty of one hostess.

—In the meantime, don't forget that some of the Aliens are still pursued by posses.—Chicago Record-Herald.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

FOR GRACEFUL NECKS FICHUS OF LACE ARE VERY BECOMING

LACE AND NET FICHU.

LOVELY draperies for the neck are among the features of current fashions. Fichus made themselves so popular that spring and summer modes have many conspicuous examples of these. The charming confection illustrated here is of net and princess lace. The graceful lines of the wearer's shoulders are brought out by the fichu, while it forms an effective means of helping out the evening toilet of the woman whose neck is not so well preserved as might be.

More Honors For Miss Grace Strachan.

Miss Grace Strachan says she's not a "possibility" for the presidency of the National Educational association, which at the next convention will elect a new head. But the New York friends of the lady insist that she is the "logical candidate."

Miss Strachan at present is the president of the New York Interborough Association of Woman Teachers, and it was through her untiring efforts that the equal pay bill for men and women public schoolteachers passed the New York legislature last year.

Miss Strachan has not only won the gratitude and admiration of public schoolteachers all over the country, but also the esteem of the really big men in the National Educational association.

SUCCESSFUL WOMEN.

Many Are Doing Good Work In Business and the Professions.

Mrs. Mary D. Bradford was recently elected president of the Wisconsin Teachers' association at Milwaukee. Mrs. Bradford is the superintendent of schools at Kenosha and is the second woman to be elected president of the Teachers' association of her state in the fifty-six years of its history.

Miss Mary E. Gearing has been appointed to the chair of domestic economy in the University of Texas, with the rank of associate professor. She is a native of Houston, Tex., and a graduate of Teachers' college, Columbia university.

Mrs. Sarah D. Robbins of Harwich Center, Cape Cod, is said to hold the record for poultry producing the largest eggs in New England. Mrs. Robbins keeps a large flock of Rhode Island Red hens, one of which recently produced an egg weighing a quarter of a pound.

Miss H. K. Graham, secretary of the Church Temperance Union Society of the United States, is said to be largely responsible for the introduction of the lunch wagons now so common in our larger cities. The first night lunch wagons were sent out in New York city ten years ago, seven of them being purchased and equipped by a $10,000 donation. The first year 35,000 ten cent lunches were served. Last year the number had increased to 386,618.

Miss Rosa Belle Holt of New York is said to be the only woman oriental rug broker in the world. Miss Holt gained her training in foreign travel and selecting rugs for her friends. When she desired to earn a living for herself she announced that she would fill orders for oriental rugs. Success came to her almost from the start. Now she is said to have scores of private clients from Maine to California as well as many in England and other European countries.

Mrs. Maggie Carter of Wakefield, Mass., is known in her section as the "lady milkman." She keeps forty-five cows, covers five towns in her daily route with more than 500 customers and employs six horses in her delivery. Though she has six or more men in her employ, she does much of the daily milking herself, delivers a good share of the milk and manages alone the financial end of her business.

A Delicious Dish.

For boiled haddock the following recipe, favored by a great French cook, is recommended:

Boiled Haddock.—The fish should first be cleaned and trimmed. Cut four or five incisions on each side of the fish.

Put it into a deep dish and cover with salt. Let it stay there for about two hours. Then wash and put the fish in the fish kettle to simmer for thirty or forty minutes if the fish is five or six pounds in weight. Serve on a napkin garnished with parsley and boiled turnips.

Egg sauce or cream sauce, which may be eaten with it, should be brought to the table in the sauce boat.

Cinnamon Cake.

Cinnamon cake is known to the Germans as zimmet kuchen.

Our German friends enjoy this cake with a cup of coffee at the afternoon kaffee klatch.

Water Laziness.

Even water gets lazy sometimes. The experiments of science have shown that, with an increasing temperature, there is an expansion of the particles of which water is composed, and this, while diminishing their density, lessens the weight and driving force of a stream. At noon on a sunny day of during the course of a sultry afternoon water wheels become sluggish, and weirs require opening more often when the sun is high than in the early morning or after nightfall.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The Original Water Wagon.

Jonah entered the whale.

"This is the original water wagon," he exclaimed.

Herewith none wondered that he remained aboard only three days.—New York Sun.

STATE ARCANUMITES HOLD ANNUAL SESSION

Plainfield Councils Represented at Convention at Lakewood.

The thirtieth annual session of the New Jersey Grand Council of the Royal Arcanum was called to order at Lakewood yesterday afternoon, by Grand Regent Joseph M. Arnold, of Princeton. Nearly 200 officers and representatives were present. Practically every one of the 114 councils in the State answered the roll call.

Both Plainfield and Greenbrook Councils, of this city, are represented. Hubert N. Holder is the delegate from Plainfield, No. 711, while Charles Hall is the delegate of Greenbrook, No. 1725. Holder, as alternate, takes the place of H. W. Satterfield, the chosen delegate, who was unable to attend.

The initial session was devoted mainly to the naming of day committees and the reading of the annual reports of officers.

A bit of legislation to be discussed is the enlargement of the scope of the monthly bulletin, and the adoption of an energetic plan of properly advertising the Royal Arcanum in New Jersey.

Grand Regent Arnold, in his annual address, said that while he regretted he could not point to any great increase in membership during the year, yet it was satisfying to know that harmony and general interest prevailed throughout the jurisdiction.

Among the recommendations made were the following:

"That the visitation fund be, as heretofore, $1,800; that an appropriation of $1,000 be made to be used by the committee on state of the order, as the grand regent may direct, and that as much of this amount as the grand regent and committee think advisable be used for the purpose of advertising the order; that a donation of $400 be made to the Hospital Bed Fund association as heretofore."

Grand Secretary Albert's report showed that there had been a healthy influx of candidates during the year. There were 261 deaths and 478 suspensions, and a resultant net gain of 99. There were 690 candidates initiated, 333 cards deposited, 33 reinstatements, 174 withdrawals to join other councils, 44 final withdrawals, and 63 rejections by the medicals examiners. The membership of the 114 councils on March 31 was 19,717, as against 19,618 a year ago.

Grand Treasurer McKever's report showed a balance on hand March 31 of $2,875.86, as compared with $2,437.38, an increase in funds of $438.48. In addition, the grand trustees have on deposit $3,067.30, making a total of grand council assets, $5,943.16.

As for legislation there were read resolutions petitioning the supreme council to admit members at 18 years of age, another asks the supreme council to abolish the regular or term rate plan and confine Royal Arcanum to option A or a level rate for life; another petitioning the supreme body to retain both plans as at present. These have been referred to committees and will be acted on this afternoon.

GOVERNOR BACK FROM HIS TOUR OF GEORGIA

Trenton, April 23 (Special).—Governor Wilson arrived at the State House from his southern campaigning trip at 3:45 yesterday afternoon, having been delayed five and a half hours by a late train. The Governor said he had a very pleasant trip. Walter Measday, his secretary, who made the journey with him, said that the Wilson leaders in Georgia claimed that as the result of the Governor's tour he would undoubtedly carry the State for delegates to the National Convention. Mr. Measday declared that before the Governor went South there was considerable Underwood sentiment in Georgia, due largely to the backing of the old line party organization. The Governor, however, was received with enthusiasm. His tour started at Atlanta, and extended through Macon to Savannah. He travelled by regular train, so that long stops at the smaller places was not possible. He was called out of his day coach, however, at innumerable places, and made brief speeches. Governor Wilson visited and spoke in Jacksonville, Fla.

Mrs. Wilson accompanied her husband, and as she is a native of Georgia she met many old friends and acquaintances during the trip, which made it very pleasant for her.

PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baillie, of Laramie road, are the parents of a son.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

Patsy Flaherty seems to dope Jack Martin as one of the best, and Flaherty ought to know.

And we hope he knows.

The game between the borough high and Kearny was postponed yesterday.

It is hardly safe for a manager to make arrangements for any game during the month of A—pril.

But never mind only seven more days of it.

The New York Yankees are in undisputed control of the last place in the second division. Even St. Louis has two to her credit.

Ty Cobb's batting average so far this season is .125—but wait—.

A little mix up in which the fists play the leading role such as Dahlen and Rigler sprung on the fans the other day is not a good thing for the game. Magee's lesson of last year should have been sufficient to have prevented a repetition.

The few bleachers that are left at the Polo Grounds are to be reduced and grand stands, with more seats take their place.

Which means $1.00 instead of one half that amount previously paid by many of the fans.

One bet is that they will be filled just the same.

Philadelphia fans are wondering who on the Phillie team the ambulance will come for next.

And now the Jiux seems to have moved over to Shibe park and captured Coombs.

It's about time that the boys in the different parts of the city were getting busy on the Boy Scout question. This movement is non-sectarian and non-military but should be a very important factor in the life of every Plainfield boy from now on.

C. W. Bingaman, boys' secretary at the Y. M. C. A., will tell you all about it, or any inquiry addressed to "Bunts" will be answered in this column.

Organize a troop, choose a leader and then go talk with Mr. Bingaman.

The Superbas are slowly but surely heading for their accustomed position—Last—And after starting off with such a pace, too.

It has been said that a baseball game is largely a battle of wits with eighteen players on one side and two umpires on the other, with the crowd ready to jump on the under dog.

Lefty Russell, the $12,000 Athletic gold wing, is said to be ready to go into the box and pitch ball. That $12,000 ought to begin to pay dividends soon.

SEYMOUR CATCHES A BURGLAR IN HIS HOME

"Cy" Seymour, the one-time Giant and now playing with the Baltimore International League team, yesterday morning turned a badly battered-up man over to Patrolman Brady of the Highbridge station, charging him with being in the ball player's apartments on the fourth floor of No. 904 Ogden avenue. The man appeared to be pleased with the appearance of the patrolman and crouched away from Seymour whenever the latter approached him.

The man told the police he was Adolph Seigle, thirty-one years old, a haberdasher, of No. 3 West One Hundred and Sixteenth street, but he was locked up charged with buglary. Seymour told the police he was in bed, when a watchdog barked and awoke him. Seymour got out of bed and he claims found Seigle prowling around in his room. Seymour grappled with him and there was a fight, in which Seigle gave up.

Seigle was arraigned before Magistrate House in the Morrisania Court and was held in $3,500 bail on a charge of burglary for examination on Monday.

BELMONT SAYS TRACKS WILL SEE NO RACING

New York, April 23.—"The local racetracks will not open their gates this summer. That means no racing at the big race courses. Racing can be held at the tracks if the directors decide to hold meetings, for there is no law against the sport in this State. But the directors do not want to hold meetings while the so-called directors' liability law is on the statute books. The only racing here this year will be confined to the hunt and steeplechase clubs."

In these words August Belmont, chairman of the Jockey Club, set at rest the rumors that have been afloat of late regarding the racing situation. Ever since April 15, the day on which racing may legally start in this State, there have been reports that the Belmont Park track, the Empire course and the Saratoga Racing Association would hold short meetings.

"What about the future of the turf, Mr. Belmont—the chances of racing next season, for instance?"

"I don't wish to discuss that subject," he replied. "In the first place, it is too far away; secondly, I haven't the slightest idea. Better wait for next year to arrive."

"How about Saratoga? Will it have a racing meeting this season? There have been reports to that effect."

"I haven't the slightest idea what the Saratoga Racing Association intends to do. R. T. Wilson is the only man able to talk to you on that matter. Personally, I don't believe there will be racing in Saratoga, but I have no reason to answer yes or no to the question. But as far as the local tracks are concerned, the gates will remain closed."

"Will you send your string of race horses, now in America, to England or Frances to race?"

"No. They will remain in this country and take part in the race meetings. I have not decided yet whether I will send them to race on the Canadian tracks."

CAMP BOWSER TAKES MEASURE OF P. H. S. NINE

The Plainfield High School baseball team received its annual defeat at the hands of the Camp Bowser nine on the Parker Field yesterday afternoon. It was the best game played so far this season. The score, Bowser 9, P. H. S. 6. The initial inning made it look as though the camp boys were going to have a walkover but Woodhull, who twirled for P. H. S., tightened up and held the opponents in good form.

A feature of the game was a home run by Dumont in the sixth inning and triplets by both W. Schoonmaker and R. Schoonmaker. The summary:

BOROUGH GRAMMAR BOYS TAKE OPENER IN LEAGUE

The Stillman Grammar School team went down before the North Plainfield youngsters to the tune of 18 to 16 in the opening game of the Grammar School League played on Crescent Oval yesterday afternoon.

The day was a disagreeable one for baseball and the condition of the grounds and the ball made good playing impossible. As the score would indicate the game was very loosely played, errors being frequent and many drives going for hits that under ordinary conditions, would have been handled. It was anybody's game until the last ball was thrown but the borough lads had the final punch and took the big end of the score across the brook with them when they returned home.

Cranford and Westfield were to have played at the former town but the weather conditions prevented. The league schedule will be found in another column.

MAY HAVE TUG-OF-WAR TEAM.

United States May Be Represented In Olympic if Strength Is Developed.

The American Olympic committee has decided to authorize a tryout for a tug-of-war team. The tryout will probably be held on the Pacific coast, where the tug-of-war is a popular event. If a team is developed which shows marked ability and the Olympic fund is large enough it will be taken along on the Finland and entered in the official competitions.

The committee also has decided to hold in the middle west some time in May Olympic tryouts in wrestling in the Greco-Roman style.

ELK BOWLERS RECEIVE A TROPHY AT PATERSON

About fifty members of Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E., paid a visit by automobile to their Paterson brothers last night to join in the ceremonies attending the presentation to the Plainfield team of the trophy offered by the Paterson Elks for the highest score made by any Elk team in the recent National Bowling tournament held in that city. Delegations were also in attendance from the Elizabeth, Newark, New York and Rutherford Elks.

Mayor McBride, of Paterson, in behalf of the lodge, welcomed the visiting lodges in a speech of welcome which was followed by a social time in which John Todd, Harry Blim, Bill Smith, Elmer Cutting, John Campbell, Charles Ward and Sam Tavenor assisted.

Exalted Ruler Major R. I. Hall, in behalf of the Paterson lodge, made a speech acompaning the presenting to the Plainfield Bowling team the silver trophy offered at the beginning of the tournament. John H. Close, chairman of the local bowling committee, received the trophy for the Plainfield team, and made a neat speech of acceptance.

The Plainfield pinners then helped the Paterson club dedicate their new bowling alleys by rolling them their first match game on the new floor. The home team took the big end of a 1,713 to 1,681 score as the opener.

When the visiting delegation started on the home journey they were forced to face a blinding rain storm the greater part of the way, reaching Plainfield in the wee smal hours wet to the skin.

OLD FAVORITES WILL CAVORT NEXT SATURDAY

Saturday afternoon will find things wide open and in full swing at Crescent Oval when Dorflinger's horsehide artists will try conclusions with the fast-going McKeesport team of the Penn-Ohio League. Manager Dorflinger intents to give the Plainfield fans a gilt-edge article each week, bringing to th oval the fastest traveling semi-pro. teams that he can find as has already been told in a previous issue of the Daily Press.

For this week-end argument Dorflinger will present his full strength, and has given out his line up as follows: Dave Driscole to hold down first bag, Bill Stallings to take care of the midway station, Bill Dalton to cover third sack, Emery at his old place at short, which with Walt Nelson to reecive and a pitcher to be announced later will make up a speedy infield, although it is possible that Will Glenny may take care of an infield station. The gardens will be taken care of with Harter in center, Ed Stallings in left and Cosgrove stopping up the holes in right.

These players need no introduction to the Plainfield fans who will undoubtedly turn out in large numbers Saturday afternoon to watch their old favorites stop the lads from the Keystone State.

WARRY M'LAUCHLIN WILL TWIRL FOR DUNELLEN NINE

According to information circulating up and down the sporting lanes Dunellen will put a speedy bunch on the diamond again this year. Early in the spring the dope from the roundhouse town was to the effect that there would be no representative team there this year. However, friends of Warry McLaughlin say that he has signed to do the twirling and that Brit Martin also expects to wear a Dunellen uniform with a possibility of one or two more local players following suit.

Dunellen has put out some rapid combinations in days gone by, and last year's team had them all on the go, so the fans in the town will welcome some diamond activity again this year.

SPRING BASEBALL SHOTS

By TOMMY CLARK.

Manager Roger Bresnahan of the St. Louis Nationals, who had some trouble with the holdout members of his team this spring, recently spoke a few words that might be made note of by those ball players who imagine that their presence in the game is essential to it continuing as a popular sport.

Bresnahan spoke only an old truth that we all must recognize—that the world will continue to spin and never miss the best of us—but he put it in a way that a ball player may understand.

"No man is indispensable in this business," said Bresnahan. "When I was with New York people used to tell me that I was the whole club and that without me the team would go to smash; also that McGraw would never be able to replace me. All that kind of guff went through one ear and out the other. I am no longer with the Giants; still they keep on winning pennants and fighting for world's championships, and I suppose they will still win one now and then after John McGraw himself is a memory. There never was a man so good at anything that one just as good won't appear to take his place if the gap is made—baseball or anything else."

True enough, but some of us never learn it until we get off the job and give the "other fellow" a chance to show that he is just as good as we were.

Charley Comiskey, president of the Chicago American league club, says he has a second Larry Lajoie in Jacques Fournier, the French Canadian, who has been holding down first base for the White Sox. During the spring training trip he pounded the leather with surprising skill and played a brilliant game at the sack.

FOURNIER, WHITE SOX'S NEW FIRST BASEMAN.

Fournier was born in a lumber camp twenty-one years ago, is a six footer and weighs 190 pounds. In 1909 Fournier played in Portland, Ore. Then he went to Sacramento, and last year he started with the Moose Jaw team in the Western Canadian league. Comiskey took him from Boston last winter by the waiver route and is now congratulating himself.

Southern training trips may be tabooed by major league clubs before next spring. The experience of a large majority of the big leaguers in the south this year has come near to convincing the club owners that it is mere waste of time to make this invasion. The seasons seem to have changed to such an extent that there is no assurance of having suitable weather regardless of how far south the players go.

But few teams have had a good training season this spring. Many of them spent most of their time sitting around hotels waiting for the weather to clear. There is a chance, however, that instead of giving up these trips the teams will be taken still farther south. The Jersey City team had perfect weather during its entire stay at the Bermuda islands, and already major league clubs are thinking of making trips there.

Griffith of Washington made no mistake in going to Charlottesville, Va. He got more work for his players there than did many of the teams which traveled hundreds of miles into the south.

John Kling is not the catcher he was a few years ago. He is still an artist behind the bat, but that throwing arm which did so much to make the Cubs a famous team no longer has the power it once had. Kling now throws with an effort, whereas when he was at his best there was but little motion when he had occasion to throw to the bases.

They are telling a new one on Mike Simon, Pittsburgh's young catcher.

"Come, have an oyster cocktail, Mike," invited a fan in Hot Springs recently.

"No, thanks; I'm not drinking," returned Mike.

Naps Have Nifty Infield.

Harry Davis of the Clevelands thinks his best infield combination is Hohnhorst, Lajoie, Olsen and Turner, although Neal Ball may fit in somewhere before long.

PRINCETON ATHLETE IS ALL-AROUND STAR

Thompson Surpasses Sheridan's Marks in Many Events in Trial Meet.

Princeton, April 23.—Frederic C. Thompson, of the Princeton Theological Seminary and twice winner of the Amateur Athletic Union all-round athletic championship, in a trial meet surpassed the world's record in number of points scored, made by Martin Sheridan, of the Irish-American Club. Thompson scored 7,577 points, which is 192 more than made by Sheridan in establishing his world's mark.

Thompson's performance will not count as a record, as it was not made in a regular meet. The Amateur Athletic Union rules were followed throughout the trial, and the most competent local judges were secured. It was hoped that two Amateur Athletic Union officials might be on hand, but they failed to arrive. Thompson had as his opponent in the trial J. Bredemus, '12, of the Princeton track team. Bredemus won the all-round championship at St. Louis three years ago.

Thompson surpassed the marks made by Sheridan in every event except the 100-yard dash, the hammer throw and throwing the 56-pound weight. His time for the half-mile walk was the best ever made, but this will not count as a world's record for the reason that it was not an official meet. His time was 3 minutes and 31 seconds. His record in every event, with the exception of the 100-yard dash and the one-mile run, is above the average made at most intercollegiate dual meets.

Thompson's performances were as follows:

100-yard dash—0:11, 748 points.

Shot-put—43 feet 8½ inches, 843 points.

High jump—5 feet 9½ inches, 781 points.

880-yard walk—3:31, 857 points.

Hammer throw, 16 pounds—123 feet, 735 points.

Pole vault—10 feet 9½ inches, 816 points.

120-yard hurdles—0:16 1-5, 910 points.

Throwing 56-pound weight—21 feet 5 inches, 452 points.

Broad jump—21 feet 7½ inches, 814 points.

One-mile run—5:34, 619 points.

JOHNNY KILBANE.

New Featherweight Boxing Champion Who Came to the Front Fast.

Johnny Kilbane, who recently defeated Abe Attell for the featherweight boxing championship, is twenty-two years old and a native of Cleveland, O. He is married and is devoted to his wife and their baby daughter. He is a church member and also supports his father, who is blind.

Kilbane was working as a switch tender on a railroad when he decided to take up boxing just five years ago. His first battle, on Dec. 2, 1907, he won in three rounds. Two years ago he first became known outside of his home territory. His ability to class with the topnotchers in his division was demonstrated at an elimination contest which Tom Carey conducted in 1910 in Los Angeles.

By defeating Joe Rivers, Patsy Kline and Frankie Conley he won the right to challenge Attell. They met at San Francisco, and in nearly every round of the twenty he outgamed and outpunched Attell.

Kilbane's next battle will be with Jack White of Chicago, with whom he has already fought twice to a draw.

The champion has a mascot in his pet coyote.

Rev. Harry P. King, pastor, officiated. Mrs. Apgar died suddenly Friday from kidney trouble. Her husband died ten years ago. She leaves five sons, one daughter, two brothers and one sister.

TWO WOMEN OWE LIVES TO COLONEL J. J. ASTOR.

Chicago, April 23.—Mrs. Ida Hippach and her daughter Jean, survivors of the Titanic disaster, said they owed their lives to John Jacob Astor.

"The last lifeboat was being lowered when Mr. Astor saw us," Mrs. Hippach said. "He ordered the boat raised so that I could get into it. I was compelled to climb through a porthole in order to reach the boat, but I would not get into it unless my daughter joined me. Mr. Astor again pleaded with the officers to permit my daughter to get into the boat, and they did. We had left the Titanic only twenty minutes before she sank."

PREACHER CRUEL, SAYS WIFE

Asks Divorce Because He Beat Her For Twenty Years.

Trenton, N. J., April 23.—Although he is a preacher of the Methodist Episcopal church, George W. Myer of Kearny is being sued for divorce here on the charge of great cruelty.

Mrs. Myers avers that not once, but many times during the past twenty years, her husband beat her and attacked their children without cause. The couple were married in New York in 1880, and Mrs. Meyers says she would have left him had they had no children. The latter are now grown, however, and she asks her freedom.

Made Officer Change Clothes.

Trenton, N. J., April 23.—Refusing to permit an inspection of his command by an army officer unless the latter was in uniform, Brigadier General Edward P. Meany, judge advocate general of the state national guard, caused Major Evan M. Johnson, U. S. A., to change his civilian clothes for his uniform. It then required only two minutes for the inspection.

The Difference a Letter Made.

In the first edition of St. Matthew in Micmac for the Indians of Nova Scotia the translator found when he came to revise it that in chapter xxiv; 7, instead of "nation shall rise against nation," he had written "a pair of snowshoes shall rise up against a pair of snowshoes." But there was only one letter misprinted, nagoktukumiksijik (a nation) having been displaced by nagoktakumiksijik (a snowshoe).—St. James' Gazette.

RAILROAD STRIKE MAY BE AVERTED

Federal Officers Propose Arbitration.

ORDER TO QUIT DELAYED.

Engineers Accept Offer of Peacemakers and Employers Will Consider Proposal at Conference Today—Hope of Struggle Being Avoided Grows.

New York, April 23.—The threatened strike of locomotive engineers on fifty railroads east of Chicago, which was scheduled for tomorrow morning, was postponed by the timely action of Martin J. Knapp, presiding judge of the United States commerce court, and Charles P. Neill, United States commissioner of labor, who compose the national board of arbitration.

Three hours after Warren S. Stone and the chiefs of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers had announced that the strike which would cripple the east and New England would be on so soon as the orders could be carried out, the two government representatives arrested action by a tender of their services in mediation. This offer was received with favor by Mr. Stone and his aids, who held their advisory committee of fifty chairmen, one man from each railroad, in the city. Captain C. J. Stuart, vice president of the Erie railroad and chairman of the conference committee of railroad managers which had been dealing with the union men since January, just as promptly declared that he will submit the proposition to his committee today. Personally he had always favored peaceable negotiations, but he had not the power at the time to say what the committee would decide to do.

There is no doubt that a peaceable way out of the difficulty, without forcing either side to back down, was afforded by the offer of the government men.

TITANIC SURVIVOR WEDS.

Young Woman, Who Was Rescued, Was on Her Way to Meet Fiance.

New York, April 23.—Sarah A. Roth, a survivor of the Titanic disaster, was married to Daniel M. Iles in St. Vincent's hospital, and the happiness of bride and bridegroom made many men and women who are being cared for in St. Vincent's feel cheerful for the first time since they were taken there from the Carpathia.

Miss Roth and Mr. Iles have been engaged for seven years. He left England two years ago to come here and save money for their future. Mr. Iles, who had been working as a clerk in a department store, sent word to Miss Roth to join him here as soon as it was convenient. She replied by cable that she would sail on the Titanic.

Nobody suffered more from suspense and anxiety than the clerk after the first news that the Titanic had met with an accident.

Mrs. Frederick W. Vanderbilt, who has spent much of her time at the hospital seeing to the comfort of the Titanic survivors, helped the young woman prepare herself for the ceremony.

The Rev. Father Anthony Grogan of the Mission of Our Lady of the Rosary married the couple. Thomas H. Kelly, who lives at the Hotel Plaza, was the groomsman and stood up with a blooming English girl, Emily Badman, who had been put in the same lifeboat that took Miss Roth from the sinking ship.

While Father Grogan was reading the service the corridor as well as the parlor was filled with survivors of the Titanic.

Italian Woman Says Husband Abandoned Her, Taking Them With Him.

Mrs. Navratil says she was abandoned by her husband, who ran off to America under the assumed name of Hoffman. He took the children and his mistress with him.

TRIED TO BRIBE ELECTION JUDGE

Jury Finds Atlantic City Man Guilty.

VERDICT IS UNEXPECTED.

Al Gillison's Conviction Another Victory For Prosecutor of Republican "Machine" In Famous New Jersey Resort—Released Under Bond.

Mays Landing, N. J., April 23.—"We find the defendant guilty as charged."

These words, spoken by the foreman of the jury in the case of Building Inspector Al Gillison of Atlantic City, tried before Justice Samuel Kalisch for attempting to bribe William Grigley, judge of elections in the Third precinct, Third ward, at the 1910 election, announced another victory for Attorney General Edmund Wilson in the prosecution of the Republican "machine" in Atlantic City.

Grigley's story was brief and to the point, being about the only evidence adduced by the state. The big, ruddy Scotchman went on the stand as the first witness and told what he had to say in a few words.

"On the night before election," he said, "I came downstairs at the Hotel Hygeia, where I was working, and met Gillison, with Reese Bostic and Walter Johnson, in the barroom. Gillison took me aside into an alcove and asked me to come over with them the next day. He pulled out a roll of bills and offered them to me.

"'Take this,' he said, 'and you vote on challenged voters the way the Republican members vote.'

"'No,' I answered him. 'I can't do it, Gillison.'

"Gillison then stuck some bills under the apron of my overalls. I took it out and told him I would not have it and put it back in his overcoat pocket."

Gillison on the stand made complete denial of Grigley's story and produced a number of the leading citizens of the resort, who testified as to his good character.

The conviction of Gillison was a complete surprise, as it was the general opinion that he would be acquitted.

Gillison was not sentenced and was released under bonds. He will probably be sentenced on April 30, the date set for the trial of City Clerk James Scull and Charles E. C. Steelman of Somers Point, indicted on election law violation charges.

The trial of County Auditor Absalom Higbee has been indefinitely postponed owing to illness of a son in California. Sentence was postponed until a later day on Thomas Mahoney so the counsel can investigate five other charges against him.

Harry May, the freeholder convicted with others of the Read committee of accepting a "bonus" on Read work, has not been sentenced, and no day has been fixed in his case.

SAYS BEACH HAS SAILED.

Vanderbilt Servant In Paris Refuses, However, to Name the Ship.

Paris, via London and Glace Bay, April 23.—A reporter who called at the residence of W. K. Vanderbilt was informed by a servant that F. O. Beach of New York, who has been stopping there and for whose arrest a warrant was issued at Aiken, S. C., had sailed for the United States. He refused to give the name of the ship on which he had sailed or to say whether Mrs. Beach had accompanied him.

REFUSED TO AID WRECKED TITANIC

Unknown Vessel Was Near When She Sank.

LIGHTS WERE EASILY SEEN

Senate Investigators Told That Mysterious Ship Failed to Respond Either to Rockets or Wireless Calls—Franklin Defends J. Bruce Ismay.

Washington, April 23.—That an unidentified ship was within sight of the Titanic at the time she collided with the iceberg, was headed toward the Titanic and was so close that her lights were easily seen from the bridge and that the vessel failed to respond either to the rockets which were sent up for more than an hour from the distressed ship or to the wireless calls for help were startling statements brought out at the senate inquiry into the disaster now being conducted in Washington.

In the opinion of some of the Titanic's officers who stood on the bridge on that fatal night, this vessel acknowledged the signals, but sailed away unheeding. This startling information was imparted to the committee by J. G. Boxhall, former fourth officer of the Titanic, who also gave impressive details of what occurred on the bridge of the Titanic just preceding and following the collision with the iceberg. According to this officer, Captain Smith himself was on the bridge when the big liner plunged into the great mass of ice, but conditions were so that it was impossible to see the berg, even after the ship had come into contact with it.

Wireless Messages Presented.

Besides Officer Boxhall's story, the senate committee heard an impressive account through Vice President P. A. S. Franklin of the White Star line of the uncertainty and fears that attended the efforts of the officials of the White Star line to ascertain just what had happened to the great Titanic. The messages that flashed from the White Star line offices in those hours of uncertainty were introduced in evidence and also the wireless dispatches that came back, bearing only the most meager news of the tragedy. The messages tended strongly to support the White Star officers' contention that they had no definite knowledge that the Titanic had gone to the bottom until Monday night. This was also included in the record of all the messages which passed between Mr. Franklin and J. Bruce Ismay, managing director, in regard to the latter's plan for holding up the Cedric and sailing at once on her with the surviving officers and sailors of the Titanic.

It was pointed out that practically all of the wireless messages which Mr. Ismay sent from the Carpathia to Mr. Franklin in regard to this plan of transshipping before the Carpathia reached her pier were signed Yamsi, which is Mr. Ismay's cable name. Vice President Franklin acknowledged on the stand that the use of this cable name, while common in England, had not prevailed in dispatches addressed to the New York offices. Mr. Franklin could not tell whether the name was registered in the cable offices in New York. He did not think it was.

Terrible Mistake, Says Franklin.

The dispatches from Mr. Ismay showed that he planned to have the lifeboats of the Titanic taken off with the crew and officers at quarantine. Mr. Franklin declared there had been a "terrible mistake" in regard to Mr. Ismay's intentions and that the managing director never would have proposed the arrangement for sailing on the Cedric if he had been aware of conditions in this country.

One feature of the Titanic disaster that is expected to occupy the attention of the senate investigating committee is why some of the lifeboats were not full to capacity when sent away. Several boats held only twenty or thirty when they were dropped into the sea. Others picked up swimming men and still were not overtaxed.

The senate committee room in the senate office building was jammed with such a crowd at the hearing that it was impossible almost for the members of the committee to hear the testimony of the witnesses. The committee has accordingly decided to exclude the public from the hearings in the future, except those directly interested, including representatives of the press.

England to Investigate.

London, April 23.—In the house of commons Sidney Buxton, president of the board of trade, stated that an immediate and searching investigation into the loss of the Titanic will be made. He stated that the route taken by the vessel, the rate of speed and other necessary points will be carefully examined.

He also declared that he had issued a call for a meeting of the English ship owners, who will discuss the various points raised by the sinking of the Titanic.

Mr. Buxton stated that pending the establishment of a court to inquire into the disaster he would ask the White Star company to have all the members of the Titanic's crew and all survivors at hand for an investigation.

SHOULDN'T PUNISH THEM, SAYS ANDREW CARNEGIE.

Andrew Carnegie, in commenting upon the Titanic disaster, said:

"The exhibition of human qualities in connection with this disaster is indeed encouraging. It shows that man on earth is improving. The accident has put an end to the dangers and has worked changes for the better. I do not think that those who relied on the ability of the ship to withstand the shock of the impact with icebergs should be punished. We should be satisfied with having removed the danger of further accident, and there should be no post facto action. 'What's done cannot be undone.'"

BODIES OF 27 TITANIC VICTIMS IDENTIFIED

That of George D. Widener Believed to Be Among Found.

New York, April 23.—Twenty-seven of the fifty-four bodies from the Titanic disaster picked up by the cable ship Mackay Bennett, which was dispatched to the scene of the tragedy, have been identified, according to wireless messages received by the White Star line here. Trouble in transmitting accurate dispatches by wireless was so great many of the names received do not tally with the names of those lost. Here is the list as it was received with what may be the right names:

W. Marriott (?), Mrs. A. Robbins (Mrs. Elizabeth Roberts?), Louis M Hoffman, George Rosenshire (?), John H. Chapman (Charles Chapman?), W. Corbine (?), H. Greenberg (Samuel Greenberg?), Raynor Aetagaveytil (Ramon Artagaveytia?), Simon Sother (?), H. W. Ashe (?), W. M. Hambeck (William Harbeck?), Malcolm Johnson (?), A. J. Holverson (A. M. Halverson?), N. E. Colis Rasher (?), Nihilschedid (?), Shea (?), Leslie Williams (Duane Williams?), A. Hayder (?), Jerry Morriose (?), steward 76, George Widen (George Widener?), Frederick Sutton, Leslie Gilinski (?), J. S. Gill (John Gill (?), Ernest P. Tomlin (?), Yosipedrazenoud (?).

After the first fourteen names appears in the message the words "all preserved."

According to information by wireless, the Mackay Bennett has recovered additional bodies, but the exact number is not given.

The White Star line has sent two messages ordering the captain of the Mackay Bennett to bring in all bodies found, no matter what the condition, but it was said at the company's offices that whether this is done or not will rest largely on the discretion of the captain.

Washington, April 23.—Senator Martine of New Jersey introduced a bill requesting the president to direct that revenue cutters be sent to the scene of the Titanic disaster to search for the bodies of the dead.

Astor Yacht to Halifax.

New York, April 23.—Captain Richard Roberts, commander of the Noma, the Astor yacht, has started for Halifax. There he will await the return of the cable ship Mackay Bennett with bodies of the Titanic dead in the hope of identifying the body of Colonel Astor.

Miss Helen Gould In Mourning.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 23.—Although she refuses to discuss the Titanic horror, Helen Gould is wearing mourning for the victims of that disaster, particularly for John Jacob Astor, a personal friend.

The Gem Oil Burner Co., Willoughby, Ohio, is the promoter of this successful burner, the territory is rapidly being placed in the hands of local agents all over the State who will retail cook stove burners at about $12.00 apiece. To get them started patrons may buy direct from the manufacturers free on board cars at Willoughby, O., for half that sum or a day or two longer or until an agency is established. The cost of these burners is within the reach of all, especially now, while one can secure the benefit of the wholesale prices. REAL VALUE OF PLAY.

A Brief Period Snatched From the Regular Routine Aids Health.

Self improvement societies that have tried to find the best way to live have never discovered anything more valuable than play, says Collier's Weekly. A man may shake up a continent by his energy or build kingdoms by his brains, but so far as his personal life is concerned he has been a failure if he has not learned to play.

Play, of course, is not confined to games. It may be a walk in the woods, a row upon the river, a sail upon the lake. To some making a garden is play, as to others is chopping wood. To play is to follow the irresponsible inclination which gives the most pleasure with the least mental strain and bodily wear.

Ideal play is a brief period of care free living snatched from the regular routine. It is enjoying the pleasure of being alive; it is absorbing from the earth and air and sun without conscious effort. More and more we are trying to teach the children how to play, but we do not know how ourselves. Before us always is the bogy of wasting time, and the devil of disease, old age, misery and failure never invented a falser bogy. We send our children to the public playground and go on ourselves getting soggy and heavy and gloomy and nervous.

DISRAELI AS A SON.

His Generosity In Becoming Reconciled to His Father.

Lord Dufferin used to tell the following story about his mother and Disraeli:

My mother was among the first of Disraeli's acquaintances to recognize his great ability, and she saw a great deal of him when at Mrs. Norton's, when he was a young man about town. She did not see very much of him after he had once entered upon his political career. Here, however, is a little anecdote which is very characteristic and amusing. My mother had a great admiration for the "Curiosities of Literature" and was anxious to make the acquaintance of Disraeli's father, but there was a difficulty about this, as at the moment he was not on good terms with his father.

However, he appeared one day with his father in tow. As soon as they were both seated Disraeli turned around and, looking at his father as if he were a piece of ornamental china, said to my mother: "Madam, I have brought you my father. I have become reconciled to my father on two conditions. The first was that he should come to see you and the second that he should pay my debts."

Why Elizabeth Ordered Fish.

The connection between fish eating during Lent and a strong navy may appear remote, but to Elizabethan statesmen it seemed very real and vital. So much so that every one should eat fish on every day of Lent, as well as on certain appointed days throughout the year, under penalty of a heavy fine. And the reasons set forth for this enactment made no mention of religious observance. It was simply stated that the queen needed ships for the defense of the realm, and as not only was the fishing industry "the chiefest nurse for the bringing up of youth for shipping," but "great numbers of ships be used therein, furnished with stuff and men at all times in readiness for her majesty's service," the consumption of fish must be enforced.—London Chronicle.

A Bill That Wasn't Paid.

A medical man in France was asked to be present at a duel in his professional capacity. He got up early, traveled some miles, "flamed" the swords and ministered to his client, who was slightly wounded. When both honor and wound were healed he looked for his fees and sent in a bill for $10. The patient replied through his wife, who wrote: "I am told that between men there is a question of delicacy which forbids even the slightest appearance of trade in such a matter. Neither the doctors nor the seconds are brought on the ground for money. If you persist in your claim I shall, to my great regret, be obliged to leave to others the duty of settling this fine point with you."

Domestic Repartee.

"You will remember," said she haughtily, "that you proposed to me four times before I consented to marry you. You wouldn't take no for an answer."

"I remember," he replied sadly. "It seems to me that every time you have changed your mind I've got the worst of it."—Exchange.

COUNTY CAPITOLS TO BE LINKED BY ROADS

Preliminary Plan of Proposed State System Outlined at Highways Meeting.

(Special from Staff Correspondent.)

Trenton, April 24.—The first meeting for the consideration of the State system of highways authorized by the new Whyte law was held yesterday afternoon by the State Highway Commission. The Governor presided and State Treasurer Daniel S. Voorhees, who was made a member of the Commission by the recent Legislature, took his seat. State Road Commissioner Stevens submitted a map giving a preliminary plan of the State road system, which eventually is to comprise not exceeding 1,500 miles. Commissioner Stevens explained the map and there was a general discussion of the new law but no definite action was taken until the subject has had further investigation.

The scheme of the proposed State highway system is to connect all the county capitals with improved highways, this system to be connected with the ocean boulevard, the proposed Delaware River drive and a few other main arteries of travel. Most of the roads have already been improved. The main stretches of roads that will be required to be built are connecting Mount Holly with Freehold, a short stretch from Browns Mills to Lakewood, the road from Bridgeton through Millville to Cap May Court House, from Millville to May's Landing, and from May's Landing connecting with the Ocean Boulevard. A considerable portion of the Delaware River drive will also have to be built.

After the map designating the roads has formally been adopted, the Commission will begin the work of taking over the designated roads as State highways. As the roads are taken over by the State they will thereafter be maintained at State expense and the counties will be relieved of further taxation for their upkeep.

Two of the highways included in the proposed State system are described. One is the famous old King's Highway, extending from Salem county northeasterly through Gloucester county; Haddonfield Camden county; continuing through Freeholder to South Amboy, which in the old days when New Jersey was a colony of Great Britain was one of the main roads in this section of the country. The other historic road is the White Horse Pike from Camden to Atlantic City. Speaker Thomas F. McCran, of the Assembly, was the only member of the Commission not present. The members present were the Governor, the State Road Commissioner, the State Treasurer and President John D. Prince, of the Senate.

PAINTERS HEAR LECTURE ON CO-OPERATIVE TRADING

An excellent lecture was delivered last night before the members of the local Painters' Union in the Trades Council rooms. R. R. Pentecost, of Westervelt avenue, was the lecturer.

Mr. Pentecost outlined the general principles that govern co-operation in all of the trades and other lines of business and told how in England there had been a steady growth along these lines, and that in America there is a growing tendency toward following the successful experiments of the older country. All of Mr. Pentecost's talk was based on facts and figures with which he showed he was quite familiar.

Y. M. C. A. CONCERT.

The concert given last night in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium by the Association orchestra was largely attended. George Goldsmith Deland was the conductor and was ably assisted by G. H. Bennett and E. D. Young, cornettists; B. F. Tallamy, baritone, and Ida Randolph-Smalley, accompanist. The program was especially well rendered and the audience showed its appreciation by repeated demands for encores.

Miss Myra Lippincott, of 28 Jackson avenue, will entertain the M. A. E. L. at her home, tomorrow night. It is expected that several new members will join the society at that time.

PLAINFIELDER RETAINED TO SUE TITANIC OWNER

Arthur W. Opp Represents Baron von Drachstedt Who Seeks to Recover For Loss of a Most Elaborate Wardrobe.

Alfred von Drachstedt, a tall, blond German youth of 20 years who says that he has the right through his mother's side to prefix Baron to his name, only he doesn't want to in this titleless land, reached New York on Thursday night on the Carpathia attired in a sweater, a pair of trousers and a life preserver and with only a few German marks in his pocket. He left on the Titanic 750 German marks, which he was bringing to the new land, and a wardrobe. He's the first survivor to bring suit against the White Star line and to recover $2,320, the amount of his loss on personality, he has engaged the services of Arthur W. Opp, of 911 West Seventh street, this city.

It was some wardrobe that young von Drachstedt left behind him and he is feeling very bad over its loss though admitting that he is glad to have arrived himself. To begin with, it was a brand new wardbore and it

PROVIDES FOR CHILDREN TO ESCAPE WARRANT

By promising to provide for the support of his three motherless children, ranging in age from 3 to 11 years, Stephen Murphy had a warrant for assault and battery, sworn out against him in Elizabeth pigeonholed today. He was arraigned before City Judge William G. De Meza in the non-support case.

Murphy's wife has been dead eight months. From that time, it was testified today, he contributed nothing to the children's support. After Murphy's arrest the other day it was learned that the Elizabeth police wanted him on a warrant charging assault and battery. When he was arraigned this morning, Judge De Meza, after administering a stinging rebuke, told him that the warrant would be withheld if he provided $6.50 a week for the support of the children.

Murphy agreed, and made out an order for the payment of that sum weekly from his wages at the machine shop where he works. Before that juncture in the case Judge De Meza denounced the prisoner roundly. He told Murphy he was a fit subject for the whipping post.

One of the children is in the Children's Home, and the other two are temporarily in charge of Miss Phillips, of the Charities Organization Society. She will place them in private homes.

ODD CUT TROUBLESOME.

Charles O. Pearson, of West Fifth street, a callman attached to No. 3 hose company, is suffering from a seriously infected finger received in an odd manner. He was assisting in beating out a dangerous grass fire on Clinton avenue, a week ago, and accidentally struck his hand against a jagged piece of tin that lay in the underbrush, sustaining a severe cut. He treated it simply at the time but a few days since it became so badly swollen Dr. W. H. Anthony had to be called in. The member is very painful but it is believed the infection is not serious.

SEVERE WINTER NOT HARD ON THE STREETS

Continued Cold and Snow Held Top Dressing—to Start Oiling Soon.

Instead of damaging the roadways of the city more than an ordinary winter the severe season that came to an end last month left them in much better condition than that in which they are usually found to be at the beginning of spring. Street Commissioner Andrew J. Gavett explained why when he made the statement yesterday.

The continued cold and unusual quantity of snow, Mr. Gavett said, tended to keep the roads in shape when the run of alternating cold, rainy and warm days that marks the ordinary winter would have proved extremely hard on the top dressing. Consequently the usual amount of repair work can be materially lessened.

Many complaints have been registered at the Street Commissioner's office, over the lateness in oiling and dressing the streets, but Mr. Gavett pointed out that it is most fortunate that that part of the work had been referred, for with weather such as we have been having so far this spring any oil put upon the streets would not only have proven of no value but would have caused many more protests than have already been received. The department keeps records of conditions in previous years which show that early oiling is far from being an advantage. Last year the streets were not oiled until near the middle of May.

The street department started work today on the city roads. A number of streets, especially those that receive the greatest amount of wear, will be repaired with a top dressing consisting of two inches of mixed stone with a heavy bituminous binder. All of the streets will receive surface treatment of Tarvia B or one of the lighter oils before many days. A carload of the latter is on hand.

The work of street repairing and oiling will be pushed forward as rapidly as possible from now on, so that the housewife may soon open her windows without fearing the invasion of dust clouds.

NOW TO ENFORCE AUTOMOBILE LAW

Muffler Cut-outs Must Not Be Used Within City Limits Under New Act.

MANY OFFENDERS HERE

Recent Legislation to Prevent Noise, Smoke and Escape of Gases and Steam from Cars—Mayor Communicates with Police Chief.

Mayor G. W. V. Moy announced today that he would notify Chief of Police Kiely to see that the new automobile laws is enforced in this city. These laws, which went into an effect March 25, contain several important provisions, among the most important being that muffler cutouts shall not be used within the limits of a city, town or borough or within 200 feet of a horse-drawn vehicle. There has been constant infraction of this law in this city, and oftentimes runaways with serious consequences have been narrowly averted.

Commenting on this provision, Mr. Moy said that there are auto drivers who delight in using the muffler cutout, caring nothing about the result, and it is proposed to put a stop to the practice.

Another provision of the laws require that motor vehicles be equipped with a device to prevent noise, smoke and the escape of gases and steam, and that all exhaust pipes shall be parallel to the ground or slightly upturned.

It is agreed among autoists that it is not necessary to allow gases and smoke to escape from a car, while such practice is considered a great nuisance, and is likely to frighten horses, causing them to runaway.

The cast of the play follows:

"Sambo," George Simon; "Wigmaker," William F. Richards; "Josh," Charles Mumford; "Wigmaker's Daughter," Miss Try Mattox; "Peter," John Richards. The other part of the program follows:

Attorney Albert C. Wall, the city's special counsel in the matter of water investigation, is to file the city's petition in condemnation proceedings with the Supreme Court, today, and the usual procedure in such cases will be followed.

The action of the Common Council in authorizing Mr. Wall and Corporation Counsel W. M. Stillman to take up the condemnation proceedings, included the request that commissioners be appointed to appraise the value of the plant of the Plainfield-Union Water Supply Company.

Before such commissioners are appointed the water company will be given an opportunity to be heard and present any argument it may choose in opposing the city's action.

It is not known at present who the commissioners will be, the special water committee from the Common Council having given no intimation as to the possible selection.

The affair was largely attended there being about seventy-five members and friends of the association present. The feature of the afternoon was the appearance of Mrs. G. H. Hubbard, who with her husband, is a missionary at Foo Chow, China. Mrs. Hubbard was born in China of American parents, and during the during the many years she has been in that country has had an exceptional advantage in mission work. Yesterday she impersonated a Chinese Bible woman and gave a monologue in Chinese costume. Mrs. Hubbard gave an excellent address in which she told of the progress of her work in China.

TRYING TO CLEAR UP MONUMENT MYSTERY

G. A. R. Seeking Funds Said to Have Been Subscribed Years Ago.

Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., at its meeting last night, completed arrangements to attend divine service on Sunday night, May 26, at the Seventh-Day Baptist church, when Rev. Edwin Shaw, the pastor, will preach a sermon appropriate to the occasion. All veterans, as well as members of the Sons of Veterans, the Woman's Relief Corps and Camp Bagley, Spanish American War Veterans are invited to attend the service.

It is expected that at the next meeting of the veterans, May 13, final arrangements will be made for the observance of Memorial Day. There will be the usual service at Reform Hall in the afternoon, following the short parade in the morning. It is possible that the students from the Wilson Military Academy at Finderne may join in that parade.

Comrades T. O. Doane, William Hand and W. C. Smith have been appointed a committee to see what can be done toward collecting funds for a soldiers' monument in this city, and they will endeavor to ascertain what has become of funds raised in the past for that purpose. It is understood that several years ago money was subscribed for such a monument, but at the present time no one has any idea what became of it. The committee hopes through publicity and in other ways to get some definite information about the fund and would welcome any information that would tend to clear up the mystery.

DR. NEILSON NAMED AS RECTOR OF ANCIENT CHURCH

The Rev. Dr. W. H. Neilson, of this city, has been elected rector of St. James' church, Piscataway, in place of the Rev. E. Joyce, resigned.

Dr. Neilson has been working as vicar in the church for more than seven years past. Dr. Joyce has withdrawn as rector and Dr. Neilson is welcomed by the congregation who have appreciated his services the past year instead of the vicar in charge of the full duties which he has performed in the past.

Dr. Neilson expects to do some aggressive work in the parish which has a list of forty communicants, in a territory that is capable of showing nearly twice that number. He expects to build a rectory and have an assistant to live in it. He has made the trips each Sunday from his residence to Metuchen, by carriage, and from there to St. James' church by trolley.

This church occupies a place of pride in the community, for it is one of the oldest structures in this part of New Jersey. The present frame building has been built about ninety years, but the foundations upon which the former structure stood were laid about 150 years ago.

HORSE BURNED TO DEATH IN WEST 3RD STREET BARN

A horse was burned to death in a fire that destroyed a barn at 639 West Third street, last night. The flames, suspected to be of incendiary origin, were discovered by a passer-by at 9:30 o'clock. They were blazing fiercely in a half a dozen parts of the barn at once, which leads to the idea that the place was set afire.

In the barn, a one story structure belonging to Mrs. Amelia Cobb, colored, were her horse, a runabout, a sleigh, two sets of harness and some hay and feed. When the firemen, answering a call from box 45, got to the scene, the barn was beyond saving. The horse died in its stall just as one of the firemen turned a stream on it. To make sure that it was out of misery Policeman Vanderweg emptied his revolver in its head.

The loss is placed at $600, covered by insurance. The horse was worth $150.

The West End fire company responded to a telephone alarm at 4:15 this morning to put out a chimney fire in the house of Mrs. Adam Schott at 817 South Second street. There was no damage.

No. 1 company was called out to extinguish a brisk brush fire at Woodland avenue and Randolph road on the horse show grounds, at 11:30 this morning. Because of the high wind it was necessary to turn a stream on it for an hour before it was subdued. Several scrub trees were burned.

What Happened to a Summit Man

"I have been a close student of your interesting tunnel cards for some time," volunteered a Summit man the other day, "but I never could bring myself to believe all you said."

Perfectly frank—wasn't he?

This man went on to relate, however, that after much deliberation he finally decided to put us to the test. He made out a list of nine articles which he required for his personal use and for his home and set out to compare prices and values.

First he went to New York where he visited three of the big stores. The next day, having business in Newark, he visited two of the local stores.

In New York the total amount of his proposed purchases came to $21.75—his Newark shopping expedition disclosed the fact that the same nine articles could be bought here for $18.60. It is needless to say he bought in Newark.

"I am strong for Newark," he declared, in discussing the incident. "My wife says that she intends to do all of her shopping hereafter at Bamberger's."
